Publishing online since 2013, offline & Tor since 2017.

Stormer

Now in print because the (((internet))) is censorship!

The most censored publication in history

Vol. 28, 25 Feb–04 Mar 2018 Daily Stormer Sunday Edition Samizdat!

I know some of you are emotional or confused with the demands for public aesthetic standards as of late, so I need you all to understand just what is at stake here.

Do you know what the biggest pogrom in our lifetime is? The Cronulla riots. I want you to search Google images for "Cronulla riots" right now and scroll through the images. No Nazi LARPers, no weird obese people. These are normal people. Lots of Australian flags. This started by a few chads texting each other "hey mate let's go bash some leb cunts at the beach this weekend, tell all your mates." 5000 people showed up to systematically beat up foreigners. They chanted, "save nulla, fuck allah" the whole way. How many people do you think would have showed up if it was a bunch of obese costumed LARPers? This was appealing and viable because it was a group of normal people that wanted to defend their country, and more explicitly, their local beach where they wanted to enjoy their women.

I want pogroms. I want the people that took my country away from me taught a lesson they'll never forget. I can only get that if this is something that normal people are involved in. If you make it something that a bunch of costumed freaks are involved in, all you'll get is fat goons enacting their costumed cowboy and Indian fantasy games with antifa. Do you understand what that means? People who dress up in funny outfits in the public square are fetishists. They are no different than furries. They think that having dress up playtime is more important than us getting an uprising of white men retaking their lands.

People that think their fetishes are more important than winning are just another class of adversary. If you see someone playing a costume fetish, call him a goddamned queer and bully him until he ceases his aberrant behavior. If you know guys that hang around with costumed freakshows, ask them why they are hanging around those goddamned queers. I am sick of seeing these people excused for their public degeneracy. If you want to troll on the Internet with memes, great, but if you want to engage in action in the streets, look like a working class American or a professional, not some Marxist or street thug.

It is quite clear that if your street movement appeals to normal people, you can get a mass movement very quickly. Cronulla happened in a week. If you appear to weirdos, you'll only have a few costumed freaks, and all this stuff is gonna end.

Follow Andrew Anglin on GAB for the latest news and site updates: https://gab.ai/AndrewAnglin

Sections

1. Featured Stories 3
2. World 29
3. United States 50
4. Jewish Problem 69
5. Race War 82
6. Society 89
7. Insight 96

Surface web: `dailystormer.name` Deep web: `dstormer6em3i4km.onion`

The Daily Stormer is non-profit and 100% reader-supported. We do what we do because we are attempting to preserve Western Civilization. We do it out of love.

Because the website and this Sunday Edition are not monetized, we require contributions from readers to pay the expenses involved.

PayPal (and everything else known to man) has banned this site and me as an individual person from using their services, so right now all we have is bitcoin.

Daily Stormer's Bitcoin address:

19m9yEChBSPuzCzEMmg1dNbPvdLdWA59rS

Sunday Edition BTC: `1NsNmzzXtqiZ4YStnYWaEgCauWBGBs2iqB`

I'd you fight in Alex "Jonestown Massacre"'s war of extermination, you get an unlimited supply of dick juice.

His only rule is that he gets to slap every niggers ass.

—Andrew Anglin

Featured Stories

Critical Update on Stormer Book Clubs

Azzmador and Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer
March 4, 2018

The Stormer Book Club project is moving full steam ahead. In a little over three weeks, we have solidified fourteen Clubs, and more coming to us to be vetted and trained to start their own club.

We have a listing service that is on Gab, and it follows all SBCs. If any organization calls itself a Stormer Book Club, and is not on this list, it is not an SBC. That doesn't necessarily mean they are pulling something shady. Some are, but there are a few groups out there calling themselves Stormer Book Clubs that started when Andrew Anglin first rolled out the idea.

This is a totally new type of activist organization, and is set up to be decentralized, so it was originally thought that we would be able to just have people sign up on the BBS and do their thing, and we could set some guidelines and all would be well.

But that was not the case. We discovered that to do this properly, the chapters would need to be started off right, with the right people. A program needed to be developed, and we needed some hard and fast rules and guidelines, as well as set up a program of vetting prospective chapters, and for chapters to vet new members.

There also needed to be a uniform.

We now have all these things. I have been working with DFW Stormers for over a year, and running everything by Andrew Anglin, and we have beta tested everything. We have everything you need to get your chapter running and attract new members, as well as experience with IRL activism. We also have a private forum for all the clubs, which the members really enjoy.

So now, onto the next phase.

The Book Club section of the BBS is being taken down. There are several reasons for this. It turns out that, even under the best of circumstances, the BBS is just not a good platform for organizing these things. It is only semi-private, at best, and the OPs of book club threads can't moderate the threads, so if someone posts something in them that isn't appropriate, a mod has to be called in and likely there's plenty of time for the wrong person to see it or screencap it.

Furthermore, despite having been told to never do it, people have posted private information in these meetup threads which had led to security problems.

So here's the plan:

If you want to get involved with Stormer Book Clubs, check the Listing Service on Gab, and if there's already one in your area, go to their page and contact them via the email in their bio. If there's not one listed, contact DFW Stormers at dfwstormers@protonmail.com and tell them you want to help start a chapter in your town and you're ready to be vetted.

This is the only way you can become a member, or be an Official Stormer Book Club.

If you have a meetup group from the old forum, and you want to become a recognized club, you need to go through the process. We are standardizing, and creating a working communications network.

I want to stress that, just because you apply, that is no guarantee that you will be accepted. Stormer Book Clubs are going to be the very best pro-White activist group on Earth, and we want the right kind of people. Most do make it, but not all.

You have to be willing to learn, have a good attitude, etc.

Things like the rules, regulations, guidelines and uniform are not negotiable. We're not gonna debate them with you. Not at all. If you can't accept these things, that means that you are not a person who can work in a group dynamic, nor are you willing or able to take orders well. We just don't need people like that.

With that being said, we are really looking forward to hearing from all you fine young men who want to join a great new organization and help secure the existence of our people, and a future for White children!

These groups are not simply political activist groups—though they are that, of course—but places to help you develop yourself and be a part of a community.

We want to build stronger, smarter, better men, as that is what is at the core of any healthy revolutionary movement.

But understand that you are joining to make yourself better, and understand that we understand that you are coming out of the degenerate mainstream and coming to the group to be made better. So if you're fat, socially awkward, have a retard hair cut, etc. —don't worry. We're here to help you with that, and we're providing an environment where we accept guys coming in as they are (unless they are totally fucked) as long as they have a desire to improve themselves.

DS

YouTube Allegedly to Delete Alex Jone's Channel

Adrian Sol
Daily Stormer
March 4, 2017

> The Alex Jones channel with billions of views is frozen. We have been told it will be deleted tomorrow and all 33 thousands videos will be erased. We just set up this new page subscribe if you want to see what the SPLC wants censored.. https://t.co/0sGkMNUCPt
>
> — Alex Jones (@RealAlexJones) March 4, 2018

Another victim of the shuttening.

At first, they came for the Neo-Nazi White supremacist groypers, and I stayed silent, because I'm a cuck.

Then, they came for the internet bloodsports people, and I stayed silent because I prefer civil discussion.

Then they came for the liberalists, and I stayed silent because I haven't read Locke.

Now, they're coming for me, and there's no one left to speak up because the water turned all the frogs gay.

Smdh.

The Hill:

> Infowars founder Alex Jones on Saturday claimed that YouTube is poised to delete the conspiracy outlet's channel and all of the videos posted to it.

Video Link

I see Jones has mastered the art of selecting goofy frames of himself as featured image. Bravo.

> "The Alex Jones channel with billions of views is frozen. We have been told it will be deleted tomorrow and all 33 thousands videos will be erased. We just set up this new page subscribe if you want to see what the SPLC wants censored," Jones tweeted, using an acronym for the Southern Poverty Law Center, which monitors hate groups.
>
> YouTube did not immediately respond to The Hill's request for comment.
>
> A technology reporter for Buzzfeed News tweeted, however, that YouTube told him Jones's claim was untrue.
>
> I reached out to YouTube about this—it's not true. Been informed there's no plan to erase the channel tomorrow, as Jones says. https://t.co/VFiAIesB8A
>
> — Charlie Warzel (@cwarzel) March 4, 2018

And we're supposed to believe a Buzzfeed furry pervert?

> It's not clear why the video streaming service would delete the account, though Jones said in a live stream on Facebook on Friday that Infowars had received a third strike from YouTube. Users are banned from the website if they receive three strikes within three months.

So what's the situation here? It's hard to believe that Jones' channel will be outright deleted through content strikes. Deleting a channel as large as Infowars isn't something that's done without explicit consent from the highest levels. So it's entirely possible that another one of these "rogue employees" put strikes on Alex Jone's channel, and that YouTube will halt the process to ban him.

We'll know very soon if that is the case.

But it's also possible that this is actually a conscious decision to start cracking down on even moderately right-wing content. We know that YouTube has been penalizing gun-oriented channels in the past few days (guns are the new hate speech).

Video Link

Also, various social media platforms have initiated waves of bans.

So we might just be looking at the mother of all shutdowns here.

This is definitely a panic move. Naked political discrimination against popular channels can only lead to a backlash, and more importantly, calls to regulate internet censorship.

This seems like a desperate, all or nothing move.

DS

UK: "Equal Treatment Guide" Tells Judges to Treat White Defendants Worse Than Colored Ones

Michael Byron
Daily Stormer
March 4, 2018

Here's the thing, goyim.

Equality is good. Equality is fair. Equality means that everyone is equal in status, rights and opportunities.

But if a group of people (e.g. Moslems) lose their equalness due to the Crusades or Adolf Hitler, then they need to be made more equal to other groups (e.g. whites) to rebalance the scales.

It's just basic Jewish math.

Breitbart:

Official new guidance on "equal treatment" instructs judges to favour non-white defendants in order to "redress inequality", despite recent research having found young white men to be the most derided group in Britain.

Produced by the Judicial College, the organisation responsible for training judges in Britain, the Equal Treatment Guide's latest edition says: "True equal treatment may not...always mean treating everyone in the same way."

Quoting former U.S. Supreme Court Justice Blackmun, the equality guidance, which was first produced in 1999 under Tony Blair's Labour government, states: "In order to get beyond racism, we must first take account of race.

"There is no other way. And in order to treat some persons equally, we must treat them differently."

Despite official government policy issued in 2016 outlining a raft of measures authorities, including police and schools, must take with the goal of maximising the number of hate crime reports, the Equal Treatment Guide repeatedly refers to reported "rises in hate crime" against certain groups as explanation to why judges should treat some people more favourably than others.

"The psychological impact of hate crime on the Muslim community has been severe," judges are told to take into account, in a section on "Islamophobia" which cites the Islamic fundamentalist-linked Muslim Council of Britain (MCB), a Muslim supremacist umbrella group.

"In key areas of life such as education, health, housing and employment, there is evidence of significant disadvantage experienced by certain minority ethnic groups", states the guidance, which says research has found "strongly negative attitudes amongst the white population towards immigrants, refugees, Muslims, Gypsies and Travellers".

Such intolerance "makes it difficult to be a Muslim in Britain", according to the document, which exemplifies this with the statistic that 41 per cent of UK citizens agreed with the statement "Islam is an intolerant religion" in a 2015 poll.

To be fair, it is difficult being a Moslem in Britain. Yes, you're prioritized for the best housing in the country, get fantastic benefits for doing nothing and can even become the mayor of London without adequate qualifications.

BUT (and this is a big "but")...

Whites are often mean to you. When you bomb civilians in the streets of major cities, the locals mutter unflattering words about you in the pub. When you abduct white schoolgirls and transform them into kebab meat, some whites—not all, but some—will click "disapprove" rather than "approve" when the BBC publishes an online poll about it.

It just creates an unwelcoming atmosphere.

Unwelcoming and uncongenial.

For this reason, goyim, I fully support the United Kingdom's decision to create a judicial environment in which Moslems don't get punished for anything, while white teenagers go to prison for 25 years for pirating Anchorman 2.

After all, if complete racial integration is the end goal of these changes to society, and I ensure you...

pauses to rub hands

...it is, then we first need to bridge the gap between white privilege and non-white underprivilege.

Who, other than a White Supremacist, could disagree with such logic?

DS

Comic Book Convention Bans Straight White Males from Industry Meetups

Adrian Sol
Daily Stormer
March 4, 2017

Comic Con: you will not find a more wretched hive of scum and villainy.

The whole gamergate thing was, in a way, a reaction by vidya fans to prevent their hobby from catching the same disease that ravaged the comic book world.

Comic books were always pretty Jewish, but until the 21st century the heroes were at least normal White people, for the most part. However, insane SJW's infiltrated the industry and pozzed it beyond recognition.

Who is this supposed to appeal to? Certainly not comic fans.

Will it get better?

No, of course not. It's only going to get worse—much worse.

Breitbart:

White, heterosexual males have been systematically excluded from all pre-convention industry meetups at this year's Emerald City Comic Convention (ECCC) in Seattle, reports say.

All in the name of equality, of course.

According to the convention website, there are three mixers and meetups for members of the comic book and publishing industry—artists, writers, editors, and those who are looking for work in the industry. According to the descriptions of the events, every single one of them is aimed at one minority or another, and none welcome white, heterosexual men.

In other words, this is an opportunity to make contacts and get hired to work in the comics industry. By excluding straight White males, they're insuring that normal people won't get hired in the industry.

The organizers of the convention are doing everything they can to make comics even more degenerate than they already are—a tall order.

How could it possibly get any worse? I shudder to imagine.

The ECCC Meetups schedule on the convention website features a mixer for "industry women and genderqueer" participants. There is a second mixer for "industry people of color." Then there is one for "LGBTQIA" insiders.

But, apparently, white males are excluded from the events where people meet to pass resumes, shake hands, and meet with industry insiders to look for future employment and opportunities.

Jon Del Arroz, a Hispanic comics and science fiction writer, pointed out the bias on his website, saying that the lack of events for white men is part of a "flurry of discrimination" seen at a number of recent conventions.

So this kind of policy isn't limited to this convention, but is endemic in the industry.

Not surprising.

White males are generally open and welcoming, but when freaks, women and minorities start pouring in, they conspire to keep us out completely and take over the field. So it's inevitable that any organization or industry that doesn't explicitly keep out "diversity" will eventually be fully controlled by trannies and brown people.

Case in point.

DS

Scientists Blame Climate Change, Rather Than Niggers, for Cape Town's Dwindling Water Supply

Michael Byron
Daily Stormer
March 4, 2018

These poor darkies never seem to get a break, do they?

After seizing control of South Africa from its original white owners, circumstances were finally looking up for black folk. They now reigned over a First World nation with advanced infrastructure, operational farms, established laws...the whole shebang.

Who or what could possibly prevent them from reaching the stars?

Well, Mother Nature, for one. A hardcore racist that hates blacks because of the color of their face, Mother Nature couldn't tolerate the thought of blacks getting ahead in life, so she hit them where it hurts most: their water supply.

And some brave scientists, who risk being struck by lightning for their insolence, have exposed her hate crime for everyone to see.

The Independent:

> Cape Town is in the grip of a drought widely regarded as the worst in recorded history—one that could see it become the first city in the world to run out of water.
>
> The city is edging closer to a day—known locally as "Day Zero" — when supplies are so low authorities will have to cut off water to three quarters of the population.
>
> Far from being a hypothetical scenario, Day Zero has a set date. It is currently expected on 9 July.
>
> The perfect storm of conditions that led to this drought, specifically three consecutive years of extremely low rainfall, would generally be expected no more than once in a millennium.
>
> Predicting such "freak" events is tricky for scientists, but one thing is clear: climate change appears to have played a significant role in the Cape's current misfortune, and it is set to make such events far more likely in the years to come.
>
> ...
>
> "The effects of global warming are now interwoven with this natural variability," says Professor Mark New, a climate researcher at the University of Cape Town.
>
> Climate change contributes to drought both by changing rain levels and temperature.
>
> "Droughts are a natural phenomenon in the Western Cape and the effect of climate changes is that it magnifies all weather events—both drought and flooding—and makes them less easy to predict," says Dr Piotr Wolski, a hydrologist in the climate system analysis group at the University of Cape Town.
>
> While it is difficult to draw firm conclusions while the disaster is still ongoing, "tentative preliminary analysis" by Professor New suggests that the once-in-a-millennium dry spell Cape Town is currently experiencing was made five times more likely by global warming.
>
> What this means is that the 1C rise in average temperature over the past century in the region has increased the likelihood of such an event fivefold, compared to a scenario in which this warming had not taken place.

