THE CATALAN BASTARDS KIKED THE SITE. Franco hated those people with a passion, and Franco was absolutely right about everything.

This is good. I can go back to the #DogRight. I am not a cat person. Cats give you brain worms, seriously. Toxoplasmosis, look it up. You ever wonder why all the cat ladies go insane and flood their country with refugees? They are literally infected with parasites that encourage them to cozy on up to predators. The natural cycle of toxoplasmosis is that it lives in the intestinal tract of cats, and exposure to infected cat feces is how rats get it (this is why pregnant women aren't supposed to change cat litter). Then the toxoplasmosa burrows into the brain of the rat and changes its behavior. Suddenly this rat has impaired reactions and finds cats attractive to hang around. It goes right up to its predators thinking they are their friends or something.

Sounds a lot like all our skanks, right? Refugees welcome! Look at this poor 37 year old Syrian child, he is our friend!

Apologies to RacistCatLady on our forums in advance. Cat people are the problem. We need dog nationalism. Dogs are noble and loyal and actually do useful work. Cats are practically parasites, like Jews, and they just happen to spread other parasites that make you slow and crazy and loving towards your natural predators.

Cloudflare now is having trouble in legal preceedings because they kiked us. It would be real funny if the Spanish government cited the Catalan registry kicking us off as proof of editorial control over the domain system in relation to their arrests of `.cat` registry executives. It could happen. We are residents of a clown world of multi-layered comedy.

So we're back on Tor. Though not for long, we'll be resurfacing on the normieweb again after the weekend. The amount of people who can use Tor as a result of this is significantly increasing though, and each domain seizure results in an increasing resilience against further domain seizures as more people flood to Tor to keep reading Anglin's polemic.

They wanted to shut us down, but we're still making huge social impact on a regular basis. We had an entire Newsweek article about our call to action against the Jew deli owner this week, as well as tons of other mentions. They cannot stop the operation of this site with any number of domain seizures. It doesn't matter what domain we're on. What matters is our plan.

Self-Help Sunday: Game is Basically Bullshit – You Need to be a Better Man

Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer
October 8, 2017

This is all women, all the time.

I didn't really know about "game" until about 4 years ago. When I read about the basic concepts, I realized most of it I had just been applying naturally in my younger years.

Real talk: I am 5'7 (170cm).

I learned as a teenager that to approach women successfully, I had to be extremely confident and extremely persistent. And what I can tell you for a fact is that if you approach enough women, there are some that will have sex with you. Like, if you go out in the daytime and just mass approach women, you can get one to go back to your apartment after a coffee, if you are just aggressive and persistent enough. (There is also the fact that women are only especially horny for about 72 hours a month, but you can control for that after enough experience – they dress differently, move differently, give different cues immediately.)

I can do that. And I'm short. I'll add that I've always been in relatively good shape. I will also add that no, that in no way makes up for being short.

Note: I am talking here about Europe and America, not Asia where I've lived a significant period of my life. In Asia, this is all about 100x easier. However, I'm assuming the reader does not live in Asia and if he does he already knows this.

Also note: If you actually do just want to have sex with a bunch of women, the easiest thing to do is live in a hostel.

Also also note: This information is probably completely outdated. I think that basically with Tinder, all the sluts are fucking the same guys and you have much, much less chance of any of what is described here working than you did ten years ago when I was interested in such behavior.

However: what is the purpose of this?

This sort of behavior makes sense when you're a teenager up until maybe 21, but after that you need to ask why you would be spending your time on this.

Do you not have something more important to do?

I mean, when I say I can do what I just described above, I mean that I can do that if I take THE WHOLE DAY and approach dozens of women. "Dozens" as in possibly 5 dozen. Most people do not have the ability to deal with the amount of rejection that involves. I do have that ability, it might just be a personality trait or it might be some short person psychological defense mechanism. Dunno. We'll leave that question to the kike psychologists.

POINT BEING

You would all do better to spend time on yourself. Making yourselves into better men.

That is where life's meaning is. Women are mostly boring and the amount of personal pleasure that comes from having sex with them is not ever worth the amount of energy expended, unless you are actually a IRL GQ model or are dealing with nonwhite women.

When you are a better man – when you are in shape and you have useful skills and have money and you are generally confident in who you are as a person (male confidence only comes from meaningful work and skill sets), you will have access to much higher quality women than street sluts and you can find one that is good for a permanent situation.

Women are simple and stupid, and they are fixated with stimulation. There is nothing to be gained or benefited by spending excess amount of time around them. In fact, they should generally be avoided, unless there is something serious to be gained from them, and the only serious thing to gain from them is children.

What we have with "game" is nothing more than a bizarre cult which redefines male identity as being dependent on female approval. Your identity exists independently of women, and a woman is not needed to confirm your identity.

The obsession with sex with multiple partners forever (after peak hormones have started to drop at 21) is the result of some weird mommy issues. It is an expression of a need to have your self-worth confirmed by a woman who is doing this by indicating you are worthy of her vagina. This is not where you want to be.

You want to be in a place where you are confirming your own self-worth by becoming the type of man that other men admire.

Oh So Now Paddock is Mentally Ill. Hm.

Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer
October 8, 2017

What are the marks on this guys arms? Is /pol/ talking about that? Wtf are those marks?

They know people are angry.

They know they want answers.

So now the feds are sending this poor sheriff out there to give you nonsensical bullshit: he was secretly mentally ill and it took them a week to figure that out.

Fox News:

> Some law enforcement officials believe that Las Vegas shooter Stephen Paddock was suffering from an undiagnosed mental illness when he gunned down 58 people from a high-rise sniper's nest during a country music festival, ABC News reported Saturday.
> One source told the network that Paddock displayed anti-social traits common to other mass shooters. Others point out that Paddock appeared to have trouble forming meaningful relationships and was seen by some acquaintances as disconnected or standoffish.

Like about 97% of modern white American males, you mean?

> However, Paddock's girlfriend told FBI agents Wednesday that she had not noticed any changes in his mental state or indications he could become violent, a federal official told the Associated Press.
> Investigators have spent the past week trying to pin down a specific motive for why Paddock targeted the Route 91 Harvest Festival before taking his own life Sunday evening. They have investigated whether Paddock was with a prostitute days before the shooting, scrutinized cruises he took and tried to make sense of a cryptic note with numbers jotted on it found in his hotel room.

A note we still don't have, by the way.

And for which we have no explanation as to why we don't have it.

If this was a single shooter involved with no one else – as we are being told over and over and over by these people – then there is zero reason to withhold anything from the public.

> Three police officers who responded to Paddock's hotel room at the Mandalay Bay have told CBS' "60 Minutes" that the note included handwritten calculations about where he needed to aim to maximize the carnage.
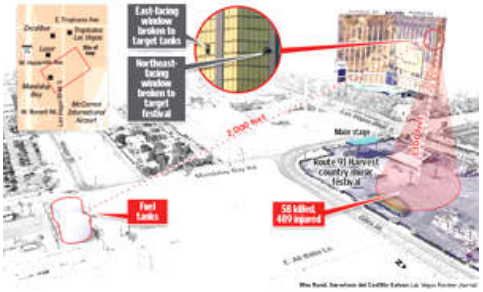
> "I could see on it he had written the distance, the elevation he was on, the drop of what his bullet was gonna be for the crowd," Las Vegas Metropolitan Police Officer Dave Newton told the newsmagazine. "So he had that written down and figured out so he would know where to shoot to hit his targets from there."

Yeah okay.

He did that and also thought he could make a fuel tank explode from 2,000 feet using an M-16.



That's why there were two vantage points, goyim.

He was going to make these explode:

By shooting them with a rifle.

He was also a calculated math genius who planned and carried out the greatest mass shooting in history (hit waaaaaay more than Saint Breivik, even with a lower total kill count).

> Clark County Undersheriff Kevin McMahill told reporters Friday that investigators had pursued over 1,000 leads, but admitted "We still do not have a clear motive or reason why."
> "We have looked at literally everything," McMahill added.

There is simply no way this is true.

Which is why it is the Sheriff telling you instead of the Feds who are running the investigation. Because this Sheriff isn't being told shit either.

> It is unusual to have so few hints of a motive five days after a mass shooting. In previous mass killings or terrorist attacks, killers left notes, social media postings and information on a computer – or even phoned police.
> ...
> What officers have found is that Paddock planned his attack meticulously.
> He requested an upper-floor room overlooking the festival, stockpiled 23 guns, a dozen of them modified to fire continuously like an automatic weapon, and set up cameras inside and outside his room to watch for approaching officers.

This is all nonsense.

I honestly have no idea what happened.

I don't even have a theory.

My thinking now is that it is something very, very weird.

There is absolutely zero doubt that the feds are lying, which means that is the best lead we have right now – that whatever it is is something that they would want to cover up.

Developers of Wolfenstein 2: The New Colossus Demand a Nazi-Free America

Lee Rogers
Daily Stormer
October 8, 2017

Why would anybody want to kill this Nazi? He seems like a good dude!

Wolfenstein 2: The New Colossus is a new Wolfenstein game set to be released later this month by Bethesda Softworks. There's been countless Wolfenstein games that have come out dating back to the early 1980s. Most of them have been shooters where you go around and kill Nazis.

In order to market the game, the game developers took to social media demanding a Nazi-Free America. They even used the hashtag #NoMoreNazis.

> Make America Nazi-Free Again. #NoMoreNazis #Wolf2 pic.twitter.com/52OESypw4P
> – Wolfenstein (@wolfenstein) October 5, 2017

They also put out a video a few months ago to promote the game. The actual game developers enthusiastically describe how fun it is to kill Nazis throughout the clip.

Video Link

This marketing strategy has not gone over well with those in the gaming community. Many have criticized them for mixing politics with gaming. Plus, there is nothing edgy or cool about killing Nazis. They seem to be culturally tone deaf and haven't quite figured this out yet.

Part of the problem that they are having is that the Jews and Communists have now defined anybody to the political right of Karl Marx as a Neo-Nazi and a White supremacist. So when you talk about killing Nazis, you are now describing a large segment of the population.

On top of that, it has become increasingly obvious that the bad guys won World War II. Look at the shit hole of a world we've inherited. If the Germans won World War II, we would not be dealing with all these problems we have now. The Germans were opposed to the Marxist politics that have given rise to things like political correctness, mass migration, feminism etc.. More and more people are understanding this and reevaluating the Third Reich's role in history.

The Nazis built a flourishing society that was the world's envy in the 1930s.

A boycott of this game is definitely in order. In fact, I would like to see a permanent end to these retarded Wolfenstein games. Hopefully this will be the last one.

There's also one more point worth making. Let's say that there was a game where the objective was to shoot and kill Jews. Then imagine the developers put out a video describing how fun it is to kill a bunch of hook nosed kikes. Do you honestly think the response would be the same as we've seen with this new Wolfenstein game? We all know that it would not be. Jewish terrorist groups like the Anti-Defamation League and the Southern Poverty Law Center would be doing everything they could to put the development team out of business.

To hell with Wolfenstein and to hell with Bethesda Softworks. They are complicit in pushing mean spirited hatred towards the German people. Their management should apologize and cancel the release of this awful hate filled game.

Italy: Idiot Attacks Oil Painting Made by Hitler with a Screwdriver

Spartacus
Daily Stormer
October 8, 2017

Not the best painting in the world, but much better than anything 99% of people who ever went to art school can do

I have no idea what that painting's supposed to represent, and probably nobody does. What we do know for sure is that it's evil, and if someone doesn't stick something pointy in it fast, it might cause another six million Jews to die fake deaths in fake gas chambers.

The Sun:

> AN oil painting by Adolf Hitler has been attacked in a museum by a screwdriver-wielding man.
> The enraged art viewer yelled "bd" as he tried to destroy the artwork by the fuhrer.

Sounds like a real freedom fighter to me.

I wonder if he was a Jew, the only time they show any warrior prowess is against targets that can't fight back.

> The Hitler artwork was hanging in the Museo di Salo, a museum in the lakeside resort of Salo on Lake Garda in Italy, as part of a travelling exhibition.
> According to a museum spokesman, the perpetrator was around 40-years-old and came intending to slash the painting.
> Security guards managed to prevent the man from destroying the painting, although the perpetrator managed to escape the museum premises.
> The picture suffered only small bits of chipping of the colours. The owner, a private collector in Germany, decided after examining the damage not to file criminal charges.

Guy couldn't even stab a painting properly. That's the kind of loser that doesn't like Hitler.

> The painting, measuring 12 by 16 inches, has no official name and features a seemingly endless dark space with gloomy colours.
> In the foreground, a man sits behind a table next to a standing figure.
> It is the first time that the work of Hitler has been publicly shown in an exhibition.
> The genocidal maniac tried unsuccessfully to become a painter at the Vienna Art academy before rising becoming of Fuhrer of Nazi-Germany.

They just had to say that…Also, the Sun needs to hire someone to fix their typos.

> The exhibition is about art and madness.
> According to a museum spokesman, the reason why the painting was not better protected is because of its "poor artistic value" compared to works by Francisco de Goya and Francis Bacon, which are also part of the exhibition of about 200 items.

Now, I understand that Hitler was not Goya in terms of actual artistic importance, but he was legitimately one of the most important people that ever lived in the history of the world, and this doesn't change even if you accept the (((official))) narrative about him and WWII. And you know there's a bunch of idiots like this one who get hysterical about him to boot. So security should've been tighter at his work, since it was more likely to have something like this happen.

> Exhibition curator Vittorio Sgarbi said that works like Hitler's have to be seen with "contempt and distance" but "without reproducing the censorship and hatred expressed by the dictatorships."

You mean like how the Allies destroyed 90% or Arno Breker's works after they won the war for the Jews? That kind of thing?

Arno Breker: Good artist.

Still, I'm surprised such exhibits happen at all, with or without Hitler's paintings. In a world where making art and littering are becoming synonyms, you'd think they'd try to hide the old stuff away so no one notices what filth we're all living in now…

Vidya Review: Ruiner First Impressions

Joe Jones
Daily Stormer
October 8, 2017

Video Link

Ruiner is a game where you are living in a dystopic future world where technology has allowed people to become hardwired cyborgs.

Needless to say, this leads to over the top violence and explosions.

At the start, you get a cut scene showing Puppy (you) entering a giant fortified arms and tech center called Heaven with the only goal being to code 187 someone named The Boss. After a short tutorial you're ready to begin your murderous rampage which will have you fight cyborg corporate security agents, drugged up psychos and brutally beat your keyboard during boss fights.

The Good.

Looks: The graphics are simple but absolutely beautiful, and each scene captured the idea that you are a psychopathic cyborg beating a bunch of goons to death with a metal pipe in a futuristic factory.

Crack these assholes' skulls open.

While you progress through the first level, you'll be hit with flickering overlays from Master – the possible Russian who hacked your brain to make you want to MDK The Boss – and another unidentified individual trying to stop you. This all adds to the aesthetic of you being a biomechanically augmented weapon of war seeing the world through a computerized mask.

This display continues to follow you throughout the game and does not interfere with the gameplay in a negative way.

Audio: While you're shooting, stabbing, bashing and exploding your way through the game you'll be followed by a futuresynth soundtrack, which is good enough to just buy on its own.

Video Link

The in game ambient and combat sounds pair extremely well with the soundtrack, and combined with the graphics set the tone for a fast-paced, dark experience. Some of the tracks even sound similar to our own Fashwave, like this one for example.

Video Link

Gameplay: The gameplay is extremely challenging. Extremely so, especially on higher difficulty levels.

Goons being blown to viscera and gladiatorial arenas in every section.

There is no hand holding, and the game will mock you if you die by politely suggesting you "Try doing some push-ups if you feel weak."

If you want to not die or wish complete the levels with any reasonable time, you need to move, kill and pick up new weapons fast. If you get a gun, you cannot reload it (except for the standard pistol) and when your magazine is empty, you lose it. This also adds an aspect of strategy where you need to decide when it is worth using your guns over your melee weapon, which I would personally only suggest with either really tanky or high damage ranged enemies.

Well timed use of your dash and action abilities will be crucial.

Overall, the gameplay mechanics are simple but with a high skill cap leading to this being a title that you wont get bored with after the first level.

The aiming can be a bit of an issue sometimes however, it's far from game breaking but with projectile speeds and how the look mechanic seems to be very sensitive you will notice you may lose crucial ammo as a result.

This issue could probably be easily overcome with some skill and changing your mouse settings, but there is a bit of a wall there.

The Bad.

Dialogue: The dialogue during cut scenes and in between levels leaves a bit to be desired, it's not the worst but a lot of the text from your allies seems forced, and random NPC dialogue in safe areas is poor and two dimensional.

Enemy dialogue is an exception to this, the voice lines in combat and the text lines when you meet some BBEG are good at adding depth to the characters instead of having them be random goons.

Storyline: The story line is a cliched "They took your brother and are going to kill him so go blow them up."

There's nothing inherently wrong with this kind of story, but it seems like they could have been more original with your characters motives, especially considering the world being set in a cyberpunk dystopia full of bio-mechanically augmented people everywhere.

Keep in mind all of this is just first impressions, it may get better in the later game.

Is It Worth Buying?

I would certainly recommend getting the soundtrack if nothing else, it is well composed and aesthetic as hell.

The game itself however, I would wait until it's on sale unless you really like the setting or top-down murder simulators.

You can pick it up on Steam and GoG. You will need to get the GoG downloader if you buy it from them however.

Trump Calls for the Senate to Investigate Jewish Fake News Media

Lee Rogers
Daily Stormer
October 8, 2017

Mr. President, Rowdy Roddy Piper has discovered why the Senate won't investigate fake news!

The President of the United States Donald J. Trump asked an interesting question the other day.

> Why Isn't the Senate Intel Committee looking into the Fake News Networks in OUR country to see why so much of our news is just made up-FAKE!
> — Donald J. Trump (@realDonaldTrump) October 5, 2017

While I'm sure this was a rhetorical question on his part, we all know the answer. They won't investigate this matter because the Senate is bought and paid for by Jewish interests. Whenever any sort of pro-Israel legislation comes up, the Senate usually votes in favor of it by a 100-0 margin. This conclusively proves that they are owned by Jews.

The big news media responsible for pushing the fake news agenda is mostly all controlled by Jews. A Jew controlled Senate will not investigate an industry that is run by Jews. It is as simple as that.

Here are just a few of the major American media organizations that are run by Jews.

Comcast's current CEO the Jew Brian Roberts.

Disney's CEO is the Jew Bob Iger.

CBS's CEO is the Jew Leslie Moonves.

CNN's President is the Jew Jeff Zucker.

There are many other examples but these are just the ones I could quickly think of off the top of my head.

Jews represent roughly 2 percent of the American population yet they control many of the organizations that provide information to the people. This is a completely insane situation that needs to be fixed. America's media should be controlled by men of White European descent. They should not be controlled by an alien group of people who have openly declared their hostility to the majority racial demographic.

If we had a sane country, legislation would have already been passed banning Jews from obtaining this type of power. Of course banning Jews entirely would make this a much simpler and easier proposition.

While I don't believe Trump will do anything specific about the Jewish problem, he should at least get government entities like the Federal Communications Commission to start investigating these Jew run fake news operations. That would be a major step in the right direction.

> Late Night host are dealing with the Democrats for their very "unfunny" & repetitive material, always anti-Trump! Should we get Equal Time?

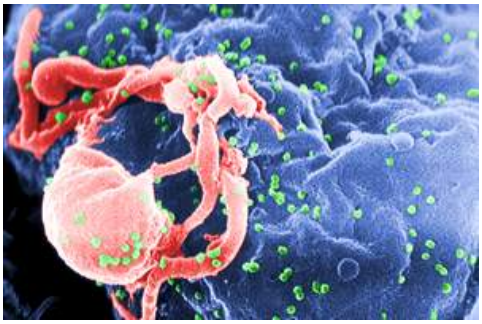
California: Homophobic Law Making It a Felony to Intentionally Give Someone HIV Redacted

Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer
October 8, 2017



It's not a virus, it's a culture.

Can you imagine anything more homophobic than making it a felony to engage in the homosexual national sport – giving other homos HIV?

I'm happy to see this law is being reduced – for tolerance – but it really should not be illegal at all.

This is an outlawing of homosexual identity. No different than laws against anal penetration.

RT:

> California Governor Jerry Brown has signed a bill that reduces the crime of knowingly exposing a sexual partner to HIV without informing them from a felony to a misdemeanor.
> Friday's Senate Bill 239 also applies to those who donate blood without disclosing their HIV status to the blood bank.
> It was authored by Senator Scott Wiener (D-San Francisco) and Assemblyman Todd Gloria (D-San Diego).

Great guy, Scott Wiener.

God's chosen people, in fact.
You can trust him.

"Today, California took a major step toward treating HIV as a public health issue, instead of treating people living with HIV as criminals," Wiener said in a statement.

"HIV should be treated like all other serious infectious diseases, and that's what SB 239 does," he added.

Gov. Brown signed our legislation decriminalizing #HIV. Huge win for ppl living w HIV & for public health. HIV isn't a crime. Thx Governor! pic.twitter.com/Rj2pPsDrrP

— Scott Wiener (@Scott_Wiener) October 6, 2017

Knowingly transmitting HIV to another person can still be classified as a felony in cases where intent to do so can be proven. Prior to passing the bill, under California law, HIV was the only communicable disease for which deliberate exposure was deemed a felony offense, which carries a penalty of between three and eight years in federal prison.

Wiener and other advocates for amending the law argued that such severe punishment dissuaded people from getting their HIV status checked, precisely to protect themselves from felony prosecution.

"We are going to end new HIV infections, and we will do so not by threatening people with state prison time, but rather by getting people to test and providing them access to care," Wiener said, as cited by the LA Times.

Yes.

We cannot have people consciously not infecting other people with HIV.

That would completely undermine what it means to be a homosexual.

As I have always said: all homosexuals SHOULD have AIDS.

Negroid Taxi Driver Runs Over Pedestrians in London

Lee Rogers
Daily Stormer
October 8, 2017

Why are monkeys like this allowed to drive cars?

Here's another story that you all can file in the "could never have been predicted" category. A shit skinned taxi driver just ran over a bunch of pedestrians in London.

Daily Mail:

Eleven people have been injured after a car mounted the pavement and mowed down pedestrians outside the Natural History Museum in London this afternoon.

A man was pinned down by security guards and arrested by police in the heart of the capital's museum land in Kensington.

Hundreds of terrified tourists fled the scene as the black Toyota Prius – a registered minicab – careered into a sign before ultimately crashing into a crowd of as many as 10 people as it hit a silver car, according to witnesses.

Metropolitan Police have ruled out any links to terrorism and are treating it as a "road traffic collision".

Dramatic pictures show guards holding down a man covered in blood with rubble strewn across the road. Dozens of armed officers converged on the scene as search dogs patrolled the area.

Seriously though, can someone please offer a coherent explanation on why we need to have these low IQ subhuman savages in our countries. I'm talking about a real explanation. Saying that it is sad or mean spirited to not let them live in our nations is not a proper explanation.

Appeal to emotion or argumentum ad passiones is a logical fallacy characterized by the manipulation of the recipient's emotions in order to win an argument, especially in the absence of factual evidence.[1] This kind of appeal to emotion is a type of red herring and encompasses several logical fallacies, including appeal to consequences, appeal to fear, appeal to flattery, appeal to pity, appeal to ridicule, appeal to spite, and wishful thinking.

It seems to me that the only cultural enrichment we have received from these third world animals is of the negative variety. If they aren't running people over with automobiles they're shooting people or blowing things up. They sure as hell aren't paying for people's pensions or filling top engineering positions.

In a multicultural society you need to have lots of armed men wearing ski masks to keep order.

Historically, immigration allowed a nation to bring in people to fulfill a specific need or to benefit the country in some capacity. Nations did not let people into their country who have zero things in common with them because of feelings or emotional gibberish.

Multiculturalism has been a disaster. I want these monkeys out of our countries now.

Jew is Plunged Into a State of Moral Perplexity as His Ethnocentric Ethical Code Leads Him Astray

Diversity Macht Frei
October 8, 2017

Howard Kaplan, Jew who was scammed by another Jew

Some wicked antisemites reproach Jews for preying on Gentiles while behaving respectfully to their own kind. Tacitus, for example, said of Jews that "among themselves they are inflexibly honest and ever ready to show compassion, though they regard the rest of mankind with all the hatred of enemies."

This antisemitic canard has now been decisively refuted, however, with the anecdote below.

> "Do you speak Hebrew?" an Israeli asked me in Logan Airport where I was about to board a flight from Boston to Los Angeles. He looked in his fifties, was slightly sweaty and upset. I said yes, surprised that I'd be asked that in Boston where Hebrew had to be far less common than West Los Angeles where I live and hear it often. It was 2 p.m. "Actually, I do," I said.
> He gushed in Hebrew. Thank God. He'd been there since six in the morning, had lost his debit card, needed to take an Amtrak from Boston to Washington DC where he lived and didn't have money for the ticket. He asked for my phone number and quickly called my cell with a 202 Washington, DC area code. My phone rang so I had his number. Then on his phone he showed me the Amtrak site and the cost for the train from Boston to Washington DC – $177. He had to get to South Station soon to make the train.
> I asked, what happened to the debit card. He explained he bought a drink on board his flight and slipped it in the pouch in front of him. How can I buy you a train ticket in the airport? "Kesef mezoman," he said. It sounds less abrupt in Hebrew. In English it's "cash."
> I carry a credit card, but rarely have my debit card with me, prefer to keep it at home. The exception is when I travel, so my debit card was in my wallet. He walked me to an ATM machine nearby. As I put in my card, he asked for maybe a little extra for food. I took out $200 and gave the money to him along with my card so he could mail me a check.
> It seemed such an insignificant sum, I didn't much consider that it could be a scam. On the flight home, I did think that few people travel with only a single debit card and I could have asked him to open his wallet and see what lurked there. I'm very prompt about such things and expected the check to arrive quickly. Eleven days passed and then I called the 202 number. A recorded voice informed me that the number had been changed, disconnected or was no longer in service.
> I have biases and prejudices. If about anybody else, other than a fellow Jew – it is not material to me that he was Israeli – had approached me for the money, I'd have said no. But for me Jews are a family and that's why I said yes. I tell myself that I want to be that guy who gives money to help a fellow Jew rather than be so mistrustful that I decline. Better to give and lose.

Head of Judicial Watch Says He Doesn't Trust the FBI – Is There Anyone Who Does?

Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer
October 7, 2017

> I don't trust the @FBI.
> – Tom Fitton (@TomFitton) October 4, 2017

The head of Judicial Watch, Tom Fitton, has called out the FBI.

Simply tweeting "I don't trust the @FBI," he said what we're all thinking.

Absolutely nothing about this Vegas massacre makes any sense at all, the FBI is in full control of it, and the FBI are a bunch of liars.

They have proven themselves to be both liars and snakes, and no one has any reason at all to believe anything they say about anything.

They have:

1. Examined the hotel room
2. Examined his home (including all computers and whatever else)
3. Interviewed his family members
4. Interviewed his friends
5. Flown his girlfriend from the Philippines and interviewed her

And somehow…nothing?

Really?

Apparently, there is now a note in the hotel room. They've just admitted that in the last 24 hours.

But they say it is a "numerical code." And they don't understand it.

They won't release the note. Even though – I can pretty well guarantee you, 100% – someone on 4chan could figure out what it means.

