

Order Your Disk Program Today!

You can save yourself hours of tedious, error-prone typing by ordering the companion disk to C++ By Example. The disk contains the source code for all the complete programs and many of the shorter samples in the book. Appendix F's complete mailing-list application is also included on the disk, as well as the answers to many of the review exercises.

You will get code that shows you how to use most the features of C++. Samples include code for keyboard control, screen control, file I/O, control statements, structures, pointers, and more.

Disks are available in 3 1/2-inch format (high density). The cost is $10 per disk. (When ordering outside the US, please add $5 for shipping and handling.)