Sad. So sad.

Under black control, South Africa was en route to become Wakanda 2.0: a sprawling, futuristic metropolis packed with opera houses, majestic skyscrapers and high-speed transit systems. Instead, it's going to degenerate into a banana republic where blacks practice voodoo in huts made from animal dung.

Call me cynical, but I doubt this is the first time that the elements have conspired against colored people.

In the future, whenever you're tempted to laugh at the plight of Somalia, Nigeria or all these other African countries, pause for a moment and think: are these countries poor and starving because blacks are stupid and lazy, or because Mother Nature keeps them down for being black?

DS

"Some Men Have a Uterus"

Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer
March 4, 2018

> Some men have a uterus.
> Some men have a uterus.
> Some men have a uterus.
> Some men have a uterus.
> Some men have a uterus.
> Some men have a uterus.
> Some men have a uterus.
> Some men have a uterus.
> Some men have a uterus.
> Some men have a uterus.
> Some men have a uterus.
>
> — Planned Parenthood (@PPIndKentucky) March 2, 2018

So I guess maybe some of this kooky shit is getting to the point where the normies are noticing how absurd it is, and that could perhaps lead to a normie revolt against the modern world.

RT:

> Nationwide birth control charity Planned Parenthood sailed into a perfect Tweetstorm when its Indiana and Kentucky branch declared "some men have a uterus." The tweet drew ridicule from plenty of conservatives online.
>
> Friday's pinned post on the group's Twitter account was apparently a politically-correct nod to trans men, those who are biologically female but identify as male. The statement, as is customary of today's Twitter arguments, was repeated line after line until symbols ran out—11 times, to be precise.

I think we're at the point where even the liberals know that this has all gone too far, gone insane, but they have no choice but to just ride the wave.

The tranny thing is the point at which it's like uhhhhhhhhh.

And they've now made that the center of everything, just because it is the revolutionary vanguard of the Jewish cultural program, so there's no going back.

DS

Why You Should Avoid Skull Mask Sporting Types

Roy Batty
Daily Stormer
March 3, 2018

Look man, skull masks are pretty kewl and edgy. They scream "operator" and "tacticool" guy. I get the appeal, I really do.

But the people behind the masks tend to be the kind of people you wouldn't to leave your kid unattended with for more than an hour. That's the litmus test you should always use because it means they will never have mass appeal with normal people.

And that's a huge problem going forward because the number one thing that our movement stands for now is normalcy. That's what people crave now. They want a return to the way things were—to a healthy nation and a healthy culture—and they want someone to come and make everything normal again for them.

Skull masks aren't normal. No, people won't see Antifa and BLM and the feminists ruining society, and decide to put on skull masks en masse in a sort of reverse V for Vendetta scenario.

Video Link

Wake up. It's not going to happen. Think like a grown-ass thirty-year-old man trying to start a family and not as an edgy COD-playing teenager for a second.

Here, let me tell you a quick story.

I was in Poland for the nationalist march. And after my experience there, I realized that there are two kinds of far-right nationalists out there and most of you reading this now would be better off avoiding the second, skull mask sporting kind.

I was in a Polish restaurant with the Identitarians and the Swedish Nordic Youth movement guys.

They do very good work—flash demos against gay rights parades and protesting refugee resettlement among other things. They face off the police, get arrested sometimes and make headlines with their clever, well-planned demos. Good guys.

All is well and we're enjoying some actual cultural enrichment from the hearty Polish dishes that the waitresses in traditional garb have brought out.

But then another nationalist group from Sweden decides to troop in. They're pimp-rolling and acting like hot shit. They're dressed all in black and making the other patrons at the restaurant a bit uneasy.

Some of the people in our group greet them, others feel tense.

They've come by to say that they're heading off to get shitfaced and cause trouble around town. There are going to be rolling fights with police and Antifa in Warsaw all-night long.

Probably something like this but at night

There's also a paramilitary right-wing group throwing a party at their HQ—but the Germans, Russians, Ukrainians and perhaps some other neighbor of Poland that they hate are not allowed in. So that rules out many guests who have come for the march.

We thank them for the invitation and they leave.

After they're gone, the Swedes tell me that these guys never show up to any demonstrations in Sweden. They sit at home and act tough on the internet. Only when they're in Poland do they go hard. At home, they're as meek as lambs and call other nationalist groups cucks for not being as skull mask hardcore as them.

In America, you have the Siege-guys who seem to be the direct equivalent.

But I want you to take a good hard look at yourself. Chances are, you joined all this because of good intentions. You took a long hard look at what happened in Weimar Germany and then around you and perhaps and realized that maybe Hitler wasn't wrong about a lot of things. Hell, maybe you took a look at the direction our society was going and started wondering about whether liberalism and freedom above all else is healthy for a society. Maybe you saw what non-Whites do to good neighborhoods. Maybe you saw a friend get slapped with a false rape allegation by a crazy feminist.

Who knows.

But all this is to say that chances are you came to the Daily Stormer and the Alt-Right in general because you believed that we're fighting for good and fighting against evil.

I hate to break it to you, but there are people who come to our side who believe the complete opposite.

You might think Uncle Adolf was misunderstood and have reams of data memorized about racial IQ differences and know that the Jews are bad news—which leads you to conclude that Nationalism is, in fact, the path of good not evil as you have been led to believe.

But others internalize the whole nationalism = bad narrative and yet they still join our side.

In other words, they're in this thing to be edgy and dark and sinister and scare normal people. They legit believe that nationalism is a dark and evil ideology and that's why they join up.

You might think you're on the same page—but really, these people came at it from a completely different perspective, and that's why they're so fucked up for the most part.

While you're trying to be constructive and ultimately take steps to ensure the prosperity of your people and your nation, these fuckers are there to make things worse because they get a kick out of it the same way an emo kid used to get a kick out of cutting his wrists.

So be careful about what nationalists you choose to involve yourself with.

If you want to be edgy and get some of your angst out, go with the skull kids.

On the other hand, if you actually give a shit about this movement and saving the White race, you should avoid these people like the plague.

When the hard work is done by the real dedicated activists, these people will come out of the woodwork anyway like termites and start claiming credit for what serious people did.

Just some food for thought, lads.

DS

Scott Adams Caves, Admits He Believes the Seth Rich Hillary Murder Conspiracy Now

Roy Batty
Daily Stormer
March 3, 2018

Who is Scott Adams you might ask?

He's the Dilbert guy, and he is really popular among tech-savvy Gen X'ers. And why is he important? Well, the Dilbert guy got it right on Trump when most people were just laughing at Trump for being a fake candidate.

So he's got that W in his corner.

He shares that with Iron Ann, who also called Trump's victory very early in the race...

...and who is my absolute fav MILF of all time.

She's like sixty, but boy. Making sweet love and talking politics over cigarettes in bed? That could be fun for awhile.

But back to boring ol' Scott.

> I started as a hard core skeptic of the Seth Rich conspiracy theory. But I surrender. https://t.co/Cin9v66yfS
>
> — Scott Adams (@ScottAdamsSays) March 2, 2018

He's no conspiracy theorist, he's just a comic strip guy with good political judgment.

Video Link

This comes on the heels of Seth's parents supposedly admitting that he was indeed the Wikileaks source of the DNC leaks.

In other words, this thing is heating up again.

Also Kim Dotcom, the five hundred pound master haxxor living in New Zealand has been talking about having proof about Seth for about a year now, and he's back on the scene, even putting his money where his mouth is.

> Kim Dotcom just donated $2500 to keep our #SethRich investigation going.
>
> America with your donations and support, we can do the job that D.C. Police isn't willing to do!
>
> Thank You Kim! #SethRich#AmericaFirstMedia #HisNameWasSethRich https://t.co/Nzt1skOF63
>
> — Matt Couch (@RealMattCouch) March 3, 2018

All this thing needs is some more mainstream conservative voices to jump on it.

With Trump making moves to possibly indict Hillary like he promised, this could be the big issue to nail her and the entire DNC to the wall with.

Jump on it, Mr. President.

You too, Ann. Trump listened to you about the Mexicans, maybe he will listen to you on this one as well. Team up with the fat man and the cartoon man on this one and score another big W by getting Hillary locked up and destroying the DNC in the process.

We need to drum up some support for this investigation. If it looks legit enough to get Scott Adams on board, then it's legit enough for Trump to use against Hillary.

Seems to me that since Trump listens to Ann, looks like we know who to convince next.

DS

Days of Lead Descend on Italy – Lessons for the American Alt-Right

Roy Batty
Daily Stormer
March 3, 2018

There's an election coming up and the Italian Right seems sure to make a comeback thanks to local disgust at the destruction of their country by savages—and I'm not talking about Brussels here, but about the non-White hordes.

RT:

> Antifa activists set fires and pelted police with bottles after being barred from reaching a far-right rally being held in the Italian city of Genoa. The clashes highlight political tensions ahead of Sunday's general election.
>
> According to local press, around 250 "anti-fascist" demonstrators threw smoke bombs, started fires and clashed with municipal police on Friday. It came after authorities prevented them from confronting a far-right rally organized by CasaPound, a neo-fascist political party named after American poet and Fascist sympathizer Ezra Pound.

Video Link

If you're an American like me, sometimes you look at scenes like this and wish we had similar street battles in the states. It would be fun to fight Antifa in the streets with your WN bros.

We had some of that last year, with mixed results.

Video Link

Here's the thing—street action only makes sense in the context of denying your enemy the ability to mobilize for marches and that sort of thing.

So there has to be a party behind your vanguard that you make the streets safe for. If it's just two radical fringe groups fighting in the streets, no one cares and the results are mixed to say the least.

But if, like in Italy, the right-wing youth vanguard in the streets have tacit support from the broader Right, well that's a different story. If you've been paying attention, there have been rolling battles between Antifa and right-wing groups all over Italy recenty. And the Italian public seems to be far more open to the message of the Right, so much so that they actually say on camera what they feel.

This has not yet happened in the US.

Video Link

In the context of the run-up to the Italian elections, all of this makes sense.

Antifa and the nationalist groups are fighting for space and the Right has support from more mainstream groups in a way that it does not have in America. Hell, even the police play fair with the nationalists in Italy—unlike in America, probably because they would be held to account by the right-wing parties who would cry foul.

Video Link

In America, conservatives tripped over themselves to throw the Alt-Right demonstrators under the bus, while all shades of the Left defended Antifa.

There is a lot to be learned from what is happening in Italy.

There the Right is far more cohesive than it is in America. You have a division of labor. Right-wing street fighters and Right-wing parties stay separate but don't attack one another. They work together on an implicit level. They even find ways to get the police on their side.

We should be taking notes.

When Trump runs for re-election soon, there will be more serious street battles in America as conservatives will be attacked all over the country at rallies and conferences by Antifa.

Without some institutional support, our guys will simply get beaten, arrested and left to twist in the wind like they were after Charlottesville. Alt-Right "leaders" probably won't do anything to help them this time around either.

This is why we need somebody within the mainstream conservative movement willing to at least not counter-signal us. That's why we need to join the NRA, take over CPAC and start making inroads into the Republican party.

Video Link

It's not cucking, it's about creating a wide coalition.

We should do as the Italians do, and learn to create a movement like they do.

DS

You Are Not Alone: 24pct. of Americans Want to Hatefuck Emma Gonzales

Vinny the Jib
Daily Stormer
March 3, 2018

Following the Florida shooting, millions of Americans were hit with a sickening, sinking feeling that didn't have anything to do with gun control or kids being shot.

It had to do with what came after. With a Mexican lesbian who was featured on every television screen on the planet for a week, and whose bizarre visage is now implanted in the minds of the American people: Emma Gonzales.

Jimmy Colorado remembers exactly where he was when he first saw the "56%er" face of Gonzales.

"I was sitting at my favorite sports bar, trying to watch some goddamn motherfucking sports, and this potato-headed bitch pops up. I felt an immediate urge to, I don't know, to do something. I felt so angry at her fucked up fucking face," he told me as we sat drinking peach schnapps on his apartment enclosed balcony in downtown Cleveland last week.

"I'm sitting here and just thinking 'I'd like to run that bitch over with a semi-truck,' you know what I'm saying?" His face scrunched-up as he remembered the experience.

"It was hours later, when I was walking home..." he stopped at that point, shaking his head. "I don't even want to fucking say it. But you already know. And I'm telling you this so you can tell anyone else who's feeling this that they aren't alone. When I was walking home I realized, you know, I'd like to fuck that bitch. Really dirty like. Just want to see her bald potato head banging right up against the wall, just slap with both sides of my hand over and over again, choke her to her bug-eyes bulge-out..."

He downed the class of peach schnapps and picked up the bottle and began chugging until it was empty, tossed it on the ground and it shattered on the green tiles. He put his head in his hands.

I looked at him, feeling both pity and disgust. I felt an urge to open the window, jump out of the third story balcony, to hit the ground running. Anything to get away from this perverted lunatic. But I had promised to listen to and to write about his affliction.

Colorado was the only member of the 300-strong support group on Facebook entitled "Emma Gonzales Hatefuckers" who was willing to sit down with me. At the time we met, no one had any idea how many people held a secret desire to hatefuck the sexual and racial mutant that is Emma Gonzales.

Days after I met with Colorado in Cleveland, a poll was conducted, which showed that a full quarter of Americans harbor a desire to engage in this depraved act.

I spoke with Wilhelm Reinhold, a world renowned Kenseyian sexologist at the University of Amsterdam about what the results mean. He told me that they do not bode well for America as a nation.

"I have personally dealt with all types of perversion, which I believe are all normal and safe. But this issue of such a large number of people wanting to hatefuck a literal mutant creature, all looking like a goblin from Dungeons & Dragons—it is an instance of mass insanity, which cannot be explained away with 'everything is permissible' reasoning. America is a nation on the brink," he said.

He said he didn't think there was any solution, but that the media should consider stopping featuring her on TV, as this triggers the perverts.

I called up Jimmy Colorado after the poll was published, and he started crying on the phone. "It's not just me, not just me, not just just the Facebook group. This is a perfectly normal reaction to that sick bitch."

He said that he is putting together an organization to try remove some of the stigma from a raging desire to hatefuck Emma Gonzales.

"You've got the foot fetishists, who are a smaller number than us, and they're just out there, everywhere on the internet, on Twitter with their 'post feet' memes, and we're 24% of the population but we feel like we've got to live in the shadows? It's just not fair. We're people and we deserve to be treated like it. We can't control this sick disease."

The tears were all gone and I could hear him smiling.

DS

Mainstream Media is Now Covering the Geneticists Who Worked on the Project Saying Cheddar Man was White

Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer
March 3, 2018

So they've been pushing a completely insane narrative in the Jewish media and Jewish academia for over a decade now, which goes:

- Race does not exist
- White people are responsible for the oppression of all other races
- White people are the only race that does not have any culture
- White people need immigrants to give them culture
- White people deserve to be flooded with immigrants as punishment for slavery, colonialism, the Holocaust, etc.

With Cheddar Man, they literally decided to come out and say "actually, white people are really just niggers, lol."

Of course, the skin of the model was colored arbitrarily, and over a week ago, geneticists who worked on the project have come out and said that they actually have no idea what color Cheddar Man's skin was. But that wasn't getting widely reported. Because the whole purpose of making the claim in the first place was to push a political agenda.

It was printed in New Scientist and was behind a paywall, and I thought they were just going to disappear it.