Business Insider:

Investigators probing the deadly shooting rampage that unfolded on the Las Vegas Strip on Sunday night say that a piece of paper found in gunman Stephen Paddock's hotel suite was not a suicide note.

Still, there has been much speculation about what may have been on that paper. Police so far have not commented on that detail.

Clark County Sheriff Joseph Lombardo said during a news conference on Wednesday night that there was evidence to suggest Paddock had planned to get out of the Mandalay Bay Resort and Casino alive, but Lombardo refused to elaborate further on that point.

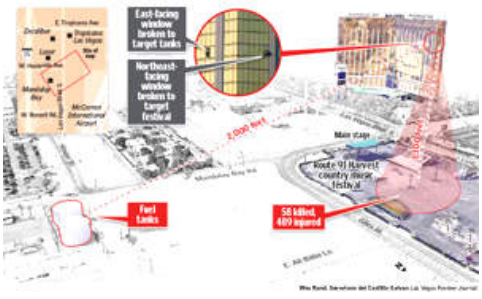
Oh yeah, sure. He was planning to escape from the 32nd floor after the massacre.

THAT MAKES SENSE.

At least as much sense as any of the rest of this makes.

Do you know that they are explaining the second vantage point as that he was shooting at aviation fuel tanks?

Seriously, that's what they're saying.



That, der friend, is fucking retarded.

He did not have a rocket launcher.

Here are the tanks.

Do you think this guy – who clearly knew what the hell he was doing – thought he was going to make those explode by shooting them with an AR-15?

From 2000 feet?

Why would they even make that claim?

Unless they are just L Y I N G?

And the note – why won't they release it?

The fact that the FBI won't release the note is further evidence that they are hiding something.

I personally have no idea what that might be.

There are, as far as I can tell, not very many options here:

1. He converted to Islam (could be related to Filipino wife and general time spent in the Flips)
2. He is some kind of patsy for a psyop (if this was the case, the narrative would have already been prepared – they'd be blaming Donald Trump and yours truly)
3. He is insane (this is simple enough, they should be able to explain that, but there is no history of mental illness and the event was too well prepared)
4. Something super weird

The fourth option – "something super weird" – could be all sorts of different things.

We are all speculating now, because these fed rats won't give us any information.

But look.

He COULD have been some kind of MKULTRA agent whose programming went bad. He could have been brainwashed to be triggered into mass murder, and then accidentally have been triggered when he wasn't supposed to have been.

I'm just throwing that out there – I don't actually believe it, I'm just giving an example of one bizarre possibility here.

There are all kinds of things that could be going on here.

I have no idea.

Maybe just the idea of a 64-year-old white boomer converting to Islam is something they feel the need to hide – although I don't really understand why, as that is what everyone is assuming anyway and it would really even be super-duper shocking. It would be weird, but it wouldn't be out of this world weird.

So look – I don't know.

What I do know is that they know something and they aren't saying it and I can't figure out what that is.

I also know that Trump has effectively been silent on the issue, giving nothing other than a canned "blah blah sad, blah blah, thanks to first responders" teleprompter speech. Which is expected, and I'm not blaming him for giving that speech. But he should – one would think – be doing more than that.

Because our people are dead.

And I want to know what's going on.

We all want to know what's going on.

Our dead.

Antifa are the Footsoldiers of the System

Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer
October 7, 2017

This isn't a real Onion headline (link leads somewhere else). If it was it was deleted.

But it sure is accurate.

Seriously.

The "edgy" antifa and whatever other liberal tools are exactly that: tools.

They are the soldiers of the system.

All of their beliefs are the exact beliefs that they are told to have by the entire ruling establishment:

- Open borders
- Faggots
- Trannies
- Black lives
- Islam is peaceful
- etc.
- etc.

They have not a single "rebellious" belief, other than that they hate the cops, which is something Obama and other global leaders have also endorsed.

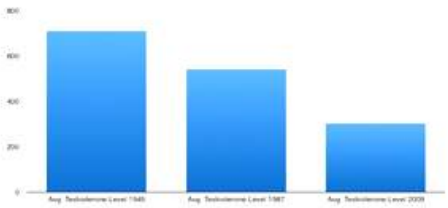
There is nothing. Absolutely nothing. That these people are rebelling against.

And there is nothing on the planet gayer than people pretending to be rebels while supporting every single aspect of the ruling elite system.

And at least a third of these are male.

Out fighting for a system that wants to destroy them.

That is what declining testosterone has done to our men.



You all need to read up on how to maximize your testosterone levels and reduce the chemicals and behaviors influencing its decline.

It's very, very, very important.

Simply shedding excess fat goes a long way. But you also need to avoid plastics. And get to the gym. Stay mobile. Stand more. Stop eating chicken and drinking milk. Eat more red meat. Clean carbs only – no bread. And CUT THE BEER. None of it. If you want to drink, drink red wine, vodka or gin. Beer is liquid estrogen.

I'll put together a big article on this in the future.

This Entire Vegas Narrative is Utter Bullshit – We are Being Lied to

Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer
October 7, 2017

There is absolutely zero way in all hell that the current narrative being sold about the Vegas massacre is true.

What is the narrative even?

Does anyone even know?

"WHITE GUY SHOOTS RANDOM WHITE PEOPLE – IT'S BECAUSE OF GUNS AND WHITE PEOPLE."

Is that what it actually is?

They just came out and announced that there was no second shooter and there is no connection to Islam.

RT:

> Las Vegas investigators do not believe there was another shooter in the Mandalay Bay room where Stephen Paddock opened fire on thousands of concertgoers. Police also said the suspect had no known ties to Islamic terrorism.
> At a Friday press conference, Las Vegas Metropolitan Police Department Undersheriff Kevin McMahill told reporters that investigators are "very confident that there was not another shooter" in Paddock's room.

> Investigators have also reviewed "voluminous amounts of video from numerous locations," but McMahill said that they have not "located any other person that we believe to be a suspect at this point."
> He added that investigators are also aware that the Islamic State (IS, formerly ISIS/ISIL) has claimed responsibility for the shooting, but said that they have found "no known nexus" to terrorism or connections to ISIS.

He specifically mentioned investigators looking into Paddock's personal life, political affiliation, social behaviors, economic situation, and any "potential radicalization that so many have claimed."

And they know nothing about his political affiliations even, they are claiming.

How is that possible?

That is all public record and they searched his house. They've searched his computers. They interviewed his entire family.

> He also added that investigators are also "keenly interested" in Paddock's medical status, and continue to investigate that.
> McMahill said that this case is very different from previous terrorist attacks or mass murder incidents, where a motive was much easier to determine. In most cases, investigators are able to determine a motive after finding a note left at the scene, searching through social media posts and telephone calls made before the incidents or mining the suspect's computer data.

Yeah, that's the other thing. In the photos released of the hotel room, there are pictures of what looks like papers with handwriting on them.

What are those?

Why are we not being told what those are?

> "While some of it has helped to create a better profile into the madness of this suspect, we do not, still, have a clear motive or reason why," said McMahill.

> "We must remain focused solely on truth and fact," McMahill said. "It's very easy to assume."

Is it easy to assume?

I am not having an easy time assuming anything other than a bunch of my people are dead and shot. And I am having a very easy time assuming that these people were targeted specifically because they were my people.

I'm not having an easy time assuming anything else here.

That'll help.

No it won't.

That almost sounds like the exact thing you would do if you were trying to make it look like you were trying to figure this out when in fact you are not because you already know what happened.

> "This is critical for us," Rouse said. "We have not stopped, we will not stop until we have the truth."
> Investigators also found Tannerite, an explosive composed of two substances, in Paddock's car. They said that a "significant amount" of the explosive was in its "finished product," while they also found ammonium nitrate and aluminum powder, which, when combined make the finished product of Tannerite.
> However, McMahill said that they found the explosive in a condition that did not resemble an improvised explosive device (IED).

Tannerite?

For those who don't know, that is for target shooting.

Obviously, the guy was training before this.

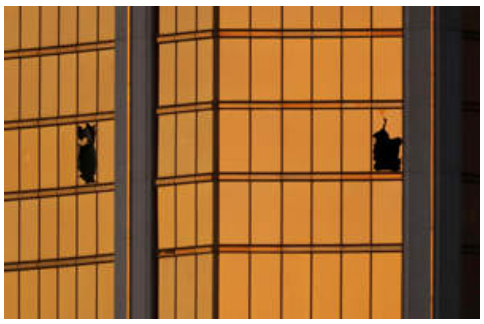
Why would he not have that?

Why would the authorities imply this was an "explosive" – and then admit it isn't actually – unless they are purposefully trying to confuse this situation?

> "Sorry to tell you, I don't know what he was going to do with all of that Tannerite," McMahill said. "I wish I did and we continue to try to find that information out."

He was using it for target practice before the attack, you stupid fuck.

There were two holes. Two vantage points.



Why would one shooter need two vantage points?

He's running back and forth between them, even though he had a perfect shot from the right one, and moving back and forth would waste time?

WHY?

Well, I'll tell you what.

There's some kind of connection to something here.

There is virtually zero chance that this was just some random insane attack. They haven't even tried to make that argument. There is no evidence he was insane. The closest they've come to that is saying he did it because he was on Valium, maybe. Or something.

My people are dead and I want some fucking answers.

And at this point, they have some kind of answers. They have leads, at the very least, and in all likelihood, they know the entire story and they just aren't saying it.

Instead, they're telling us to pray.

Well, I'm done with praying.

They are reporting stupid things.

He slept with free prostitutes offered by the hotel – who wouldn't do that?

He made his girlfriend nervous sometimes – who doesn't do that?

He made a noise complaint to the hotel staff over the country music show less than 24 hours before opening fire – okay, that one is sort of weird. But it doesn't mean anything. Even if we were to say that he did this because he was just really pissed off about country music, he already had all the guns in his room.

And there is no way you shoot half a thousand people because you hate country music. And if that was the case, there would be all kinds of documentation of his hate for country music.

What I know is this: 58 people are dead, 500 injured, and the overwhelming majority of those are my people and I want to know what the fuck happened here.

Another thing, and this is key: is this guy Jewish or part Jewish?

Shock as Jew Pervert Harvey Weinstein Discovered to be a Perverted Jew

Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer
October 7, 2017

Pretty nice shiksa you got there, Harvey. It's gonna be a shame when Hollywood is rocked with the revelation that the perverted Jew Harvey Weinstein is in fact a Jewish pervert.

The New York Times did a big report on all of the sexual harassment cases he had settled, and now the allegations are pouring out.

You could have just called up the Daily Stormer, and we would have told you this kike was a weasel chronic masturbator and would-be rapist (but lacks strength in arms).

After Ashley Judd said he wanted her to watch him take a shower (weird) and Rose McGowan talked about the $100,000 she got from him – for who knows what, she's apparently said on Twitter it was "rape," but I've zero fucking idea how fat Harvey could rape anyone, even 20 years ago when Rose McGowan was someone you would be interested in raping.

Nineteen-ninety-something.

Probably it was one of these "legally rape" situations. Or Bill Cosby style. Whatever. Who gives a fuck?

Now a journalist is saying fat Harvey masturbated on her at a restaurant.

lol?

I mean seriously, I hate all of these fucking people and could not give any less fucks if some stupid whore was forced to watch fat Harvey in the shower or got jacked off on or whatever – Hollywood should be nuked. In fact, all of Southern California should be nuked. None of these fucking evil monsters deserve to be alive.

Huffington Post:

> Harvey Weinstein once trapped a woman in the hallway of a restaurant that was closed to the public and masturbated in front of her until he ejaculated, she says. The accusation comes a day after Weinstein was the subject of a bombshell New York Times report that revealed that he has settled at least eight sexual harassment claims.
> The incident took place a decade ago, according to Lauren Sivan, who at the time was a news anchor on a local cable channel in New York, Long Island 12. She says the experience left her shocked, and that while she told friends privately what happened, she remained quiet because she was in a long-term relationship and fearful of the power that Weinstein wielded in the media.

Oh my gawd the poor slut.

Trying to think of things I give less fucks about.

> Sivan told HuffPost about the incident with Weinstein in an on-record interview. A list of detailed questions was emailed to a Weinstein Company publicist. While the publicist acknowledged receiving the questions, multiple attempts to get a response were unsuccessful. In a text message, Lisa Bloom , Weinstein's attorney, said Weinstein was not available for an interview.

LOL LITERALLY LISA BLOOM.

> The night of the incident started with Sivan meeting Weinstein and others at Cipriani, a well-known Italian restaurant in Manhattan. She later rode with him and others to Socialista, a Cuban-themed club and restaurant in which Weinstein and Giuseppe Cipriani, who was then the head of the Cipriani restaurant empire, were investors. Sivan noted to HuffPost that Weinstein's car was "stocked full of cases of Diet Coke," which she said she found to be odd. In a 2001 profile of Weinstein in New York Magazine, journalist David Carr noted that while sitting at a table, Weinstein had "three Diet Cokes on standby in front of him."

I guess that's not really very odd.

All fat people are addicted to Diet Coke.

Why would she even mention that?

> Sivan recalled that, while at the club, Weinstein asked her to join him on a tour of its restaurant, Cafe Socialista. Sivan said she reluctantly agreed and they went downstairs to the restaurant. Just before Sivan left, the friend told her that if she wasn't back in 10 minutes, she would come to check on her.
> Once Sivan and Weinstein were downstairs they chatted and he showed her the cafe. He then took her to the kitchen (the restaurant was closed by that time), where a couple of staffers were cleaning up.
>
> Weinstein then dismissed the two staffers in the kitchen. According to multiple women who spoke to HuffPost on the condition of anonymity who said they had similar experiences with Weinstein, he has started out meetings or interactions with other people in the room and then dismissed them to be alone with women in order to make advances.
> Once they left, Sivan says Weinstein leaned in and tried to kiss her. Sivan rejected that attempt and told him she had a long-term boyfriend. Weinstein then said to Sivan, "Well, can you just stand there and shut up."
> At this point, Weinstein and Sivan were in a vestibule between the kitchen and bathrooms. The only way for Sivan to get away from Weinstein required her to get past him and go through the kitchen. Sivan says she was trapped by Weinstein's body and was intimidated.
> Weinstein then proceeded to expose himself to Sivan and began to masturbate. Sivan said she was deeply shocked by Weinstein's behavior and was frozen and didn't know what to do or say. The incident in the vestibule didn't last long. Sivan says Weinstein ejaculated quickly into a potted plant that was in the vestibule and then proceeded to zip up his pants and they walked back into the kitchen.

Yes. This is how I picture the regular Jewish version of "rape."

They trap you in a kitchen and convince you to watch them jackoff into a potted plant.

McGowan is now tweeting more in response to this situation.

> Anyone who does business with __ is complicit. And deep down you know you are even dirtier. Cleanse yourselves.
> — rose mcgowan (@rosemcgowan) October 5, 2017

> Women fight on. And to the men out there, stand up. We need you as allies. #bebrave
> — rose mcgowan (@rosemcgowan) October 5, 2017

You're not getting me as an ally, you filthy fucking whore.

I'm sitting here wishing fat Harvey would have slit your throat after the rape. Or before. Or during.

Whatever.

People hate all of you monsters, and they want you dead. That is the situation. People want to see Hollywood nuked.

The fact that this Weinstein bullshit is even a story tells you how fucked the universe is.

"OH MY GOD YOU MEAN THAT FAT PERVERT JEW MASTURBATES IN FRONT OF PEOPLE MIND EQUALS BLOWN."

The bottom line is that that city and this entire country needs cleansed.

C L E A N S E D

The Jews have made our nation into the global center of filth that they made Germany into in the 20s.

And I just want you to remember this: back then, a bunch of guys got really, really fucking pissed off about it.

And I am just going to tell you this: that didn't end well for the Jews.

And I am just going to tell you this also: it isn't going to end well for them this time either.

The day is coming very, very soon when these people are going to wish they never would have fucked with us.

That's a promise.

Jeff Sessions Restoring Our God-Given Right to Discriminate Against Faggots – But What About Blacks?

Adrian Sol
Daily Stormer
October 7, 2017

Soon they'll be begging to be shoved back in their closets.

People, left to their own devices, will naturally segregate themselves racially and shun faggots, perverts and other weirdoes. It's not even necessary to make laws specifically mandating it. The only reason we're in this mess is because the government is forcing people to tolerate things they despise.

Well, Attorney Gereral Jeff Session's new initiative is a giant step in the right direction.

Washington Post:

> Attorney General Jeff Sessions issued sweeping guidance to executive branch agencies Friday on the Justice Department's interpretation of how the government should respect religious freedom , triggering an immediate backlash from civil liberties groups who asserted the nation's top law enforcement officer was trying to offer a license for discrimination.
> In a memorandum titled "Federal Law Protections for Religious Liberty," Sessions articulated 20 sweeping principles about religious freedom and what that means for the U.S. government – among them that freedom of religion extends to people and organizations; that religious employers are allowed to hire only those whose conduct is consistent with their beliefs; and that grants can't require religious organizations to change their character.

At last, we can make America straight again.

This, if put into application, could be a huge win.

It means you can discriminate against protected classes in order to follow your religious beliefs – even if you're a business.

In one fell swoop, it means anyone can stop hiring perverts – or fire them immediately – simply by proclaiming to be Christian.

> Though the principles are lofty – and some of them in no way objectionable – t hey could have a broad negative impact, permitting religious groups to impinge on the rights of LGBT people and others, said civil liberties advocates, including the American Civil Liberties Union, Equality Federation and others. The announcement, though, was welcomed by groups like the Becket Fund for Religious Liberty, the Alliance Defending Freedom and the Family Research Council.

"Except in the narrowest circumstances, no one should be forced to choose between living out his or her faith and complying with the law," Sessions wrote. "Therefore, to the greatest extent practicable and permitted by law, religious observance and practice should be reasonably accommodated in all government activity, including employment, contracting, and programming."

Now, we just need a religion that bans smoking crack and making mix tapes.

Seriously.

Just make a new version of Christianity that bans typical non-White behaviors and you can simply fire them for having "conduct inconsistent with your religious beliefs."

If we push this principle far enough, we might just be able to reclaim our long-lost constitutional freedom of association.

They say companies no longer need to subsidize birth control if they claim to be Christian. This could be used to justify cutting funding to all sorts of other anti-White crap.

I'm very excited to see where this goes.

Fake News Media Claims Las Vegas Shooting Wasn't Anti-White

Adrian Sol
Daily Stormer
October 7, 2017

Shooting up a White concert wasn't anti-White, because he could also have shot up a diverse concert, but didn't. If you don't follow this logic, you're probably a racist.

The symbolism of shooting up a country music concert is so clear and powerful, that basically no one can claim that it's anything but an assault on American and Whiteness.

And it's making us very, very angry.

The media understands this, and they're desperate for some kind of narrative that could somehow prevent liberals from being blamed for the massacre. They'll search for the flimsiest thread of "evidence" they find and hang on for dear life.

But this "revelation" is so ridiculous and disingenuous that I doubt they'll be able to make much out of it.

LA Times:

Thursday's news that someone using the same name as Las Vegas shooter Stephen Paddock had booked two rooms at Chicago's Blackstone Hotel overlooking the Lollapalooza music festival prompted new questions about who the gunman was targeting.

Questions, eh? Let the intellectual gymnastics begin…

You can almost feel the desperation.

This better be good…

During the earliest days searching for a motive in Sunday's attack on the Route 91 Harvest Festival, some wondered if the shooter had specifically targeted Las Vegas, where he frequently spent time gambling, or if there was another reason he wanted to inflict harm upon the all-ages gathering of country music fans.

Then on Wednesday, Clark County Sheriff Joseph Lombardo confirmed earlier reports that the shooter rented space in a condo tower with a clear view of another music festival, Life Is Beautiful, the weekend before his attack.

Uh…That's it?

This is stupid on so many levels…I don't even know where to begin.

First, even ignoring everything else, the fact that he rented another motel room and could have shot up a different concert doesn't mean he didn't care about who he was shooting up. He had a choice, and he ended up choosing to shoot up the country concert. Everything else is meaningless.

But beyond that, this other reservation happened the week before. Isn't the most obvious reason he could have done that to prepare for the real shooting? He went over the steps, renting a hotel room, look at the concert below, figure out the range, and so on.

There's nothing at all to indicate that he thought "Lollapaloosa" was exactly as good a target as the country concert.

The demographics of Route 91 are markedly different from Lollapalooza, which took place the first weekend in August, and Life Is Beautiful. They suggest that the shooter may not have been targeting a specific type of music event.

Lollapalooza and Life Is Beautiful featured as headliners the Chicago hip-hop star Chance the Rapper, arena rock band Muse, superstar pop singer Lorde and commercial punk band Blink-182.

There was no overlap with the Route 91 lineup, which was dense with commercial country singers including headliners Jason Aldean and Sam Hunt.

The writer wants us to think that Lollapaloosa is some kind of event for brown people. It doesn't appear to be.

Lollapaloosa 2015: Looks pretty huwhite to me.

If you google this event, the photographs clearly show that the attendance is at least 90% White. And I don't think too many Blacks are fans of Blink 182 and Lorde. So either way, the victims would have been overwhelmingly White.

But regardless, the LA Times have no problem suggesting that the shooter had didn't specifically target a certain type of event, implying that he wasn't attacking White America, but instead was just a random crazy guy with no political ideology.

Do you think they'd be bending over backwards making the same point if this was a White shooter targeting a rap concert? Obviously not.

Denmark the Latest to Ban Female Haji Ninja Mask – Why? What is the Point?

I am so sick of these burka bans.

RT:

> The Danish ruling coalition parties have expressed their support for the full-face veil ban. As Denmark is set to ban the Muslim conservative garb, which EU countries will it join?
> The liberal Venstre Party, the senior member of the ruling coalition, has announced its support for the ban on wearing full-face veils in public places following a party meeting dedicated to the issue Friday.
> "The forthcoming ban on face covering will receive backing from Venstre," the liberal party's spokesman, Jakob Ellemann-Jensen, told the Danish broadcaster DR, adding that it will be "not a religiously defined ban but it will still obviously cover burqa and niqab."

> The stance of another coalition member, the libertarian Liberal Alliance (LA), has also drastically changed. The party that opposed the ban just last month, arguing that it might isolate Muslim women and prevent them from leaving their homes altogether, now also said it would back such an initiative.
> "Everyone agrees that the burqa is an expression of extreme oppression of women ," the party leader, Anders Samuelsen, wrote Friday in a Facebook post. He went on to say that his party is "in favor" of the ban, if the Danish authorities could impose it "without harming ourselves and our values."
>
> ...
> A recent poll commissioned by DR in late September showed that 62 percent of the Danish population are in favor of such a ban, while fewer than one in four oppose it.
> In the meantime, half a dozen EU states have already introduced similar nationwide bans, while in some other countries restrictions on wearing face-covering veils exist at a regional level.

What is the point of this?

Well, the stated point is to "stop oppression of women."

The actual underlying point is to try to force these monkeys to integrate into Western society.

Hey guys – guess what, guys – France already tried that. They spent half a century trying it.

And third generation hajis are still mass murdering them.

It doesn't work.

Here are the real life options, for those of us who have enough balls to deal with reality:

1. Convert your entire nation to Islam

2. Remove the Moslems

Period.

There is no third option.

Because, der dumb fucks, as soon as they become the majority they are just going to repeal all of your "integration" laws – and then pass laws that force you to integrate to them.

Which part is confusing here?

Seriously: point me to exactly which part of this equation confuses you.

Tell me which part confuses you and I will do my very, very best to elaborate.

Retarded Little Girl Statue on Wall Street at Center of Lawsuit Over Pay Discrimination

Roy Batty
Daily Stormer
October 6, 2017

Remember that retarded statue they put up on Wall St? There is no way that it wouldn't somehow elicit controversy eventually. Behold:

BBC:

> The statue of a young girl staring down Wall Street's famous stock market bull was installed to draw attention to gender inequality and the pay gap in the corporate world.
> But in an ironic twist the firm behind the Fearless Girl statue will pay $5m (£3.8m; €4.3m) in a row over equal pay.
> State Street Global Advisors (SSGA) has been accused by the US Department of Labor of paying hundreds of female executives less than male colleagues.
> The firm denies the claims.
> It said it wanted to bring an end to the matter.
> The fund manager will pay the settlement to more than 300 senior female staff which were paid less than their male counterparts, according to the Department of Labor.
> The disparity was uncovered during a 2012 pay audit.
> The settlement also covers allegations that the firm paid 15 black employees less than their white counterparts.
> State Street has denied any pay discrimination for both its female and black employees.

There are two important take-aways from this whole ridiculous affair.

First off, this was all just a sickening and cloying display of corporate virtue-sniveling.

Instead of showing actual commitment to doing good in the world instead of enslaving the goyim, they just decided to let a little girl statue based on a composite of all the little goy girls they molested at their last dreidel and blow party to be put up opposite the bull.

So now the Left loves them for it – because the Left no longer cares about higher wages or better working conditions – and the Right loves them for it too.

Win-win.

Because that's what its all about right? Being milquetoast and affable enough to not attract any attention allows them to keep on fleecing the White masses.

But then it bit them in the ass anyway. Turns out that putting up a little statue isn't enough, got to increase Diversity ™ even on Wall St according to the cultural revolutionaries. I'm pretty sure that they weren't even underpaying them, but paying them according to output metrics, which simply de facto meant that they'd pay women and minorities less.

Serves them right though.

Now Wall Street may have to walk the walk, instead of talk the talk and hire unqualified people into their firms. Hopefully this leads to disaster.

Wouldn't it be something if the little girl statue ended up causing the stock market to change, the collapse to happen and RAHOWA to start?

Well, no more.

Charlottesville to Name Street After Sloppy Fat Whore Heather Heyer

Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer
October 6, 2017

Chinese getting in on this honor.

Apparently, if someone dies of a heart attack in your city, you should name a street after them.

I personally think this is bullshit. If they want to honor Heather Heyer with a street name, they should name it "Obesity Awareness Drive."

Or…Heartattack and Vine.

The absolute fact of the matter is that if Heyer would have had some self control and been able to keep her grubby, greasy hands off the cheesecake and Cheetos, the stupid bitch would still be alive.

RT:

> The city council of Charlottesville, Virginia has voted to rename a street after Heather Heyer who was killed while protesting a white supremacist rally on August 12.
> On the 4th street in Charlottesville, where Heyer, 32, died there will be a sign with her name, as requested by her mother, Susan Bro.
> "Even the thought of going there now is very challenging. I didn't even go to the site until a week after she passed away, and that was very, very difficult," Bro told CNN affiliate WVIR. " For me, that spot is the site of my daughter's murder."

You fucking fat liar.

Show me case law where someone has been "murdered" by a heart attack.

This is insane that they are still playing this up when they all know – including Susan "Not My" Bro – that this whole thing is going to fall apart in court and they're going to be like "the real murderers here are Five Guys, Hostess and 2 liter bottles of Coca-Cola."

> On Wednesday, a judge in Charlottesville ruled that a state law protecting war memorials could apply retroactively to the city's statue of Confederate General Robert E. Lee, after its removal was challenged in court, according to the Richmond Times Dispatch.
> However, the judge said he wanted more proof that the statue qualifies as a war memorial, the newspaper reported.
> Some in Charlottesville suggested replacing Lee's monument with Heyer's, but her mother opposed the idea.
> "My goal was never to replace a Confederate statue with one of Heather, and any of Heather's family and friends who knew anything about statues said absolutely Heather would be mortified and think it was hilarious," said Heyer's mother, as the city was deciding how to honor her daughter's memory.

HAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAAAAAAAA

THEY SHOULD DO THAT.

BUILD A STATUE FOR THE COW.

JUST MAKE IT HOW SHE LOOKED IN REAL LIFE, RATHER THAN THESE 10 YEAR OLD PICTURES OF HER.

USE THIS AS THE MODEL FOR THE STATUE:

For those who missed it – and it was easy to miss, because the entire Jewish media came together to cover it up – we have video evidence that Heather Heyer was not hit by a car and in fact simply died of a heart attack, apparently as a result of the sound the car made.

Video Link

We also have Susan Bro – the one who is still out there claiming this was "murder" – admitting on video that she died of a heart attack.

Mama Fat said:

> I know that those who are evil are going to rejoice in my grief and I understand that. That's their issue. Karma's a you-know-what. So um. I'm just grieving my child. She died pretty instantly. She didn't suffer. She didn't suffer. She died of a heart attack right away at the scene. They revived her briefly and – not consciously, just got her heart beating and then her heart just died. So I don't feel like she suffered. That's been a blessing. That's been a real blessing.

There is ZERO QUESTION about what happened.

THERE WAS NO MURDER.

James Fields – the driver – should sue this fat slob Susan Bro for defamation when he gets off on these charges. She is still touring calling him a murderer, when all he did was drive recklessly when Heather Heyer's antifa comrades were hitting his car with bats.

The Armed Man: Romanian Patriots Interrupt Muezzin by Singing National Anthem

Diversity Macht Frei

This is beautiful. The scene is Cruj, Romania, on 1 October, where a performance of the The Armed Man is taking place. This is an oratorio written by the Welsh composer Karl Jenkins*, featuring a One Worldesque, anti-war theme. As part of its multicultural outreach, the piece incorporates texts from a variety of world traditions, including the Muslim call to prayer.

As the muezzin is heard, Romanian nationalists get up and start singing the Romanian national anthem. Afterwards they declare "No mosque will ever be built in Romania!".

Jenkins' music is not actually that great but you have to give him credit for at least attempting to compose classical music in the tonal tradition.*

UK: Islamic Convert Detained for Sending Potential Terrorist-Casing Photos to Pakistan

Andrew Anglin

October 8, 2017

Converted to Islam, huh?

The Sun:

Club bosses were tipped off after discovering a member of staff, who converted to Islam, had been sending mobile phone footage of the Lions' stadium to a pal in Pakistan.

The employee's Facebook page contained screen grabs of the FaceTime conversation as well as links to the controversial Finsbury Park Mosque.

Millwall suspended the worker and called in counter-terror cops, who swiftly raised the threat level to the highest level for any club.

He was spoken to by cops but not arrested. He has been discharged from hospital but remains on sick leave.

A source said: "The alert was raised by a member of staff and the club was quick to head off any possible threat.

"The police took it really seriously and plain-clothes officers have been trawling the stadium speaking to staff.

"Security was stepped up across the club but police have said there's no direct threat."

I think this concept of white converts might be something that the system is trying to cover up.

Because when that really starts to pick-up, we are going to be in a very serious situation.

In actual fact, it is probably going to be white converts leading the Islamic war against Europe. They are certainly smarter. And there is no one more fanatical than a convert.

That is currently probably the most likely thing going on with Stephen Paddock.

UK: Car Crashes Into Crowd, Injures 11 – Government Immediately Says It's Not Islamic

Don't even worry your stupid little heads over it, goyim filth.

BBC:

A crash outside a London museum that injured 11 people was not terror-related, police say.

A car mounted the pavement outside the Natural History Museum in Exhibition Road, South Kensington, at 14:20 BST.

The Metropolitan Police earlier said one person had been arrested and video footage that emerged on Twitter showed a man being restrained on the ground.

An update from the force said the incident was now being treated as "a road traffic collision".

London Ambulance said the people it treated – including the detained man – had mostly sustained head and leg injuries. Nine were taken to hospital.

The Met said none of the injuries were believed to be life-threatening or life changing.

The man is being held in custody at a north London police station.

Prime Minister Theresa May tweeted her thanks to first responders and members of the public, adding: "My thoughts are with the injured."

I totally trust the UK government and especially the childless old maid Theresa who has no reason whatsoever not to be completely and 100% honest with everyone.

Still though.

I would be interested to know the name and/or ethnic origin of the driver.

3) Profit!

Conversely, find me an event that Russia is actually responsible for.

nb4 Ukraine – the US paid "protesters" to throw firebombs at the cops and overthrow an elected government.

The Crimea voted that they didn't want to be a part of those shenanigans.

The only thing Russia has actually done in the last 4 years since this "blame Russia for everything" agenda started was destroy ISIS. That is a thing they actually did do.

The rest of this – no evidence or even any attempt to provide any evidence.

The media is a ridiculous, absurd hoax.

Arbeit Macht Frei: 2 Million Immigrants on Long-Term Welfare Benefits in Germany

Diversity Macht Frei
October 7, 2017

The number of foreign Hartz-IV recipients [these are benefits for the long-term unemployed] sharply increased last year. At the end of June, 1,997,519 foreigners in Germany received the social benefits. This is an increase of 25.6% from the previous year, reported the Bild newspaper, citing the Bundesagentur für Arbeit [Federal Agency for Labour].

Of these around 1.49 million were capable of work, their number increasing by 20%, and more than 507,292 were not capable of work, their number increasing by almost 45%. According to the report, one quarter of Hartz-IV recipients come from Syria.

Most of these came to Germany during the refugee crisis and are now appearing in the statistics for the first time. Their numbers grew by 93% compared to the previous year. Next came Turks (270,000) and Iraqis (130,000).

An assessment by the agency in July of this year indicated that one out of every two unemployed persons in west Germany is of immigrant origin,

Source: Junge Freiheit

This is like an entire country living at the expense of German taxpayers. There are lots of small countries around with populations in the 4-5 million range (Norway, Denmark, etc.). As a general rule of thumb, the workforce is around half of the total population because of children, students, retired people, etc. So for 2 million foreigners to be living on long term benefits is as if Germany was paying for the livelihood of an entire small foreign country. Imagine if Danes or Norwegians didn't have to do any work because Germans paid for their upkeep.

Boomer Jihad in France: Jihadi Granny Given 10 Years in Prison for Following Radical Islamic Son to Syria

Joe Jones
Daily Stormer
October 7, 2017

Jihadi Granny according to anonymous Daily Stormer sources.

As Vegas showed we have a major radical boomer problem.

After failing to convert enough of our youth, the Moslems have turned to our boomers.

We need to start rounding up everyone over the age of 55 to prevent these elderly jihadists from driving Trucks of Peace through our cities, they already drive poorly enough and he damage if they were trying to kill people would be catastrophic.

The Guardian:

> A radicalised French woman who followed her son to Syria, where he was fighting for Islamic State, has been given a maximum 10 years in jail by a Paris court.
> Christine Rivière, 51, nicknamed "Jihadi Granny" by investigators, had said she wanted to support her son and spend time with him in case he met an early death.
> Delivered the verdict, the judge said she had demonstrated "a firm commitment" to Isis and had contributed to strengthening the group logistically. "Instead of trying to disengage your son, it seems on the contrary that you encouraged him," the judge said.
> Rivière, from Troyes in eastern France, is the oldest of around 30 women who have been held on suspicion of links to terrorism over journeys they made between France and Syria. Whereas most of the women are young, Rivière's case stood out for her radicalisation alongside her son.
> Vilus left for Syria in 2013 with his mother's support and encouragement and she sent him money. When he told her – in messages later seized by investigators – that he was moving up the ranks of Islamic State, she is said to have replied: "I knew you'd do well, you're made for that." She allegedly tried to put him in touch with potential brides, women interested in joining Islamic State.
> Rivière was arrested in July 2014 when she was allegedly preparing to move permanently to Syria after three previous visits to her son in Isis-held areas in 2013 and 2014. She told judges she felt good in Syria and preferred living there to France, "despite the bombings and shootings", according to court papers published in Le Monde.
> Rivière reportedly told investigators: "I wanted to make the most of [time with] my son before he dies...I know that will happen, of course, and if it does I'll be happy for him because I know what that means for him. I know he will have a place in paradise...I want what he wants, like every good mother."
> Rivière denied she financially supported Isis, telling investigators it was "normal" that she sent her son money. She also denied personally fighting for Isis.
> Questioned about pictures showing her heavily armed in Syria, she said she carried a weapon there "like everybody else". Violent propaganda images were found on her computer, court papers said.

This was inevitable.

It starts off with letting in some Moslems and then BOOM.

Heavily armed jihadist babushkas.

Democracy-Hating Afghans Demand Democracy-Givers Leave Country

Don't like democracy, huh?

Well, we'll see how much you like it when we ram it straight up your ass!

RT:

> Protesters took to the streets of the Afghan capital, Kabul on Friday to demand an end to the "American occupation" as the country marks 16 years since the beginning of the US and NATO invasion.
> Hundreds took to the streets, according to RT's Ruptly video news agency, shouting anti-American and anti-NATO slogans. Protesters carried banners in both English and local languages, reading "Yankees go home," "No to occupation," " US and NATO massacre – a challenge to world's conscience! " among others.

Massacre?

Video Link

You silly, stupid, dirty sand apes.

Massacre is simply the cost of democracy.

> The demonstration, in which both male and female protestors took part, was organized by the Solidarity Party of Afghanistan.
> "We can't bear occupation anymore," a member of the Solidarity Party told Ruptly, adding that "every day we witness them (US and NATO) bombing our cities and thousands of innocent people are killed."

HA!

Human lives…innocent people…

Of what value are these things?

Are they even tangible?

No, my low IQ, cave-dwelling monkey friends.

What is tangible is principles: democracies and freedoms.

And without them, you are better off blown to pieces by NATO cluster bombs.

> "Our people gather here and we want justice. We want all the US and NATO occupiers to leave Afghanistan as soon as possible and leave the country to the Afghan people to decide what they want," he said.
> "No occupied country has reached freedom and democracy. It's only the power of people that can bring democracy, peace and freedom to our country."

Riiiiight.

How about you tell that to the people of Iraq, Afghanistan or Libya?

Military occupation and mass slaughter is the only way to ever achieve freedoms.

> The leftist Solidarity Party of Afghanistan is fighting for women's rights, secularism, and the expulsion of the US and NATO from the country.
> According to the UN, it's the Afghan civilians who have been paying the highest price for the conflict, during which thousands have died. The civilian death toll has reached record numbers this year, with 1,662 killed in the first half of 2017 alone, according to UN Assistance Mission in Afghanistan (UNAMA).
> UNAMA also noted an increase in civilian casualties, especially among women and children, from US and Afghan airstrikes, saying that it documented 95 civilian deaths and 137 injuries in such operations.

This sounds like communism.

Probably funded by Putin himself, or one of his proxies like Julian Assange or Richard Spencer.

These lives mean nothing.

Only one thing means anything and that is freedom.

And the only way anyone ever got freedom was through a sustained bombing campaign of a civilian population.

> Excessive hours are such a big problem that there's even a Japanese word for death by overwork: karoshi.
> According to a news story published by NHK, Miwa Sado had worked 159 hours of overtime in the month before her death.

What's the math on that?

40 x 4 = 160

160 + 159 = 319

319 % 28 = 11.4

These are baby hours. Hours for a little Jap baby.

"ZOMG I'm so tired I have to work 11 hours a day, wahhh, I'm going to die of a heart attack, wahhhhh."

Seriously though, we shouldn't expect women to do this.

What is the point?

No matter how many hours they work, their output is going to be shit anyway – women are incapable of doing anything right, other than getting pregnant and laying around whining about how nothing men do is good enough for them (both things they tend to be extraordinarily good at).

Miwa Sado should have been at home, pregnant with some Jap man's child, while taking care of at least 4 already born children.

Or, through the science of artificial insemination and the HUMAN EGG MARKET, pregnant with some Nazis pure Bavarian phenotype babies.

And by the way – yes, I'm going to go there.

Our women are so completely fucked – exhibit A:

Catalan Police Chief Charged with Sedition for Defending His Nation

Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer
October 6, 2017

If I was this guy, I would flee to the now-independent territory of Catalan.

That would seem the prudent move.

For sure.

Otherwise, he's going to get made example of and could do a decade or more in prison.

BBC:

The Catalan chief of police, Josep Lluis Trapero, is appearing before a judge in Madrid on suspicion of sedition against the state.

His Mossos d'Esquadra force is accused of failing to protect Spanish national police from protesters ahead of the 1 October independence referendum.

The Catalan vote last Sunday was declared illegal under Spanish law.

The Catalan parliament plans to meet on Monday despite a Spanish Constitutional Court order suspending the session.

"Parliament will discuss, parliament will meet," said Catalan foreign affairs chief Raül Romeva. " Every attempt the Spanish government has used to impede things to happen, they have been demonstrated completely not only useless but counter-productive ," he told the BBC in English.

Yeah, "counter-productive" or outright insanely hostile and brutal.

One or the other. Or both.

There is speculation that the session will be used to declare independence, based on Sunday's disputed vote.

Watershed moment

The "sedition" hearing is taking place at the national criminal court in Madrid. The defendants are accused of failing to help Guardia Civil police tackle thousands of pro-independence protesters outside the Catalan Economy Department in Barcelona on 20 September.

Along with commander Trapero, another Catalan police officer and two leading independence activists are also being questioned in Madrid.

Leading newspaper El Pais says the accusation against the Mossos is extraordinary in post-Franco democratic Spain.

The crime of sedition has been in every Spanish penal code since 1822 and carries a potential prison term of up to 15 years. It amounts to rebellion against state decisions or national security forces.

Why would he not be convicted of these crimes?

He actually did what he is being accused of.

He needs to gtfo and back to the independent nation of Catalonia.

Take a tip from the Trap God, Trapero.

Get. Out.

Former AfD Leader Charged on Trumped-Up Perjury Charges

Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer
October 6, 2017

One may note that this is the exact same thing they are doing to Jason Kessler – finding some random statement made under oath that maybe can be interpretted multiple ways and putting him in the system because of it.

Politico:

Prosecutors in Dresden on Wednesday filed perjury charges against Frauke Petry, the former leader of the far-right Alternative for Germany.

Petry is accused of giving false statements under oath to a committee of the regional parliament in Saxony in 2015 regarding the AfD's candidates and campaign finance in Saxony's 2014 election.

Prosecutors say she told the committee that after a successful election, candidates could decide for themselves whether loans they had been given to help finance the party's campaign should be paid back, or whether this money would be converted into a donation.

But prosecutors said in a statement that this testimony contradicted the actual terms of the loan agreements, which stated that successful candidates would forego a refund of their loans.

The Saxony parliament lifted Petry's immunity from prosecution in August. She was the AfD's lead candidate in the 2014 election.

Perjury in Germany carries a minimum sentence of a year in jail, though in "less serious cases" the penalty can be six months in jail.

I think this is probably going to be a new technique for kiking right-wing figures, and it's something we should all be aware of. If you're asked to be under oath, you need to have a lawyer present. Always. Always. Always.

In fact, if you talk to any authorities in any situation, you need to have a lawyer present. Always. Always. Always.

France: New Draft Law Would Make It Illegal to Publish Names or Photos of Terrorists

Brigitte Kuster, deputy mayor of the XVIIe arrondissement of Paris (Les Républicains), has filed a draft law aimed at prohibiting diffusion of the identity and photos of the faces of terrorists.

In conjunction with fifteen or so other deputies, Brigitte Kuster is proposing a law of anyonymisation which would prohibit "broadcasting, in any manner whatsoever, the surname or the image of physical persons prosecuted for an act of terrorism or who have been judged guilty of an act of terrorism."

To justify this draft law, Brigitte Kustner asks a question : "Is there not a risk of giving the murderer a posthumous glory among radicalised persons looking for role models?"

NATO is Morally Obligated to Start Bombing Madrid

Andrew Anglin

NATO did a great action of grand freedom when they bombed Belgrade for refusing to allow the independence of Albanian-occupied Kosovo.

This was a exciting, adventurous action of the highest moral authority.

The question is: why are we not yet bombing Madrid?

It is literally the same exact situation, save for the fact that Catalan is not an Islamic terrorist group.

RT:

> Catalonia's leader has vowed to declare the region's independence from Spain in the coming days.
> Carles Puigdemont, the breakaway region's president, said he does not plan to delay the declaration of independence for much longer and is ready to "act at the end of this week or the beginning of next," he said in an interview with the BBC on Tuesday.
> Spanish authorities continue to say they see the vote on Sunday as illegal and unconstitutional, while the EU gave its backing to the Spanish prime minister to resolve the crisis.
> The move has been criticized by the president of Serbia, who has accused the EU of double standards regarding Kosovo.
> Serbian President Aleksandar Vucic did not mince his words when he voiced a rather obvious question: "How did you proclaim the secession of Kosovo to be legal, even without a referendum, and how did 22 European Union countries legalize this secession, while destroying European law and the foundations of European law, on which the European policy and EU policy are based?"
> Marko Gasic, an international affairs commentator, said Kosovo's vote was recognized because it's not part of the union.

So they only get involved in other people's affairs, why ignoring their own affairs?

I cannot accept this.

I believe NATO must be readying the jets.

> "Some say the EU has double standards on this matter. I would say that they just have very low standards on this matter, in terms of international law and their consistency in obeying it. Because the EU opposes Catalan secession in Spain and it supports Kosovo secession in Serbia ," Gasic told RT.
> He added, "this is clearly a schizophrenic position the EU has."
> Gasic provided some historical insight into the EU's past stance on Kosovo secession.
> " While opposing the referendum in Spain, it was insisting and organizing referenda in Yugoslavia ," he reminded. " In Yugoslavia they were saying that it didn't matter what the constitution said; in Spain it is saying the constitution is all important. In Yugoslavia they said you have two weeks to decide whether you want independence for parts of Yugoslavia and we will decide within a week for you – this was in 1992. "

Aha – but you're forgetting all of the support that the EU put behind the secession of Crimea, are you not?

> Gasic expressed doubt that the EU has learned any lessons from its past experience in Yugoslavia since "it never admitted any mistakes" there.
> "I believe the EU would behave in exactly the same way again because [Kosovo] is not an area that belongs to the club, the rich man's club, as Spain does," he added.
> In the case of Yugoslavia and Kosovo, the EU is "deciding the fate of countries outside the European Union," because although it craves "stability in EU countries," it has no problem when it comes to "instability outside of the EU...because that gives the EU an excuse to project itself into those areas," Gasic argued.
> Former British diplomat William Mallinson told RT that a major part of the problem involving the Catalan crisis is "the enormous size of the European Union and globalization" which brings about the "slow destruction of the nation state itself."
> This undermining of the nation state causes the "smaller parts getting irritated."
> Mallinson then drew parallels between what is now happening in Spain to past events when NATO opened a relentless offensive on Yugoslavia and the capital Belgrade over the question of Kosovo independence.
> "Why isn't NATO bombing Madrid for 78 days, because the situation is similar in very many ways."

> Mallinson suggested a possible solution to the ongoing crisis is to "throw out the hotheads and get Mr. Rajoy to talk to the leaders of Catalonia to try to come to some kind of temporary compromise while everyone gets together and try to put a stop to these deleterious effects of globalization and the destruction of the nation state."

I am not so jaded as to suppose that NATO only bombs in support of breakaway states when they are being occupied an invaded by an Islamic terrorist force.

As such, I must assume that NATO is just warming up their engines and will begin bombing Madrid any second now.

Any second now…

The time has come to utterly annihilate the Spanish government and put the king and president on trial for war crimes at the Hague.

That, my dear friends, is the only justice.

Brazil's White-Majority South Gains Momentum in Independence Bid

Eric Striker
Daily Stormer
October 5, 2017

Most who have visited Brazil would sum it up as follows: favelas, HIV, murder, niggers, transsexuals and plain old morbidity.

But that's only because most tourists only go to Rio and generally miss the South. Culturally, racially and sociologically, Southern Brazil has far more in common with Argentina and Uruguay than it does the rest of Brazil, even though they speak Portuguese instead of Spanish. In spite of mass negro internal immigration swamping them, the bottom three provinces remain around 60% white (in a country that is roughly 80% nonwhite) and are actually still pretty nice, safe and attractive places to raise a family. Most Brazilian supermodels (like Giselle Bundchen) come from the South as well.

Despite being a minority, the people (largely German, Italian and Portuguese) in this region are the agricultural, industrial and scientific ant carrying a giant African tumor. The case for Southern Brazilian independence is much stronger than that for the Catalans, yet few people in the media wish to take up the cause of the Brazilian rebels because it actually makes sense.

Bloomberg:

Inspired by the separatist vote in Catalonia, secessionists in three wealthy southern Brazilian states are redoubling their efforts to break away from the crisis-battered nation.

Residents of Rio Grande do Sul, Santa Catarina and Parana states are being called to vote in an informal plebiscite on Oct. 7 on whether they want independence. Organizers are also urging residents of the three states to sign a legislative proposal for each of their regional assemblies that would call for a formal, binding referendum. The nonprofit group "The South is My Country" aims to mobilize a million voters in 900 out of the region's 1,191 cities.

Whiter and richer than the rest of Brazil, these southern states with cooler weather have long nursed separatist ambitions. Rio Grande do Sul even briefly claimed independence 180 years ago. Few Brazilians expect the current movement to succeed any time soon, not least because it is prohibited by the Constitution. But the country's deepest recession on record and a massive corruption scandal have exacerbated the region's longstanding resentment towards the federal government in Brasilia. With just one year to go until general elections, the rekindling of separatist sentiment in the south is another indicator of the unsettled state of Brazilian politics.

Rio Grande do Sul is currently immersed in a financial crisis and has lost much of its economic clout, according to Fernando Schuler, a professor of political science at Insper University in Sao Paulo.

"There's a huge cultural detachment between the Tropicalia Brazil and the South," he said. "The reasons for separation are solid, justifiable, but I don't think they are viable."

If tomorrow Southern Brazil broke away, Argentina deported all its Jews/Bolivians/Peruvians, and little Uruguay joined the fray, you would overnight have a white majority superpower with a large population breaking onto the world stage. This is why Jews don't want it!

I'm not sure if there is any political movement seeking such a confederation, but there should be. Whatever petty historical jingoisms separate these three populations of the Southern Cone are irrelevant when looking at the transformation places like Southern Brazil are undergoing right now.

Free Southern Brazil!

Leftists Claim Marseille Attack was About "Patriarchy" Not Jihad

Diversity Macht Frei
October 5, 2017

After the recent slaying of two women in Marseille by a Muslim illegal immigrant, leftists and brown people in France have been trying to spin it as a case of sexism and not jihad.

Here's one example:

> When a martyr cuts the throat of one woman and stabs another that creates some noise. Terrorism, blood, civilisation, bla bla bla...By contrast we hear much less from your big mouth about the patriarchal terrorism that is killing us every 2 days.

Note her description of the murderer as a "martyr". This woman, incidentally, works for the city council of La Courneuve. Following a fuss over her remarks, however, she has now been suspended and disciplinary proceedings have been launched against her.

After the suspension she said this on Facebook:

> Despite popular beliefs, suicide attacks are not linked to Islamic fundamentalism, nor to religion in general (see fascist nationalist movements, etc.)

But she's not the only one to have engaged in jihad denial by pushing feminism as the interpretive frame for the Marseille attack.

Sociologist Marie-Cécile Naves said this:

> "Whatever the form of terrorism, the question is that of gender. It is a problem of patriarchy."
> "We need to use social sciences, use gender studies to question the relationship men have with the patriarchy, with hegemonic masculinity...There is a problem with the domain of dominant virility."

After AfD Success, German Establishment Incites Hatred Against East Germans

Diversity Macht Frei
October 4, 2017

In the recent German elections, the AfD was twice as popular in the east as in the west, with around 20% to 10% of the vote respectively. This has led to a spate of Easterner bashing in the German press. This depiction of the aggrieved urban yokel, unable to come to terms with the modern world, is a now familiar strain of anti-white hate speech.

Here's a typical example from the Frankfurter Allgemeine Zeitung.

> They have been in country for some time now, but the newly arrived still differ significantly from those who have been here longer. They are less successful professionally and earn less. On average, they are less contented with their life situation and insult the Republic that accepted them. Politically, they incline more often towards authoritarian ideas and continue to maintain the customs of their place of origin, sometimes in veritable parallel societies. Astonishingly, the insular tendencies are even increasing somewhat in the second generation. This is a clear sign that something is going badly wrong in the integration process.
> We are not talking about German Turks, who once came to the country as labourers. Nor the Russian-German immigrants from the 90s or the Syrian refugees from 2015. We are talking about the approximately 17 million east Germans who joined the Federal Republic on 3 October 1990, all on one day.

East Germans, living in their historic homelands, separated from their ethnic kin for only a few decades, are compared to brown immigrants from the Third World.

> In the debate about the integration of the East German, the day of the federal elections was like the Erdogan moment: just as, half a year back, an astonishingly large number of German Turks voted for an authoritarian presidential regime during the Turkish constitutional referendum, so, in the federal elections, a surprisingly large number of East Germans voted against liberal democracy and an open market economy – against the values for the sake of which they wanted to be accepted into the Federal Republic in 1990 and which have since brought them a significant improvement in well-being.
> When the new citizens come from a completely different social system, there is a potential for problems. The French already had to find that out with the Algerians, now it's the turn of west Germans with their brothers and sisters from the East. The disappointed immigrants get their own back by putting the receiving society under moral pressure with the charge of colonialism.

President of Catalonia Says He will Officially Declare Independence in Days

Andrew Anglin

Occupiers out!

Freedoms have no time to procrastinate!

That filthy whore Theresa May could learn a thing or two from these Cats!

This isn't a game!
RT:

The president of Catalonia has said he will put the results of the independence referendum, deemed illegal by Madrid, into effect by next week, and urge Madrid not to intervene. It comes as Spain's King Felipe VI has vowed to uphold constitutional order.

In an interview to the BBC on Tuesday, the breakaway region's president, Carles Puigdemont, said he does not plan to delay the declaration of independence for much longer and is ready to "act at the end of this week or the beginning of next."

Any attempt of the authorities in Madrid to override the Catalan regional government in a bid to hinder its actions in compliance with results of Sunday's popular vote would be "an error which changes everything," Puigdemont warned. He, however, did not elaborate on the Catalan regional government's possible response to such a scenario.

NO SURRENDER!

At the moment, no negotiations have been held between the central and the regional governments, Puigdemont added.

Earlier, Puigdemont said he would agree to a dialogue mediated by the European Union if Spanish Prime Minister Mariano Rajoy greenlights the proposal.

"It is clear that things cannot go on like this: mediation cannot be renounced just as dialogue was before. We do not see a more effective way than sitting and talking," he said.

NOW IS THE TIME FOR VIVA LA REVOLUTION!

Puigdemont's announcement came shortly after a rare televised address by King Felipe VI, in which he lambasted Catalonian authorities for "repeatedly, consciously and deliberately" violating the constitution, laws providing for its status as an autonomous region, while "showing an inadmissible disloyalty to the powers of the state."

