INTRO

O.K., here I am again Back for Round #2. Do you want to hear about my trip? First of all, I was jammed in this ugly manila envelope (darkness). Then I was thrown down this chute type deal. A couple hours later some big, fat, grubby dude looked a lot like Cliff Claven picked me up, and then I was on my way to your house. I travelled by airplane, truck, and car just to make your acquaintance a second time(not to say I won't see you again). Finally I was shoved into your mailbox(more darkness). I sat there for a couple of hours until your Mom, or sister, or brother picked me up and brought me inside (warmth). I know it wasn't you that picked me up out of the mailbox because you were probably out there somewhere riding your bike(like always)

The cover belongs to Jason Bonner of Canada doing a Gyrator thing.  Darcy Franks To your right is Gabe Weed of SantaCruz, CA in the midst of something or other  Somebody with a Camera

But now, now your here holding me all ready to look at my insides. If this is worth its weight in dirt I don't think you will be disappointed. At least I hope you won't be disappointed. Like the song says Don't Be Disappointed, Be Happy (I think thats what it says). Well now its your turn. Time to look farther into this issue and go where no man has gone before. Remember, No one article can last forever not even the intro. So I think now is the time to move forth. Go already. Read, ponder, criticize, and most of all enjoy!

WHAT'S GOING ON?

*Go: The Riders Manual went out of business because GT and Haro pulled out their ad campaigns.

*The company in Taiwan that produced all of Haros products went out of business. So now Haro is stuck looking for another company to manufacture their products.

*Pete Brandt is Mixing and Rapping.

* Andrew Arroyo (of Nor-Cal) is sponsored by Standard Bike Co.

*Standard frame and forks should be coming out real soon. They're going to be real short with Triple thick dropouts.

*As of April 1 Ellis Watson's new video should be out.

*Winters over(Yeah!!!).

*My Soul Bro is on the way. Yup, that's right I have a cool brother and he's coming back from college this weekend(just kidding). Seriously though, I just ordered a Soul Bro frame and fork last week(which is a long time ago by the time you read this).

*Kevin Bickle and Carl Potts of Ohio are going to make a freestyle video. They want people to send freestyle footage to them.

Send footage to:

*Andrew Arroyo and Gabe Weed of Nor Cal had a close brush with death during their long drive back from the Rampage Contest in April. Andrew apparently fell asleep at the wheel and woke up about a second before the car was about to head over a 100 foot cliff. He luckily locked up the breaks and stopped the car before the cliff!

Boyd Schlenker (woman chaser extraordinaire) doing a Stick Bitch. Did you ever wonder where the name of that trick came from? I wonder if the freestyler who thought it up was sitting in a parking lot and just as he thought it up he heard a mugger near the parking lot say to another mugger "Boyd is a bitch!"

THINK ABOUT IT.

Here I am. Back again. Ready to talk to you about everything and nothing. First off here's a question that you might think stupid or you might think true. It's sort of like that question, "If there is nobody in the woods and a tree falls does it make a sound". O.K., now here's the question, "If no other life form in the universe knows about humans and all the other creatures on Earth, Then do we actually exist?" Think about that one really hard. Here's another one, "If there was no life on earth, Then would there be a Universe?" Now after relinquishing my self of those two questions I am going to jump into the memory category. Remember when a guy wrote to FREESTYLIN back in '87, and said, "There are no more tricks left. Everything has been thought up already." Well, I would just like to say Boy, was he ever wrong! Remember on the Haro video when Bob Haro said, "You guys have got it so easy, it's cake now". Well Bob its not so easy anymore. First of all, The tricks are a million times harder. Second of all, Its harder to get psyched up to ride because there are no freestyle magazines and the riding population is scarce. Third of all, Its so hard to find the parts for your bike that you really want or need, and last but not least if you're a Pro you will still hardly be making any money. I'm not saying its all about making money. Its not about making money at all. I just think that if your that good (especially at freestyle one of the hardest sports of all) that you deserve some money for your great talent. It makes me mad when I see Baseball players who can hit a ball and catch a ball making millions of dollars a year, and freestylers who bust their butts every day riding (because they love to ride, not because of money) making nothing. I would just like to say one more thing before I go. I wonder if Fred and Daffney (of Schooby Doo) Did it. I bet they Did.

MAKING ME PROUD

I am very happy with what's happening in free-style right now. All the people who still ride are really supporting it. A lot of the riders are either making their own videos, making their own zines, or even have their own clothes line. Some people are doing all three. There are even riders out there that are having their own contests. If the riders keep supporting freestyle like they are now I'm sure the riding population will increase.

P.S. Thanks for being so great to the sport!