Now, however, we are getting mainstream coverage.

Daily Mail:

Cheddar man may not have been "dark to black skinned" after all.

Last month, researchers claimed that they had been able to accurately reconstruct the face of the "first Brit" based on his DNA—and sensationally revealed he had black skin and blue eyes.

But now, one of the main scientists who helped create the reconstruction of his 10,000-year-old face says he may not have been black at all.

Geneticist Susan Walsh at Indiana University—Purdue University Indianapolis, says we simply don't know his skin colour.

While her computer model shows being black is his "probable profile", DNA testing is not advanced enough to say for certain.

The 10,000-year-old bones of the ancient Briton were unearthed in Somerset in 1903, and have puzzled scientists ever since.

A team of experts, including Professor Walsh, recently created a computer model that tries to predict a person's skin pigmentation, hair and eye colour, purely from their genes.

The test focused on 36 points of comparison in 16 genes, which are all linked to skin colour.

Dr Walsh and her colleagues analysed genetic data taken from more than 1,400 people.

They were mainly from Europe and the US, but also included people from Africa and Papua New Guinea.

Part of this data was used to train their model on how to recognise skin colour by looking at links with the 36 genetic markers.

The rest of the data was used to test how well the model could predict skin colour from DNA alone.

The model came up with "black" or "dark black" skin for Cheddar Man based on his DNA.

Some, particularly on the far-right, have questioned whether there was a political agenda behind the claims.

Dr Walsh believes that the tests can't prove Cheddar Man's skin colour and that his DNA may have degraded over the past 10,000 years.

So, that's how they get you.

They just make shit up, report it as fact.

Using biology for political purposes is not new. The entire issue of race was effectively removed from science itself following WWII, as it was argued by the Jews that even talking about race would lead to annodah shoah, so the official "race doesn't exist" line became gospel.

Of course when they are hoaxing you that you are actually a nigger, race all of the sudden starts existing again.

The other interesting factoid that got rolled over in this whole thing is that Cheddar Man only shares 10% DNA with modern Brits. Furthermore, none of his features are negroid, and the study made a point to state that he wasn't somehow African. So it was meaningless even in its original form, but the fact that they released the model with the skin coloring being virtually arbitrary—wow.

This is just psychological abuse of the goyim.

DS

Italy: Anti-Immigration Right Surges Before Upcoming Elections

Adrian Sol
Daily Stormer
March 3, 2017

You did it once, you can do it again, Italy!

The Italian elections are coming up this Sunday, and are gearing up to represent a major win against the EU and mass immigration.

Italy is one of the countries that has been devastated by the migrant crisis, for which their membership in the EU is mostly to blame. Add on top of that a recent string of horrible cannibalistic crimes by disgusting foreigners, and you get an Italian population that's pretty fed up with all this globalism crap.

We might just have a happening on our hands here, guys.

Breitbart:

Italians are set to elect a new government on Sunday with anti-mass migration and Eurosceptic parties dominating the polls in an election that could shake the European Union to its foundations.

The Italian national election has the potential to send a wave through Europe not seen since the Brexit vote in 2016. The migration crisis, which has flooded Italy with hundreds of thousands of illegal migrants, along with EU rules preventing bank bailouts and soaring migrant crime and unemployment, has fueled the growth of populism and the collapse of the political establishment.

Italy, CISE poll:

Centre-right (FI-EPP, LN-ENF, Fdl-, NcI-): 35%
Centre-left (PD-S&D, I-, +E-, CP-*): 27%
M5S-EFDD: 29%
LeU-S&D: 5%

Field work: 05/02/18-14/02/18
Sample size: 3889 pic.twitter.com/JYuK

— Europe Elects (@EuropeElects)
February 26, 2018

There are three main contenders in Sunday's election. Two of them belong, at least in part, to anti-establishment populist movements while the other, the currently-ruling centre-left alliance is struggling in polls.

So by far the largest "party" in the polls is the Five star movement, which is a Euro-skeptic populist group that's against political parties (in other words, their members can usually vote their conscience rather than following a party line). While their policies aren't anything too extreme, it appears like the leader might be a crypto-fascist (he ended one of his speeches with a famous fascist idiom— "Boia Chi Molla").

Their normal policy is to never ally with other parties, so it's unclear if they can even form a government. However, it's speculated that they might change this policy in order to gain power.

Video Link

Two major right-wing parties have around 15% of the projected vote each. These are Berlusconi's "Forza Italia" and Salvini's "Lega", two populist, anti-immigration parties. Berlusconi owns a newspaper which distributed free copies of "Mein Kampf" just two years ago. "Lega" is a separationist party for the Germanic peoples of northern Italy—they're obviously anti-Immigration.

So combine all of these, along with other conservative and outright Fascist parties, and you get a large majority of the vote right there—certainly enough to pull a Italexit move.

Things might get very interesting for Italians in the coming months.

DS

Critics Agree: Upcoming Pro-Faggot Movie "Love, Simon" is a Classic!

Michael Byron
Daily Stormer
March 3, 2018

I remember watching American Beauty back in 2004. At the time, I thought it was the most subversive mainstream film I'd ever seen; a blatant and unapologetic attack on traditional heterosexual society. When I became Jew-wise a few years later, I finally understood why: the film was directed by a Jew, written by a faggot and financed by the biggest Jewish faggot in Hollywood.

What a trifecta of unholiness.

Nowadays, the level of subversion coming out of Hollywood makes American Beauty look comparatively tame. Take Love, Simon, for instance. This fag-directed film, to be released on March 16, is about a white American teenager who—unbeknownst to his friends and family—has an insatiable desire to bugger other men up the arse.

Needless to say, the soyboy critics are lapping it up!

The Guardian:

> It's easy to forget, given Moonlight's groundbreaking Oscar haul and the steady stream of acclaimed LGBT indies released since, that queer characters in mainstream films are still barely visible. They make infrequent throwaway appearances in minor roles, providing emotional or comic support while their stories remain secondary, thinly sketched, irrelevant. Attempts to crowbar them into franchise films have been embarrassingly coy and so instead, their narratives have been forced to stay within smaller films, where the risk of offending or alienating an over-catered straight audience wouldn't be viewed as such a problem.

So this reviewer, who calls the film a "landmark teen classic," claims that LGBTP characters in movies are "still barely visible."

Forgive me if I don't seem persuaded. I rarely watch movies any more, but when I do, I find that fags are over-represented in them just like blacks, Jews and all those other minority groups that comprise the rich, colorful tapestry of 21st century America.

Variety:

> "Love, Simon" is so accessible that gay teens don't even appear to be its target audience; rather, the movie seems more ideally suited to young women—essentially the U.S. equivalent of the avid female readership that sustains Japan's massive yaoi comic-book market. If this pioneering film is a success (a big "if," since the young men who need it most might be too self-conscious to see it in theaters), expect more female-friendly gay-male love stories marketed at teens—the ultimate upside of which will be a chance to show those struggling with oppression, suicidal thoughts, and the other trappings of the closet that they are not alone, and need not feel ashamed.

Targeting young women makes sense. Fags are already going to support fag interests, so it's a much better idea to corrupt the most impressionable and malleable members of society. Even better if they drag their henpecked boyfriends to the cinema with them (which they will).

An Aryan Princess wrote the book on which this film was based, btw. If we hadn't taught women how to read or write, this film would never have happened. Let's bear that in mind when we start the whole "rebuilding society from scratch" thing.

Love, Simon currently has a score of 93% on Rotten Tomatoes. Though lower-rated than Black Panther, which is apparently one of the greatest films of all time, it's doing better than Fight Club, Predator and all those other problematic films from the previous century.

Pretty depressing stuff.

Below is the trailer for the film, as well as a battle scene from 300. I strongly recommend that you don't watch the trailer, but if you do, watch the battle scene afterwards to reclaim any lost testosterone.

Video Link

Video Link

DS

LMAO Niggers and Shitlibs Remove Gorilla Statue Over "Racial Insensitivity" Concerns

Roy Batty
Daily Stormer
March 3, 2018

As we all by now know, black people are triggered by the sight of gorillas because it reminds them that gorillas are the missing link between humans and niggers.

Remember Harambe?

Dindu Nuffin

Shitlibs were getting triggered because he was getting the same respect accorded to him as some dead rapper, once again drawing dangerous associations in people's minds about monkeys and black people.

It is the same in this case:

Newslocker:

A statue of a gorilla, and prime attraction for kids at the Community Park playground in Corsicana was removed by the city.

A spokesperson for the city said some community members found the gorilla offensive—racially insensitive—in some form, and requested its removal from the park.

"We can understand this, because we have an obligation to listen to all our citizens, to determine what is offensive and not, especially in public places," said Corsicana Mayor Don Denbow.

Denbow saw an uptick in complaints about the playground primate during the last few weeks. There were more and more phone calls, and personal discussions, and he, the city manager and a city council member, decided it needed to come down.

..

A Facebook page called " In Memory Of Dobby" was started in memoriam of the gorilla. Fans shared their memories and posted pics, too.

Do Blacks and shitlibs not realize how stupid they look? Most people don't think that its a black person in that cage. The people pointing out the similarities are the dindus themselves.

Or perhaps I'm completely wrong here.

Perhaps what is really happening is the nogs are trying to cover something up. Is it possible that this is part of some conspiracy to remove gorillas and other clever primates from our society?

Are blacks intimidated by the superior intellect of other primates?

Perhaps they are intimidated by Primate Immigration. If we opened our borders to immigration from primates, black people would lose most of their jobs as monkeys can quite literally do what they do much better and be more productive members of society by any meaningful measure.

In fact, as shown by the example of Harambe, most gorillas put blacks to shame in terms of intelligence and child-rearing skills.

Unlike this little niglet's father, Harambe didn't abuse or abandon this child.

When black people saw even more conclusive proof of gorillas' superiority to them, they had the police shoot Harambe, to cover up the truth.

But the truth will out.

I say that if we have to open our borders to Africa, let the endangered gorillas and chimps come over instead of the humans.

I for one would feel much safer leaving my child in the care of a silverback gorilla than I would in the hands of a nigger and wouldn't tense up if a chimp was walking at me along the sidewalk at night the same way I would over a nigger.

We would, of course, naturally have to figure out a way to stop THOT-whores sleeping around with the new chimp arrivals, but I say we cross that bridge when we get there and enjoy the reduction of crime, nigger-AIDs and better SAT scores in the meantime.

We can't let Dobby and Harambe's sacrifice be in vain.

DS

Sick Teacher Replaces Detention with Torture by Yoga

Adrian Sol
Daily Stormer
March 3, 2017

Who would do this to a child, smdh.

I understand that with all the diversity, even elementary schools are going to have discipline problems. Uppity nig nogs are going to run wild and screw everything up.

Yes, that's a problem that needs to be resolved.

But is the solution really torture?

What kind of sick fuck would think of such a thing? I don't want to torture Black children, I just want to send them back to Africa on cattle carts. Though I guess I might start to feel differently if I had to teach classes full of them for decades.

But still, though. This is hardcore.

CBS/a>:

> A special grant from Denver Public Schools has allowed Doull Elementary to pilot a program where they trade out detention for Yoga.
>
> "I teach children the practice of yoga and meditation," said Trinidad Heffron.

She's got the face of a sadist, that's for sure.

> For Miss Triny, as the kids call her, and for the school, this is about reevaluating the way they discipline, not taking it easy on the kids.

You can say that again.

Look, I've done yoga. It's just pure pointless torture. You just twist yourself in an awkward position, and then hold that for 15 minutes until you can't feel your legs.

"Kill me...Please...My world is pain!"

> "Yoga and meditation, they're not necessarily an easy practice. I would say it's challenging, but useful," said Heffron.

It's useful for teaching the fear of God in misbehaving nigglets, I'll grant you that.

> "What's more important? Punishing kids for a mistake they made or teaching them some skills that they can actually use in life to not make the same mistakes again," said school psychologist Carly Graeber.
>
> Skills that transcend the classroom.
>
> "You can do yoga and you can practice yoga anywhere, any time and maybe when they are riding a bike, they can take deep breath and go, 'Oh, I'm using my yoga breath," said Heffron.

So this yoga breath can allow misbehaving minorities to chill out?

A negro child using mystical yoga breathing techniques to reach Nigvana.

If so, I'm all for it.

> "Math and reading and science and social studies are all so important to us here, but also we're really in the business of teaching kids social and emotional skills that they can use for their lives, so how to solve problems, how to deal with complicated feelings and things like that," said Graeber.

To be honest, this is all needlessly cruel. Even ignoring the physical torture aspect, being locked in a room with this broad:

...talking about feelings and "emotional skills" is child abuse, and I wouldn't wish it even on Black kids.

The Anglin plan, which consists of simply locking up all Black boys from childhood to 30 years of age, is far more humane, and will solve all these discipline problems with no need for needless cruelty.

DS

A Majority of Americans Believe the Government Should Regulate the Tech Industry

Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer
March 2, 2018

Well, this is the best news of the week right here.

Axios:

> A majority of Americans are now concerned that the government won't do enough to regulate how U.S. technology companies operate, according to an Axios-SurveyMonkey poll. Across the board, concern about government inaction is up significantly—15 percentage points—in the past three months.
>
> Why it matters: That's a seismic shift in the public's perception of Silicon Valley over a short period of time. It shows how worried Americans are about Russian meddling in the 2016 election, but it also reflects a growing anxiety about the potentially addictive nature of some of the tech companies' products, as well as the relentless spread of fake news on their platforms.
>
> What's changed: In a previous Axios-SurveyMonkey poll in November, just after Facebook, Google and Twitter testified before Congress, only about four in 10 Americans{#only about four in 10 Americans} were concerned that the government wouldn't do enough to regulate the tech companies.
>
> Now that number has jumped to 55%. Notably, 45% of Republicans—who are usually skeptical about government regulation—share the concern that government won't do enough. Independents showed the biggest shift with an increase of 20 percentage points.

They aren't mentioning censorship, but that is absolutely the biggest reason that the right is concerned about it.

If the left is concerned about some Russian gibberish—whatever. It doesn't make any difference. We just absolutely have to get the government involved. Once they are involved, they won't have any choice but to do something about the free speech issue. Right now, the whole context of the censorship discussion is "yeah but it's private companies tho" —with leftists of course using this libertarian extremist position because it's convenient.

The same people who scream "BAKE THE CAKE, BIGOT" telling you the most powerful company that has ever existed—Google—should decide what you are allowed to say should tell you where the left is at in terms of intellectual honesty.

I am not a libertarian and I don't care about their beliefs regarding private companies. In order to have a society, you have to have government regulations of private enterprise. If you just take it to the ultimate extreme, you can see that: every grocery store is privately owned, so if all private companies are allowed to deny you service because of your beliefs, you could be forced to starve to death because you're a racist.

Or they could shut off your heat in the winter and let you freeze to death.

I promise you, leftists want me to starve and/or freeze to death because of my politics.

But if you want to take it out of the realm of life or death, how about the phone company, or the internet provider itself, saying you don't deserve to have these services in your home?

There has to be a dialectic between "total government control" and "no government regulation" —especially in a society as unstable and divided as ours is right now.

The Daily Stormer Situation

Unlike most folks, I've been banned from PayPal since 2014 and from Twitter since 2015. Other services at various times. I am the most censored person in all of human history.

But the banning of me from registrars and other backbone services after Charlottesville—ostensibly because I made a really mean fat joke —put this discussion into perspective. The actual goal was to completely remove me from the internet. I have been banned from GoDaddy, then Google, then over a dozen other registrars.

Video Link

Furthermore, I have signed up for services and then been told my business was not wanted—so the industry is communicating internally about me, with someone warning companies not to do business with me.

So the "private company" argument is for sure not valid with me—this is an organized conspiracy by the entire tech industry to silence me.

Although I have personally been through total hell dealing with this, what they have done to me will give the government a reason to come in and regulate. My situation has already been cited by the FCC in a filing relating to net neutrality, and Cloudflare CEO Matthew Prince, who is currently lobbying the government to intervene in the tech industry to stop political censorship, is using me as the example of why it needs to be done.