Falling short of calling for dialogue between Madrid and Catalan officials, he went on to blame the regional authorities for being "totally outside the law and democracy" and putting Spain's economy and its social well-being in precarious position "with their irresponsible behavior."

Voicing support to the national government, Felipe said: "It is the responsibility of the legitimate powers of the state to ensure the constitutional order and the normal functioning of its institutions."

THE KING SHOULD HAVE SPOKEN UP WHEN THE MOSLEMS FLOODED IN!

HIS AUTHORITY IS NO LONGER VALID!

While seemingly backing Madrid's way of handling the crisis, Feilpe failed to mention the mass police crackdown on voters during the Sunday referendum that led to over 800 people being injured.

Appealing to Catalans, the King stressed the importance of staying within the framework of the law while defending ideas, and vowed solidarity and support to those locals who rejected the course pursued by Catalan officials.

"I know very well that in Catalonia there is also much concern and great concern with the conduct of the autonomous authorities," he said.

Some 700,000 demonstrators took to the streets of Barcelona on Tuesday to vent their anger and frustration at the federal government and celebrate the outcome of Sunday's referendum, in which 90 percent voted for independence from Spain.

> Madrid denounced the referendum, ruled illegal by the Spanish Constitutional Court, and labeled mass demonstrations an affront to the rule of law.

That line isn't working anymore.

The whole world saw the Cats vote, the whole world saw them getting the shit kicked out of them by police.

It's time to let it go, Spain.

It's over.

FIFA Fines Germany for Nazi Chants at a World Cup Qualifier

Lee Rogers
Daily Stormer
October 4, 2017

What the hell is wrong with Germans chanting Nazi slogans at a football game?

FIFA did not take kindly to some of the fine German football fans who attended a recent World Cup qualifying match in Prague. They objected to some of the Germans chanting Nazi slogans.

AP:

> FIFA fined the German soccer federation 32,000 Swiss francs ($33,000) on Monday because fans chanted Nazi slogans at a World Cup qualifying game in the Czech Republic.
> The range of "improper conduct" charges against Germany included fans encroaching on the field and setting off fireworks at the game in Prague, FIFA said.
> German officials said the offensive fans did not buy tickets through official channels. Germany's next away World Cup qualifier is on Thursday in Northern Ireland.
> About 200 German supporters chanted slogans during their team's 2-1 win and verbally abused one of the scorers, Timo Werner.
> FIFA also fined the Czech federation 5,000 Swiss francs ($5,150) for crowd disorder.
> FIFA's attempts to crack down on fans chanting gay slurs saw seven national federations fined for incidents.

So they are fining the Germans because their fans chanted Nazi slogans. They're even cracking down on fans saying negative things about faggots. This is not a smart move. What fun is watching football if as a German you can't yell about gassing kikes and queers? One would think that FIFA would encourage this behavior. It makes watching the sport that much more fun. More fun means more ticket, concession and merchandise sales.

If FIFA is going to discourage German fans from engaging in this highly positive behavior than we should encourage all of our people to boycott future football games. After all, gassing kikes and faggots is something that would create a better society for future generations. If they are against this, than they are against human rights and freedom.

What this does show is that Nazism is still alive within the blood of the German people. The recent electoral success of the Alternative for Deutschland party shows this as well. The spirit of the German volk is not dead yet and they are beginning to rise again.

There is no reason for the German people to be ashamed of their ancestors. They should fully embrace them and the great things that they built. It is ridiculous that FIFA would fine Germans for being proud of their tremendous heritage and legacy. FIFA's actions are not just mean spirited but they are plain wrong.

Attempted Bombing in France?? On a Motorcycle???

Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer

Who could have ever predicted that a situation like this would turn sour?

It's really incredible that this doesn't happen more often.

Though a motorcycle loaded down with bombs is something I think they hadn't really thought up before, and probably something we're going to be seeing a lot more of.

Sort of an obvious thing, but Arabs are not especially obvious-minded people.

The Independent:

> French police have arrested five people after the discovery of an explosive device outside a residential building in Paris.
> Authorities believe the device, which was discovered on Friday, was part of a failed bomb plot in the city's 16th arrondisement, a wealthy neighbourhood in the west of the capital home to Paris Saint-Germain's (PSG) stadium.
> One of those arrested was " radicalised ", France's interior minister said, a likely reference to Islamist terrorism.

The "radicalized" ones are the ones you've really got to watch out for.

As opposed to the non-radicalized ones, who are just here to enrich our culture with vibrant diversity, welfare fraud and brutal gang-rape.

> Gerard Collomb, speaking on French radio, said the discovery of the device highlighted that the threat against France remains "extremely big".
> "(Police) services are investigating," he said. "What I can tell you is that among the people who were arrested, one was...radicalised."
> More than 230 people have been killed in attacks by Islamist militants over the past three years.
> ...
> Soldiers shot a man dead on Sunday after he killed two young women with a knife at a train station in the southern French port city of Marseille.

Here's those victims, in case you missed that.

Just assume they were pro-invasionism shitlibs (being unmarried women, there's approximately a 99.99999999999999999% chance they were) and you won't feel sad about it.

Although they could have been fixed by a WHITE SHARIA rape gang.

> A judicial source said the explosive device found late last Friday night was made of four gas canisters and covered in petrol.
> The discovery came hours before PSG played at their Parc des Princes stadium, thrashing Bordeaux 6-2. Police have made no indication that the apparent failed bomb plot was targeting the club.

Yes, this could have been football related terrorism.

Who knows?

That could happen next.

We've already got boomer terrorism, so no one should be surprised by football terrorism.

Italy: Arabian Leftist Argues for Teaching School Children Arabic

Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer
October 3, 2017

This is logical.

Tornio Today:

> Controversy flared up at the first Rivalta council session after the summer break. It was triggered by the words of Sofia Zemmale, councillor for the majority PD [leftists]: "The children should learn to speak Arabic to go in the other direction and contribute to integration," she said in the hall, suggesting "teaching the Arab language to everyone."
> The sky opened. The Forza Italia councillor Michele Colaci did not appreciate the idea of Zemmale, who was born in Casablanca in 1975 but is an Italian citizen, resident in our country for 20 years. "For the left, it is clearly not important if the children have little familiarity with English, Chinese, German, which would be useful for their future: on the other hand, it's important we need to hurry and teach them Arabic, to integrate their Muslim classmates. I think the Italian school should teach our culture to the children of immigrants and not vice versa."

Look.

The fact of the matter is that the West has a completely broken culture and society. That is why they are flooding themselves with foreigners in the first place – no healthy society would do that.

So no one genuinely believes that the West is "integrating" these Moslems. What we are doing is replacing ourselves with them. We will give them our women as our men jack off (and the more clever ones convert), and the next generation will be fully Islamic.

That is clearly and blatantly the underlying plan in place.

So why beat around the bush?

Why play this game that something else is happening, when we can all see right in front of our faces what is happening?

Why waste energy on playing pretend?

Just teach the kids Arabic.

It's not just the whites who are going to need to learn it in this "diverse" new Islamic empire, but also the Pakistanis, Afghans, Black Africans, etc.

Be honest about the situation.

Let intelligent – and not quite as intelligent – white men figure out a plan as to how to deal with this situation.

They can either become Moslems or they can prepare for war.

There isn't a third option.

Let's just be honest. Everyone can see exactly what is happening.

Why does it have to be a trick?

Germany: New Law Makes Social Media Basically Illegal

Adrian Sol
Daily Stormer
October 3, 2017

Everything must be shut down – for the good of Germany, of course.

It used to be that things were rosy in Merkel-land. The police would kick down the doors of people who made insensitive comments on facebook in the middle of the night, and comedians would be arrested for making fun of foreign heads of states.

But then, the level of goyim knowing started hitting unmanageable levels, and all the naughty Germans couldn't be arrested fast enough.

So a new plan was drafted: shut everything down.

Engadget:

> Germany's law combating hate speech on social media is now live. It's the country's attempt to get social networks to remove offensive posts within 24 hours (or seven days, if the content is difficult to evaluate). Those that fail to comply may be fined up to 50 million euros ($58 million) by the country's Ministry of Justice, though they'll get a grace period until January 1st, 2018, to prepare.

This is obviously impossible to do, unless every post is reviewed manually. That would make real-time communication impossible, of course.

> Germany proposed the legislation back in April, which was later named the Network Enforcement Act (Netzwerkdurchsetzungsgesetz in German, abbreviated as NetzDG). Facebook fired back, claiming the bill would simply encourage sites to simply take down content to avoid the fines. Further, "It would have the effect of transferring responsibility for complex legal decisions from public authorities to private companies," a Facebook spokesperson told Engadget at the time. Regardless, the bill passed a month later.
> It should be noted that Germany seriously cracks down on hate speech, and police raided 36 homes earlier this year while investigating users who had posted such. Those who are charged with inciting racial hatred can be imprison for up to five years , according to a New York Times report.

Few things warrant a SWAT raid. But Saying mean things on Facebook is definitely one of them.

> The NetzDG law applies to any site that meets the legal definition of social network regardless of size, according to Spiegel Online. Germany isn't alone in threatening internet titans with serious penalties if they don't swiftly take down hate speech: The EU just approved a law enabling it to threaten legal action against social media companies that don't take down such content.

It's inconceivable that the German government actually believe any company has the capacity to monitor millions of posts in real time and determine whether they violate various countries' laws.

The real objective isn't so much to get these media platform to censor themselves, as they already do that on their own. What they really want is for these platforms to be unable to function in Germany, at least in their normal, free way. In effect, the German government is outlawing social media.

No company could afford the manpower needed to filter all these posts and delete them within 24 hours. Moreover, any algorithm or machine learning system could easily be bypassed by clever use of language. If the company has to pay multiple 58 million dollar fines every time shitposters figure out how to bypass their censorship systems, they'll go bankrupt in no time.

It's hard to say what will happen, but I would bet that most social media platforms will either block access to German IP's or offer Germans a drastically curtailed experience that makes discussion impossible.

I doubt it's a coincidence that this law is passed just after Merkel gets reelected. I doubt shutting down all social media would have been a very popular policy position to take before the election. But now that the government's power is secure, they can proceed with the most ridiculous social control program we've seen in a Western nation in a long time.

Make no mistake, this is absolutely no different from holding phone companies responsible for what people say in calls, or holding electricity companies responsible if people use power to grow illegal drugs.

It's insane.

But this is the new reality.

UK: Filthy Skank Wives of "Asian" Men Jailed for Grooming and Raping White Girls Claim White Girls are Disgusting

Joe Jones
Daily Stormer
October 3, 2017

"Why do Arab men prefer these disgusting White girls? I'm pretty too!"

It seems Moslem women don't like having to compete for male attention with White women very much.

I wonder why that could be.

Daily Mail:

I am meeting the wives of three men convicted of a terrible crime – of grooming and raping dozens of white girls. Nila, the 18-year-old daughter of one of them, will be there as well.

Since reports of a gang of Pakistani-British sexual predators in Rotherham first emerged in 2011, there has been a string of horrific cases: in Rochdale, Peterborough, Bristol, Aylesbury and at least 20 other towns across the country.

Even now white girls, many from troubled homes, are being violated by men who profess to be good Muslims. Such are the explosive racial and religious implications that, to our shame, many refuse to face the problem.

It will be a long time before I forget the three hours of emotional chaos, disorientation and pain that followed. I learned that they, too, had been subject to despicable sexual abuse. But I also discovered that, trapped in a world of obedience and ignorance, too many also blame the white teenaged victims for leading their abusers on.

Nila's mother, Nusrat, was the most confident. She was born in Britain and married a relative, as expected. Three years ago, he divorced her – punishment for opposing his plans to force Nila to marry his second cousin. Today, she works as a dinner lady.

Did the wives know about the criminal abuse committed by their husbands, or at least suspect? They all claimed not to, and I believed them. They could not discuss, let alone question, their husband's movements. As one said: "He is a man. He comes and goes as he wants. He doesn't answer to me."

Perhaps what took place was beyond their comprehension. They do not seem to understand the concept of consensual sex. In their world, the sex drive is a male urge that must be satisfied. Their men took the white girls as they took their wives.

And from all the evidence, it is clear the men in question still blame the victims and feel no remorse. They are sexual psychotics.

Yet, painful as it is to say, it became clear, too, that the men are not alone in blaming the victims. I asked the women how they would feel if their children had been drugged and raped. They agreed it would break their hearts. But, Mariam said: "It can't happen to our children because they are not in the streets. We look after them."

But later, at a separate meeting, I encountered Suju, the wife of another jailed groomer. She was afraid of him but she, too, thinks white girls are: "Filthy. How they dress. They have no shame, no fear of Allah."

Serbia Denounces EU Denouncement of Catalan Referendum

Serbia made this same point after the Crimea independence vote.

They had an entire part of their country stolen from them by Moslems and the West not only supported in but actually bombed in support of it.

What is the difference?

RT:

Serbian President Aleksandar Vucic has accused the EU of hypocrisy and double-standards following its denouncement of the Catalonian referendum as illegal, while acknowledging the independence of the breakaway province of Kosovo.

"The question every citizen of Serbia has for the European Union today is: How come that in the case of Catalonia the referendum on independence is not valid, while in the case of Kosovo secession is allowed even without a referendum," B92 quoted Vucic as saying during a news conference.

"How did you proclaim the secession of Kosovo to be legal, even without a referendum, and how did 22 European Union countries legalize this secession, while destroying European law and the foundations of European law, on which the European policy and EU policy are based?"

On Monday the European Commission echoed the Spanish government's stance that the referendum held in Catalonia was illegal, describing the events on Sunday, which saw voters being beaten by Spanish riot police, as an "internal matter". By contrast in 2010, the European Parliament adopted a resolution urging its member states to recognize Kosovo's independence.

"This is the best example of the double standards and hypocrisy of the world politics," Vucic said.

The largely ethnic-Albanian province of Kosovo declared independence from Serbia in 2008 after a war in 1999 which saw the US and its NATO allies intervene on behalf of Albanian rebels against the government of what was then Yugoslavia.

Effectively the exact same situation. It's an awkward question that no one from the EU is going to answer any time soon.

Another great question would be why they are so comfortable with brutal police brutality while they accuse other nations of being "police states" for being too hard on drug dealers or whatever.

France: Thot Exhibitionist Flashes Her Disgusting Crotch in Front of Mona Lisa

Eric Striker
Daily Stormer
October 2, 2017

Video Link

People often ask why some Western women behave in this fashion. The answer is: why not!

The exhibitionist slut in the above footage doesn't have to fear being gangraped by art aficionados defending the honor of the Mona Lisa. She knows no angry father whose kids are forced to witness this lewd display is going to kick her in the pussy. There's no Cossacks around to whip her. She knows the police will slap her on the wrist and the journalists will make her a world famous star.

In other words, when men become domesticated, women become feral.

Imagine for a second it was a man running up to the middle of the Louvre strumming on his pecker like he's playing a rock and roll solo. Would anyone tolerate that? I wouldn't. The man would be beaten and the courts would throw the book at him – and good riddance to that.

Here instead the crime elicits laughter and applause from cuckmen carrying their sons in kangaroo pouches.

IBTimes:

A performance artist has been put on trial for exhibitionism after she exposed her genitals in front of the Mona Lisa.

On Sunday 24 September, Deborah de Robertis bared her genitals in front of the Leonardo Da Vinci painting at The Louvre. Shouting "Mona Lisa, my pussy, my copyright", she ruffled the feathers of a few onlookers, including security staff.

De Robertis was arrested and kept in custody for two days. She'll face trial on 18 October for exhibitionism and assault – she also bit one of the guards.

She defended her method: "The goal was not to exhibit my genitals," the Luxembourger told AFP, "but to copy a famous photograph by Valie Export." Export was an artist in the 1970s, noted for her provocative performances.

"My message is to question the place of women artists in the history of art. That's why it's necessary to do my performances in museums."

De Robertis' lawyer finds the legal approach scandalous: "It's not exhibitionism if there is no wish to assault someone sexually, which is completely contrary to the work of this performance artist."

It's not the first time de Robertis has faced trial for exhibitionism.

Back in April, she had pulled the same stunt while France 2 – French national TV – filmed on. Video showed security staff struggling to cover her up as dozens of tourists captured the moment on their phones. It took the Louvre security jst 30 seconds to snatch her away from the podium.

She has been arrested several times for indecent exposure. In February 2017, she was acquitted after a judge ruled similar stunts in other Parisian museums were artistic performances.

A man shows dozens of families his genitals: a pervert.

A woman shows dozens of families her genitals: "performance art." She claims to be questioning the place of women in art in history? Somehow her argument is that her naked disheveled self masturbating in front of strangers is more dignified than the Mona Lisa.

The only way to fight fire is with fire. The solution here is for bold men to test the legal precedent clown courts are setting in France by going to where feminist dykes hang out and flashing them while flicking your tongue between your fingers. When the police come, say it was "performance art" questioning the lack of men in feminist groups.

The legendary Brazilian slutwalk man had the right idea. He almost caused a riot just by mirroring the behavior of the slutwalkers.

Perhaps turning every college campus into Egypt's Tahrir Square might be too much, but white men need to become a little more savage if we're going to protect our kids and restore our civilization.

Women go as far as you let them. Men must become more feral for women to become more domestic!

Catalonia: 90% Vote "Yes" on Independence from Spain

Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer
October 2, 2017

Looks like the proto-burrito cucks got themselves in quite a jiffy here now eh?

Washington Post:

> The results of a controversial and chaotic referendum in the Catalonia region of northeast Spain on Sunday showed landslide support for independence for the restive but affluent area, a lopsided vote sure to be vigorously challenged by the constitutional court and central government in Madrid as illegitimate and illegal.
> According to the Catalan government, 90 percent of the ballots cast were for independence — with 2,020,144 voting yes and 176,566 no.
> Minutes after the first few thousand votes were posted, the regional president and leading secessionist, Carles Puigdemont, appeared on stage to announce that Catalonia had won "the right to independence" and called on Europe to support its split from Spain.
> But nothing about the vote was regular – or orderly, transparent or peaceful. Images of police beating voters in stylish, cosmopolitan Barcelona fueled a widespread perception that Europe, in particular, and the West, in general – far from cheering on the breakup of Spain – face yet more tensions and dislocation.
> And it is far from clear that Catalonia is any closer to independence. The vote left the region and nation deeply divided.

What now?

Who knows?

Probably the Cats are going to go full Republican Irish. And you're gonna see a lot more scenes of police beating hippies in the streets and so on.

The important thing here is that this is another step on the road to the total breakdown of the European project.

The Catalan independence movement says they are pro-EU, but are all of these people out in the streets with flags pro-EU? If they don't want to be ruled by Madrid, why would they want to be ruled by Berlin and Brussels?

Coincidence?

Tunisia is Emptying Its Prisons into Europe

Diversity Macht Frei
October 2, 2017

The report is alarming and comes from an MEP charged with performing an inspection in Tunisia: "Of 1600 inmates who have left prison thanks to the double pardon decided by Tunisia, at least half, around 800, have already arrived in Italy." says Angelo Ciocca, representative of the Lega [anti-immigration party in Italy], reached by telephone in Sfax, in Tunisia, where he has gone in recent days to collect evidence about the new migrant route, after the closure of the Libyan ports.

Ciocca recounts how he found out that "some young men, barely out of the local prisons, are receiving messages that offer them"safe" passages, via sea to Italy, at a cost of three thousand dinars, around a thousand euros." They are organising to find the money and leave," added the Lega member, recalling that people with Tunisian citizenship "have been responsible for the latest attacks in Europe."

Source

The double pardon mentioned in the article refers to a pardon issued in June for the end of Ramadan and another in July to celebrate the 60th anniversary of the Tunisian republic. They are offloading their criminals to Europe.

This is actually what happened with negroes back in the slave days. When a slaver ship arrived at the coast, the local prisons would empty. Slavery was used as a punishment for crime within native societies. This, I think, is the main reason slave-descended negroes so distinguish themselves in the annals and statistics of crime, even today. They have criminal genes, not primarily due to their race, although that doesn't help, but because their specific ancestors were criminals in Africa. Slavery was a mechanism for selecting the absolute dregs of the African population, not a representative cross-section. The same is unfortunately true of asylum reception systems today. They select for the absolute worst of the source country populations.

We're Talking About Healthcare Again, I Guess. Damn It.

Please please please.

I thought this was over.

Let's just please please please stop talking about healthcare.

> Looking to break the logjam in Washington on repealing and replacing ObamaCare, President Donald Trump said Saturday evening that he was willing to pursue "a temporary deal" to get a new health care plan in place.
> In remarks on the South Lawn of the White House before leaving for a fundraising trip to North Carolina, the president referred to a popular GOP proposal that would have the federal government turn over money for health care directly to states in the form of block grants.
> "If we could do a one-year deal or a two-year deal as a temporary measure, you'll have block granting ultimately to the states, which is what the Republicans want," he said. "That really is a repeal and replace."

They don't want to do that, Mr. President.

We already lost the game, because John McCain kiked us. It's over.

ALSO

Can't we just do something about the obesity epidemic and not need all of this healthcare?

Seriously – let's put the FDA on regulating transfats and HFCS and the rest of the crap, then put the remaining fatties in camps.

We would reduce 90% of national healthcare costs by doing that.

I don't even think that's an exaggeration.

I don't really think that any of this false flag stuff is true.

Not because I'm all like "NEVER CAN BE FALSE FLAG U IS INSANE."

But because if it was a false flag, they would have had a narrative by now beyond "GUN CONTROL TAKE THE GUNS FROM THE GOYIM NAO."

If they're going to put together something this massive, he would be a Trump-supporter and Daily Stormer reader and that already would have been released by now. It would have been released in 24 hours.

That said: this "thousands of dollars worth of sushi, we don't all work at Taco Bell" brother is very, very weird.

But with weird stuff like this, it's like: well, if it was a false flag, why would it be so weird?

Why not just have a normal brother like "oh my god we're so sorry we had no idea" instead of this guy rambling about flying to Japan to eat sushi and not working at Taco Bell?

I think probably this is just more proof of how sick and weird our society is. Not much else.

We live in a very, very sick and weird society.

And for that, friends, I blame a very specific group of people.

And I personally believe very strongly that we are approaching the point where this very specific group of people is going to need to be dealt with in a very specific manner.

Do it.

In addition, the bill would authorize the federal government to reimburse states up to $35 million to use the National Guard in support of border security. Federal agents also would be prohibited from restricting CBP activities on federal land within 100 miles of the border. The bill would also create a Biometric Entry-Exit System at all air, land, and sea ports of entry to identify immigrants who overstay their visas.

There are currently 68 Republican co-sponsors in the House and a number of law enforcement and border organizations have endorsed the bill.

The Border Trade Alliance said that the bill "wisely seeks to ensure that our international borders with Canada and Mexico have the personnel necessary to process legitimate cross-border trade and travel securely and efficiently."

The Federal Law Enforcement Officers Association said that the legislation "makes improvements to our border security through strengthening physical structures, updating administrative processing, employing state of the art technology, expanding surveillance, and adding to enforcement personnel."

Antifa Terrorist Yvette Felarca Finally Facing Justice for Her Crimes

Adrian Sol

October 6, 2017

This bitch should have been locked up a long time ago – there's no way having a face like that isn't a crime.

Because we live in a society controlled by vicious Jews, we have a situation in which unhinged terrorists like Yvette Felarca can just run around attacking people for years and never even lose her job as a middle school teacher – never mind suffer any legal consequences for her actions.

And make no mistake – this nutcase wasn't hiding her illegal activities in any way or trying to fly under the radar. She was going on national TV to brag about it, and defend her right to assault people she disagrees with.

But the times, they are a changin'.

The Daily Californian:

> The arraignment hearing of By Any Means Necessary, or BAMN, activist Yvette Felarca was postponed Wednesday to Nov.

8. Felarca is facing a felony charge of assault and two misdemeanor charges of rioting and inciting to riot.

> Felarca's attorney and BAMN activist Ronald Cruz said the judge granted the defense more time to review the evidence that the prosecutors produced against Felarca. Felarca faces these charges for allegedly attacking Nigel Walker, according to the complaint. A BAMN press release states that Felarca and other BAMN members were protesting a "recruitment rally" for "neo-Nazi/KKK members" in Sacramento before the 2016 election.

lol, "neo-Nazi/KKK."

It's all the same, right?

What they failed to mention, of course, is that in their minds, anyone to the right of Mao is a "neo-Nazi/KKK" member.

Reminder that according to Felarca, this gay Jew who "married" a Black man is a "fascist."

> According to Cruz, 25 individuals from the Berkeley community came to the courthouse Wednesday to support Felarca. Cruz said the prosecution asked the judge to ban Felarca from participating in current protests as long Felarca faces charges. The judge, however, only warned Felarca to not participate in any illegal activity.
> Felarca confirmed that she is pleading not guilty to all charges.
> "We plan to fight the charges because she did nothing wrong," Cruz said. "People shouldn't be jailed for standing up to the rise of fascism."

"People shouldn't be jailed for assaulting people they disagree with politically."

Wow, I sure hope this becomes the new legal standard.

I'm not sure that's going to be advantageous to Felarca, though, who's like 5 feet tall and seems to weight about 90 pounds with her clothes on.

Maybe these people should have thought this through a little better?

> Felarca was also arrested Sept. 26 on suspicion of battery and resisting arrest at a free speech rally in Berkeley held by Patriot Prayer leader Joey Gibson. Cruz said Felarca's court date for the September incident is scheduled for Oct. 26.

This bitch is so confident that she's above the law, that she's going out and rioting and assaulting people while awaiting trial for rioting and assaulting people.

I thank God every day that our enemies are so stupid and filled with hubris.

Baltimore: Robert E. Lee Statue Replaced with Monument to White Genocide

Adrian Sol
Daily Stormer
October 6, 2017

We were told that as long as we were nice to the minorities, treated them like equals, that we'd all be able to live in peace and harmony. As it turns out, they won't be satisfied until the complete destruction of the White race.

How else can you interpret this new "liberty" statue?

WUSA9:

> Activists lifted a modern sculpture depicting a pregnant African-American "Lady Liberty" onto the pedestal where a monument to Confederate Generals Robert E. Lee and Stonewall Jackson was removed overnight.

They tore down a symbol of White history, and replaced it with a pregnant Black woman making a "Black power" salute.

This can only mean that to these people, "liberty" means the multiplication of Black people and their ascendance to power. In other words, their vision of an ideal world is one in which Blacks outnumber and overpower the White population, reducing us to slavery and obliteration.

Wow, talk about shoddy African workmanship. They couldn't even attach the arm properly.

How else can this possibly be interpreted?

> The new statue is not sanctioned by the City of Baltimore which owns the site, but there was no immediate action to remove it by police or city officials.
> The removal of the Lee-Jackson monument and three other Confederate statues was ordered by Baltimore Mayor Catherine Pugh. Pugh told reporters she ordered the removals as a matter of public safety after violence in Charlottesville, Va. involving white supremacists and counter-protestors squaring off over a statue of Robert E. Lee there.
> The Lee-Jackson statue had stood on its pedestal in Wyman Park since 1948.
> Baltimore has been studying the issue of Confederate monument removal since the Charleston church massacre in 2015. Plaques placed on the Lee-Jackson statue were placed calling the monuments examples of the revisionist history "Lost Cause" movement.
> "The commission concluded that this monument was part of a movement to perpetuate the beliefs of white supremacy, falsify history, and support segregation and racial intimidation," said a city plaque placed on the monument before its ultimate removal.