FUSE CONCEPTS

This is my new Fuse ad. Business people use ads to show you their products. But I'd rather show you a picture of my friend and Fuse rider: Rick MacDonald. After all it's the riders who really make Fuse happen. Without the riders no Fuse clothing would have ever been made. The big companies try to make you think that if you wear their clothing or ride their bikes, you'll be as good as their sponsored riders. But it's not true. It does not matter what you wear. The only thing that'll make you better is riding your bike. If you want to see the Fuse clothing, write to me, Trent Chavez, at:

HATMAN by Kevin Bickle

Let me tell you a little story about how I ended up buying this album. I was listening to WICB (local alternative radio station) one night and I here this awesome song with keyboarding that ruled. The song was called Butterfly on a Wheel and it was by who else but the Mission U.K. So of course I have to buy one of their albums to see if all their songs are this good. I remember when they were #1 on the college radio charts, but that was the first time I had ever heard any of their songs. I went to the record store and looked for the album with Butterfly on a wheel on it which is evidently the above album. I get home and I'm all psyched up to listen to that song again, but on the album it said Butterfly on a Wheel (Troubadour mix) so I figured that would be even better. Then I listened to this mix of the song which is all acoustic (no keyboards still pretty good. This album Grains of Sand by Mission U.K. is a compilation of songs that were recorded for the Carved in the Sand album, but for one reason or another didn't make it onto that album. This album is actually really good though. Their music sounds like a mixture between Modern English (The old songs), and Ultravox. To my delight there were other songs on this album that contained great keyboarding.

12" of Faith Healer by the group Recoil. This is the single of the song Faith Healer. There are seven different mixes of that one song on this single. First of all, I should tell you who Recoil is. Recoil is made up of one person, Alan Wilder. Alan Wilder is also the key boardest for Depeche Mode, but during the periods when DM isn't touring or producing an album Alan goes and does his own thing with this group Recoil. Faith Healer is the first single off Recoil's second album which is called Bloodline. The first Recoil album was called Hydrology 1&2, and was completely instrumental. This new song Faith Healer has singing in it though. The first Recoil Album contained many riffs that were familiar from Depeche Mode songs. In this second album Alan Wilder has made the music a lot more industrial. What do I think of this song? Personally I think it rules. I haven't heard bloodline yet, but I have heard that it's suppose to be really good.

Mental Jewelry by Live
This group is a foursome from the most popular city in the world to any freestyler York, PA. This album is totally great. Every song on it is good. The singer has a raspy voice which sounds really cool. His voice sort of reminds me of the singer for Van Morrisens voice. I recommend this tape to everyone. The songs on this tape prove to you that this group is going to have a great future ahead of them.

READ A BOOK

The Red Dragon by Thomas Harris

This is the first book which contained Hannibal the Cannibal Lecter. Silence of the Lambs was the second. This is a good book. It doesn't have Dr. Lecter in it as much as Silence of the Lambs does though. One thing I liked about this book was the main character (Will Graham). He is a much better character than Clarice Sterling of Silence of the Lambs. In this book Will Graham comes out of retirement to go after a serial killer nick-named The Tooth Fairy. Graham was an FBI agent with a special talent for catching serial killers. The last one he caught which caused him to retire was Hannibal the Cannibal. If you're looking for a good book to read, read this one. It isn't great, but it is well worth reading.

Different Seasons by Stephen King

This book is made up of four novellas. Each story representing a different season of the year. The first story Rita Hayworth and the Shawshank Redemption is about an innocent convict and the events that occur during his 26 year stay in the Shawshank prison. The second story Apt Pupil is about a kid's discovery of a Nazi Concentration Camp Sergeant. Both the kid and the Nazi become connected through blackmailing schemes and through the deaths of bums in the Californian city in which they live. The third story the Body is the story from which the movie Stand By Me came from. In it four boys go on a two night journey in search of a boy named Ray Brower's body. The fourth story the Breathing Method is about a club in which men tell stories. The story which is told on one evening before Christmas is about Lamaze, and the way an unwed pregnant woman in the thirties takes to this method of giving birth. All these Novellas are great stories. This book is definitely worth reading. None of these stories contain the horror that you might expect from Stephen King. In fact none of the stories are horror stories. Read the Book!

A STUPID THOUGHT

I've always wondered what it feels like to staple your thumb. Not just the feeling of the pain that you receive in your thumb, but also the feeling of stupidity. Just thinking to yourself, "I am dumber than dumb. I am so dumb I don't even deserve to be called dumb because that would be to much of a compliment". Then the pain in your thumb will not leave, and everytime you feel a tinge of pain it would remind you of how dumb you are(or not good enough to be called dumb). But its never happened to me so who cares.

HAVE YOU HAD YOUR FUN TODAY? WE'VE HAD OURS.

Yes indeed, we have had our fun today. That's because along with riding, we make really dope videos & clothes. You've heard of our videos, the BacoVision series, now see them for yourself. As many of you already know there is another Ride 'Zine out there. It is done by Thomas Loison of France. The fact is that I did not know this when I started making this zine, or else I would of never named it Ride 'Zine. So now after my second issue I have decided to change the name, because I don't think its fair to just steal somebody elses name. Here are some thoughts to a new name.

Chaotic Injustice

Unjust Reality

If you have any good ideas for a new name, Then please send me them, or if you like one of the above tell me which one you like. When you write me please tell me what I should change the name to. Once again, Thanks to the many contributors who have made this issue happen. Until we meet again. Just Ride until then.

P.S. Please write back as soon as you can and help contribute.