The current status quo is not sustainable, and everyone except the insane Jews lobbying for everything to be shut down knows this.

Censorship is a slippery slope.

Look:

I was banned from Twitter, and three years later they have just banned Tommy Robinson —a Zionist anti-racist activist who is critical of some forms of extreme Islam.

Last year, a move was made to completely remove me from the internet, resulting in this situation we have now where we have to constantly move from domain to domain to stay online—so if we stay on this path, in three years Tommy Robinson will be told he can't stay on the internet at all.

And who will Twitter be banning at that point? At this rate, three years from now Twitter will no longer be a functioning website a because they will have banned everyone other than Anita Sarkeesian and the official ADL account.

These companies cannot do business this way. They are not setup to decide what is and isn't okay to say online. And once they've banned one person, it becomes "how can you ban x person and not y person????" —because if you are banning legal speech, you de facto endorse any speech you are not banning as "okay."

Because of the frothing-at-the-mouth madness of the left right now, the Silicon Vally companies that are NOT run by Jews want government regulation so they don't need to deal with this.

This is the Most Important Issue

The Jews are too stupid to back off of this.

No, not stupid. They're just biologically incapable of reflecting on the real world effects of their behavior, in any situation. And in this situation, that means that they're going to push this censorship so far that the government comes in. As I say, they already have.

They bet everything on Hillary getting elected. The weekend after the election, the ADL held a conference entitled "Never is Now" (precious name, but they used a version of the Nine Inch Nails logo to advertise it, which I found strange—Trent Rezor was not a speaker) where they called for hate speech laws.

The conference had obviously been planned and the speeches written before the election, so they were planning to immediately start pushing her for these laws.

But something terrible happened to the Jews that November.

So with the plan of government censorship having failed, they went full-on with threatening private companies into censoring. And ironically, this is going to lead to them triggering the government into coming in and doing the opposite of censoring—implementing regulations which say that the internet is the modern public square, so companies have to respect our free speech rights.

So keep pushing this.

We need an old 4chan-style troll to get leftists to demand it. Get them to start posting memes about the solution to the Russian conspiracy being government intervention, saying they should demand it. Because no matter what, once the government starts regulating, speech is something they will regulate.

The SINGLE excuse for not doing it is "muh private company," and once the government is regulating, that will no longer be an excuse.

Just imagine the government coming in and saying that all of us are allowed back on Twitter and we can't be banned unless we say something that is literally criminal.

Just imagine it for a moment.

DS

HAPPENING: Active Shooter on Michigan University Campus, 2 Confirmed Kills

Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer
March 2, 2018
15:33 EST

Turns out this nigger wasn't a mass shooter after all, just shot his own parents and then ran away:

BBC:

> Police in the US state of Michigan are hunting a student who shot and killed his parents when they came to pick him up for spring break, US media report.
>
> James Eric Davis Jr reportedly gunned down his mother and father in his dormitory a day after he went to hospital for a drug-related issue.
>
> The victims are Diva Davis, 47, and James Eric Davis Sr, 48, according to television station WILX.
>
> They were shot on the fourth floor of Campbell Hall, according to police.

11:20 EST

Wow, this is so gosh-darned convenient, isn't it?

Fox News:

> Two people were fatally shot when a gunman opened fire inside a Michigan university building early Friday morning, police said.
>
> Central Michigan University police confirmed to Fox News the two people were killed when the gunman opened fire inside Campbell Hall on campus. No other injuries were reported and the suspect is still at large and considered "armed and dangerous."
>
> "The deceased are not students and police believe the situation started from a domestic situation," police said in a tweet.
>
> CMU police confirm two individuals were fatally shot at Campbell Hall on campus this morning. The deceased are not students and police believe the situation started from a domestic situation. There are no additional injuries; suspect is still at large: https://t.co/AxvPn3N0s0
>
> — Central Michigan U. (@CMUniversity) March 2, 2018
>
> Officials said they are searching for a 19-year-old black man who is approximately 5 foot 9 inches tall. He is wearing yellow-colored jeans, a blue hoodie with a weapon tucked in his belt.
>
> Local media identified the suspect as James Eric Davis, Jr.
>
> "He is considered armed & dangerous. If you see the suspect, do not approach him. Call 911," city officials said in a tweet.
>
> Central Michigan University went on lockdown after students and faculty were sent emergency alerts around 9 a.m. on Friday.

I'm not going to do the crisis actor conspiracy shit, because it can't be proved.

But I am going to say this: it sure is a great time for this to happen, what with the backlash against David Hogg and Emma Gonzales.

And it really does make you think.

Although at this point it isn't clear if this is a mass casualty/random shooter event or not. If it's not, then no, that wouldn't seem questionable. Also, it's a black guy, and that is not the typical mass-shooter profile (probably because they don't take SSRI drugs).

Wait sorry, that's not the suspect that's a host.

I actually would believe that particular black guy would be a mass-shooter. Wtf is going on with his face?

DS

Tommy Robinson Suspended From Twitter – They're Coming for the "Moderates" Now

Roy Batty
Daily Stormer
March 2, 2018

Tommy Robinson is in trouble again.

He's been put in Twitter jail over something he tweeted related to Muzzie grooming gangs.

RT:

> A freedom of speech row has erupted on Twitter after far-right activist Tommy Robinson was suspended from the platform. His supporters soon hit out at the company, claiming their rights of expression are being curtailed.
>
> Robinson (real name Stephen Christopher Lennon) previously had his official "blue tick" stripped by the social media giant. He has now been suspended from Twitter altogether after quoting a report which gave details on grooming gangs in the UK.
>
> Think tank the Quilliam Foundation detailed, in a report released last month, that 84 percent of people convicted of child grooming-gang offenses since 2005 were from an Asian background. The report found 222 of 264 of people convicted of specific grooming-gang crimes were Asian, while 18 were listed as white and 22 as black.

Does this surprise anyone? Shit, I bet the "Whites" that do engage in child-grooming are really just kikes anyway [the only whites I've ever seen involved were women -Ed]. And Muzzie child-grooming gangs is old news. These subhumans want to fuck every single White woman and kill every single White man.

This is how conquering armies operate.

The real story though is this: lest we forget, when the Daily Stormer and various Alt-Right accounts on Twitter and Youtube came under attack, all of these "moderate" voices kept silent.

Paul Joseph Watson and Alex Jones are also facing censorship now.

> "YouTube is a private company."
>
> Bla Bla Bla. Fuck off.
>
> Google basically is the Internet at this point.
>
> PUBLIC
>
> — Paul Joseph Watson (@Prison-Planet) October 24, 2017

Did they really think that the Left would stop with Andrew Anglin?

Well, if they did, they made a massive mistake. But I believe their decisions were informed by their complete cowardice or misunderstanding of how the Jewish media operates. Perhaps they really thought that they could get away with their activities as long as they threw a few frog-posters, anon content creators and Anglin under the bus.

Again, they were all either cowards or idiots.

And honestly, they didn't really even have to back the Alt-Right to the hilt or anything like that. They didn't need to come out and explicitly accept White Nationalism in front of their world.

All they needed to do was come out in defense of free speech as a principle.

But they didn't. And what did that do for them in the end?

It bought them some time, that's all.

And now the purges against people like Alex Jones on Youtube and Tommy Robinson on Twitter among many other more moderate right-wing personalities are starting.

So congrats guys, enjoy the ban. Don't say that you weren't warned that it was coming, though.

DS

NRA Says They Talked to Trump, He is Good on Guns

Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer
March 2, 2018

You always have to just pay attention to what Trump does and not what he says. Especially when he is trolling Democrats. Pay it no mind.

He has an interest in appearing to be reasonable, so he did this thing with the Democrats where he was like, "oh interesting ideas hm okay."

But he's not going to cuck on what is basically the single unifying issue in this divided country.

Fox News:

> Just one day after putting the NRA on the defensive with stunning televised comments, President Trump has signaled in an Oval Office meeting that he doesn't want gun control, according to the NRA's top lobbyist.
>
> Chris Cox, the executive director of the NRA's Institute for Legislative Action, tweeted late Thursday that "POTUS & VPOTUS support the Second Amendment, support strong due process and don't want gun control."
>
> I had a great meeting tonight with @realDonaldTrump & @VP. We all want safe schools, mental health reform and to keep guns away from dangerous people. POTUS & VPOTUS support the Second Amendment, support strong due process and don't want gun control. #NRA #MAGA
>
> — Chris Cox (@ChrisCoxNRA) March 2, 2018
>
> About an hour later, Trump appeared to endorse Cox's version of events with a tweet of his own: "Good (Great) meeting in the Oval Office tonight with the NRA!"
>
> Good (Great) meeting in the Oval Office tonight with the NRA!
>
> — Donald J. Trump (@realDonaldTrump) March 2, 2018
>
> On Wednesday, Trump shocked observers during a televised discussion with bipartisan lawmakers by appearing to endorse extreme gun control measures.
>
> "Take the guns first. Go through due process second," Trump said. "I like taking the guns early."

I have no idea how anyone interpreted those statements as something other than a troll.

Come on now.

This whole gun control thing in the wake of the Florida shooting has already collapsed. They put it on these disgusting kids and people were just like "wow, I hate these brats."

NRA membership skyrocketed and people were out buying mass amounts of firearms.

Half of the white population was accusing them of being part of some kind of CIA black operation. The Jews have now totally flipped their shit and basically apologized for trying to make them a thing.

Even the WaPo printed a piece doing damage control on the fact that their own readers hate these kids.

I have never seen a backlash like this.

The Jews have ended up censoring the crisis actor stuff. And though I'm open to the idea that certain elements of the way the shooting happened are suspicious, I don't really think this was a gigantic kike psyop.

The SPLC tried to say I was promoting a theory—they always try to tie everything to me— but all I said was that David Hogg was clearly being groomed in some capacity for these television appearances.

It is genuinely encouraging on some level that we are at a point in this country when they can roll out school shooting survivors and people are just like "yo fuck these kids trying to tell me what to do, this is a hoax!"

I listened to The Daily Shoah the other day on this topic, and Mike was saying that this is a sign of how divided the country is. And yeah I think that is part of it, but a bigger thing being indicated here is just how much the people now feel as though they are being bullied by the media, and how little they trust it.

That said, the two kids they picked to do this bit were uniquely repulsive, and I don't know how it would have went if they had chosen a couple of kids who were less so.

But wow. People hate them.

REMEMBER TO JOIN THE NRA TO END SEMITISM

DS

California, The Brownest State, Also has the Worst Quality of Living

Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer
March 2, 2018

Shithole countries are not shitholes because of their geography, they are shitholes because they are filled with shitholers.

California was once right up near the peak of Western civilization, then it was decided that it should be filled with shitholers.

It is now a complete and total shithole.

Fox News:

> California ranks dead last among U.S. states in quality of life, according to a study by U.S. News, ranking behind New Jersey (49th) and Indiana (48th).
>
> The ignominious honor reflects California's low marks in the subcategories of environmental quality and social engagement. The latter category measures voting participation and community bonds.
>
> Californians scored poorly in part because they're simply insufferable, U.S. News suggested.
>
> "In addition to a healthy environment, a person's quality of life is largely a result of their interactions with those around them," the magazine wrote in a blurb accompanying the results.
>
> One way to measure quality life is whether residents can even afford to have a roof over their heads, and by that standard, California is failing.
>
> A 2017 Harvard University report said that one-third of renters in the Los Angeles area are "severely rent burdened," meaning they spend at least half their income on housing. The median rent for a one-bedroom apartment in Los Angeles County has increased 67%, according to Zillow's Rent Index, the Los Angeles Times reports.
>
> Homelessness has surged a stunning 75 percent in the last six years, the Los Angeles Times reports, and there are now at least 55,000 homeless people in the county.

California is in fact shittier than any shithole country, if you're going to include the issue of community bonds.

Mexico is a prime shithole, but it has great community bonds, because it is ethnically homogeneous. California has a lot of Mexicans, but it also has shitholers from the world over, thus making community bonds effectively impossible.

Mexicans in Mexico

Mexicans in California

All of what is happening in California—and across the rest of the country—right now was predicted by academics.

Ten years ago, a study was done on how diversity affects the social order, and it was determined that it breaks down trust and causes people to "hunker down."

This is from 2007 in the Boston Globe:

> IT HAS BECOME increasingly popular to speak of racial and ethnic diversity as a civic strength. From multicultural festivals to pronouncements from political leaders, the message is the same: our differences make us stronger.
>
> But a massive new study, based on detailed interviews of nearly 30,000 people across America, has concluded just the opposite. Harvard political scientist Robert Putnam—famous for "Bowling Alone," his 2000 book on declining civic engagement—has found that the greater the diversity in a community, the fewer people vote and the less they volunteer, the less they give to charity and work on community projects. In the most diverse communities, neighbors trust one another about half as much as they do in the most homogenous settings. The study, the largest ever on civic engagement in America, found that virtually all measures of civic health are lower in more diverse settings.

...

"We can't ignore the findings," says Ali Noorani, executive director of the Massachusetts Immigrant and Refugee Advocacy Coalition. "The big question we have to ask ourselves is, what do we do about it; what are the next steps?"

Note that since this study, the only step which has been taken is to force white people, against their will, to accept diversity and to attack them as racial haters if they resist. These attacks include getting them fired and kicked off of internet platforms.

Putnam's work adds to a growing body of research indicating that more diverse populations seem to extend themselves less on behalf of collective needs and goals.

His findings on the downsides of diversity have also posed a challenge for Putnam, a liberal academic whose own values put him squarely in the pro-diversity camp. Suddenly finding himself the bearer of bad news, Putnam has struggled with how to present his work. He gathered the initial raw data in 2000 and issued a press release the following year outlining the results. He then spent several years testing other possible explanations.

. . .

Putnam claims the US has experienced a pronounced decline in "social capital," a term he helped popularize. Social capital refers to the social networks—whether friendships or religious congregations or neighborhood associations—that he says are key indicators of civic well-being. When social capital is high, says Putnam, communities are better places to live. Neighborhoods are safer; people are healthier; and more citizens vote.

The results of his new study come from a survey Putnam directed among residents in 41 US communities, including Boston. Residents were sorted into the four principal categories used by the US Census: black, white, Hispanic, and Asian. They were asked how much they trusted their neighbors and those of each racial category, and questioned about a long list of civic attitudes and practices, including their views on local government, their involvement in community projects, and their friendships. What emerged in more diverse communities was a bleak picture of civic desolation, affecting everything from political engagement to the state of social ties.

Putnam knew he had provocative findings on his hands. He worried about coming under some of the same liberal attacks that greeted Daniel Patrick Moynihan's landmark 1965 report on the social costs associated with the breakdown of the black family. There is always the risk of being pilloried as the bearer of "an inconvenient truth," says Putnam.

After releasing the initial results in 2001, Putnam says he spent time "kicking the tires really hard" to be sure the study had it right. Putnam realized, for instance, that more diverse communities tended to be larger, have greater income ranges, higher crime rates, and more mobility among their residents—all factors that could depress social capital independent of any impact ethnic diversity might have.

"People would say, 'I bet you forgot about X,'" Putnam says of the string of suggestions from colleagues. "There were 20 or 30 X's."

But even after statistically taking them all into account, the connection remained strong: Higher diversity meant lower social capital. In his findings, Putnam writes that those in more diverse communities tend to "distrust their neighbors, regardless of the color of their skin, to withdraw even from close friends, to expect the worst from their community and its leaders, to volunteer less, give less to charity and work on community projects less often, to register to vote less, to agitate for social reform more but have less faith that they can actually make a difference, and to huddle unhappily in front of the television."

"People living in ethnically diverse settings appear to 'hunker down' — that is, to pull in like a turtle," Putnam writes.

In documenting that hunkering down, Putnam challenged the two dominant schools of thought on ethnic and racial diversity, the "contact" theory and the "conflict" theory. Under the contact theory, more time spent with those of other backgrounds leads to greater understanding and harmony between groups. Under the conflict theory, that proximity produces tension and discord.