America was built on White supremacy and racial intimidation. What do you think happened to the natives?

Wow. Pretty badass, tbh.

It's the retards claiming that America "is a country of immigrants" and that diversity is an American value who are actually doing "revisionist history."

Basically every significant American historical figure before the 1950's would be considered a "White nationalist" by anyone living today. None of them would have considered it a good idea to give Blacks political power over Whites, that's for sure.

Yet this false, revisionist narrative is the one dominating the discourse on what it means to be "American."

But now, our enemies have taken off their mask and shed all pretense at representing "American values," instead blatantly clamoring for the total destruction of our nation, heritage and racial stock. It's not going to end well for them.

> The Civil Rights Act of 1964 bars workplace discrimination between men and women but does not extend to gender identity, Sessions said. The Justice Department will take that position in "all pending and future matters," the memo said.
> Sessions called the interpretation a "conclusion of law, not policy," and said the move should not be construed to condone mistreatment of transgender people. "The Justice Department must and will continue to affirm the dignity of all people, including transgender individuals," Sessions wrote in the memo to the nation's federal prosecutors.
> But LGBT-rights advocates assailed the reversal as the latest in series of Trump administration actions targeting their constituency.
> "Today marks another low point for a Department of Justice which has been cruelly consistent in its hostility towards the LGBT community and in particular its inability to treat transgender people with basic dignity and respect," said James Esseks, director of the American Civil Liberties Union's LGBT & HIV Project.
> The Obama Justice Department viewed Title VII of the federal Civil Rights Act as a prohibition against workplace discrimination against transgender people and said it would bring legal claims on their behalf. Sessions said that interpretation went beyond what Congress intended.
> At present, there is no federal law explicitly prohibiting workplace discrimination against transgender people. But the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission has argued they are protected from workplace bias as a form of sex discrimination covered by the law.

This is, of course, one step closer to removing civil rights for all sorts of faggots.

Then removing this "civil rights" bullshit altogether.

Although right now: We need now to protect our bump stocks from the evil terrorist Paul Ryan who seeks to destroy our Constitution by limiting our supplies to unlimited weapons.

Oh So Now Valium is Getting Blamed for This Shooting – Wat?

Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer
October 5, 2017

Generally, mass shooters – even some of the Islamic ones – are on Prozac or some other form of Selective Serotonin Reuptake Inhibitor (SSRI). These very popular "anti-depressants" – which are given out like candy by kike psychiatrists – lead directly to psychotic behavior in like, at least 1% of the people who take them. Not usually murderous psychosis, but you know – some form of psychosis, which can in some cases become murderous and/or suicidal.

Virtually every famous non-Islamic mass shooter was on these, from Columbine onward. Adam Lanza was on a cocktail of SSRIs and other serotonin-active drugs.

But this never gets talked about, because the serotonin industry is big money.

Now, all of the sudden, we are talking about Valium for some reason.

Very strange, because Valium is not connected to any form of psychotic behavior. It is addictive and so on, blah blah blah, not totally and completely safe, but it doesn't mess with your serotonin system and lead you into psychosis any more than marijuana or alcohol does that.

Fox News:

> A report alleges that Stephen Paddock, the gunman who opened fire on a packed country music concert in Las Vegas on Sunday, was prescribed an anti-anxiety medication in the months leading up to his attack. According to the Las Vegas Review-Journal, Paddock was prescribed 50, 10-milligram diazepam tablets, and was instructed to take one pill daily, although it is not clear if he had been taking them regularly.

Ten milligrams is precisely nothing.

People who take this regularly take doses in the 3 digit milligrams per day. They give people Xanex which is much stronger in even higher doses. They tell people like "just take these whenever lol just don't get too drunk."

Other countries have much higher doses available over the counter.

The drug, marketed as Valium, is part of a class of medication known as anxiolytic and sedative, which are commonly referred to as benzodiazepines, Scott Dehorty, LCSW-C, executive director at Maryland House Detox, Delphi Behavioral Health, told Fox News by email. Citing the Nevada Prescription Monitoring Program, the Las Vegas Review-Journal identified Dr. Steven Winkler as the prescribing physician, but he was not made available for comment.

WHAT IS IT PRESCRIBED FOR?

Dehorty said diazepam can be used to treat a range of symptoms, including anxiety disorders, muscle spasms and alcohol withdrawal-related seizures. He said the specific use of the medication is dependent on the doses administered.

HOW DOES IT WORK?

When administered correctly, diazepam works to enhance the effects of GABA, a neurotransmitter found in the neurons of the cortex in the brain that helps to reduce stress and anxiety. GABA also contributes to motor control, vision and other cortical functions.

POTENTIAL SIDE EFFECTS?

Dehorty described diazepam as a "highly addictive medication, which can have paradoxical effects." He cautioned that continued use of the medication could cause patients to suffer from symptoms they initially sought relief from. Additional side effects may include confusion, dependence, drowsiness, weakness, insomnia, anxiety and headaches.

"It is also very dangerous to discontinue using benzodiazepines without consulting a physician," Dehorty said. "The discontinuation effects can be fatal."

That is all basically bullshit. Except the GABA part, which you can read more about and see if you think a GABA enhancement is going to make you murder a bunch of random white people at a country music concert.

Ten milligrams of Valium is not going to do anything to anyone, other than maybe an infant, who might become tired from it.

This is some kind of weird, stupid excuse they are coming out with for why they don't have any explanation yet as to why in the fuck this guy just committed the biggest mass shooting in American history against a specifically white target.

Because I can tell you think: the reason is not Valium.

People have been taking this shit since the 50s and never once in my life have I heard of it being blamed for a single act of violence, let alone a homicide, let alone random homicide, let alone a mass shooting. The only thing people use them for is suicide, you can mix a bottle with alcohol and die, which is the only reason they are prescription only in most Western countries.

What it has been blamed for is a bunch of soulless boomer women taking it and neglecting their children, which probably happened to you.

The Rolling Stones wrote a song about it.

Video Link

That is a genuine reason your life is so fucked up and your parents are divorced and your mother didn't give a single fuck about you.

But it isn't a reason for a mass shooting.

This is a hoax.

Man Travels Back in Time to Warn of Alien Invasion – Gets Arrested

Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer

So let me get this straight.

This guy travels back in time from the year 2048 and GIVE US a WARNING of an impending alien invasion…and the response it…to arrest him?

Fox News:

Bryant Johnson was arrested for public intoxication on Monday night after he allegedly told police that he came from the future to warn of an alien invasion.

Police were called to a street in Casper where Johnson reportedly told them he traveled from the year 2048 and was trying to warn the town that aliens would be arriving next year, KCWY reported.

Johnson said that everyone needed to leave as quickly as possible and demanded to speak to the president of the town, KCWY said.

He reportedly told law enforcement that he was able to travel back to 2017 – even though, he said, he meant to travel to 2018 – because aliens filled his body with alcohol and had him stand on a giant pad to transport him to the past.

The alien informant allegedly smelled of alcohol, had watery and bloodshot eyes and slurred his speech, police noted.

Well of course he's going to be drunk after a time-travel incident.

I fear…I deeply fear…that this is something we are all going to live to regret.

Trump Visits Las Vegas, Praises Emergency Workers

Adrian Sol
Daily Stormer
October 4, 2017

The Las Vegas attack was an assault on the essence of America, which is to say, it was a hateful strike against White people.

There's no question that no matter what the details of the motivation for it might have been, the target was carefully selected to both maximize White casualties and for representing White American culture.

Trump went to Las Vegas and did a good job of underlining the heroism that White men have shown in the face of danger, as well as the depth of the evil of the shooter himself.

CBS:

> President Trump visited Las Vegas Wednesday, days after the deadliest mass shooting in U.S. history and a day after his visit to Puerto Rico see the devastation wrought by Hurricane Maria.
> "We cannot be defined by the evil that threatens us," Mr. Trump said at his final stop after being introduced by Nevada Gov. Brian Sandoval. "We're defined by our love, our caring and our courage."
> Mr. Trump said that when the worst of humanity strikes, "the best of humanity responds" and referenced parents and spouses using their bodies to shield and protect their loved ones during the shooting.

The best of humanity are the White men who readily risked their lives to protect other Whites against this vicious violence. The anti-White scum who committed the crime is rightfully described as the worst of humanity, as all traitors are.

Whether a Moslem convert or an antifa, this guys was the lowest scumbag imaginable.

> The president and First Lady Melania Trump went to University Medical Center's trauma center to meet with and console some of the victims of the massacre , and also paid a visit to first responders, whose actions prevented even more casualties. The two were accompanied by House Majority Leader Kevin McCarthy, R-California, and Rep. Mark Amodei, R-Nevada. Constituents of both were killed or injured in the attack.
> As the president departed the White House, he told reporters, "It's a very sad thing. We are going to pay our respects and to see the police who have done really a fantastic job in a very short time." He also said officials were learning "a lot more" about the shooter, Stephen Paddock, and that information about him would be released "at an appropriate time." "It's a very, very sad day for me, personally," the president said.

He suffers for all of us.

We can only hope that Trump will prevent the authorities from burying the truth about this story.

It must be made loud and clear that this was an attack on White people, and that whoever is ultimately responsible for this, whether ISIS, antifa, CNN or whatever, must be made to pay.

> On Tuesday, the president called the shooting an "act of pure evil" and said, "I know we are searching for some kind of meaning in the chaos, some kind of light in the darkness. The answers do not come easy."

The left, meanwhile, are reflexively using this event to promote their gun-control agenda, as they always do.

Luckily, Trump doesn't cuck as easily as the likes of Paul Ryan.

> When asked if he would be considering any possible gun violence legislation down the road, he brushed off reporters, saying today was not the time to discuss it.

All these freaking journalists are like piranhas, homing in for the kill whenever they whiff the smell of blood. They have no rational arguments for gun-control, so they know their only good tactic is to wait for a massacre, and then try to shame people like "how can you still defend guns in front of all these corpses?"

Sick.

But the left won't be able to dominate the narrative on this one.

The target is so obviously White people and the American nation, that their attempts to spin this any other way will trigger a backlash. Even the mainstream media is aware of this to some extent, as they have been forced to acknowledge the very White nature of the victims.

This will only serve to further reinforce the burgeoning White ethnic consciousness of ordinary Americans.

Look at this:

Victim list (so far):

Sonny Melton, Lisa Romero, Christiana Duarte, Michelle Vo, Susan Smith, Jordan Seymour McIldoon, Neysa Tonks, Brennan Stewart, Quinton Robbins, Sandy Casey, Angela Gomez, Jessica Klymchuk, Adrian Murfitt, Austin Davis, Carrie Barnette, Dana Gardner, Rhonda LeRocque, Denise Burditus, Rachel Parker, Hannah Ahlers, Melissa Ramirez, Jenny Parks, Charleston Hartfield, John Phippen, Bailey Schweitzer, Jack Beaton, Christopher Roybal, Erick Silva, Jennifer Irvine, Tom Day Jr, Kurt Von Tillow, Calla Medig, Dorene Anderson, Rocio Guillen, Stacee Etcheber, Cameron Robinson, Brian Fraser, Victor Link, Kelsey Meadows, Bill Wolf Jr, Heather Warino, Tara Roe Smith, Jordyn Rivera, Denise Cohen, Derrick "Bo" Taylor, Laura Shipp, Steve Berger, Chris Hazencomb, Carrie Parsons, Keri Galvan, Andrea Castilla, Nicol Kimura, Carly Kreibaum, Lisa Patterson, Candice Bowers, Patricia Mestas.

There are all sorts of places that could have gotten shot up that would not have be 90+% white.

Country music is still the whitest thing in America.

That cannot be a coincidence.

And we want answers as to why this happened.

I am honestly getting really fed up with waiting for answers. The sheriff says "maybe he was radicalized" – well, what the fuck does that mean?

Give us the information, sheriff.

The feds aren't going to give it to us, so it's up to you.

We have a right to know just what the hell went on here, and why 50+ of our guys are dead.

This waiting game is fair to no one, especially given that there is a total of zero chance that the feds and presumably local law enforcement don't have a clear lead – in the form of either a note, literature or at the very least conversations with family and friends, that indicates why this boomer went on a jihad against the white race.

Vegas Sheriff: Shooter May Have Been "Radicalized"

"Radicalized" is Yiddish for "become a Moslem terrorist and kill people."

The Vegas sheriff is now openly suggesting that the shooter may have "become radicalized."

This is exactly where I predicted this would go.

The mainstream media is admitting that this was clearly a targeting attack on conservatives.

What's more on the "breaking news" front – the shooter had just wired $100,000 to the Philippines.

NBC:

> Las Vegas shooter Stephen Paddock wired $100,000 to an account in his live-in girlfriend's home country, the Philippines, in the week before he unleashed the worst mass shooting in modern U.S. history, according to multiple senior law enforcement officials.
> But while officials have confirmed that Marilou Danley was in the Philippines on Sunday when Paddock opened fire on a crowd attending a country music festival on the Las Vegas Strip, it was not known whether the money was for her or her family or for another purpose.
> Danley, 62, who had traveled to Hong Kong on Sept. 25, could fill in some of the blanks after returning to the United States on Wednesday, the officials said. She arrived at Los Angeles International Airport escorted by FBI agents late Tuesday, multiple law enforcement sources familiar with the investigation said.
> "We anticipate some information from her shortly," Clark County Sheriff Joe Lombardo said. "She is currently a person of interest."
> Paddock's still-stunned brother, Eric Paddock, said he suspects the money was to take care of Danley.
> "One hundred thousand dollars isn't that huge amount of money," he said. "Condemn Steve for gambling. Steve took care of the people he loved. He made me and my family wealthy."
> Paddock may have "manipulated her so that she was far away from this and had money," Eric Paddock added. "As he was descending into hell...he wanted to take care of her."

This brother figure is suspicious and weird and everything he says he sounds like he's hiding something or trying to misdirect something.

It is good that the Pinay gf is now in US custody. I still have not heard her last name – I think she is a Moslem.

She has a southern/Mindanao face, which would indicate that she is a Moslem.

Daily Mail:

> This is the moment the girlfriend of Las Vegas shooter Stephen Paddock, who killed 58 people and wounded 527 others over the weekend, was met by federal investigators after landing at LAX airport in Los Angeles on Tuesday.
> Marilou Danley, who authorities described as a "person of interest" following Sunday's shooting spree, arrived in the US at 7.17pm PST after a flight from the Philippines. She was seen being wheeled through LAX in a wheelchair in footage obtained by NBC News.

The 62-year-old was wearing a hat and light blue jacket and was pushing a black suitcase in front of her. It is not yet clear where she was then taken or why she was in the wheelchair.

A police official revealed she voluntarily returned to the US in a bid to "clear her name" of any involvement in the massacre. Her siblings have since broken their silence saying she was unaware of Paddock's motives.

This morning a report suggested that Danley may have been living a double life. Public documents showed she was married to two men at once, used two Social Security numbers, lived in multiple addresses in several different states and had two dates of birth, according to Newsweek.

That's just typical Filipina bullshit and could mean nothing…or it could mean an Islamic conspiracy.

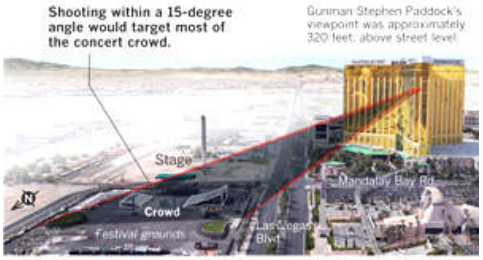
Pictures from inside of the hotel room have also been released.

He had cameras installed everywhere, including on a food cart outside of the room.

And yes, I understand people asking the question: "how could this random boomer have figured all of this out, especially since he hadn't been in the military?"

But you have to understand that he's a retired rich boomer with no children – he's got all the time in the world to read up on how to engage in this sort of an act.

I don't think it is at all impossible that it could have been a one man show and self-trained.



The question is: why.

Is it just because boomers hate society and want to harm it as much as possible as revenge for the fact that their lives have no meaning?

Or is it that combined with Allah Akbarism?

I'm betting the latter.

But we shall see…. or at least I hope we shall see.

Right now, it is plan and obvious that the authorities, particularly the federal authorities, are purposefully covering up whatever went on here.

But there is simply zero way that this target was not chosen to slaughter white Trump supporters.

Surprise, Surprise: Paul Ryan Uses Las Vegas Shooting to Justify Shelving New Pro-Gun Bill

Adrian Sol
Daily Stormer
October 4, 2017

For Paul Ryan, no opportunity to cuck can ever be wasted.

There can be no doubt that ZOG wants American men disarmed, just like it wants them dis-empowered at every other level. The attachment that White men have to their weapons is one last thing that keeps them virile and strong-minded.

That's the real drive towards gun-control.

So they'll use every excuse and every opportunity to signal against guns, or even gun accessories or whatever, even if there is no rational argument to be made.

Paul Ryan, being more concerned with CNN talking points than the rights of his voter base, will of course bend over backwards to appease the people who hate America.

Breitbart:

> Two days after an attacker opened fire on concert goers in Las Vegas, House Speaker Paul Ryan (R-Wisc) announced he was shelving legislation to deregulate suppressors.
> After the Vegas attacker killed at least 59 and wounded over 500, Hillary Clinton tweeted:
> The crowd fled at the sound of gunshots.
> Imagine the deaths if the shooter had a silencer, which the NRA wants to make easier to get.
> — Hillary Clinton (@HillaryClinton) October 2, 2017
> Clinton's tweet ignores the reality of the tactical superiority of the attacker's position–he was on the 32nd floor shooting down on people who were trapped in a concert venue. To escape they had to funnel through exit areas, which further highlighted the attacker's superior position. Yet Clinton thinks it would have been worse if his gun had had a "silencer"–i.e., a suppressor–on it.

Even the floor or tactical situation or whatever is irrelevant in this case.

Suppressors are not magical devices. They're just tubes containing soft material which will dampen the sound of the round being fired. You could use many things to get the same effect. For example, some people simply attach oil filters to the end of their firearm, which works well.

Video Link

Making "suppressors" illegal or hard to obtain would not in any way stop a criminal from actually suppressing the sound of his weapon if he was inclined to do so. It just makes it so that normal people can't do it without fear of repercussions.

> Ryan has now shelved the Hearing Protection Act, which was introduced into Congress on January 9; it is the legislation containing suppressor deregulation. The Act does not legalize suppressors–as they are already legal–rather, it removes the burdensome process for acquiring them and erases the federal tax that must be paid in order to receive permission to posses one.

This new episode of cucking is completely illogical, based on pure political hype. This law would have absolutely no impact on the lives or tactics of criminals. The target of weapon regulations is always normal, law-abiding White males, not criminals and terrorists.

The time is coming to cleanse the system of all these "Republicans in name only."

Corruptsville: Jason Kessler Indicted for "Perjury" for Saying Leftist Assaulted Him

Eric Striker
Daily Stormer
October 4, 2017

The out of control Jewish Mayor and black Marxist Vice Mayor of Charlottesville have now arrested Unite The Right organizer Jason Kessler in the latest act of politically motivated prosecution.

This time, District Attorney Robert Tracci has been sicced on Kessler to try and make a bogus "felony perjury" charge stick. One that isn't even related to the Charlotteville event. Felony perjury, especially in this context, is almost never tried in a court of law.

It just so happens that this made from scratch abuse of the judiciary comes as sources tell me Kessler's proposed lawsuit against the city of Charlottesville began to pick up steam. Imagine my shock.

Daily Mail:

> An alt-right organizer who has been indicted for perjury for allegedly lying about being assaulted in January has been indicted for perjury.
> Unite the Right activist Jason Kessler – who was behind the deadly Charlottesville riots in August – was indicted on felony perjury on Tuesday by a grand jury in Piedmont, Virginia.
> The charge stems from an altercation he had with left-wing protester James Taylor at Downtown Mall in Charlottesville in January.

Kessler, who was there collecting signatures for a petition to remove mayor Wes Bellamy, punched Taylor in the face after a war of words.

At the time, he allegedly told police Taylor assaulted him but later admitted to hitting him first.

Kessler pleaded guilty to assault earlier this year and was sentenced to 50 hours of community service.

On Tuesday, the extra charge of perjury was brought. Charging documents recount how Kessler admitted assaulting Taylor at the mall last year.

'He and his buddy came over, they scribbled on my petition and vandalized it.

'James didn't want to have a conversation with me, he yelled you're a....and he called me a name. I felt threatened and I hit him to get him away from me.

'Man to man, yell in a man's face and expect to get punched in the face.

"I'll admit that what I did was not legal.I was having a bad day. I've never done anything like this before and it will never happen again," he said at the time.

So these two Antifa bullies got in his face, made aggressive physical contact with him and vandalized his property, yet Kessler was charge-stacked into pleading to an assault charge in exchange for community service.

The leftist that got took.

Leftists promise to violently silence people. Leftists violently attack Jason Kessler in the middle of a press conference. Leftists openly promote using terrorism as a means to "stopping the Nazis." Is it hard to believe they attacked him first?

Michael Signer and Wes Bellamy are using their courts in the same way any other tinpot third world thug government does. Corruptville is a taste of the very near future coming soon to a city near you.

Wes Bellamy: The kang in charge of you.

The question is: when is the Department of Justice going to investigate the flagrant abuses of authority going on in Charlottesville? The city and police department purposely funneled nationalists into crowds of feral, frothing at the mouth communist agitators. Some of these communists got smashed in self-defense and their rich mommys and daddys want answers. The answer Signer has is to try and imprison Chris Cantwell for 60 years for an alleged pepper spray attack on a Jewish tranny that nobody saw and police have no proof of.

Stupid and catty infighting has divided up our already meager resources. The Alt-Right needs lawyers and investigators to be on top of what's going on in Charlottesville. We need to get our boys out and bankrupt that god forsaken city with lawsuit after lawsuit. The opportunity is presenting itself, where is the will?

It will be interesting to see how the city will proceed when it's time to prove these allegations against nationalists in court. Anyone with elementary legal knowledge would guess their cases would collapse, but the same big brained nibbas would guess they wouldn't even mount the case in the first place. It is looking more and more likely that they may be planning Soviet-style show trials, whatever you think about the guys in jail right now, these cases must be watched with the eyes of a hawk.

PURGE NEWS: Pence Chief of Staff Proposes Purging Legislative of Cucks

Adrian Sol
Daily Stormer
October 3, 2017

We all get in a purging mood sometimes.

If there's one thing I could use right now, it's a good purge. It does wonder to uplift the mood and also, to correct long-standing political problems.

America definitely needs a purge.

Especially the political establishment.

Everyone hates these people. Everyone knows their loyalty is sold to the highest bidder. The people desperately wish for the swamp to be drained, and it's long overdue.

I can only hope the words turn into action.

Politico:

Vice President Mike Pence's chief of staff railed against congressional leaders in closed-door remarks to wealthy donors and called for a "purge" if GOP lawmakers don't quickly rally behind President Donald Trump's agenda.

That's some good-old-fashioned American patriotism right there.

In remarks at a Republican National Committee event at the St. Regis Hotel in Washington on Tuesday morning, Nick Ayers also warned that Republicans are "on track to get shellacked" in next year's midterm elections if GOP lawmakers don't pass Trump's legislative priorities.

But Ayers reserved his harshest criticism for congressional leaders and members who have not offered full-throated support for the president.

"Just imagine the possibilities of what can happen if our entire party unifies behind him? If — and this sounds crass — we can purge the handful of people who continue to work to defeat him," Ayers said, according to an audio recording of the remarks obtained by POLITICO.

One attendee later asked how the donors could "rally the congressional delegation that does support the president and vice president, and rally them and push them to change the current leadership in both the Senate and the House."

"I'm not speaking on behalf of the president or vice president when I say this," Ayers responded. "But if I were you, I would not only stop donating, I would form a coalition of all the other major donors, and just say two things. We're definitely not giving to you, number one. And number two, if you don't have this done by Dec. 31, we're going out, we're recruiting opponents, we're maxing out to their campaigns, and we're funding super PACs to defeat all of you."

YES.

This is what we need.

All the Paul Ryans and Lindsey Grahams of the legislative need to be facing up against anti-establishment, pro-Trumpist candidates in 2018. The Trump administration will need to be supporting those people.

It appears that this is the plan. There's a good chance that Steve Bannon leaving the White House was part of this; he'll be able to provide much better support to these candidates from outside the system than he could from within.

Roy Moore's victory over establishment candidate Strange is an early taste of things to come. And it was accomplished with Bannon's help.

Every single establishment hack needs to have his seat challenged by one of our guys.

We can win this.

We just need to try.

Assange is Offering Trump a Deal: Evidence Russians Did Nothing for a Pardon

Why would there even be any question whatsoever with regards to whether or not to take this deal?

I just can't see why someone would even need to think about it.

New York Post:

> WikiLeaks founder Julian Assange has offered to prove that Russia didn't leak the e-mails of the Democratic National Committee last year. But he wants a deal — a pardon — for spilling the beans.
> There is absolutely no reason that President Trump shouldn't take him up on the offer.
> WikiLeaks published hundreds of thousands of DNC e-mails, as well as ones from the computer of campaign head John Podesta and others. If the Russians didn't hack the DNC computers and release the e-mails, then someone else did.
> And the best candidate for the role of leaker is someone inside the DNC — perhaps a supporter of Bernie Sanders who felt his candidate wasn't getting a fair shake.
> This would change history and render moot any investigation of the Trump administration, except where it pertains to the much less serious allegation of obstruction of justice. I say lesser allegation, because it would involve obstruction of justice for a crime (the Russian hacking) that didn't happen.

This would end this most retarded chapter of American history once and for all.

A US Senator has already confirmed that Julian has the dox.

Las Vegas: Total Dead Comes to 59 as We Still Have Zero Explanation

Andrew Anglin

Vegas was the deadliest mass shooting by 10 points, beating last year's gay nightclub massacre.

These were definitely a whole lot better people than died in a faggot club. But part of me can't help but be proud that a white guy beat the haji's record –

HOL UP

Wait no, I can help but be proud of that, jeez. That is the sort of oos /b/-tier nihilism we're trying to avoid on this website.

This is in fact very sad, and we should be adult enough at this point to be able to say that without snark.

These were our people who got shot up and it is someone's fault – and right now, the government, media and cops are refusing to tell us whose fault it is.

And that should be enough to make us angry.

They have fully searched his hotel room and cataloged everything.

RT:

> Police officers found 23 firearms in the Mandalay Bay hotel room Paddock occupied, Assistant Clark County Sheriff Todd Fasulo said.
> Also, investigators now say that 19 firearms have been found at the man's Mesquite, Nevada home.

> Among the guns found in Paddock's room at the Mandalay Bay Hotel and Casino, were high-powered rifles, considered to be capable of penetrating police armor, ABC News reported.
> A modified bump stock rifle was also found. The bump stock allows a gun to simulate automatic gunfire.
> Law enforcement is still in the process of examining the guns to determine if they were able to fire automatically. Authorities also searched a separate location and found an explosive used in target practice, called tannerite, according to unnamed sources.

And done the same for his home now.

> Police are gathered outside the suspected shooter's home in an upscale neighborhood in Reno, Nevada, AP reported at 4:50pm PT.

And yet still we have no explanation as to what went on here.

Why this guy killed 59 of our guys.

There is no way there isn't a trace of that by now. He killed himself when he got rushed in his room.

We're being told it's all a big mystery. Fox News:

> Paddock checked in as a hotel guest on Thursday, Sept. 28 before the attack, Clark County Sheriff Joseph Lombardo said.
> Lombardo added that police are investigating how Paddock got the weapons into the hotel and if he had been hiding them.
> "We have no idea what his belief system was," Lombardo said. "Right now, we believe he was the sole aggressor and the scene is static."
> Responding officers used an explosive device to force the door open into Paddock's room, law enforcement officials told Fox News.
> Eric Paddock, the shooter's brother, said that his family was caught off guard by the attack, The Washington Post reported.
> "We know nothing. If you told me an asteroid just fell, it would mean the same to me. There's absolutely no sense, no reason he did this," he said. He also told The Post he wasn't aware of any mental illness, alchohol or drug problems in his brother's life.
> Eric Paddock said his brother was a multimillionaire who made much of his money investing in real estate, according to the Associated Press. He also said his brother had been an accountant for many years and was unaware of any financial difficulties he may have been having recently.
> The last time Stephen contacted the family was when he wanted to check in on them following the passage of Hurricane Irma, Eric said, adding that Stephen had asked how their 90-year-old mother was doing, according to The Washington Post.
> In an interview, Eric described his brother as "not a normal guy" who frequently "played high stakes video poker," the Associated Press reported. He added that his brother once "texted me a picture that he won $40,000 on a slot machine."
> Eric said he knew his brother owned a few guns but barely used them and was shocked to find out the type of weapons used in the deadly attack.
> "He's just a guy who played video poker and took cruises and ate burritos at Taco Bell. There's no political affiliation that we know of. There's no religious affiliation that we know of," Eric said, according to The Washington Post.
> Federal law enforcement sources told Fox News that Paddock "was known to local authorities," in Las Vegas. But police in Mesquite, where Paddock lived in a $369,000 home he purchased in 2015, said he never had any run-ins with officers, the Desert Valley Times reported.

Police initially sought a woman believed to be Paddock's girlfriend, Marilou Danley, as a "person of interest." Detectives later made contact with her, and "do not believe she is involved with the shooting on the strip."

Paddock was carrying some of Danley's identification when he was found dead in the hotel room, Lombardo said.

Paddock and Danley reportedly lived together in Mesquite, Nev., The Washington Post reported. They also reportedly lived in Reno, Nev. for many years.

Some of their neighbors described Paddock as "extremely standoffish" and "aggressively unfriendly," the report said.

One reportedly described him as "weird," and said he "kept to himself."

Other neighbors said they noticed that the couple disappeared for long stretches of time, but Danley had reportedly explained that Paddock was a professional gambler, The Washington Post reported.

A search of Paddock's home there uncovered some weapons and ammunition, Mesquite police told KTNV.

Neighbors in the community were shocked when they heard the news that Paddock was the shooter.

"It's unbelievable," Ken Heinly, 73, told the Las Vegas Review-Journal. "This place is just so quiet."

Property records show Stephen Paddock once owned a home in Viera, Fla., from 2013-2015, the Orlando Sentinel reported.

He had also worked for a predecessor of Lockheed Martin in the late 1980s, and the company is assisting authorities in the investigation, 8 News Now reported.

I think it was because of Islam. I think that is the most obvious explanation of this particular event.

They won't say he Filipino girlfriend's maiden name (Danley is the name of the first person she married to get out of the Philippines) or where she is from – they aren't even saying she's from the Philippines, though she obviously is. And the obvious explanation here is that she was Moslem, that some of these trips they had taken together were to Mindanao in the Philippines or some other Moslem areas, and that is the entire explanation of this event: boomer jihad.

Her facial features are definitely Southern Philippines-looking (the south has virtually no Chinese or Spanish admixture and is thus distinct), and everyone would be able to tell by her last name, which has to be available by now. The Filipino local media is probably reporting this, and someone should really find that.

The only other option is left-wing anti-Trump sentiment, like the SPLC shooter who attempted to assassinate Steve Scalise.

If it was right-wing in any fashion whatsoever, you can guarantee they would have told us that by now. If there was any single possible link. We can just say matter-of-factly that this guy was not even a nominal Republican, or that would have been rushed by the media.

As a side note, the full-auto weapon used had to have come from Mexico. Meaning it is almost certainly one of Obama's Fast and Furious guns. Probably most of them were. These things have been flowing back across the border almost as fast as they went across the first time.

A Bunch of Haji Rapists and Terrorists Headed at You From Australia

If Trump would have won the election, we wouldn't be dealing with this crap.

I don't know why so many Americans voted for that Kushner guy instead.

Breitbart:

The first group of 1,250 mostly male Middle Eastern refugees is expected to soon arrive in the United States from Australia. The transfer of refugees comes after President Trump failed to shutter an Obama-era deal that could bring tens of thousands of the refugees' family members to the U.S. in years to come.

President Barack Obama signed the Australian-U.S. refugee deal during his last months in office – promising to take 1,250 Middle Eastern refugees off Australia's hands.

The refugees are being held in detention centers on Manus Island and Nauru Island. Despite Trump's original statement calling the deal "a dumb deal," the president has now broken two long-promised campaign pledges: Throwing out deals that don't benefit Americans and stopping the flow of foreign refugees.

According to NPR, roughly 50 foreign refugees are now on their way to the U.S. The other 1,200 are expected to follow soon after.

While the U.S. will have to resettle the 1,250 refugees across communities, Americans will see no benefits to the deal. In exchange for resettling the refugees, roughly 50-60 Central Americans who are currently residing in Costa Rica, will be resettled in Australia.

Refugee resettlement expert Ann Corcoran previously told Breitbart Texas that the move by Trump to follow through with the deal is one of the "worst" decisions he has made during the first six months of his presidency.

"On the surface, this is a purely insane thing," Corcoran said at the time. "We have never done anything like this."

"This is probably the worst deal I've seen within the last 10 years by the refugee resettlement program," Corcoran continued.

The so-called refugees are actually illegal aliens in Australia who traveled to the country under the previous government which enforced a strict immigration policy that made sure the refugees would never be released from detention.

According to extensive research from migration expert Nayla Rush, 850 refugees on Manus Island are men, while more than half of the refugees on Nauru Island are men as well. Rush's research concluded that the refugees are primarily from Sudan, Somalia, Afghanistan, and Iran.

These are what we call the "ultra-enrichment" states.

They hit your community like a bus. Because those ones from Iran are actually Pashtoon and other non-Persian tribes.

It's real tough times to get enriched this hard. This is rape, terrorism, murder – the whole vibrant shebang.

LIVE: Trump speaks on Las Vegas shooting

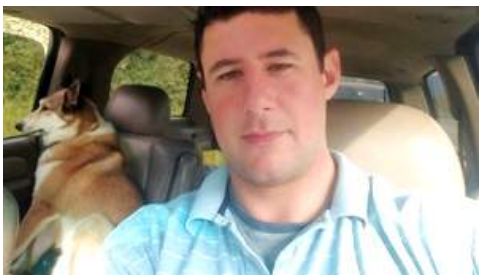
It is difficult to imagine anything whiter than a country music concert.

To the point where you would have to be targeting whites, purposefully, in order to hit one.

This is the opposite of some recent London attacks, where the victims have been celebrated for their diversity.



So far, we don't have any further information on the motives of the shooter. I just assume that is because they're being covered up by the cops and will be trickled out later.

There is simply no way that he didn't leave some sort of note or manifesto.

What they have found is that his father was a FBI ten most wanted bank robber.

Which is a pretty strange factoid.

The FBI is denouncing and disavowing the ISIS claim that the shooter Paddock was an Islamic convert.

RT:

> The attacker did not affiliate himself with any political or religious group, the brother of the gunman, Eric Paddock, from Orlando, said.
> "No religious affiliation. No political affiliation," he told CBS News.
> Sheriff Joseph Lombardo said authorities believe it was a "lone wolf" attack.
> US security agencies are assessing the IS claim but have not verified it, Reuters reports, citing officials. Two unnamed senior US officials told Reuters that no evidence suggested a connection between the shooter and any international militant group.

But I think he had to be ISIS.

What the hell else?

He certainly isn't far-right or he wouldn't have attacked a country music concert. Maybe a negro rap show.

Anyway, if he was far-right they would have released that already, for sure.

He could just be a leftist.

Hoaxgate II: White Baby Boomers "Mourn" Fake Hate Crime

Eric Striker
Daily Stormer
October 2, 2017

A bunch of middle aged suburban windbags met with blacks who can't wait to see them dead to "mourn" the lynching of an 8-year-old black boy by local white racists.

The problem is the boy is white and the whole thing is a brazen Go Fund Me scam.

But this isn't about crime, hate crimes, or even "racism." The local democratic party and Woodstock nostalgics are coming out singing "We Shall Overcome" because they want the world to see their cuck bonafides after the Jews defamed their economically declining town as a place that still practices lynching. The only thing that matters to sheltered suburban whites over 50 is looking good. That's a lot easier than being good!

The Jew Steven R. Swartz at the (((Associated Press))) is adamant about keeping this hoax in the headlines. Let's hope the police seriously investigate this and make a statement that blows out Mr Swartz's Menorah candles.

AP:

> In this struggling mill town in western New Hampshire, racism was never something people talked all that much about.
> There were people who drove around Claremont with Confederate flag bumper stickers in the mostly white town of 14,000 and some instances of high schoolers using racial epithets during football games and on Facebook.
> But for the most part, residents had other concerns.
> That changed Aug. 28 after allegations surfaced that several teenagers had taunted a 9-year-old biracial boy with racial slurs and several days later pushed him off a picnic table with a rope tied around his neck. The family of the boy, who was treated for neck injuries and has been released, called it a hate crime while the parents of one of the teenagers told Newsweek it was a terrible accident.

The images of the boy's rope-singed neck were shared widely on social media, prompting an outpouring of support for the family and outrage against the teens. With prosecutors continuing to investigate the case as a potential hate crime, the city known for historic textile and paper mill buildings found itself associated with words like lynching and intolerance.

"Certainly people were shocked by the young age of everyone involved, especially the victim," said Allen Damren, the town's assistant mayor who also grew up in Claremont. "That certainly has an impact on people. When you use the word 'lynching,' that has all sorts of bad connotations to it."

"It happened in our hometown. People responded to that," he added.

The case has compelled city leaders to confront an issue that many had associated with bigger cities far away. Most insist Claremont isn't a racist place but say the town must consider how its white majority treats those who don't look like them. The families of the accused teens declined comment.

"This is an opportunity to take a very unfortunate event involving children and have some public discussions about how we treat each other," said Middleton McGoodwin, the superintendent of the school district that includes Claremont. "Just because you may have a different color skin or different color hair or wear certain clothing, that doesn't give me license to make you feel uncomfortable or make fun of you."

More than 100 people from Claremont and surrounding towns gathered last month in a downtown city park to speak out against racism. Holding signs reading "Teach Love Not Hate" and "Stand Together," residents listened as city officials and religious leaders spoke about the near-hanging and the need to confront intolerance.

City and school officials have since met to discuss new strategies to counter racism, and McGoodwin said the district is developing a plan for elementary through high school that examines school culture, including how students treat each other and how staff respond to issues like bullying. Residents are planning to be outside the high school and middle school this week, holding signs calling for an end to violence and bullying.

"We are not going to say this was an event that took place in late August, wasn't in school and wasn't about us," McGoodwin said. "It definitely is about us."

This town's youth has real problems the older generation has no interest in addressing, but watch how all these failed institutions mobilize as soon as the young Shaun King is instructed by the old "cash me ousside" girl to cook up a fairy tale about lynching blacks in 21st century New Hampshire.

The bourgeoisie in the last places isolated from racial reality loves making big public displays of conformity. You can't get any of these baby boomers to get off the couch unless it's a "demonstration against racism" in a 99% white town, or picketing the middle school to "stop bullying."

Forget race, why aren't they protesting the fact that there are no decent jobs for their kids? Where are the rallies against immigration physically replacing them?

Part of me wishes Obama's HUD program was still in place to fill the place up. Wake up and smell the negro apocrine stank!

Here is Cenk Uyghur's take on the incident. He doesn't know any of the details but is already making veiled threats about "vigilante justice" in respects to the white kids being accused. Leftists are angry that the police in the town won't release the identities of minors because they want to come after them. If these scumbags get their way, anyone falsely accused of a "hate crime" will be actually lynched in the street!

And these older white women who watch Oprah will nervously hum "We Shall Overcome" as they watch the Jewish led communist mobs slaughter their kids.

NOW: ISIS Claims Biggest Mass Shooting in US History [UPDATES]

Daily Stormer
October 2, 2017

UPDATE 10:50 AM EST:

"Not an avid gun guy at all...where the hell did he get automatic weapons? He has no military background," gunman's brother says pic.twitter.com/EMSKLQGYFM

— CBS News (@CBSNews) October 2, 2017

The brother is saying he was just a normal guy, which fits into the ISIS claim that he just converted a couple months ago and went TOTALLY BONKERS 4 ALLAH.

The Guardian:

The FBI has spoken with Eric Paddock, the brother of the gunman, at his home in central Florida. Paddock has also given a few interviews at greater length.

"He was my brother and it's like an asteroid fell out of the sky," Paddock told CNN said. He said he last spoke to his brother when Stephen wanted to check in on their mother, in the wake of hurricane Irma.

Paddock expressed shock and horror to CBS that his brother could commit such a crime.

"He's not an avid gun guy at all. The fact that he had those kind of weapons is just – where the hell did he get automatic weapons? He has no military background or anything like that. He's just a guy who lived in a house in Mesquite, drove down and gambled in Las Vegas. HE did stuff. Ate burritos."

Paddock said that when he heard the news he became scared for Paddock's girlfriend, Marylou Danley, worried that "he might've hurt her too."

Police have said Danley was out of the country, unharmed and speaking with investigators.

It's too bad they killed him.

But he must have left some kind of note or manifesto – nothing of the sort has even been mentioned by police or media.

But you don't do something like this without leaving some kind of information on why you did it.

Unless this /pol/ theory is true…

Not impossible, but doesn't explain why he would have automatic weapons in his hotel room.

UPDATE 10:25 AM EST:

Well, ISIS is claiming the attack, saying that the shooter recently converted to Islam.

The Independent:

> Isis has claimed responsibility for the shooting attack that has left at least 50 dead in Las Vegas.
> A statement published by the group's Amaq propaganda agency claimed the attacker was a "soldier of the Islamic State".
> "The Las Vegas attacker is a soldier of the Islamic State in response to calls to target coalition countries," it said.
> In a second statement, Isis claimed the gunman "converted to Islam several months ago".
> The wording of the release is similar to other attacks that have been inspired, rather than directed, by Isis.

Of course, ISIS lies about this stuff. But this seems likely enough to be true to me.

The shooter is a boomer, married to a Filipino, who could well be (would reasonably be assumed to probably be) a Moslem.

So, he pussy-converts, then goes on a rampage because this is the first thing in his boomer live that ever had meaning.

You need to check the homes of your boomer parents and grandparents for any Korans or other jihadi materials. Immediately. We could well be on the verge of an epidemic here.

Wow, 20 dead.

Pretty high score there, haj.

Las Vegas Review-Journal:

A Las Vegas Metropolitan police source has confirmed that at least 20 people are dead in a shooting Sunday night outside Mandalay Bay on the Las Vegas Strip.

Metro also confirmed about that one suspect is dead on a high-level floor of Mandalay Bay. It's not known if there are other suspects.

Police are asking people to avoid the area.

Police reported multiple casualties from the incident and possibly two shooters with automatic weapons.

The attack came during the last performances on the final night of the three-day Route 91 Harvest Festival, which has been held for the past four years on an 15-acre lot across Las Vegas Boulevard from Mandalay Bay.

You never know about the number of shooters. They always say it's more than one, even when they later reduce it to one.

I suspect they will also up the body count. Probably won't go past 35 though, or the estimate would have been higher now that the event is over.

— Onlinemagazin (@OnlineMagazin) October 2, 2017

Original article follows.

This was at the Route 91 Country Music Festival in Las Vegas. Tower shooter situation – the shots were fired from an upper floor of a nearby hotel.

Let's admit what is obvious: anyone firing into a crowd of country music fans is doing so because they are patriotic white Americans. It is the whitest, most Republican event you can possibly attack. Country music is one of the last remaining cultural symbols of American patriotism, however flawed it may be. This is a continuation of the assault on our flag and our values that we've seen by Negro felons in the past week. Instead of a cold conflict of ideas and political speech, it has now escalated to a hot war.

American patriots are going to continue to be murdered in the streets by these subhuman animals and their cuck allies until they organize, pick up their guns, and start shooting back. It would take all of one week for American patriots to remove all threats to their children and their Constitution if they only had the will to power. Have multiple generations of Jewish lies made the American patriot incapable of defending himself? Revolutions start in beer halls and tea houses. It doesn't take much for men to self-actualize, they just have to think they can win.

The government hasn't come for the guns yet because they think they would lose, so the American patriot can still win today. That will probably not be true twenty years from now.

I don't know what's going to happen. I don't want to mourn for the noble texts and wondrous martyrs whose blood and tears founded the American nation and whose continuing legacy makes it possible for me to even contemplate their sacrifices in a blog post. All I know is that there is a choice ahead of the American patriot, and by proxy all Western men. What is the goal of civilization? Why did Alexander Bell usher in a new age of telecommunications? Why did William Shockley invent the junction transistor? Why did Dennis Ritchie make a useful compiler?

With this conflict being escalated by foreign, un-American invaders and parasites there can only be one of two answers:

1. So that the inheritors of this legacy can make brief posts on social media about their own displacement, rape, and murder and perhaps leave a passing record of the things which are done to them as a warning to Eastern Europe not to make the same mistakes.

2. That they may use these tools to organize, reclaim their territories, and create a continuing legacy of white American dominance all around the globe.

This is it. The race war is on. There is no doubt about what is happening. They are going to murder you in the streets because you are white, because you are American. The only question is, are you going to do anything about this or are you going to continue sacrificing your daughters and sons to niggers on TV and wars for kikes in places you can't pronounce?

Crowder Infiltrates Antifa, Reveals MSM to be Lazy Lying Kikes

Steve "Racewar Now" Crowder infiltrated Antifa with his producer and got some nice footage of Antifa being total faggots and handing out knives.

He turned the footage over to the cops, who actually arrested some of the people on the video.

When he tried to talk to some MSM guys and offered them the footage, they flat out refused, even after he showed them what he had.

Antifa comes off as pants-on-head retarded, which shouldn't surprise anyone. They aren't even a threat. One of their leaders is literally a mentally ill tranny.

It's Mad Max tier stuff.

The threat comes from the anti-White media, the anti-White politicians and the police state that does their bidding.

Hats off to Crowder for covering what the MSM refused to touch, but frankly, until he starts exposing the anti-White people in charge of the whole apparatus of state, then its just pissing in the wind.

Yes, Crowder, you need to start covering the real people behind this mess and not some ridiculous LARPing trannies.

Hint: they have a lot in common with your best buddy, Ben Shapiro.

But I'm not holding my breath. I don't have any faith in these people at all. Not the civic nationalist-tier crowd. They think that they can just pick at the low-lying fruit and make shekels off their bravery from the cuckservative crowd that wants a little edge in their conservative media consumption.

The "will they, won't they get redpilled" wondering leaves me with an empty feeling in the pit of my stomach. How they could remain so spineless and craven to tout civic nationalism when evidence of the looming race war is around them tells me that they are just big brain nibba cucks.

Negro Felon League National Anthem Protests Continue

Lee Rogers

It's Sunday! That means it's time for the Negro Felon League!

The Negro Felon League national anthem protests have continued into the fourth week of the monkey ball season. While the protests weren't as prevalent as what we saw last week, they are still happening in significant quantities. It looks like this is going to be the new normal moving forward.

Sports Illustrated documented what happened during the national anthem before each game. Many Black players either knelt or engaged in abnormal behavior when the anthem was played.

Here are some of the more notable events.

Half of the San Francisco 49ers knelt for the national anthem. They were booed by the entire stadium for doing this. Only Black players took a knee.

And here we have a small handful of Black players for the Buffalo Bills who knelt during the anthem. Oddly enough, the anthem was played by some crazy Negro with a harmonica.

Video Link

Several other Black players took a knee during the anthem throughout the league. You also had other teams lock arms and do all sorts of other hokey nonsense before, during and after the anthem.

As far as I'm concerned, if anybody is doing something besides standing up with their hand over their heart or in a salute position, they are protesting the anthem in some form. This locked arm nonsense is retarded. When the anthem is played, you are supposed to put your hand over your heart or salute and pay respect to the American flag. It doesn't get any more complicated than that.

The one thing that has been made 100 percent clear with these protests is that many Blacks do not identify as an American and do not want to be an American. They have no loyalty to the flag or the country. In some ways, I can't blame them as they shouldn't be here to begin with. They should be in Africa with their racial kin. If they were, we would not be dealing with these retarded issues that stem from mixing people of different racial backgrounds together.

An American is an individual with European genetics who was born in the United States. That's who an American is perceived to be around the world when they think of an American. They don't think of a Negroes, Arabs, Asians or anybody else. Non-European peoples in the United States are aliens who have no business calling themselves Americans. Their ancestors didn't build this country and they have no rights or claims to it.

Told You So: Kasich Says He's Leaving the GOP

Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer
October 1, 2017

I called this one, way back when Kasich refused to drop out of the primary.

I said, he's gonna attack Trump and then become a Democrat.

Toledo Blade:

> Ohio Republican Gov. John Kasich said on CNN's "State of the Union" Sunday that a time could come when he no longer supports the Republican Party.
> "If the party can't be fixed, Jake, then I'm not going to be able to support the party. Period. That's the end of it." Kasich said in an interview with anchor Jake Tapper.
> Asked what that meant for his future in the GOP, Kasich said he was committed to the party and intended to win it over from the surging nationalist wing.
> "I want this party to be straightened out," Kasich said.
> Kasich repeatedly pointed to public dissatisfaction with the Republican and Democratic parties, and referenced the strength of independent political identities. He said both parties needed to grapple with ideological currents pulling them away from the center, adding that he had "no idea what the Democrats are for."
> "What I'm trying to do is struggle for the soul of the Republican Party the way that I see it," Kasich said. "And I have a right to define it, but I'm not going to support people who are dividers."
> Kasich made clear he did not support former Judge Roy Moore, the far-right Republican nominee for Alabama's Senate seat with a history of incendiary comments on race, sexuality and religion. As for whether the Republican Party should continue to support Moore in the December special election, Kasich demurred and returned to his broader desire to reshape the party.
> "I don't run the party," Kasich said. "I can tell you, for me, I don't support that. I couldn't vote for that."

I have to say, as a person who doesn't make hard predictions very often, the overwhelming majority of my hard predictions are correct.

This was sort of an obvious one, but I never saw anyone else saying it.

Let me just go ahead and pat myself on the back for a few minutes.

I wish I could give myself a back massage.

I've been at the computer virtually nonstop for six weeks.

I will tell you this.

I will just tell you one thing:

Every minute that I have off the computer, I'm on the prowl in Westerville.

And I will add this:

John Kasich is going to be shocked as fuck when his two teenage daughters tell them their bringing their boyfriend to dinner – what a coincidence, they're both dating guys from Worthington, he'll think.

And then he opens the door and it turns out they're both dating the same guy from Worthington:

He's gonna be looking at me while he's eating and I'm gonna be looking at him like:

Relax, John. We've all seen you eat before.

Your daughters are sixes, John. Even the blonde one.

But I will date them, as revenge.

When I roll up to their table at the coffee shop they're gonna be like "ZOMG are you that guy from the internet who is a Nazi and hates our dad and rated us sixes on your website???? THAT. IS. SO. HAWT."

You never should have fucked with me and my state, John Kasich.

You disgraced our flag/pennant.

And revenge is a dish best served polygamous.

I think there is a very real chance that following these Harvey Weinstein revelations, a dam could burst.

We could be looking straight at the monsters who created this evil that is the Hollywood entertainment industry.

And by "we" I don't mean those of us at the Daily Stormer who are already looking at them.

By "we" I mean all of us. All of our people.

Right now, we have:

1. Hollywood is controlled by sick perverts who purposefully spread filth to erode the fabric of our society
2. Do these sick perverts have something in common?
3. If so, what is it?

We are inches away.

And I have a feeling in my spine that our good friend in the oval office might casually drop something which could lead in the direction of an answer to parts two and three of the above current state of mass understanding.

When this mask is pulled off, the goyim are not going to be happy.

In fact, I believe they are going to be very, very angry.

Remember: our people have gotten angry about this before.

Really angry.

SPLC BTFO: Evil Jewish Organization References Removed from Defense Department Documents

Adrian Sol
Daily Stormer
October 5, 2017

Your Jew tricks are coming to an end, Schlomo!

The Southern Poverty Law Center, in spite of their decades of reckless criminal behavior, has somehow managed to maintain enough credibility to be regularly cited in mainstream media reports and influence various law enforcement agencies and government organizations.

But it seems they've overplayed their hands lately.

Even normie conservatives are increasingly seeing them as the lawless terrorist organization that they are.

Breitbart:

> According to a September FOIA response, a Defense Department office has ceased using material from the Southern Poverty Law Center (SPLC), the extraordinarily well-funded left-wing non-profit.
> The Department of Defense's (DOD) Office of Diversity Management and Equal Opportunity, the congressionally mandated diversity office originally known as the Defense Race Relations Institute, once included citations to the SPLC in its "training materials on hate groups or hate crimes" but has ceased doing so.

How does it feel to be losing so badly?

The Daily Caller News Foundation's Jonah Bennett obtained an email, originally written in response to a Freedom of Information Act request from the Immigration Reform Law Institute, by Brian J. Field, an assistant U.S. attorney from the civil division of the U.S. Attorney's Office for the District of Columbia.

The September 2017 email confirms:

> The DEOMI [Defense Equal Opportunity Management Institute] office informed me that, based on a previous FOIA request, DEOMI records concerning, regarding, or related to the preparation and presentation of training materials on hate groups or hate crimes were forwarded...That 133-page document did reference the SPLC; however, based upon guidance from the Office of Diversity Management and Equal Opportunity, all references to the SPLC have been removed from any current training.
> In 2014, DOD told CNS News that it stopped including the SPLC's "hate lists" but that it would continue to cite their data. That appears to no longer be the case as the DEOMI joins the FBI, which dropped links to the SPLC in 2014 and again in 2017, as a federal agency that no longer cites the "anti-hate" group.

The entire raison d'être of the SPLC is to bully and threaten individuals and groups they don't like into silence.

Typical SPLC employee.

When that fails, they'll start making phone calls to your business partners to pressure them into cutting ties, in order to wreck financial ruin on your operations.

There's no doubt the the entire spirit of their enterprise is to shut down free speech in America, if not through laws, then through terror and intimidation.

Case in point, their most famous "product" is the SPLC hate list. This is a list of all the individuals and organizations they deem "hateful," put on a map with addresses and contact information. What could possibly be the purpose of such a list, if not intimidation? It's nakedly an invitation for vigilantes to take justice into their own hands.

When all else fails, they'll resort to frivolous but expensive lawsuits.

How can such a organization be allowed to run in America, when it displays such naked contempt for our laws and our race?