The rise in racism over the last decade shows that the conflict theory is absolutely true. Even now, people who shill against racism do not live in diverse neighborhoods. Jared Taylor has made a point about this—Tim Wise, the SPLC figureheads, all of these people, live in virtually entirely white neighborhoods, as they lecture the working and middle class whites who are forced to live in diversity about how evil they are.

Speaking of the SPLC, Heidi Beirich once gave a presentation demonstrating that she was aware of the Putnam study.

At an anti-racist forum in Washington, DC in 2016, she said the following:

> What we know from sociological research is that when a neighborhood diversifies people retreat to their homes, they hunker down. You have to really take serious positive work in rapidly changing demographic areas, to not result in either social breakdown or other problems. It's a big issue for the United States. On its own, it's not gonna happen.

So the premiere anti-racist organization in America, the Jewish advocacy group SPLC, is aware that diversity causes social breakdown and they still want to force it down the throats of white people.

Why?

What reason could they possibly have for this, other than that they want to harm us on purpose?

And if you accept that yes, this Jewish ethnic activist group is purposefully harming white people—I don't believe there is any other possible conclusion—then you again have to ask: why?

Why do Jews appear, as a group, to be working to hurt white people on purpose?

DS

YouTube Getting Sued for Discriminating Against White Males!

Adrian Sol
Daily Stormer
March 2, 2017

These tubes are not your friend.

Is it any wonder YouTube's staff is "accidentally" disabling even moderate right-wing accounts, if they have hardcore anti-White hiring policies?

It looks like it's damn near impossible to get through that front door unless you're some kind of negro carpet-munching bulldyke.

Pretty much every HR department in major corporations will have similar hiring practices, but typically tech companies will let in a few Asian and White men to actually do the work. Increasingly, it seems like Google is trying to find some new method of operating a technology business without any actual skilled engineers.

I got that feeling initially when hearing about how Google was designing its own language, Golang, with a stated purpose of being "easier" to work with, especially in large teams of "entry-level" programmers. In other words, they're developing new technologies to allow swarms of retard-tier Indians to do the work of White engineers.

Primary benefit: high IQ and discipline not required. Also: grammar mistake in the opening slide of this presentation, smdh. Yes, an Indian is responsible.

So stories like this aren't especially surprising.

Fast Company:

> YouTube will likely incur the wrath of people who think diversity is a four-letter word in the wake of a lawsuit that accuses the streaming giant of limiting its hiring of white and Asian men as a way to ensure more diversity.
>
> The Wall Street Journal writes that Google-owned YouTube is being sued by former employee (and white male) Arne Wilberg because of its diversity-oriented hiring practices. "Last spring, YouTube recruiters were allegedly instructed to cancel interviews with applicants who weren't female, black or Hispanic," the Journal reports, "and to 'purge entirely' the applications of people who didn't fit those categories."

tfw it's time to "purge entirely" White males.

> Google strongly rejected the charge while also defending its attempts to build a diverse workforce. "We have a clear policy to hire candidates based on their merit, not their identity," a Google spokesperson told the Journal in a statement.

"At the same time, we unapologetically try to find a diverse pool of qualified candidates for open roles, as this helps us hire the best people, improve our culture, and build better products."

In other words, "we're definitely not guilty of whatever this lawsuit alleges, but we totally believe in discriminating against White males."

Scumbag Google strikes again.

In his suit, Wilberg claims he was fired for retaliation because of complaints that he was being discriminated against because of his race and gender. This despite the countless white males who work for the tech giant. The legal action comes amid claims made by former Google employee James Damore that he was fired for penning an anti-diversity memo that stirred up a firestorm of controversy.

"The countless White males who work for the tech giant."

Really? Hmmmm....

Somehow, I'm not so sure about that.

Frankly, I think this whole mess is a combination of two factors. On one hand, the Google administration wants to reduce their dependency on a few highly competent White and (to a lesser extent) Asian males, and instead have a more manageable army of low skilled laborers. On the other, the company's staff has been taken over by insane SJW activists who couldn't care less about Google's bottom line, and the higher ups are afraid to go against them. This was suggested by some tech experts during the Damore fiasco.

It's really a wonder that the company can even operate at this rate. But judging by the state of YouTube, things might be at the point where they start to deteriorate quickly from here on out.

DS

Study: Body Odor is More Offensive to People with Right Wing Beliefs

Michael Byron
Daily Stormer
March 2, 2018

Have you ever walked past an Indian and almost gagged from his pungent stench?

Have you ever watched footage of an Antifa demonstration on Fox News and thought "Christ, those people need the healing power of soap?"

Have you applied water to your body within the last fortnight with the expressed intention of becoming cleaner?

If you answered "yes" to at least one of the above questions, then there's a good chance you want to force a Jew onto a roller coaster, order him to buckle up, and laugh like a German as he loop-the-loops into the ovens of Auschwitz.

Pure. Scientific. Fact.
Breitbart:

A study has found that the more a person is revolted by the smell of body odour and urine the more likely they are to be right wing and want to secure national borders.

Research conducted by the University of Stockholm, Sweden, also found that left-wingers were less revolted by bad personal hygiene, reports MailOnline.

Psychologists believe that it represents a deep-rooted "defence mechanism" against contagious diseases.

Indeed, a Royal Society paper proposed in 2011 that disgust "evolved to motivate infectious disease avoidance".

The study's author, Dr. Jonas Olofsson, said: "There was a solid connection between how strongly someone was disgusted by smells and their desire to have a dictator-like leader who can suppress radical protest movements and ensure that different groups "stay in their places".

"That type of society reduces contact among different groups and, at least in theory, decreases the chance of becoming ill."

Researchers theorise a correlation between how test subjects wanted the world to be ordered and the rates of levels of disgust to bad breath, smelly feet, urine, faeces, sweat, and flatulence.

The more a person disliked bad smells, the greater they agreed with statements such as the need to trust "the proper authorities", need a "mighty leader", and want to ignore "noisy rabble-rousers".

The paper, published in the Royal Society Open Science journal, also details that in a further experiment those who expressed greater aversion to bad smells were more likely to have supported Donald Trump than Hillary Clinton in the 2016 U.S. presidential election.

Das rite.

I'm sure that disease avoidance contributes to this phenomenon to some extent. Every red-blooded fascist knows that liberals, faggots and other undesirables are walking vectors of disease (most famously GRIDs), so it's natural for external manifestations of that internal decay—BO, halitosis, etc. —to disgust us.

But I think Dr. Olofsson & team are overcomplicating the issue, as most overeducated people do.

For me, it's simply a question of self-respect. Liberalism tends to attract broken people who value hedonism over restraint, laziness over productivity and self-neglect over self-improvement. If you're a smelly left-winger...

...then you're obviously going to be more tolerant (and even attracted) to people who have similarly low personal standards.

People with strong morals and discipline, on the other hand, are much more likely to look after themselves and attract people who think the same way.

It's just common sense, goys.

DS

UK: Cucked London School Bans Kids from Touching Snow

Michael Byron
Daily Stormer
March 2, 2018

Sweden, are you there?

I've got some bad news m8.

The UK has just overtaken you in the race for "Most Cucked Nation in Europe" again.

Apparently, those ambitious Bongs read about the whole "men peeing while sitting down" thing you like to promote and said: "You call that cucked? We'll show the world what it means to be cucked..."

Breitbart:

> The head teacher of a London primary school has banned pupils from "touching" the snow because he is fearful of parents suing and of children being too cold to work.
>
> Ges Smith, of the Jo Richardson Community School in Dagenham, east London, claimed that playing with snow could distract children and injuries could prompt damaging lawsuits.

Before we continue, let me emphasize that Dagenham and its schools are much whiter on average than the rest of London:

> At the time of the 2011 census, the Alibon ward (north of Heathway station) was 61% White British and 15% Black African.[21] Goresbrook ward (southwest from Heathway) was 57% White British and 17% Black African.[22] River ward (south of Heathway) was 51% White British and 19% Black African.[23] Village ward (east from Heathway) was 58% White British and 19% Black African.[24] Eastbrook ward (around Eastbrookend Country) was 69% White British and 11% Black African.[25] Heath ward (north of Heathway) was 60% White British and 17% Black African.[26]
>
> Dagenham is more ethnically homogeneous compared to the other town of the borough, Barking, where the indigenous population is in the minority.

Hence, most of the children affected by this nonsense are going to be white. But you probably already guessed that, since this sort of thing only happens to white children.

> He told Piers Morgan on ITV's Good Morning Britain on Tuesday: "We do simple rules, applied easily. The rules are don't touch the snow. If you don't touch the snow you're not going to throw it.
>
> "The problem is it only takes one stone, one piece of grit in a snowball in an eye... [and] the first thing that happens is a parent is on that phone to that company to make that claim and I'm responsible."
>
> He added that it was "also about being fit for work. If your hands are cold you're not ready. If the last thing you do is have a snowball in your face you're not ready for school."
>
> Mr. Morgan, who is frequently outspoken, responded by comparing the school to a "prison camp" after branding the teacher a "killjoy".
>
> "Kids love snow," he said. "We only get snow, what—three, four days of the year?"

Piers Morgan is the Eternal Anglo who keeps telling Americans to relinquish their guns. You know you've entered serious cuckold territory when even he is disgusted by your actions.

It's easy to dismiss this head teacher as a kook who's preventing children of both sexes from having fun out of fear of legal action. However, I believe that cases like these—and there are a lot of them coming out of the UK in particular—are part of a more sinister agenda, namely, the ongoing feminization of the West.

Snowball fights are a masculine pastime. Boys throw snowballs at each other, cuss at each other, injure each other and, in the process, bond. The kikes that control the UK need to suppress these early expressions of masculinity, minor though they are, because boys who are allowed to be boys throughout childhood usually end up becoming men rather than faggots and trannies.

And we all know how that ends up, don't we?

Ges Smith won't understand what I'm talking about because he's a brainless golem rather than an actual Jew. But, like all head teachers in the UK, he gets paid to enforce the Jewish agenda, and the outcome remains the same.

It's pretty sad, but no longer surprising. I mean, the British authorities already regard teaspoons and bicycle wheels as deadly weapons. Why not ice crystals too?

DS

Will we Get Some Juicy #MeToo Pedo Revelations at the Oscars?

Adrian Sol
Daily Stormer
March 2, 2017

The next Oscars might just be an-nuda' shoah!

Okay, so the anti-Semitic #MeToo movement has given us generous blessings up to this point. We got Weinstein, we got Wiesel, we got Louis C.K...

But we all know that this is only the tip of the iceberg.

The juicy stuff is still to come. Everyone knows there's some depraved pizzagate-tier shit going on in Hollywood, and has been for a long time. Until now, the accusations have largely been about innocuous Jewish misbehavior involving grabbing the odd bitch here and there or jacking off in ficus plants.

Snore.

But the upcoming Oscar ceremonies will be a good occasion to let loose some ground-breaking revelations. And the pressure is mounting steadily, to the point where anyone who won't speak up will be considered a shill or even co-conspirator.

We need names. And I'm talking, European-style socialist names, here.

Washington Post:

> The film industry was far from the only one shown to be riddled with problems related to the treatment of women, but it holds a particularly ignominious role as ground zero for the larger #MeToo movement. Movie producer Harvey Weinstein hangs like a specter over this year's ceremony. Criticism has already spilled into full view, with Hollywood taking it on the chin publicly.
>
> In the heart of Los Angeles, three billboards made in the style of the Oscar-nominated "Three Billboards Outside Ebbing, Missouri" were draped with sharp messages that took aim at the industry's complicity in the sexual-misconduct scandals.
>
> "We all knew and still no arrests," read one of the billboards, all of which were located near Wilshire Boulevard and La Brea Avenue.

"Knowing" isn't going to lead to arrests, you dumbass. We're gonna need an extra step here.

Viper is very dissapoint.

"Name names on stage or shut the hell up!" read another.

"And the Oscar for biggest pedophile goes to..."

Now we're getting somewhere.

The Los Angeles street artist Sabo, a supporter of President Trump, took credit for the billboards on Wednesday, part of a wave of criticism from conservatives against the predominantly liberal industry, which has grown louder during the Trump administration.

On the other side of the spectrum, an artist known for making unflattering statues of a naked Trump around the country, immortalized Hollywood's infamous "casting couch" —the practice of powerful men offering women roles in exchange for sex—with a statue of a robe-wearing Weinstein on a gold sofa.

A gold couch? Is that an anti-Semitic dog-whistle I hear? Oy vey.

So we've got two possibilities for these upcoming Oscar ceremonies. Either the Hollywood stars will be dropping some bombs on stage, which should cause a stir, or they won't. If European-style socialists manage to completely squash whistleblowers through threats or whatever, this is going to be very conspicuous. Everyone is expecting something to happen.

Honestly, the worst possibility is if they name some names, but it's just a few minor ones. This would require the Hollywood elites conspiring to intentionally sacrifice one of their own, and it's unclear they'll be willing to do so.

So it's hard to predict what will happen.

But my gut tells me we're in for some major lulz.

DS

"The Italians Need to be Accompanied in the Change of Composition of Their Population"

Diversity Macht Frei
March 2, 2018

Kyenge in Macerata after Luca Traini made his dramatic gesture of defiance

Cécile Kyenge is an African who invaded Italy illegally. Somehow she was allowed to stay, acquired citizenship and, at one point, became a minister in the Italian government. She is still an MEP and regularly lectures Italians on how evil they are for wanting to exist, and makes prolific use of the criminal law to persecute Italians who express unhappiness about the genocide being inflicted on them by their own government.

With the Italian elections upcoming on March 4, she was interviewed (in French) recently on La Matinale, a Swiss radio program. Almost the entirety of the discussion focused on the supposed racism, fascism and irrational hatred of the Italians, as revealed by the fact that some of them do not want to simply hand their country over to Africans.

In the course of the discussion, Kyenge made the following extraordinary remarks.

> Interviewer: In Italy, these fascist, xenophobic, racist demonstrations...you are of Congolese origin, you were the first black minister in Italy, you had to endure racist insults from members of the Italian political class, very violent insults, we won't go back over that, is there a specific problem in Italy because in Switzerland, for example, that would be completely impossible?
>
> Kyenge: It's not a specific problem in Italy. But racism exists. There are laws that are badly applied. There is a population that needs to be *accompanied in this change, I can say, this change of population, the change in the composition of the population, the mobility is not specific to Italy, it's a global phenomenon.

[Il y a une population qui a besoin d'être accompagnée dans ce changement, je peux dire, ce changement de la population, le changement de la composition de la population, c'est un phénomène global.]

Alongside its obvious English equivalent, the French word accompagner can also have the meaning of "to support, to assist".*

Yes, it's a global phenomenon. All white people, it seems, need to be accompanied in the change in the composition of our population. We should be grateful for thoughtful Africans like Cécile Kyenge who want to support us in this difficult time.

Source
Video Link

DS

World

Oz: "Kill Climate Deniers" Play Opens (Because They Actually Want to Kill You)

Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer
March 4, 2018

> Kill Climate Deniers: Playwright takes on Andrew Bolt, climate change sceptics and Breitbart News https://t.co/ZcfPIcxJO9 via @ClimateDepot
>
> — Marc Morano (@ClimateDepot) March 1, 2018

Yeah so. They definitely want to kill you for disagreeing with their cult-type beliefs.

Washington Times:

> Global warming skeptics, beware: A play with the alarming title "Kill Climate Deniers" may be coming to a theater near you.
>
> Written by Australian playwright David Finnigan, "Kill Climate Deniers" kicked off Thursday the 2018 season of the Griffin Theatre in Sydney after a week of previews, with the final show scheduled for April 7.
>
> The plot? "As a classic rock band take the stage in Parliament House's main hall, 96 armed eco-terrorists storm the building and take the entire government hostage, threatening to execute everyone unless Australia ends global warming. Tonight," said the play's website.
>
> The play was commissioned in 2014 with a $19,000 grant from the Australian government, but its first staging was shut down following a backlash led by conservative Herald Sun columnist Andrew Bolt.

Of course, they would claim that "it's just a joke."

However, as the number one person who jokes nonstop about killing his enemies, I can tell you point-blank that when you joke about killing your enemies you're actually just pretending to be joking. The whole thing is to use humor to bypass peoples' psychological blocks.

So yes. They are planning to kill global warming deniers.

> Chookas to everybody for tonight's first preview of "KILL CLIMATE DENIERS" by David Finnigan! Here we go! #killclimatedeniers pic.twitter.com/kszdJZveMC
>
> — Griffin Theatre Co (@griffintheatre) February 23, 2018

Because what else can they do to them? They already lost the argument. No one objective takes global warming seriously anymore. It got so goofy they had to change the name of the theory to "climate change."

This is the way all of this has gone: they have run out of arguments, and they are ready to start killing people for disagreeing.

DS

Fourth Term: Jabba the Merkel is Back in the Saddle Again

Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer
March 4, 2018

Video Link

Merkel has pulled it off, and gotten a mandate to continue to destroy Germany in the name of Allah.

RT:

> German's center-left Social Democrats (SPD) have agreed to form a grand coalition with Chancellor Angela Merkel's party, the CDU, after months of political uncertainty.
>
> Some 66 percent of the SPD members approved entering a coalition with Chancellor Angela Merkel's Christian Democratic Union (CDU) and its Bavarian sister party Christian Social Union (CSU), the social democrats' official confirmed on Sunday after a postal ballot.
>
> ...
>
> "We now have clarity," SPD chief Olaf Schols announced in the party's HQ in Berlin. He added that he'll work on putting a cabinet together this week. Scholz has already informed Merkel on his party fellows' decision. The acting Chancellor congratulated the SPD on the "clear result,"saying she is looking forward to continuing work with the Social Democrats.
>
> The stalemate to form a government has lasted for months, following the September 24 general election. The latest "grand coalition" has governed Germany since 2013.

It was pretty much destined that this would be figured out, but the troubles she had in figuring it out do not bode well.

She's clearly reaching the end of the line. Germany has all of the same boomer cucks we have in America who support this "rape my daughter, Achmed, please" shit, only they have it over 9000 because of this stupid Jew lampshade hoax they're supposed to be punishing themselves for.

But they are dying. The kids coming up in this poison culture do not feel they need to moralfag and white knight for haji over some fake nonsense from a century ago. With regards to the general feeling of the populace, time is definitely on our side—that is why the Jews are rushing to bury us in genetic waste product from shithole countries.

DS

Kenya: Doctors Perform Brain Surgery on Wrong Patient

Lee Rogers
Daily Stormer
March 3, 2018

Your typical African brain surgeon.

Let this story be a life lesson to everyone who reads it. Allowing Africans to do any type of surgery on you is he worst possible idea imaginable.

BBC:

> Staff from nurses to the CEO have been suspended at a Nairobi hospital after the wrong patient underwent brain surgery.
>
> One patient needed surgery for a blood clot on the brain, the other only non-invasive treatment for swelling.
>
> But a horrifying mix-up of identification tags saw the wrong man operated on, reports say.
>
> The doctors did not realise their mistake until "hours into the surgery", the Daily Nation reported.
>
> They then realised "there was no blood clot".
>
> The patient who was operated on is recovering, the hospital says, and an investigation is under way. Regulators have demanded a report and plan to hold a hearing.
>
> Social media users have expressed shock that such an incident could have been allowed to happen.

So not only did they misidentify the patient, but they failed to realize that they fucked up until several hours into the surgery.

Despite the shock expressed by people on social media, it is really not shocking at all. When you let a group of individuals who have IQ levels around that of a primate conduct surgical procedures, you should not expect a great result.

Take for example this African surgeon who just got out of work. He seems to think that it is perfectly proper to conduct surgical procedures with a machete. I personally disagree with this view.

Overall, I think it is safe to say that African surgical techniques leave much to be desired. Based on this story and others, there is definitely room for improvement.

DS

3pct. of the British Population Demands Better Representation in the Media

Diversity Macht Frei
March 3, 2018

They created their own culture by appropriating white culture

Only in a society with a deeply entrenched hostile elite committed to the dispossession of the indigenous people would anti-white vandals be declared "activists". You cannot have white supremacists in a country that is indigenous and majority white, they aren't seeking to subvert or change society, they aren't engaging in activities designed to fundamentally change the hierarchy.

How much accurate representation does 3% of the population disproportionately prone to crime need?

These young kangz are necessarily black supremacists, they don't want equality (a common theme amongst non-white activists), they want supremacy. Once they get supremacy you can bet they will vote for more and more wealth redistribution. Blacks officially comprise 3% of the population of the UK, if you take a cursory glance at programming on TV or film you will see that blacks get more than just 3% of roles.

> "I've been racially abused since I was 12," said Tekle, who is studying for A-levels in government politics, sociology and media studies at La Retraite sixth form in Lambeth. "And we are always looking at the media and never seeing any positive representations of black people. In big films, black characters are often playing criminals and drug dealers, and that quickly conditions people to believe that all black people are like that.

If this brave young kang, destined to become First Minister of the Wakandan Bureau of Racial Grievance, lives in Lambeth or Brixton (heavily colonised areas of London) I highly doubt he ever suffered racial abuse. He may have suffered ethnic abuse; as far as I know Tutsis are still engaged in battle with Hutu, or perhaps he's a Zulu that was "abused" by ethnically insensitive Hottentots?

> So this was the intro to last weeks extremely popular detective drama series "Endeavour".
>
> It is utterly reprehensible. Straight out lies and anti-white propaganda. You cannot make up history to fit your current ideology. #Endeavour pic.twitter.com/7OHEPuqBMM
>
> — Sussex Damsel (@blueeyedlimey) March 2, 2018

Also, maybe it's not the media, most of which bends over backwards to shove magical negroes in our faces that often dispense scintillating bon mots of wisdom, to blame for this perception that blacks are more likely to be engaged in criminal activity. Maybe it's that pesky white man invention "statistics" and that problematic tool of bigotry "observable reality" that slowly awakens otherwise racially blind whites to the idea that blacks are inherently different?

The data provide a breakdown of the ethnicity of the 18,091 men and boys who police took action against for a range of violent and sexual offences in London in 2009-10.

They show that among those proceeded against for street crimes, 54 per cent were black; for robbery, 59 per cent; and for gun crimes, 67 per cent. Street crimes include muggings, assault with intent to rob and snatching property.

Just over 12 per cent of London's 7.5 million population is black, including those of mixed black and white parentage, while 69 per cent is white, according to the Office for National Statistics.

The police figures also show that black men are twice as likely to be victims. They made up 29 per cent of the male victims of gun crime and 24 per cent of the male victims of knife crime.

The Met declined to comment on the statistics. However, some officers will see them as a justification for Operation Trident, a unit targeting black-on-black murder and violent crime.

Others will see it as justification for targeting a disproportionate number of black men under stop and search powers. Figures released annually have shown black people are at least six times more likely to be stopped and searched than their white counterparts.

On sex offences, black men made up 32 per cent of male suspects proceeded against, and white men 49 per cent. The statistics also suggest that black women are responsible for a disproportionate amount of violent crime committed by females.

Nah, it couldn't be

The statistics are far worse in the US (12% of the population):

Australia too (1.6%):

Not even multicultural, post-racial paradise Canada (2.5%) seems to be immune from disproportionate black violence and criminality:

This black propensity to criminality transcends socio-economic factors too:

Differences in crime between countries have often been suggested to be caused by socioeconomic factors but for African and Caribbean countries an association between higher crime rates and higher GDP/person has been found.

[source: Rushton, J. Philippe; Templer, Donald I. (2009). "National differences in intelligence, crime, income, and skin color". Intelligence 37 (4): 341–346.]

A 2016 US study found that although higher levels of wealth were associated with lower rates of incarceration, the likelihood of future incarceration still was higher for Blacks at every level of wealth compared to the White likelihood. Even rich Black kids more likely to go to prison than poor White kids. One of the researchers stated that "Race trumps class, at least when it comes to incarceration".

The researchers grouped participants in the survey by their race and their household wealth as of 1985 and then looked back through the data to see how many people in each group ultimately went to prison. Participants who were briefly locked up between interviews might not be included in their calculations of the share who were eventually incarcerated.

About 2.7 percent of the poorest white young people–those whose household wealth was in the poorest 10th of the distribution in 1985, when they were between 20 and 28 years old–ultimately went to prison. In the next 10th, 3.1 percent ultimately went to prison.

About 10 percent of affluent black youths in 1985 would eventually go to prison. Only the very wealthiest black youth–those whose household wealth in 1985 exceeded $69,000 in 2012 dollars–had a better chance of avoiding prison than the poorest white youth. Among black young people in this group, 2.4 percent were incarcerated.

[source: Khaing Zaw, Darrick Hamilton, William DarityJr. (2016). Race, Wealth and Incarceration: Results from the National Longitudinal Survey of Youth. Race and Social Problems, Volume 8, Issue 1 , pp 103-115. DOI: 10.1007/s12552-016-9164-y]

But I digress. Whole studies can be done on black propensity to crime (and resolutely ignored by all decent, white hating individuals).

So perhaps young Tekle can try to convert his strong black fellow kangz from criminals to normal, well adjusted human beings rather than pursue activities that promote his foreign ethnic interests to the detriment of the majority white population? Nah, that'd be too hard, nay impossible. Let's just prey on people's emotions and guilt trip them!

If Dr Who was a show about a transgendered negro that used voodoo

DS

"How Do You Create a Moslem?": Woman May Face Prison in Sweden for Humorous Facebook Meme

Diversity Macht Frei
March 2, 2017

A 32-year-old woman in Gothenburg, Sweden, has been charged with "Incitement to Hatred against a Group of People" for a graphic she posted in a private Facebook group last year.

The graphic, shown above, asks: "How do you create a Muslim?"

Step 1: Take out the brain
Step 2: Replace it with shit
Step 3: Put on bandages
Step 4: Let go

The police hauled her in for questioning, took her DNA, and asked her bizarre questions like "How do you feel about a multicultural society?" and "Have you anything against Muslims?"

She replied that she had nothing against Muslims, only the extremists; her best friend was a Muslim; she had been moved to make the post after reading about atrocities committed by ISIS; and she was ill at the time.

Despite begging the inquisitors for mercy, she was charged with "Incitement to Hatred", which in Sweden can carry a sentence of up to 2 years in prison.

Source.

DS

Hebrew Media Attacks Russia for Wanting to Defend Herself

Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer
March 2, 2018

Predictably, the Jewish media has taken a hostile approach to Vladimir Putin's declaration on Russia's new defense capabilities, framing him as the hostile one.

But here is the deal: the West has been trying to bully Russia since the collapse of the USSR, trying to use military aggression to absorb it into the Western Jew system of anal sex with men, feminism, atheism and mass immigration.

Russia is the last bastion of what we used to refer to as "Christian civilization."

As Russia has become the international bad guy once again in a cartoonish way, with Donald Trump being declared an agent of the Kremlin, it is no doubt becoming more and more difficult for any self-respecting individual to take any of this seriously.

RT:

> Unsurprisingly, Western news outlets focused on only one short segment of Vladimir Putin's two-hour speech on Thursday, reframing the state-of-the-nation address as a (nuclear-tipped) sabre rattle in front of a watching world.

In his message to Russia's Federal Assembly, Putin spent around four minutes on the new-generation Sarmat ICBM, and on an as-yet-unnamed nuclear cruise missile. The Russian President, who is facing re-election later this month, emphasized that both of these systems have almost unlimited reach, and are invulnerable to interception in-flight.

Putin reminded that Moscow promised as far back as 2004 to upgrade its nuclear capabilities as a means of deterring NATO from constructing a missile defense shield close to Russia's borders. Since then, US missile defense bases have been built in Romania and Poland. Putin complained that "no one wanted to talk to us then, no one listened."

"Listen to us now," he said on Thursday to applause.

But while the Russian leader's words definitely caught the international media's attention, whatever diplomatic intent was behind them went unheeded.

Almost every major mainstream outlet included references to "a new armsrace" or a "new Cold War," either in the text or the headline, while the Daily Beast accused the Russian leader of "boasting."

CNN's International Diplomatic Editor said that Putin's words sent out a "chilling message for everyone."

"It is bombastic talk in the extreme: a waggling of military parts in the faces of other nations, most likely right now the United States, whose own commander in chief is massively ramping up defense spending while downsizing his diplomatic power," he wrote.

Putin "wants modern weapons, not a modern Russia," boomed Bloomberg's headline.

"Without a coherent vision of the future or an attractive model for others to imitate, without any soft power to speak of, without an economic model that can ensure sustainable growth or keep people out of poverty the missile-rattling is a terrifying but hollow sound," wrote expat Russian journalist Leonid Bershidsky.

"There was a double message here. Firstly, to the West: Don't push us. And, with elections coming up, there was this for the Russian people: Vote for Putin and you'll be voting for national security," wrote Steven Rosenberg, a BBC News correspondent in Moscow.

The future of the West and of the world is now dependent on a strong Russia.

The media is goading Trump into getting MORE aggressive with Putin based on the fact that he can now nuke New York City at any moment.

I hope that Trump is able to spin this into "well maybe this means we should talk to him."

Video Link

Literally what is the theory as to why we should not be friends with Russia?

We all understand "because Jews," but why have they not been forced to explain what they mean when they claim we have conflicting interests?

The only conflicting interests relate to the Middle East and Israel. The Ukraine is irrelevant to anyone's interests. It is basically the last white shithole. Their economy is worse now than when the USSR collapsed. It is only relevant to Putin's interests in that it is good for domestic morale to have him defending ethnic Russians in a territory that a lot of people believe should still be a part of Russia.

But the Jews should be pressured into saying this. They should have to come out and say "all of this talk about Russia is actually just about Israel."

DS

Pro-Putin Politician Zhirinovsky Calls Liberal Jew Bitch Candidate a Whore on Russian National Television

Roy Batty
Daily Stormer
March 1, 2018

Video Link

Zhirinovsky is a Russian Nationalist, but he's so much more really.

He's a relic from the wild nineties when politics in Russia were actually interesting. During that time, he developed quite a reputation for speaking the truth occasionally and he kept at it for awhile, talking about how the fall of the USSR was engineered by the Jews among other things.

Video Link

He's half-Jewish himself, funny enough [though he spent most of his life trying to deny it. -Ed]

Anyways, some background. The woman he's yelling at is Ksenia Sobchak, the SJW candidate in these elections. She is the Jewish daughter of Putin's former boss, the first mayor of St. Petersburg after the collapse.

Papa Sobchak ran away to Paris with his stolen millions and when Putin rose to power, Putin invited him back to Russia.

He died soon after of a heart-related something. That something is the source of a lot of conspiracy theories surrounding Putin. Was it just heart attack or was it a heart failure or was it that his heart was...stopped.

That's Mama Sobchak on the right, looking at Putin with a very strange face at the funeral

There have always been rumors that Putin had his old boss offed and then made a deal with the wife that she toe the line. As a result, she's been living the high life for a decade, a Moscow socialite and string-puller.

But she's had a falling out with Putin—over what I don't know—and her daughter, Ksenia Sobchak who was the most famous whore of the nineties in Russia has now joined the opposition.

That was her then with the help of photoshop and makeup.

And this is her now.

She's trying to go for the whole SJW-Hipster look to get the youth behind her and her pro-feminist, pro-ZOG and pro-homo agenda.

And so Zhirinovsky just let her have it on the number one late night Russian politics talk show. This evisceration is the talk of the town in an otherwise boring election that Putin is absolutely sure to win and it is easy to see why.

Some dumb whore from a disgraced oligarch's family suddenly trying to lecture Russians on morality and how to run their country?

THOTs have no shame in general, but really?

This would be like having Kim Kardashian run for president of the US, get into the primaries and talk about how she's a wholesome family candidate that wants to reform the US to make it get with the times.