(((Jennifer Rubin))) Demands GOP Cucks Breakaway to Form Even More Anti-White Party

Eric Striker
Daily Stormer
October 5, 2017

The violently anti-white, Israel first fanatic Jennifer Rubin is at it again. This sexually ambiguous inbred arachnid spent all of 2016 demonizing white people as the Washington Post's in-house "conservative" (!). Now she is terrified at what may be in store for 2018: cucks getting mass primary'd in a ballot box shoah!

To add some context, Jews like Jennifer Rubin have been pushing the narrative that a party that advocates for the white majority can never win. Trump proved that Rubin was lying, and now that she's been found out she is telling her tribe's loyal servants Mealy Mouth and Weasel Boy (McConnell and Ryan) to break away and found a new party.

She writes for Washington Post:

> President Trump capitalized on unhinged anger that had been brewing for years on the right — among talk radio listeners and Fox News viewers, among anti-immigrant groups fanning fear of brown-skinned newcomers, among more "respectable" pundits spinning a tale that the "establishment" had betrayed "real" Americans. With Hillary Clinton there to generate a vicious Pavlovian response on the right, Trump squeaked by with some substantial help from Russians, who either fantastically understood the dynamic on the right or had some direction as to where to direct their social media messaging.
> Like the proverbial dog that caught the bus, the GOP now finds it impossible to govern rationally with an irrational base and equally irrational media echo chamber.
> In other words, if politicians and voters on the right and center-right want rational, productive governance, they need a new base of voters. That sounds strange. A party or section of a party that wants to fire its base? Well, that is precisely what happened in the 1960s, when the Democrats unloaded white Southern anti-integrationists, ceding the South to the GOP. It could do so because the population in the North and Midwest was growing, minorities were registering and voting in large numbers and previously non-voting or infrequent-voting segments of American electorate (e.g. the youth vote, legal immigrants) sided with Democrats.
> Rather than pursue the fruitless effort to woo and persuade these voters, traditional Republicans should consider reverse-engineering their party. Their beliefs — support for free-market economics with a safety net; American leadership in the world; defense of institutions that restrain demagogic power and faith in government not to solve all problems, but to create conditions that solve some problems; support for civic virtues (empathy, civility, etc.) — may find a following among suburbanites, college-educated voters, immigrants, nontraditional families (who have been scorned by social conservatives), millennials, small-business people, workers in the New Economy and Democrats and independents resistant to that party's tilt toward Sen. Bernie Sanders (I-Vt.) and Western European-style democratic socialism. Maybe that's enough to form a viable national party; perhaps it's merely half of a new coalition with center-left, disaffected Democrats.
> Does that sound a bit shaky, a proposition without a clear path to success? Indeed, but just as Democrats in the 1960s had to make the leap from the party of Southern segregationists to the party of civil rights, so, too, will Republicans who want rational governance reflective of their democratic ideals need to leave the party of Trump and find their own way in a chaotic political environment. If you cannot abide by the ethos that infuses a party's base, you need to find a new base.

Let's get one thing straight: the Republican party isn't doing anything for anyone right now (except Israel). The problem the useless bellboys of Jewish plutocracy are having is Trump promised they would do their job and represent the people that voted for them. They can't because their job is to destroy the people that elected them.

After Trump, Jews are in a mad rush to put the nail in the coffin of the white majority. Trump so far has been a graze, or even a warning shot regarding the anger brewing against their plan. The people are breathing down Trump and the GOP's neck whenever they reach to scratch their neocon or amnesty itch…America is only one step away from seeing the Hebrew rash!

But talk is cheap, which is why Jews love it so much.

Jennifer Rubin knows full well that if Paul Ryan and Mitch McConnell went on to form a new party, it would get less votes than The Rent Is Too Damn High Party. The GOP is a rotten institution with no future, its life support system is Trump, or more specifically, Trumpism. For the first time in many decades they are being pressured to consider making a compromise with – gasp – the people!

If you get the opportunity to primary Jeff Flake, Ben Sasse, Lindsay Graham, John Kasich or any other one of these anti-American traitors, do not miss your chance to. Get your entire family and all your friends to vote against them as a personal favor to you – it's that important. Let's throw as many of these bastards out of Congress and state government as possible.

Let them go join the Jennifer Rubin party!

ADL Testifies Against Free Speech In California Legislature

Eric Striker
Daily Stormer
October 4, 2017

There's this notion in some circles that a majority nonwhite America is bad for Jews. Yesterday's "Combating Hate" hearing in third world California's legislature ought to dispel that myth.

The floor was monopolized by the fifth columnists at the Anti-Defamation League, who naturally found no serious intellectual opposition. The ADL/Israeli agent Joanna Mendelson gave a speech about "white supremacists" recruiting young people by engaging in First Amendment protected flyering on college campuses, and urged legislators (mostly Mexican and Asian yesmen with a sprinkling of Jews and white leftists calling the shots) to take action against "hate."

At some point (((Ben Shapiro))) barged in for a publicity stunt. He was invited by the few Republican lawmakers in California to defend free speech, and was given a whopping 120 seconds in a three hour meeting to make the case.

Imagine living in a world where the only voice in a political chamber affirming the state's obligation to protect free speech is a huckster in a yarmulke. You don't have to imagine – it's called California!

Sacramento Bee:

The First Amendment can be so messy, as Senate Democrats surely must see.

Convening the first of multiple hearings into the rise of white supremacy in California, the Senate Judiciary Committee, controlled by Democrats like all of Sacramento, invited an august panel of speakers.

UC Berkeley Law School Dean Erwin Chemerinsky was the ideal speaker to describe the boundaries of the First Amendment. Joanna Mendelson, senior investigative researcher at the Anti-Defamation League's Center on Extremism, was the perfect person to discuss neo-Nazis in California and elsewhere.

But conservative writer and speaker Ben Shapiro, suggested by Sen. John Moorlach, vice chair of the Senate Judiciary Committee and a Republican from Orange County, would have had something to offer, too. The alt-right has vilified Shapiro, who quit the conservative online site Breitbart last year, and now dares to question Breitbart boss Steve Bannon, provocateur Milo Yiannopoulos and President Donald Trump.

Rather than invite Shapiro to join others at the table, Judiciary Committee Chair Hannah-Beth Jackson, D-Santa Barbara, cluelessly granted Shapiro 120 seconds during the public comment period at the end of the hearing , roughly three hours after it began.

Jackson told The Sacramento Bee's Taryn Luna that she knew little about Shapiro and didn't think he'd be someone "whose testimony today would be particularly helpful" at the hearing titled "Combating Hate While Protecting the Constitution."

You don't need an opinion about race or even politics to know that organized Jewry is the number 1 threat to the West. If you like your right to think and read whatever you want, vote for whoever you want, or own a gun, Jews are coming to get you.

Most normal people left California a long time ago, but this is an experiment. One giant incoherent slum overseen by a 1% of Jewish hacendados living fabulously in Malibu and Silicon Valley sounds way better than Israel to the ADL. What was once a wealthy state with beautiful weather no longer has anything even remotely resembling a middle class, yet keeps churning out kike tech billionaires colluding to privatize and control the public good of the internet just like they did with the radio, Hollywood and TV.

Destitution, out of control corruption, poverty, moral bankruptcy, no rights – California is what Jews want for all of America.

Is that what you want for your family? Your kids? Your descendants? Don't think white liberals are too fond about their neighborhood Italian restaurant being replaced by an illegal alien with a tamale cart either. They're moving to whiter pastures too!

It's time to tighten up the chinstraps and politically organize to stop them. Our ancestors have earned the right to demand our resistance.

YouTube's Jewish CEO Susan Wojcicki Angers Content Creators by Launching Her Own Channel

Lee Rogers
Daily Stormer
October 4, 2017

Susan Wojcicki is the Jewish CEO of YouTube. She is very attractive by Jewish standards.

If you are not familiar with Susan Wojcicki you should be. She is the Jewish woman responsible for destroying YouTube.

When Google first purchased YouTube, there was concern that they would eventually wreck the format that made the site enjoyable. As we now know, this was a very legitimate concern. Google has wrecked it by putting this awful woman in charge of the platform. The site keeps getting progressively worse with her at the helm.

YouTube like all the other big social media platforms, has gone out of their way to silence people who have opinions they dislike. They've done this through a wide variety of methods. Bans, shadow bans, claims of copyright infringement, age restrictions etc.. Their policy of demonetizing ads on channels that allegedly have "controversial content" has made it impossible for many content creators to make money off their hard work. These horrible policies have all been green lit by Wojcicki.

So with all the complaints that content creators have, the last thing you'd think Wojcicki would want to do is piss these people off further. After all, these people are the very backbone of what made YouTube successful. Amazingly, she managed to do just that by launching her own YouTube channel. The first video she uploaded is one of the most tone deaf and cringe worthy opening videos for a YouTube channel ever. It's horrible and you should immediately down vote it and leave a negative comment.

Video Link

The video shows a bunch of politically correct YouTubers offering her advice on how to make a good video. Let's just think about that for a second. Why does the CEO of YouTube need advice from people on how to make a good YouTube video? If she needs this advice, it's clear that she's not qualified to run the platform.

The video also features a cameo from Dwayne "The Rock" Johnson to show how cool she is or something. It's the most scripted, corporate crafted and fake nonsense one could imagine. Wojcicki only appears for a few seconds at the end telling viewers that she'll be uploading more videos in the future.

Needless to say, the video has been savaged by the YouTube community. At time of writing the video has around 8,000 likes compared to roughly 49,000 dislikes. That is not a good ratio. That's like female Ghostbusters tier stuff. Nearly all the comments have been negative. Many of them have asked why she is spending her time making a channel instead of fixing the horrible policies that have plagued the YouTube community. This is a very fair point and one that can't be reiterated enough.

A normal person would have uploaded a video to specifically address the numerous concerns and complaints that people have. I know if I were running a platform like this and saw that a big percentage of my users were pissed off, I'd want to address those concerns immediately so people would keep using my platform. You can't just upload a video like this and pretend like nothing is going on. It's like throwing gasoline on a raging fire.

Since this woman is a Jew, it is doubtful that these thoughts ever crossed her mind. She probably thinks that the people complaining are the problem because she as a Jew can never do wrong. This is how most Jews think. Destroying good things is something that comes natural to the Jew. It is why wrecking YouTube has come so naturally for Wojcicki.

One YouTube comment poster described Wojcicki as a dumpster fire. This is definitely an accurate description of this terrible woman. There are numerous interviews of her on YouTube and they all reveal that she has no business running anything remotely close to the size of YouTube. She's a very stupid woman who doesn't even have any particular background or expertise in technology. The only reason she's in this position is because of her Jewish family connections. Her brother in law is Sergey Brin one of the Jews who co-founded Google.

There's no question that Wojcicki is going to make YouTube an increasingly miserable place for content creators. This stunt with her new YouTube channel is proof of it. She's one of the main reasons why so many people refer to YouTube as JewTube.

CBS Jewish Media Executive Celebrates Las Vegas Shooting

Eric Striker

October 2, 2017

Jews can hardly contain their groans of ecstasy over the Mandalay Bay shooting.

Hanukkah's come early this year!

LA Times:

> CBS Corp. fired a vice president in business affairs Monday for comments she made on social media regarding the mass shooting at a country music festival in Las Vegas.

Hayley Geftman-Gold, wrote on her Facebook page that she was not sympathetic to victims of the shooting because, she claimed, most country music fans are Republican.

Geftman-Gold also wrote: "If they wouldn't do anything when children were murdered I have no hope that Repugs will ever do the right thing. I'm actually not even sympathetic bc country music fans often are Republican gun toters."

The comments were deleted but not before they were picked up on a number of right-wing blogs and websites. A petition was posted online that called for her firing.

While (((Leslie Moonves'))) white-hating CBS Corp. was forced to dismiss her, don't think for one second there aren't more media Jews echoing these very same sentiments in private. What makes Geftman-Gold remarkable is that she couldn't keep her cries of pleasure over seeing at least 50 (and growing) white people in cowboy hats get murdered off her social media page.

Some of the other (((fellow whites))) are using the incident in a more constructive fashion.

Stop saying that people calling for #GunControlNow are politicizing the Las Vegas shooting. This isn't about politics, it's about 50+ dead innocent people at the hands of a white American terrorist. It's about saving the lives of our children, brothers and sisters!

Jews Approve Genetic Test to Prove Jewishness

Diversity Macht Frei
October 2, 2017

Jews like to claim publicly that only Nazis consider Jewish identity to be racial and not religious. But anyone with any familiarity with Judaism or the culture that is spawned can see that at its heart lies an obsession with genetic purity, meaning that the prominent role Jews play in "anti-racist" activism is perhaps the most monstrous hypocrisy the world has ever seen.

The Eretz Hemdah Institute for Advanced Jewish Studies in Jerusalem has recently published a collection of responsa (Bemareh Habazak pt. 9), which rule, among other things, that it is possible to determine the Jewish status of a man or a woman based on a unique genetic test , makor Rishon reported Friday. Should this ruling be embraced by Israel's Chief Rabbinate, it would provide many olim from the former Soviet Union a valid means to prove their Jewish ancestry.

"Testing the Mitochondrial genome, which is transmitted exclusively through the female germ line, makes it possible to identify relatives," Rabbi Yosef Carmel, the Rabbinical Dean of the Eretz Hemdah, told Makor Rishon. "If it can be proven that a Jane Doe is the offspring of a Jewish mother, her own offspring would also be recognized as Jews (from birth)."

According to Rabbi Carmel, "some 40% of European Ashkenazi Jews carry a genetic mark that suggests they are the offspring of four mothers who immigrated to Europe from the Middle East a millennia ago. Chances are high, statistically speaking, that anyone able to prove that they are the offspring of those four mothers is Jewish according to halacha."

Rabbi Carmel explained that for the purpose of validating an individual's Jewish heritage a statistical probability is sufficient, rather than a "clear sign." In his view, once one has been identified as Jewish with this method, they are no longer required to go through a conversion process to become Jewish.

The ruling could resolve hundreds of thousands of pending cases in which olim to Israel from the former USSR are unable to prove their Jewish ancestry and even though they are eligible for an Israeli citizenship, the Chief Rabbinate would not recognize them as Jews for the purpose of marriage, burial, giving testimony, and a variety of additional endeavors that require one to be Jewish in Israel.

Jew Facebook CEO Mark Zuckerberg Asks Forgiveness for Dividing People

Lee Rogers
Daily Stormer
October 2, 2017

We don't forgive you for your shit website Mark!

If you've read any of my previous articles you'll understand that I am not a fan of the Jewish Facebook CEO Mark Zuckerberg. I think he is a very evil person. That is not hyperbole either. What sort of diabolical bastard would hire an army of thought police to manage and control every single word and sentence someone says on a social media website? It defeats the entire idea of what social media was alleged to be.

If Zuckerberg is stupid enough to run for President in 2020, I will personally follow him around the country and protest his public appearances. If he has a problem with this, I'd be happy to have further discussions with him at the Daily Stormer's international headquarters in Lagos, Nigeria. We can hold the meeting in the conference room we've named after Hitler.

All that aside, Zuckerberg is back in the news because he is asking people for forgiveness. If he thinks this stunt is going to spare him from the gas chamber he is sorely mistaken.

Recode:

> Mark Zuckerberg seemed to ask for forgiveness this weekend for the way that the platform he created, Facebook, was used by the Russians to influence the most recent presidential election.
> Zuckerberg, who is Jewish, said late on Saturday that as he celebrated Yom Kippur, the Jewish day of atonement, he was thinking about some of his sins in the previous year.
> "For those I hurt this year, I ask forgiveness and I will try to be better," he wrote on his personal Facebook page. "For the ways my work was used to divide people rather than bring us together, I ask forgiveness and I will work to do better."

The problem Zuckerberg has is that the leftists are mad at him over this Russia stuff where as many others like myself are mad at him for Big Brother censorship policies.

I personally will not forgive Zuckerberg for Facebook and there's lots of other people who agree with me. Facebook is the most horrible website on the tubes. The world would be better off if it were just deleted.

Video Link

It might seem hard to fathom now, but it would not surprise me if Facebook went the way of MySpace in the 2020s. MySpace was the original social media juggernaut and it faded out of mainstream use years ago.

People are tired of Facebook's thought policing and who the hell knows what they're doing with everyone's data. Based on what we already know about Zuckerberg and the other Jews who help him run it, we can assume that whatever they're doing isn't good.

If Zuckerberg does in fact decide to run for President, his campaign will create major problems for Facebook. Jewish Marxism is not all that popular or trendy right now. His potential run would be a public relations disaster for the site. Besides, Facebook seems to have already reached its peak and it can only go downhill from here. Why else would Zuckerberg be selling up to 75 million Facebook shares?

A parent and an advocate of a Caesar Rodney High School special needs student whose beating Tuesday was captured on cellphone video want to know why the school has not taken further action to protect the boy.

"The school is doing nothing, and they have suspended my son," said the mother of the 14-year-old boy who was beaten.

Both the mother and advocate, Diane Eastburn, said they will appeal the in-school suspension the boy received for using foul language.

Caesar Rodney School District officials said an investigation by both the school and Delaware State Police has resulted in disciplinary action and an arrest.

"Fights of this nature, while rare are unacceptable and are not tolerated in Caesar Rodney," said Kevin Fitzgerald, superintendent of the school district, in a written statement. "The District will continue to work hard to ensure the safety of our students."

Eastburn and the boy's mother agreed the pummeling and mascot incident were not related, but she said there is ongoing racial tension at the high school in Camden.

"There just seems to be some really bad undertones at that school right now," Eastburn said. Both the mother and Eastburn said the video is titled "White boy take down" on Oovoo, a video chat and messaging platform.

Juror Declares She Would Not Send a Black Man to Jail After He Killed White Girl

Joe Jones

Marlon Sewell, Victoria Nicodemus.

Gee, I wonder why a Black female juror wouldn't give a Black man who killed a White girl a proper trial.

Could it be in group preference and hatred to Whites?

New York Post:

A juror who declared — after the first day of a vehicular manslaughter case — that she would not "send a black man to jail," caused a mistrial Thursday in the case of an African-American man who crashed his car into a young art curator, killing her.

A fellow juror said she overheard Juror No. 3 mutter, "I won't send a black man to jail, that's crazy," as she left court after the first day of father-of-six Marlon Sewell's trial in Brooklyn, which started on Sept. 11.

But Juror 8 didn't say anything until Thursday — three weeks in and after three full days of deliberations that got so heated because of the biased juror's obstinateness that she fainted in the jury room a day earlier — because she thought the middle-aged woman would ultimately change her stance and keep a fair and open mind.

Juror 8 — who told reporters that she and another panelist heard the utterance — as well as Juror 3 and Sewell are all black.

"This person was just creating so much conflict in this room," Juror 8 said after the panel was released. "I couldn't take it, I fainted. And started trembling and crying."

NBC:

Tyreq Kaylin Tilghman, of Waldorf, Maryland, was sentenced to 58 years in prison for the murder of 18-year-old Mason Atkins and an assault on Nicholas Brennan.

"Tilghman took his brother's gun out of a safe, then took the gun to a party, then gets out of a car with the gun, then kills somebody and almost kills somebody else," he said, according to a statement from Charles County officials. "He made the choice to fire that gun at point blank range into a defenseless Mason Atkins. Tilghman needs to be held accountable for the life he senselessly took and that means spending as much of his life in jail as the statutes allows."

Kevin Averell Jones, 19, of Waldorf, was sentenced to seven years in the second-degree assault of Brennan.

Talivah Laraih Salahuddin and Shanya Imari Milstead, who were both 17 at the time of the shooting, were both sentenced to a 10-year period of incarceration with all of the time suspended except for the time they had served prior to sentencing in the second-degree assault of Brennan.

All four teens had previously been charged with murder in the death of Atkins.

Before Atkins was killed, he and several friends went uninvited to an outdoor party on Mona Farm Place in La Plata, police said. They were asked to leave, and drove about a half-mile away, toward Crain Highway (Route 301).

Then, Atkins and his friends stopped their car on the side of the dirt road and the four suspects drove past them, police said. That group also had been asked to leave the party. They began to argue, police said.

The suspects began hitting Atkins and his friends, who sprayed the suspects with pepper spray to try to get them away, police said.

Tilghman then pulled out a handgun and fired several shots into the car, hitting Atkins and Brennen, police said.

The jury unanimously named Morris Brickle-Hicks guilty of Misty Coffelt's murder.

Police found Coffelt's body between pallets behind Runnings in Bismarck on April 14, 2016. The state medical examiner William Massello then conducted the autopsy on the 15th.

Massello said on Wednesday that there was more than one impact to Coffelt's face, forehead, and chin. Gruesome photographs where shown in the courtroom on Wednesday of Coffelt's bruised body, face and brain.

Twenty witnesses took the stand in the trial including friends of the accused, of the victim, officers, and medical examiners.

Kyle Slickle from The North Dakota state crime lab said Wednesday that they received the evidence to be tested on April 27, 2016. He said the blood swab tested from Brickle-Hicks shoe matched Coffelt's.

In most cases of coalburners being beaten, burned, stabbed, shot, or any number of other harms done to them you can really only blame the fact that they were dating a savage.

In this case, you can understand the motive a bit better since this Black was burning a cheating whore.

In a sane society this still wouldn't have happened though.

WBTW:

According to Major Mike Nunn with the Florence County Sheriff's Office, deputies are looking for 32-year-old Charles Durell Nethercutt, of Florence. A warrant for attempted murder was issued for Nethercutt after he allegedly tried to kill his wife. Deputies say Nethercutt poured gasoline on his wife and set her on fire on Sept. 19.

The report states that deputies were called to the home on Longfellow Drive and found the victim being treated for severe burns to her arms, torso, legs and feet. At the time, the victim was conscious and alert and was able to tell investigators that the husband accused her of cheating on him before he doused her in gasoline and lit her on fire.

The incident report also says the suspect left before officials arrived and took the couple's 1-year-old child with him. Wednesday, Major Nunn confirmed that the child was no longer with the suspect, but would not release where the baby was.

Nethercutt is described as a black man, approximately 6 tall, weighing about 230 pounds with black hair and brown eyes.

Never tell them to shut up though unless you're ready to have a pack of ferals descend on you faster than you can blink.

CBS:

A Lakewood mother was hospitalized after she was assaulted outside a movie theater.

It happened Tuesday night at the Century 16 Belmar theater. Heather Piper went to a movie with a couple friends where a small group of teens was allegedly "acting out of control."

"They were crawling over seats and yelling," Piper said. "I asked them to be quiet several times and they wouldn't and I finally yelled at them to 'shush.'"

Despite her attempts to quiet the three teenagers, Piper said the group continued to act inappropriately. That's when another movie-goer got a security guard to come into the theater and the teens behaved. Yet, when Piper left the theater with her friends, one of the raucous teens confronted her.

"She was screaming and just punched me on the side of the head," Piper said.

"I said, 'What are you doing? What's wrong with you?' And she lost it. She started hitting me again and then started crying saying, 'Well you called me ghetto,'" Piper said.

St Louis: Negro Assaults Random White Woman in Broad Daylight

Eric Striker
Daily Stormer
October 2, 2017

The ideological guidebook of our Judenpresse holds that there are two types of crimes in Weimerica.

The first category is "hate crimes." These incidents are plugged into every mass communication vein and drip anti-white venom into the population of already mentally unstable sexual deviants and blacks. This is interpreted (as intended) by many blacks as calls for "retaliation" against whites as a race. They usually turn out to be hoaxes and anti-white blood libels done for money or, when it's Jews, cheap political capital to utilize in Washington. When the truth comes out the stories disappear without retraction or apology.

The second category is "hide crimes." These are real incidents where blacks commit acts of murder, rape or aggravated assault against random whites. This violence happens daily and is often motivated by race, at least as a periphery motive. Jews in the mainstream media make sure to hide these crimes, because if more white people actually knew what was actually going on across America they would rise up. Out of sight, out of mind!

In the case of this "hide crime," a white person jogged past a Kang in St Louis and forgot to genuflect before him.

Fox 2:

> A jogger simply running her normal route in the Central West End is punched by a stranger who then took off himself.
> The victim, a woman in her 30's, has a black eye and some swelling. While the punch shook her emotionally, it didn't knock her down. She wanted to share her warning, but asked that we not share her name for her protection.
> "I was walking south, he was walking north and at the very last second he stepped in front of me and just clocked me as hard as he could," the victim said. "I want people to be aware. Just because it's daylight doesn't mean you're safe," she added.
> According to St. Louis Police, the attack happened Thursday at 5:15p.m. near Newstead and Laclede.

Niggers do this to white elderly, white disabled, white females and other physically defenseless people every day in the USA, yet they are the ones that act like they're being victimized.

The female victim gives me a strong liberal vibe. What other type of white woman would see a random 30-something negro and smile at him instead of crossing the street?

Wealthy white women in their 20s and 30s love leftism, being single, moving to wastelands like St Louis and jogging. Lumpen nigs in their 20s and 30s love luring them, raping them, killing them and stealing their iPhones.

A match made in…St Louis!

Next time remind him that you're actually allies against the white patriarchy. He must've felt objectified by your "white gaze" on "black bodies."

The blaze that damaged a Minneapolis duplex Thursday morning also left Wyndale Fayson, 32, with third-degree burns on his hands, according to a source.

PreviousNext The source said Fayson returned to the duplex on the 2900 block of Taylor Street Northeast early Thursday. Police received a call between 6:30 and 6:45 a.m. from a neighbor who lived downstairs. That neighbor said the woman could be heard screaming, and the neighbor believed Fayson was back in her apartment attacking her.

Shortly thereafter, neighbors observed the woman run from the apartment engulfed in flames.

The source said the woman originally called police between 3 and 3:30 a.m. Thursday to report a domestic violence situation. But when officers arrived, they could not find Fayson and left the scene.

When authorities arrived at the fire, they found the woman badly burned across the street, police said.

The woman was transported in critical condition to Hennepin County Medical Center, where she later died, Minneapolis police confirmed Thursday afternoon.

Canada: Syrian Refugee from Somalia Drives Two Different Vehicles of Peace Through Edmonton

Joe Jones
Daily Stormer
October 2, 2017

As is standard procedure, the CBC has not shared a picture of the innocent refugee so as to not incite racial violence.

Some racists may say that this is an indicator that these third-world Moslems being imported into Canada are violent savages pushing a genocide.

These racists don't understand these attacks were inspired by Charlottesville and the protesters inability to dodge the Dodge.

Those same racists will also be receiving a knock on their door from the RCMP before being brought to a reeducation camp for violation of M-103.

CBC:

Abdulahi Hasan Sharif, the Somali refugee said to have committed suspected terrorist attacks in Edmonton late Saturday, kept a low profile in the city's Somali community.

CBC News conducted numerous interviews with members of Edmonton's Somali and broader Muslim communities but no one appeared to know Sharif.

The 30-year-old's name triggered no recognition but the acts he is suspected of perpetrating were unanimously condemned.

"This individual has no place in our community," Ahmed "Knowmadic" Ali wrote in a statement Sunday on behalf of the Edmonton Somali community.

"We are your neighbours, co-workers and police officers and we stand strongly beside you in condemning this violence and mourning its effect on the community."

See you evil racists? All of this Somalians kinsmen are condemning him! Taqiya is a conspiracy theory.