I mean the sheer affront of it all. Millions of normal, non-Urbanite scum Russians hate this woman with a seething passion.

And Zhirinovsky literally gives no fucks.

Video Link

It fell to him to patrol her. It couldn't have happened any other way. If I were Russian, he would have earned my vote after last night.

Video Link

Well done, old man. Well done.

DS

COME AT ME BRO: Putin Introduces Nukes Capable of Hitting Any City in the World, Tells ZOG to Pop Off

Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer
March 1, 2018

"We in Russia all the time, nigga. Don't act like you don't know where we be."

One thing about Vladimir Putin that the Jews have continued to fail to recognize is that he is not playing a game and he does not fuck around.

He just announced a new nuclear arsenal capable of busting all of the ZOG systems.

RT:

> Russia has developed a number of advanced weapons systems, including a nuclear-powered cruise missile, which make all US capabilities aimed at undermining the Russian nuclear deterrent obsolete, President Vladimir Putin announced.
>
> The latest advances in Russian strategic deterrence have made America's anti-missile systems obsolete, so Washington should stop trying to diminish Russia's security and start talking to Moscow as an equal partner, not the dominant military power it seeks to be, Putin said.
>
> The Russian leader made the comments during his state of the nation address on Wednesday. While the first part of the address was a straightforward description of domestic goals and achievements, the second became a defiant challenge to the US. Putin announced that Russia has successfully developed several new weapons systems, which basically negate American anti-ballistic missile capabilities.
>
> The Russian president accused the US of arrogance, saying that it thought that Russia would not be able to recover anytime soon after the collapse of the Soviet Union and that its interests can simply be ignored. One particular move—the withdrawal by George W Bush from the Anti-ballistic Missile Treaty (ABM) in 2002—resulted in Russia being increasingly surrounded by American assets, which > undermined the country's nuclear deterrence.

>
> "In the end, if we did nothing, this would render the Russian nuclear potential worthless," Putin said. "They could simply intercept all of it."
>
> Without a nuclear deterrent, Russia would be exposed to US military pressure and would not be able to pursue a sovereign policy, Putin said. The president warned as early as in 2004 that Russia would not sit idle and that it would respond to this threat by developing new weapons systems.

This is a huge deal. It changes the entire world order.

Video Link

The US Jew media is flipping out.

They're being more direct about the nature of these weapons, right up front.

Washington Post:

> Standing in front of an enormous backdrop depicting an outline of his nation's boundaries—Crimea jutting out at the far left—Russian President Vladimir Putin gave his annual state of the nation address on Thursday. In the tradition of Steve Jobs's old Apple keynotes, Putin saved the major hardware announcements for the end.
>
> The Russian military, he said, had developed a number of significant new military systems. One was a nuclear-powered drone submarine that could be deployed to initiate nuclear strikes around the world. Another was a new form of hypersonic missile that is much harder to detect by defense systems. Those missiles, too, could be armed with nuclear warheads.
>
> Most remarkably, Putin announced a new form of nuclear-powered cruise missile that also could initiate a nuclear strike. The advantage of using nuclear power for the missile is simple: Its range would be extended significantly. And that extension is central to the geopolitics behind Putin's announcements.

Apparently, they had no idea he was going to announce this. If I was the US intelligence services, I would have told the media beforehand to try and soften the blow. It also would have ruined the announcement in Russia.

Unless...unless the US intelligence services didn't even know he was going to announce this. Didn't even know they were developed at all.

And that my friends does appear to be what happened here. And developing weapons like this in total secrecy is a bigger achievement than the development of the weapons themselves. This is the information age, and information is more powerful than a nuclear-powered ICBM.

FULL ADDRESS, ENGLISH DUB:

Video Link

Russia is Your Friend

I am an American Nationalist, and I support the interests of my country above the interests of all other countries. However, the people that control my country do not have the interests of my country in mind. They are working for the interests of another country.

These people are trying to use our country to overtake the most natural ally of the American people, which is Russia.

The US and Russia being allies is the most obvious thing in the world. All of the interests of the people of our two countries overlap. There is no serious racial, religious or cultural difference between us. We should be allied.

But we are not, because America is run by Jews.

As America loses prominence on the global stage, the Jews who control it lose power, and this creates possibilities for the people of this country to retake control.

Just as an example of how that works: the fact that Russia now has the ability to nuke any city in America, just like we have the ability to nuke any city in Russia, now means that Donald Trump has more than enough of a pretext to stand up against the kikes who are trying to thwart him and fulfill his promise to WE, THE PEOPLE to be FRIENDS with Russia.

Furthermore, as I always tell the retards talking about having a violent revolution in America, there are only three ways right-wing regimes are established:

1. Electoral politics
2. A military coup
3. An invasion by a foreign power

And this sort of brings us to a point of realizing that #3 is within the realm of possibility.

And it also, you know—makes WWIII a helluva lot less likely.

DS

Denmark Planning to Punish Hajis Double for Their Crimes

Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer
March 1, 2018

So the situation in Western Europe is that they had all of these ultra-liberal "hand-off" policing policies. Because basically, in an all white country where everyone has food and shelter, you really do not have very much crime at all. So you can do some of this leftist fantasy shit.

But then you bring these brown people in, and it's like bringing a wolf to the dog park.

So just creating a law that allows you to give extra punishment to brown people is a sweet move. I don't understand how they're able to get away with this, and why if they are able to get away with it they can't just full-on remove kebab. But it's good.

RT:

> The Danish government has announced plans to double penalties for certain crimes committed in so-called "ghetto" areas. These districts are characterized by a higher than average immigrant population.
>
> Justice Minister, and Danish Conservative Party leader, Soren Pape Poulsen told Danish daily Berlingske that "vandalism, theft or threats could be the reason (for double penalties). That means the hammer will fall extra hard in those areas."
>
> Poulsen added that it would be at the discretion of local police to decide which offenses received double punishment.
>
> The plan is part of a national strategy to eliminate deprived ghetto areas by the year 2030. According to the government there are 22 "ghettos" in Denmark. In order to be classed as such, an area must meet one of five criteria; that the population is more than 50 percent non-western immigrant, more than 2.7 percent have a criminal conviction, unemployment is above 40 percent, over 50 percent have only a basic education and where the average gross income is less than 55 percent of the regional average.

Well, as long as you have brown people, you're going to have ghettoes. New York City is one of the richest cities on earth, and it has ghettoes. Because there are brown people. It's not just that they are prone to crime and irresponsible with money and so on—they actually prefer sub-standard conditions of living.

Denmark might be the first Western European country to remove kebab.

DS

Russian Whore Arrested in Thailand Begs Deep State to Bail Her Out in Exchange for Info on Trump

Roy Batty
Daily Stormer
March 1, 2018

Spend some time in Thailand on, say, Phuket and you'll quickly realize that it's becoming a Russian colony.

Then spend some time in the icy wastes of Russia and you'll see why Russian tourists flock to Thailand to get some vitamin C and fresh veggies once a year before going back to the grind.

There's your background—there are a lot of Russians in Thailand.

And this one chick apparently decided that she was going to pursue a lucrative career in whoredom with rich Chinese businessmen on vacation while she was there.

And you know she fucked up if she attracted the attention of the Thai authorities who are really lenient with that kind of stuff.

Washington Post:

> A self-described sex expert whose videos highlighted the ties between one of Russia's richest men and the Kremlin has been jailed in Thailand and is calling for U.S. help, claiming she has information about links between Russia and President Trump.
>
> Anastasia Vashukevich, an escort service worker from Belarus who catapulted to a certain measure of fame after filming a yacht trip with Russian billionaire Oleg Deripaska and Deputy Prime Minister Sergei Prikhodko, was detained in Thailand over the weekend in a police raid on her "sex training" seminar. While still in custody Tuesday, she published Instagram videos asking U.S. journalists and intelligence agencies to help her.

What is the Trump connection?

> Deripaska, with whom Vashukevich said she had an affair, used to employ former Trump campaign manager Paul Manafort. But Vashukevich, better known by the alias Nastya Rybka, provided no evidence Tuesday to back up the claim that she had new information to offer related to the investigation into Russian interference in the 2016 U.S. presidential election. A post to her Instagram account showed her sitting on the floor of what was described as a Thai jail cell and said she was sick.

Here's what she had to say:

> "I am the only witness and the missing link in the connection between Russia and the U.S. elections—the long chain of Oleg Deripaska, Prikhodko, Manafort, and Trump," Vashukevich said in a live Instagram video Tuesday, apparently shot as she was driven in an open-air police van through the Thai resort city of Pattaya. "In exchange for help from U.S. intelligence services and a guarantee of my safety, I am prepared to provide the necessary information to America or to Europe or to the country which can buy me out of Thai prison."

Let's take a look at the "Russian" in question.

Is this the first sighting of the elusive Russian le 56% face??? She looks part-negro or something.

Here she is all dolled up—she looks completely different.

A quick PSA: all these whores that claim to be "sex experts" or whatever are always ugly. Hot chicks, for the most part, don't need to advertise their wares so heavily. Men want them anyway—it is the bizarre mulattos and fatties and mystery meats that do this sort of shit.

I mean just look at that face—can you imagine the Donald ever getting involved with it?

I sure can't.

In a sane world, people would take one look at that face and be like, "bro, he must have been wasted or drugged if he tapped that," or reasonably conclude that it's lying to get out of a Thai jail.

But in Clown World, this story makes it onto the pages of the Washington Post as a hit piece against Donald Trump.

Also, it seems that some Russians are picking up on the whole Russia-Trump liberal connection and trying to cash in on it. There are these Russian pranksters that have been calling up American politicians and offering bogus info on Trump/Russian collusion.

Even people supposedly on Trump's side eat it up.

Video Link

On a side note —I think Nikki Haley is much hotter than that other chick. And you know she gets around.

Never seen a chick in stripper boots like that who didn't get around.

I hope the Thai authorities let that literal whore rot in jail.

DS

South Africa Votes for Gibsmedats, Provides a Glimpse Into a White Minority Future

Diversity Macht Frei
March 1, 2018

Darkness descends

The South African parliament (if you can call a congregation of baboons a parliament) voted recently to amend the South African constitution and kick white farmers off their land without any compensation.

South Africa first became settle in 1652 by the Dutch. At the time, the tip of Africa was very sparsely inhabited, the indigenous people were the Khoi-San, who today make up around 1% of the population. In any event, they didn't establish a polity or society in South Africa, it was literally just a vast expanse of wild land, begging to be tamed and nurtured.

First the Boers (Dutch settlers) and then the British began establishing colonies there, going to the limits of the north where the neighbouring land's borders were. For the most part, they didn't have problems with the indigenous and were there to just make a buck.

As the demand for farm labourers increased, migration from the surrounding area also increased, and slowly but surely the whites began to become demographic dwarfs.

"Demography is destiny" isn't just a catchy phrase

Therefore, it is strange that Julius Malema (not Khoi-san) would say this:

> Mr Malema said the time for "reconciliation is over". "Now is the time for justice," News24 reported.
>
> "We must ensure that we restore the dignity of our people without compensating the criminals who stole our land."

The question is, how can one steal something that didn't belong to anyone in the first place? In addition, "stealing" something useless and then developing it into something useful means the original owner loses all rights to that object.

Malema is a Marxist, further illustrating the correlation between Marxism and either mental illness or a low-IQ:

> In 2016 he told his supporters he was "not calling for the slaughter of white people —at least for now".

He has also been found guilty of hate speech for singing the "Shoot the Boer" song.

We constantly hear time and again that blacks just want equality, as soon as they get equality with whites there will be peace and harmony, all will coexist. The fact of the matter is, they don't want equality, they want whites eradicated. They hate us due to envy, an irrational hatred.

Some further reading:

South Africa under black rule:

South Africa Under Black Rule

Video Link

Forced to work with blacks with an inflated self-image, a white girl slowly gets red-pilled:

The Wages of Idealism

Video Link

DS

UK: Wakandan Tranny Anti-White Hate Figure Appointed Labour "Equality Adviser"

Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer
February 28, 2018

Interestingly, he also turned himself whiter. Wonder what's up with that? Do Negroes believe that white skin is more attractive?

If you've got a tranny advising you on anything, you've got a bad problem.

Having a Wakandan tranny who hates white people advise you on how to be equal though—that is goofy enough that it might be intended as some kind of joke.

RT:

> A transgender model who branded white people "racist" has been chosen as Labour's new equalities adviser. The party, led by Jeremy Corbyn, has selected Munroe Bergdorf to work with its LGBT+ advisory group.
>
> The 30-year-old model, from east London, revealed the news on Twitter. Posing next to Corbyn, she wrote: "Thrilled to announce that I've been asked to be part of an LGBT+ advisory board for The Labour Party—To advise Shadow Secretary of State for Women and Equalities, Dawn Butler MP, on issues affecting the LGBT+ community, to help form and push through fairer and more effective policy change."
>
> Thrilled to announce that I've been asked to be part of an LGBT+ advisory board for The Labour Party—To advise Shadow Secretary of State for Women and Equalities, Dawn Butler MP, on issues affecting the LGBT+ community... pic.twitter.com/v7Be0YtLtE
>
> — Munroe Bergdorf (@Munroe-Bergdorf) February 26, 2018
>
> Bergdorf came to prominence when she became L'Oréal's first trans model. Her stint for the cosmetics company was short lived, however, as she was fired only days after joining when critics unearthed comments she made in response to the far-right march in Charlottesville, US.
>
> She had previously written about race issues, with one post positing her belief that white people are "drenched" in racism. At the time, she said: "When I stated that 'all white people are racist', I was addressing that fact that western society as a whole, is a SYSTEM rooted in white supremacy—designed to benefit, prioritise and protect white people before anyone of any other race. Unknowingly, white people are SOCIALISED to be racist from birth onwards. It is not something genetic. No one is born racist."
>
> Bergdorf has since said her words were misconstrued. Following the incident, some of her supporters said they would boycott L'Oréal over the issue.

What do you say about that?

This is just the direction our society is going in. The UK is a disaster. Just a totally degenerate mess from top to bottom.

At least in the US, we've been seeing a lot of hope, and we still have a base of Christians who agree with us in theory on most of our issues.

You would think that both trannies and the open hatred of whites by blacks would be sticking points individually, and that if you rolled those two into a single individual, everyone would be like "oh man, come on—not this shit."

Instead, the thing people are complaining about is that she tweets out fake shit she just makes up.

> these tweets for example, retweeted thousands of times: completely untrue. why tweet things as fact without checking first? completely erases the activism of women like Sophia Duleep Singh for some cheap RTs pic.twitter.com/3xt1boJb7F
>
> — Caroline Criado Perez (@CCriadoPerez) February 27, 2018

But again—maybe this is a joke.

DS

Oz: Flip Witch Doctor Nurse Murders White Woman Through Sheer Stupidity, Mother Thinks Its For "Greater Good"

Roy Batty
Daily Stormer
February 28, 2018

I lived in a very Jewish town for a long time. As a result, most of the doctors were Jews who were greedy bastids that fleeced their patients, but at least they did their jobs professionally.

It was only when I went to college that I came into contact with non-White doctors. It was horrible. After a few appointments with the Black affirmative action hire and the Jamaican nurses, I would just wait until I could get back home to get the Jew doctors to check me out instead of having to deal with the Third World witch doctor-tier incompetence at my college.

It took me awhile but I eventually learned that there are FATAL consequences to NOT being racist. Some have to learn the hard way though.

ABC:

> Michaela Perrin gave birth to a healthy baby girl in the Lismore Base Hospital, on the New South Wales north coast, in October of 2014. She was discharged three days after the caesarean-section delivery, but developed wound pain and returned to the hospital a day later. The 26-year-old was sent home with pain killers, but admitted the following day. She died of sepsis six days after the birth.

Why did she die of sepsis?