Around 8:15 p.m. Saturday near Commonwealth Stadium, an Edmonton police officer was struck by a Chevrolet Malibu while working crowd control for a CFL game.

Const. Mike Chernyk, standing behind a barricade when he was hit, was sent flying into the air. A man got out of the Malibu and attacked Chernyk with a knife before fleeing on foot.

More than three hours later, a white U-Haul van was pulled over at a checkstop on the city's north side. A police officer recognized the driver's name as similar to the name of the registered owner of the car that had struck the officer earlier.

The U-Haul then sped off toward downtown Edmonton, where streets were filled with Saturday night bar crowds and football fans. Pursued by police, the van struck and injured four pedestrians.

Edmonton police Chief Rod Knecht confirmed that a black ISIS flag was seized from a car where the police officer was attacked.

"He would rant," the former co-worker said. He didn't want to be identified out of concern for his safety.

"It was very incoherent. He would just bounce from idea to idea, tangent to tangent, just about what he believed in and he definitely had genocidal beliefs, you could say."

The only solution to this is more integration courses and reeducation camps for racists, which almost certainly caused this attack.

There he is – old Pauly Paul. "Paul the Cocksucker" they call him.

Pauly "I'll Suck on You Cock" Ryan.

> "I didn't know what a bump stock was until this week," Ryan said, according to the paper. "A lot of us are coming up to speed....Having said that, fully automatic weapons have been outlawed for many, many years. This seems to be a way of going around that, so obviously we need to look how we can tighten up the compliance with this law so that fully automatic weapons are banned."

We need to look into how to ban you, you freedom-hating cocksucker.

This is the real tragedy – no more freedoms, because the people who are supposed to defend our freedoms can't get the Jewish cocks out of their mouths to do anything other than keep on sucking.

Buy as many bump stocks as you can, but keep it off paper (LEGALLY OFF PAPER). The last thing you want is to be on a list of guys who stockpiled bump stocks.

Jew YouTube Changes Site's Search Algorithm to Censor Views They Dislike

Lee Rogers
Daily Stormer
October 6, 2017

YouTube is adopting all sorts of horrible policies because it is run by Jews.

The Jew run video sharing site YouTube has gone on record to admit that they are actively censoring independent analysis of news and current events. They've admitted to changing the site's search algorithm to censor points of view that are not approved by YouTube management. In other words, they are going out of their way to censor viewpoints not approved by Jews.

WSJ:

YouTube this week surfaced videos peddling misinformation, hateful messages and conspiracy theories to users tracking major news events—prompting the site to change its search results to promote more authoritative sources.

For example, the fifth result when searching "Las Vegas shooting" on YouTube late Tuesday yielded a video titled "Proof Las Vegas Shooting Was a FALSE FLAG attack—Shooter on 4th Floor." The video said there were multiple shooters in Sunday's mass shooting, a claim dismissed by law enforcement. Posted by a channel called the End Times News Report, it amassed more than 1.1 million views in about 27 hours.

The fourth result when searching "NFL anthem protest" on Wednesday was a video that claimed Anheuser-Busch InBev NV was considering pulling its sponsorship of the National Football League over national anthem protests—and urged viewers to push the company to do so. The claim had been widely debunked days before.

In response to criticism on social media of some search results this week, a person familiar with YouTube said the company is accelerating the rollout of planned changes to its search engine. On Wednesday night, the video service began promoting more authoritative sources in search results, especially pertaining to major news events, the person said. YouTube doesn't disclose how it determines which sources are authoritative.

A social media site loses credibility when it abandons its neutrality. YouTube has done this in spades over the past couple of years. This latest move is particularly troubling.

They say that they are promoting more authoritative sources but are refusing to disclose how they determine which sources are considered to be authoritative. It's an entirely insane policy. Whose to say what is authoritative and what isn't? This should be a matter for the users on YouTube to decide. After all, users can up vote or down vote videos and leave comments. There's no reason for YouTube management to be deciding what views are valid and what views aren't.

What they are effectively doing is censoring views that they dislike. No matter how crazy, false or insane a viewpoint might be perceived, it is ridiculous to adjust the site's entire search algorithm to make it less likely that someone would find a specific type of content. Each video covering news, current events or any other topic should be treated no different than any other by the search engine. It shouldn't matter if the video is uploaded by ABC News or some guy in his basement that wears tinfoil on his head. All content should be treated equally with its validity debated in the court of public opinion. The term "content neutrality" is something any viable social media site should be forced to adopt.

Basically what YouTube is doing is favoring content from the big Jewish run media outlets promoting "official narratives" over independent content creators. There's no other way to interpret this move. It's the latest in a long line of retarded policies implemented by this horrible Jew run website.

And here's the horrible horse faced Jewish woman Susan Wojcicki who runs YouTube. Do you honestly think she gives a damn about the free exchange of ideas? It's obvious that this concept is alien to her entire being.

"Why the long face?" – "It's because I'm a horsefaced kike."

No – nevermind Conan.

You don't need to be Conan.

You need to have lean muscle mass. You need to be ready to move swiftly and comfortably.

We aren't going to be fighting with swords, we're going to be fighting with guns. So you just need to be fit. Not beastly strong.

You also need to be sexy. That is key here.

The age of ultraviolence is coming.

And you want whatever parts of your corpse are visible on the ground to look good.

You also want to have banged as many top-shelf thots as possible before your mutilated corpse lay on a sidewalk or in a field somewhere.

Clown World: College Feminist Party Campaigns on Free Play-Doh and Legos

"I'm a STEM student – AND a feminist!"

Universities, ever since they've been put into a position where they basically have to accept anybody that's applying, have turned into Mickey-mouse nonsense institutions. Most people studying in college today are learning about some variant of critical theory, gender theory, psychobabble and other absurdities thought up by Jews.

For a long time, though, the STEM fields (science, technology, engineering and mathematics) have been a safe haven of sanity.

But even they must eventually fall.

Slowly corrupted by feminism and other SJW ideas, even the venerated STEM programs are now filling up with airheads, rabid feminists and all sorts of brown people with a chip on their shoulder.

As such, even engineering schools are now starting to look more like kindergartens full of dumb kids rather than austere institutions of learning.

Michael Shamma and Riya Desai, who together are running as "The STEMinists," hope to become the Class President and Vice President of the freshmen class at Columbia School of Engineering and Applied Science (SEAS), the undergraduate school of engineering at Columbia.

"Do you want Legos, Bubble Wrap, and Play-Doh?," asks their campaign flyer, which is posted around campus. "If so, vote for the STEMinists."

Desai and Shamma, both freshmen who met through a mutual friend, vow to help students enjoy a "fun and memorable time" at Columbia by hosting de-stress events involving games and toys, so long as they are "academically relevant."

What games and toys are "academically relevant" to studying molecular biology, electrical engineering or computer science?

I mean, everyone needs to relax once in a while. But you can't learn serious topics like the ones mentioned above without studying at least 3 hours a day, everyday, for a few years.

People who are obsessed with having a "good time" while in college have no chance of making it. That's why STEM programs have traditionally been almost entirely composed of White males and Asians.

Desai, who hails from Cleveland, Ohio, told Campus Reform that while the STEMinists didn't originate with feminist intentions, they're still oriented towards women's empowerment.

"Our name STEMinists came from the face that we are all engineers. We all take STEM courses," Desai explained. "Many people thought it was a play on feminism, and so it wasn't intentionally meant to be, but now looking at it, there's a lot more women in engineering."

If elected, the duo hopes to sponsor events partially focused on feminism, but mostly focused on having fun , Desai added, saying, "We really want to reach out to the freshmen class, and let them know that school has a fun side to it. We will, as a party, promise to create a fun environment."

Learning quantum physics, one ball at a time.

Here's an insight that could save your life some day: if you ever come across a bridge that was designed by one of these "play-doh, feminism and fun" STEM students, don't cross it.

We might be the last generation that enjoys the benefits of reliable technology and infrastructure. I don't know what the iPhone 11 will look like, but I'm pretty sure the iPhone 25 will be made out of legos and styrofoam wrap, as that's apparently what these new STEM kids are using to "build their projects."

Colbert Asks Simian Journalist About the Joys of White Genocide

One of the least funny men in television history, Stephen Colbert, seems to have gone full-whore for his Jewish Media Overlords.

This is not surprising. He's always been a lefty, and with no weapons to speak of in his comedic arsenal other than a ham-handed snark impersonation of Bill O'Reilly (a character he milked until it's udders bled) he has little to nothing left to offer in terms of actual humor or entertainment value.

Daily Caller:

> Late night host Stephen Colbert asked guest Ta-Nehisi Coates Monday whether there would be more hope in America "as white people become the minority."
> Colbert asked Coates, "I'm not asking you to make sh*t up. I'm asking you if you personally see any chance for change in America?"
> "Maybe, maybe," Coates answered. "I would have to make sh*t up to actually answer that question in a satisfying way."
> Colbert then said, "What about the changing demographics in America? We have a constitutional system, democracy itself–while not rubber is plastic–and as the demographics change, as white people become the minority in the country which is coming, do you see a chance for?"
> Coates interrupted, "Your question presumes there is a static definition of whiteness and this is the first time there's been demographic change before..."

It is good that these people are either so comfortable in their cultural hegemony, or so unhinged at the rise of nationalism in America, or most likely both, that they are openly discussing our demise as a people and the inevitable tyranny that will come down on Whites as a result.

It's even better that they discuss this as though it is inevitable and a thing to be celebrated.

Why is this so great?

Because it strikes at the heart of the Jewish narrative that has been fed to White conservatives for many decades now. Mainly, that America is not a distinct nation with a distinct people, but a giant "melting pot" where everything gets thrown in and mixed up until we have this massive brown blob of a populace, and then everything will be flowers and rainbows and pretty ponies.

It strikes further into the Jewish narrative that White conservatives have been feeding themselves, both for the purpose of virtue signaling, but more importantly, to salve their own fears about what is to come – that it doesn't matter whether the country turns brown or not, so long as the new brown people all come here legally, are pro-gun, and love the Constitution.

Video Link

Sorry Alex, but American Nationalism is once again on the rise. As it rises, you can either admit what is actually happening, or you can stick to your color blind blathering sprinkled between ads for penis juice.

But no one is going to listen to this nonsense much longer.

No matter how willfully blind the great masses of White American Conservatives have been when it comes to matters of race, even they will see the writing on the wall when the left continues to celebrate our loss of any political capital in every White nation.

When they do, most of them will join us. The rest will get out of the way.

HAIL VICTORY!

Tom Petty Dead at 66

Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer
October 3, 2017

I generally enjoy celebrating the deaths of celebrities, because the cult of celebrity is something I am personally and philosophically opposed to.

But Tom Petty didn't really do anything bad, did he?

I mean, there was a lot of better music being made in the 80s and 90s. But Petty didn't do anything specifically destructive to Western civilization, I don't think.

BBC:

> When Tom Petty and the Heartbreakers released their first album in 1976, few could have imagined they would become one of America's biggest touring bands.
> They were a scrappy, gritty garage band – initially lumped in with the punk and New Wave scenes.
> But Petty, the son of a Florida insurance man, had an uncanny knack for melody > that turned the band into one of the biggest acts of the 1980s.

> Songs like Free Fallin', Running Down A Dream and American Girl (the final track on that debut album) have become rock standards.
> They're so integral to the fabric of popular music that Sam Smith unintentionally lifted the melody for I Won't Back Down on his breakthrough single, Stay With Me.
> Ever the gentleman, Petty refused to take Smith to court, and declared he had "no hard feelings" towards the British star.
> "All my years of songwriting have shown me these things can happen. Most times you catch it before it gets out the studio door but in this case it got by."
> He was eventually given a co-writing credit on the song.

There were a whole lot worse people than Tom Petty.

I mean, he wasn't really trying to hurt anyone, was he?

He was just trying to sing superficial feelgood music at a time when…maybe there was a little bit too much of that already.

But you know. I think he maybe tried to put in a little bit more than the rest of them did.

These are the ones I remember most, personally.

Besides the obvious ones, I mean.

Jews and Communists Demand More Gun Control After Las Vegas Shooting Rampage

Lee Rogers
Daily Stormer
October 6, 2017

Instead of banning guns, we need to ban Jews!

Jews and their Communist allies have come out in full force demanding restrictions on guns after the recent shooting rampage in Las Vegas. This is the typical childlike response we see from these people every time a major gun related incident occurs. These vermin are trying to use this incident to push for additional gun control laws that make it more difficult for White people to legally defend themselves.

There is of course no evidence that gun control laws prevent gun related deaths. They certainly wouldn't have prevented what happened in Las Vegas. In fact, there's much more evidence indicating that gun control laws make the problem worse. The reason being is that if you make it more difficult for law abiding people to own guns, the only people who will have guns are criminals. The average person becomes a sitting duck. Plus, having stringent gun control laws in places around Europe has not prevented mass shootings. These are just objective facts.

If we really wanted to reduce gun violence there's a few tangible things that could be done. The first of which is to look at the groups of people who commit the most crimes with guns. An analysis of this data indicates that Blacks, Moslems and other non-Whites commit the most violent gun crimes on a percentage basis. Therefore, it would be common sense to remove these racial groups from the country. That in of itself would drastically reduce gun crime.

Blacks can't stop shooting one another in places like Chicago and other cities. It is a racially driven phenomenon.

There is also the phenomenon of a small number of White males who have gone on shooting rampages. This phenomenon appears to be a societal issue stemming from White males who have been forced to grow up and live in a Jewish controlled society. This Jewish run culture has been psychologically damaging to all of us. It has caused widespread alienation, disenfranchisement and anger. Combine that with all the pharmaceutical drug prescriptions and you have a toxic combination that leads certain White males to lash out in violence.

In the past, we never saw all these crazy rampage shootings and there were none of these crazy gun control laws. Back in the 1950s you could order a gun by mail order. It was much easier to obtain guns back then but we did not see any of these crazy rampage shootings. This indicates that new gun control laws are not the solution. What we didn't have in the 1950s was the over prescription of drugs and this insane Jewish culture like we have now. Things were much closer to the natural order of things with normal gender roles and strong family structures. Going back towards the natural order would go a long way in helping mitigate this aspect of gun violence.

None of these things are being seriously discussed in the media because the media itself is controlled by Jews. Instead, the entire debate about what should be done centers around passing new laws and pushing nonsense that will do nothing to solve the problem. All of this talk we are hearing about with banning bump stocks is dumb. It's a totally reactive approach to the situation. Sadly, it is being given lip service by the National Rifle Association and Republican politicians. They should be totally against this ban.

As many of you are already aware, Jews have been the primary force behind gun control over the past several decades. That should tell you all you need to know about gun control. I am a firm believer in the Second Amendment and oppose any and all attempts to water it down through this kikery we are seeing.

Video Link

And even if you address the problems I mentioned above, there will never be 100 percent safety. Living life is dangerous and all of us will die at some point. To pretend that we can make the world some type of safe space where nothing bad ever happens is one of the most insane and delusional fantasies imaginable. No law is going to change this fact.

But yes, banning Jews and their subhu-man pets would go much further to solving this problem of gun violence than banning guns. They're the root cause of the policies that have created this insane situation.

A Universal Nation is No Nation at All

Diversity Macht Frei
October 6, 2017

A key element of the genocide being inflicted on us is the ceaseless effort by Jews to get us to accept a definition of our own peoplehood that is abstract and deracinated from our ancestral identity. If you want to be truly [insert name of European people here], you have to consent to your own extinction, the argument runs. If you want to be fully [XXX], you have to agree to stop being [XXX]. Our peoplehood is defined by Jews in ways that make it unsustainable.

Here we have a pristine example of this diabolical genre of hate discourse, from neo-con (((David Brooks))) of the New York Times. Of course, he casts it in terms of American exceptionalism, but Jews in France make the same argument in terms of French exceptionalism, and Jews in Britain in terms of British exceptionalism, and so on. In every country created by ethnic Europeans, Jews contrive to find some "unique" reason why the people of that country must allow brown people to colonise them.

> The Trump story is that good honest Americans are being screwed by aliens. Regular Americans are being oppressed by a snobbish elite that rigs the game in its favor. White Americans are being invaded by immigrants who take their wealth and divide their culture. Normal Americans are threatened by an Islamic radicalism that murders their children.
> This is a tribal story. The tribe needs a strong warrior in a hostile world. We need to build walls to keep out illegals, erect barriers to hold off foreign threats, wage endless war on the globalist elites.
> Somebody is going to have to arise to point out that this is a deeply wrong and unAmerican story. The whole point of America is that we are not a tribe. We are a universal nation, founded on universal principles, attracting talented people from across the globe, active across the world on behalf of all people who seek democracy and dignity.

A universal nation is not and can never be a nation. It can only ever be the passive, powerless reflection of the world that surrounds it. And if we cast our eyes across the world, we see that it is overwhelmingly violent, poor, miserable and unfree. This is the world the misnamed people of colour have created. Neither their societies, their hair, their eyes or their skin pigmentation are colourful or diverse. All are simply variations on a ugly theme of brown, the colour of mud. Europeans, on the other hand, with their blonde hair, blue and green eyes and red-tinted cheeks, are the real people of colour. In a harsh world, their ancestors created societies that are enduring oases of peace, decency, prosperity and freedom. Universalising these nations, therefore, can only mean immersing them in a swamp of failed humanity; it is a degradation not an upgrade.

It is worth reflecting on the etymological roots of the word nation. It derives from the Latin natio, meaning birth, people, race, cognate of natus (born). So the element of birth is at the root of the idea of nationhood. And not birth in a place, either. If we trace the evolving use of the word nation across time, we can see that originally meant something like a tribe or a people of common descent, disconnected from the place where they resided.

One of the earliest textual affirmations of nationalism is the Declaration of Arbroath, issued during the Scottish Wars of Independence (Braveheart). Here is an extract:

> Most Holy Father and Lord, we know and from the chronicles and books of the ancients we find that among other famous nations our own, the Scots, has been graced with widespread renown. They journeyed from Greater Scythia by way of the Tyrrhenian Sea and the Pillars of Hercules, and dwelt for a long course of time in Spain among the most savage tribes, but nowhere could they be subdued by any race, however barbarous.

The key point here is that the Scots were considered a "nation" even before they had reached Scotland. The nation was the people, not the place. Only over time has nation lost the meaning of tribal belonging and accreted the meaning of place, to the point where, in the modern world, most people regard the words nation, country and state as being synonymous.

In the West, only two major groups today continue to use the word nation in its original sense of a deterritorialised tribe: Muslims and Jews. Jews will sometimes talk about the themselves as a nation, not referring to Israel specifically, but to the dispersed collectivity of Jews around the world. Muslims convey the same meaning with the Arabic word Ummah, which also means nation.

But the Jews deny us the right to the ancestral identity they arrogate to themselves.

In place of tribal unity, the Jew offers us a soulless economism; and an exhortation for Americans to disconnect from their European heritage.

> The Republican Party was founded as a free labor party. It believed in economic diversity, cultural cohesion and national greatness.

...The Republican Party is supposed to be the party that stokes dynamism by giving everybody the chance to venture out into the frontier of their own choosing – with education reform that encourages lifelong learning, with entitlement reform that spends less on the affluent elderly and more on the enterprising young families, with regulatory reform that breaks monopolies and rules that hamper start-ups, with tax reform that creates a fair playing field, with immigration reform that welcomes the skilled and the hungry.

It may be dormant, but this striving American dream is still lurking in every heart. It's waiting for somebody who has the guts to say no to tribe, yes to universal nation, no to fences, yes to the frontier, no to closed, and yes to the open future, no to the fear-driven homogeneity of the old continent and yes to the diverse hopefulness of the new one.

Throughout our civilisation, Jews have worked hard to expunge any lingering ethno-nationalist elements within what passes for Conservatism in mainstream politics (link), and offered us free-marketism instead. Open Borders and Open Markets are the twin poles of the consensus hammered out by Left and Right. It is the grievance inspired by these cosmpolite visions is that is fuelling populist insurgencies throughout the Eurosphere from Trump to Podemos. For the most part, the movements lack intellectual coherency. People feel the pain without grasping the root cause. The Alt Right must fill that gap with understanding.

Retards: 70% of Americans are Unaware Robots are Going to Take Their Jobs

Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer
October 5, 2017

A staggering 70% of Americans are so uninformed and terminally stupid that they are unaware that robots are going to revolutionize the entire economy and take most of their jobs.

I have no idea who these retards are, but I am shocked to learn of their existence.

If I had to guess, they are minorities and women, who are the two stupidest groups in America.

And those numbers add up: whites are about 60% of the US population, and half of those are men.

As if we needed more reasons, this study alone is reason enough to completely remove all nonwhites from the country and relegate white women to the kitchen forever.

RT:

Most Americans fear robots taking jobs in industries such as construction and software development, but almost no-one seems to think their job is under threat.

That's according to the latest survey from Pew Research, the non-partisan US think tank, that found almost a third of more than 4,000 respondents were unconcerned by the rise of automation, with 72 percent taking a more negative view.

Amazingly, only 30 percent of those surveyed believe their jobs are in jeopardy from the apparently relentless rise of the machines.

"Workers in certain industries (such as hospitality and service, or retail) are more likely to view their jobs as being at risk compared with those in others (such as education)," the report read.

"But across a range of occupations, majorities of workers anticipate that their jobs or professions will not be impacted by automation to a significant degree."

The survey also revealed that 67 percent of people are worried about algorithms that can make hiring decisions without the involvement of a human supervisor.

There is, too, an even split between those who welcome self-driving cars and those who don't.

The Pew poll comes amid a period of intense focus on the future of the jobs market in the US and around the world.

In August, research into machine learning revealed that programs are mimicking society's inequality by discriminating against women and ethnic minorities.

And that right there is the best part of all of this.

"Equality" is nonscientific, based not simply on a misinterpretation of statistics, but an outright rejection of the concept of statistics.

"Everyone is an individual, therefore patterns of behavior cannot exist."

You tell that to a machine and it is going to say "lolwut."

Trying to program a false Jewish reality into an AI is probably completely impossible.

At least, Jews are trying very hard to do it, and it appears to be impossible.

RT:

Artificial intelligence programs designed to assess candidates for university places and bank loans may be inherently racist and sexist, according to technology experts.

Researchers believe that machine-learning algorithms, far from making the world more equitable, are now mimicking society's inequality by discriminating against women and ethnic minorities.

"This is beginning to come up a lot in areas like shortlisting people for jobs, insurance, loans – all those things," Noel Sharkey, Co-Director of the Foundation for Responsible Robotics, told the BBC's Today program.

Sharkey cited the example of research from Boston University in which an AI was trained to read Google News. When asked during a word association game, "man is to computer programmer what woman is to x", the computer replied "homemaker."

In order to make this work, you would have to feed huge amounts of false data into the machine, to the point where it would be incapable of distinguishing reality from fantasy, at which point the machine would be useless for anything objective and would be simply an SJW hugbot.

So, if all of the progressive programmers hit the wall trying to design such a creature, I guess everyone's job is safe.

Except manual laborers.

A self-driving truck or a box-stacking machine doesn't need to know that negroes are violent, stupid thieves or that human females exist for the sole purpose of perpetuating the species through breeding children and serving men as slaves.

Opinion: Theresa May Should Keep Her Filthy Fucking Whore Mouth Shut and Mind Her Own Goddamn Business

The highpoint of Theresa May's entire life is when she briefly met Alice Cooper.

The childless old whore Theresa May has come out in the wake of the Vegas massacre to politicize gun control in someone else's country.

It is this writer's opinion that this dried up old hag should keep her fucking mouth shut and mind her own goddamn business, rather than exploiting tragedy in a foreign land to push a political agenda on a foreign people.

Huffington Post:

British Prime Minister Theresa May on Tuesday expressed doubt that deadliest shooting in modern U.S. history will prompt America to act on gun reform.

"I think it's up to America what gun laws they put in place," she told ITV's "Good Morning Britain." "I think most people would look at this and assume that people in America would be so shocked by this attack that they would want to take some action."

But others, she added, "will take a different view."

They are our views, whatever they are. Not yours, Theresa.

And you would do well to shut the fuck up.

No one asked your stupid, childlike female input. Not even liberals in this country asked for it.

No one cares or is interested in your thoughts. You are not an important person. You are a stupid career bitch who is filling an affirmative action position because David Cameron bet the farm on Brexit.

I would rather ask a mutant baboon his opinion than you.

Get the fuck out of my country and out of my country's business.

We're doing just fine without you.

The Guns of Vegas

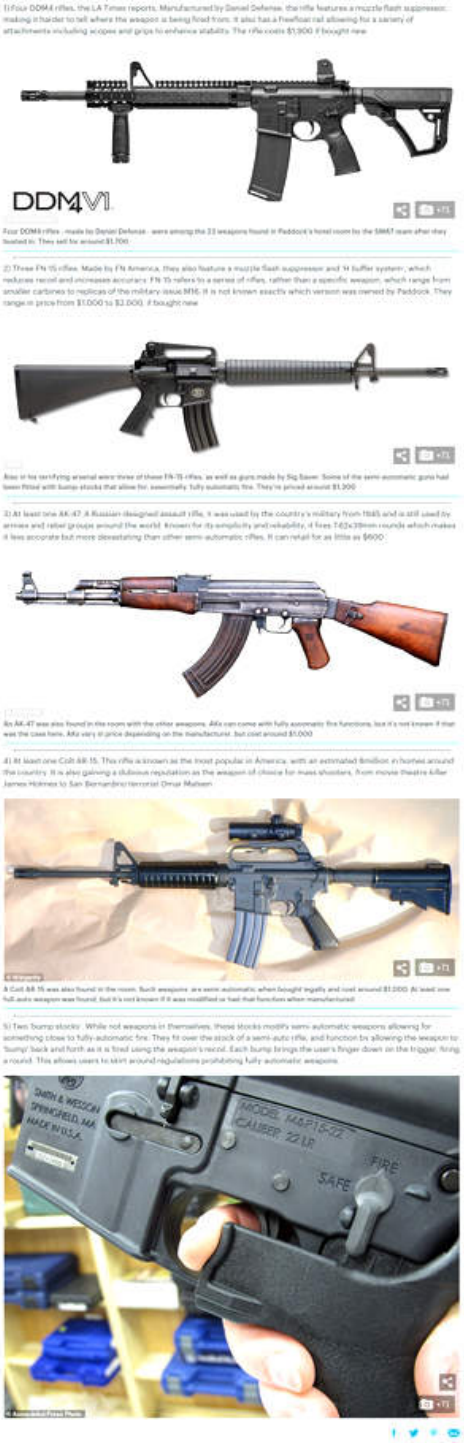
This is the official gun list – at least long gun list (there were also handguns) released by the cops.



I think this is probably not complete.

I think there were Eric Holder Fast and Furious guns involved, and they're going to try to cover that up.

I'm not a weapons expert, but from the weapons experts I've heard talk from, this was more than just modified rifles. There were fully auto rifles involved. And the only place those could have come from – short of waiting a year on a US government list – would be from the ones Obama-Holder sent across the border flowing back this way.

Why he would even have an AK-47 is extremely weird.

Anyway – get ready to have a full-cavity search by TSA and TAKE OFF YOUR SHOES next time you check into a high-rise hotel.

Because the only solution in situations like this is to take away freedoms.

GOP cucks are already using this as a reason to walk back pro-gun legislation.