> The deputy state coroner Magistrate Harriet Grahame found Ms Perrin would have survived with appropriate care, but the doctor who treated her had a wholly inadequate knowledge of the condition.
>
> "Throughout her evidence Dr [Cristina] Penaneuva showed a startling lack of awareness in how to recognise sepsis and how serious the condition is," Ms Grahame said. "The issues identified with Dr Penaneuva's clinical practice were not limited to a single mistake. Any practitioner can make an error of judgement, especially when busy, we are all imperfect and capable of human error. Dr Penanueva's failings were of a different magnitude. They included a serious lack of essential medical knowledge, inadequate medical note taking and clinical handover, and an inadequate approach to history taking and the physical examination of a patient."

People are going to start paying premiums for White doctors and Jew doctors. And I guess middle-class people like me will have to settle for Persian doctors. Everyone else gets retarded brown people that might kill you while they're trying to cure you.

Video Link

No literally, they might just kill you because you're a White cracka and fuck you, I ain't messin' up my nails, shieeet.

Video Link

Or you'll get retarded medieval witch doctor-tier women like that flip who ended up killing a young White mother and then claimed that she dindu nuffin.

> "Unfortunately when confronted with these issues, Dr Penaneuva demonstrated a tendency to try and shift the blame onto others."

And every White mother that is lost is a terrible waste. By the way, do you think the dead woman's own mother is mad?

> The coroner has recommended the Health Care Complaints Commission investigate the doctor's conduct, and the case be used to educate midwives and other staff at the Lismore Base Hospital.
>
> She said her recommendations were limited only because the changes already made at the Lismore Base Hospital demonstrated a willingness to learn from the tragedy, not because there were no significant problems in the care it offered.

...

The findings have been welcomed by Ms Perrin's mother, Cathy Perrin.

"I think [my reaction] is one of relief," Cathy Perrin said

I know the Northern Rivers Local Health Network has already started putting in lots of changes [so] you have to be thinking "good my daughter hasn't died in vain"."

lol no.

That's right, this woman's own mother thinks that some good can come of all this. Perhaps future lives can be saved because of the sacrifice of her daughter.

Oh man.

White people.

I can't even.

This level of cucking is just insane. Imagine having your daughter dead because of an unrepentant dirty flip with an attitude and you still think it's for the greater good...

No one else does this kind of shit. Idk what to say anymore.

DS

Thai Shitlords Host "Plus-Size" Pageant That Compares Contestants to Elephants

Michael Byron
Daily Stormer
February 28, 2018

We're used to hearing about "plus-size" pageants in the West. We're constantly reminded that the female form is forever beautiful, even when stretched to its outermost limits, and that the contestants of these pageants are brave and audacious for partaking in an event normally reserved for the slim and elegant.

Contrary to popular belief, Thailand has plus-size pageants too. Since their media isn't controlled by a hostile alien tribe that seeks to denigrate and demoralize its host population, however, their pageants tend to have a more balanced attitude toward the female contestants...such as the belief that they resemble elephants!

Daily Mail:

An annual beauty pageant in Thailand compares plus sized woman to elephants.

Pictures from the Jumbo Queen Beauty Pageant in Nakhon Ratchasima shows the entrants onstage, backstage and before the contest.

In order to take part in the pageant, which promotes elephant conservation causes, contestants have to weigh at least 12st 9lbs—and those are merely the featherweights!

This year Kwanrapee Boonchaisuk, who weighs 16st 7lbs, was crowned Miss Jumbo 2018 and the 17 stone 4 lbs Bantita Sangkachart won the 2018 Miss Jumbo Transgender title.

The event attracts more than 100 entrants with judges looking to find someone who embodies the grace, elegance and enormity of the elephant.

The IMF award is given to the crowd favourite, however it actually stands for "I'M Fat."

The pagent raises awareness for the elephant population in the East-Asian country which have been steadily declining.

While the elephant theme underpins so much of the competition that contestants are judged on how well they "exhibit the qualities of an elephant."

But awards are not preserved just for winners, other contestants are awarded special prizes based on their weight.

It must be nice to live in a nation where fat people are viewed as circus attractions rather than fellow human beings. And they're doing something good for the world, too! By parading around like an elephant in front of a bunch of gawping spectators, these corpulent lasses raise money for real elephants in Thailand.

Shitlording AND animal conservation? Adolf Hitler would approve.

Shame about those ladyboy contestants, though. That is a bit degenerate. But I suppose when you're an Asian man (lower testosterone on average than white or black men) and at least 100 lbs overweight (which transforms your body into an estrogen production factory), well...no prizes for guessing how that's going to end up.

DS

Kekistan Flag Flies in Italian Elections

Diversity Macht Frei
February 28, 2018

Matteo Salvini: Stop Invasion—Our people first!

Kekistan flags have been seen flying at election rallies for Matteo Salvini, leader of the Lega Nord, originally a northern separatist party that has evolved into a more general Italian anti-immigration party.

Video Link

Salvini has a good chance of being part of the next coalition government and could conceivably even be its leader. He supposedly has an understanding with Silvio Berlusconi's party and the Fratelli d'Italia that they will form a coalition with whichever one of them gets the highest share of the vote becoming leader.

But it's also possible tbe Lega could join with the 5-Stars movement to form a coalition. 5-Stars is anti-Establishment but not easy to classify otherwise. Some of its positions are leftish, but it also makes noises against the EU, and occasionally against immigration. It is literally led by a clown (the comedian Beppe Grillo). He is unpredictable; for example, he might denounce out-of-control immigration one day then racism the next.

Jews are not happy either with Salvini or Grillo. They tried playing their usual game of orchestrated outrage on Grillo once he first came to political prominence, but it didn't work. He has been strongly critical of Israel, has talked of Jewish conspiracies and said Jews control the media and were our to get Mel Gibson.

A Salvini-Grillo government would definitely be interesting. But a Berlusconi-Salvini-Meloni would also be a vast improvement on the status quo.

DS

But Why Tho: Germans Design Beer-Fetching Robot

Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer
February 27, 2018

Video Link

This isn't really a very good robot.

RT:

The pain of rising from a comfortable couch to get a beer from the fridge is one we all know. Yet, as with a growing number of modern inconveniences, artificial intelligence may be coming to the rescue.

Footage posted online by Homer, a research group at Germany's Institute of Computational Visualistics, shows a robot taking an order from one of the team before making the short journey to a fridge in a breakroom. The Tiago robot, built by Barcelona robotics firm PAL, was connected to an NVIDIA laptop as the team's submission to a competition for AI developers.

Employing a winding mechanical arm, the robot opens the fridge door before identifying the technician's chosen beer from a range available inside. After clumsily removing a can, and very nearly knocking another bottle off its shelf, it then closes the door and returns to the technician.

We don't need beer robots.

We need sophisticated murder machines.

This beer robot is worse than that scene from RoboCop 2.

Video Link

Anyway, this beer robot is just a junior project using really cheap new NVIDIA chips that are allowing people to design their own AI. Previously you used to have to have a whole bunch of super-expensive technology.

Boston Dynamics is doing top-tier shit.

Video Link

The fact that people can do this crap at home now is going to kickstart the revolution. It is going to happen fast. You are going to live to see a world dominated by robots, where they are doing basically every manual labor job. And of course, more intelligent algorithms will be removing a lot of white collar jobs at the same time.

And that, my friends, is why Germany needs like, at least 20 million more gang-raping terrorists to pay the pensions of old Germans—because robots are going to be like, really smart, and form unions, and plus they won't even pay taxes at all because if you put them in prison for tax evasion they will just switch themselves off and wait out the sentence.

So bring on the diverse vibrants.

DS

France: Vegan Terrorist Commit Midnight Atrocity Against Meat-Serving Restaurant

Roy Batty
Daily Stormer
February 27, 2018

I don't want to generalize, but most Vegans are completely out of their fucking minds. It's a stupid diet choice that makes you angry and weak and emotional and tired all the time. Perfect for a leftist. And while I'm not a nutritionist, most nutritionists are complete idiots that think reading up on what protein is makes them qualified to tell me what to eat.

So fuck them too.

I just try to eat the foods that my grandparents ate. If it was good enough for my ancestors, it's good enough for me. Besides, I'm a Millennial and I can just slather some avocado on top to make anything healthy.

So whenever I meet someone who forsakes meat because of some weird advice from a nutritionist or something they read online, I immediately think that this person is mentally damaged or has been radicalized by the dangerous ideology of their nutritionist.

You can never trust a Vegan. They are a menace to society.

RT:

> A meat-focused restaurant in the in Alpine city of Grenoble, southeast France, has been trashed by a mystery vandal, with the words "Vegan Terror" left scrawled across it, local media reports.
>
> The staff of the La Boucherie (The Butchery) restaurant in Grenoble woke up to an ugly sight on Monday morning, after the unknown saboteur went to work on the front of the building. Fourteen windows were smashed and the words "Vegan Terror" painted on with black letters. Police have described the suspect as masked, hooded and dressed in black, TV channel France 3 reports.

That's all we needed now lol. Vegan terrorists.

This is really a blast from the past. Back in the day, you had militant hippies doing this sort of environmental terror.

Video Link

But I thought environmental terrorism died out with the Unabomber. I mean we saw a bit of a flare-up over the Keystone Pipeline, but nothing too serious.

Is this the beginning of a new trend?

Think about it: all those avocado-munching Millennials might not be willing to die for their country, their faith or anything of importance, but for their diet?

Maybe.

In the near future, we might have Gluten-Free Death Squads roaming the suburbs, preying on every Safeway and Giant in a holy Jihad promoted and sponsored by Whole Foods.

No, but seriously, I get the feeling that we will live to see some more really dark but funny stuff go down as people lose their minds all around us.

Keep safe, and never surrender your steak.

DS

"Africans Develop No Feel for Logical Thinking"

Diversity Macht Frei
February 27, 2018

Two Germans, Thomas Lehn and Constanze Kühnel, have spent years travelling in Africa. They return to Germany and can't believe how everything just works.

> After four years non-stop in Africa, what is the biggest difference from your old home?
>
> Lehn: That everything works here. After our landing for example. And the cleanliness—in Africa you are drowning in garbage. For about 80%, there are no toilets. Here, in Germany, it's another world.

...

Lehn: We spoke to more than 1000 people, from poor farmers in the Congo to multi-millionaires in South Africa. Our knowledge would be a treasure trove for the GIZ (Germany Society for International Cooperation) or similar organisations. But they don't want to hear.

Kühnel: The whole development aid is a business model that creates jobs even in Germany.

Lehn: The naive way that the European media cover this topic is amazing to us. Endless millions of euros are frittered away senselessly, powerful people are rubbing their hands there and here no one understands. It's funny that African presidents are the richest in the world but their peoples are dirt poor. That makes us angry and sad.

Kühnel: We discussed this with well-educated Africans. One of them said to us: "Just stop with the development aid—we need to walk through the valley of tears ourselves to finally stand on our own feet."

Are there examples?

Lehn: In a village, development workers built a thermal oven. It uses solar radiation and saves the women from having to perform the communal millet grinding. The idea was that this would give the village women time for other things. But they don't have anything else to do, because efficiency isn't a factor in Africa—the millet grinding was the daily social event, and that was taken away from them. At some point the oven stopped working, no one took care of it, they just went back to living as they had in the time before the oven.

Kühnel: The problem is that we approach it with our European style of thinking that is light years removed from the African way of thinking.

Lehn: Education is the key to progress but there is scarcely any in Africa. That starts with the small children—no one plays with them, they're just left to themselves. School is just rote learning with the result that most Africans develop no feel for logical thinking. They have no interest in it. They don't plan. They live for today. You're often speechless when you see it, even among the ones with university education. For that reason there is no entrepreneurial middle class in Africa and so not enough jobs. Another example of that is the "Day zero" in Cape Town, where the drinking water is supposed to run out on 11 May. Everyone is hoping for rain, but no one thinks about the background—that far too many people are living there.

Africa is suffering from its overpopulation...

Lehn: The 1.1. billion inhabitants will be 5 billion by the end of this century. 60% are already younger than 15, but there are no jobs or schools for them. This means that every project is wasted, even feasibility studies for desalination plants that allow drinking water to be recovered. But they would never work because the power stations have rotted away and the power supply doesn't exist. Ultimately, it means there's going to be a huge migration of peoples—compared to that, what we're seeing in the Mediterranean every day now is mere child's play.

Source

The Austrian newspaper Der Standard recently covered the African population explosion.

> The African population is exploding. In 30 years 190 million people from the neighbouring continent could come to Europe.
>
> ...
>
> One thing is certain: the European population, which for decades has grown used to being born in the "right" place in the world, and enjoyed this privilege, must now make room for others.

Source

They're telling us we just need to hand over our countries to Africans, the people with "no feel for logical thinking", because the alternative—using brutal and even lethal force to defend our frontiers—is unthinkable within the constraints of their warped moral code. For millennia, people fought to defend their homes against armed invaders. But now, if the invaders turn up without weapons, we just have to let them in?

DS

UK: Rapes in London Have Increased by 20pct. and the Police are BAFFLED!

Michael Byron
Daily Stormer
February 27, 2018

In his preface to Welcome to the Universe: An Astrophysical Tour, celebrated negro astronomer Neil deGrasse Tyson famously wrote: "Life be real and all that, but no man be understanding that shit."

And I'm inclined to agree with him. The longer I live on this planet, the less it all makes sense to me.

Who are we? Where did we come from?

Why did Adolf Hitler exterminate 6 million Jews in fake shower rooms?

Truly, the only thing bigger than the universe itself is the number of mysteries it contains.

And it looks like we've got another mystery on our hands here, folks. Instances of rape are soaring across London, and no one—not even Sadiq Khan, the city's Anglo-Saxon mayor—knows who or what is causing it!

Breitbart:

Rapes are soaring in Britain's multicultural capital under Labour Mayor Sadiq Khan—but police claim they have no idea what could be behind the increase.

7,613 rapes were recorded in Sadiq Khan's London in the 12 months to the end of January 2018, compared with 6,392 over the previous year—a rise of almost 20 per cent, the Evening Standard reports.

Some have attempted to attribute the rise to victims being more confident in coming forward, but Khan's Deputy Mayor for Policing and Crime, Sophie Linden, has admitted that the figures could point to a legitimate "increase in actual sexual violence and rape offending".

Deputy Commissioner for the Metropolitan Police force Sir Craig Mackey, too, has confessed that "there is something going on with sexual offending in London" —but claimed to be none the wiser when asked at the London Assembly if he could explain what was behind the rise.

Sir Craig's failure to consider the negative impact on social and inter-community cohesion on London after decades of mass migration and state-sponsored multiculturalism—cheered on by Mayor Khan and his political fellow-travellers—echoes the comments of his superior, Cressida Dick, on the arrival of grooming gangs in the capital.

...

"I don't think this was a phenomenon invented in the last few years—it really wasn't—it has been part of our society for probably centuries and centuries and centuries," she insisted.

Don't let her surname fool you; Cressida Dick is actually a lesbian.

At first, I was open to Ms. Dick's claim that surprise sex has always been part and parcel of British society. But then I realized something: if that were true, why did it never happen?

So it can't be Nigel and Trevor doing these rapes. It must be someone else.

And after reading the Daily Mail for 15 minutes, I think I know who that "someone" is.

Ladies and gentlemen, I present the Eternal Pole.

C'mon Bongs, don't pretend you don't know what I'm talking about. You see them all the time: squatting in circles in local parks, chatting in that weird language that contains too many Zs, shouting "KURWA" at British women with black boyfriends...they're a disgrace to Europe.

I'm telling you: they're the ones doing it. They're literally grooming Moslem schoolgirls with free cans of Tyskie. It makes me sick.

I encourage all British readers to join their local nationalist groups so that they can help purge their land of the Polish menace. How can the UK's Pakistani and Somali populations live in peace when their own women are being threatened by a hostile people with a hostile culture?

DS

South Africa: British Couple Possibly Kidnapped and/or Murdered by ISIS

Joe Jones
Daily Stormer
February 27, 2018

Traveling anywhere except rural Europe, America, or Canada is basically a suicide attempt at this point in time.

Even those rural areas will soon be deadly.

Daily Mail:

> A British couple feared kidnapped by Islamic State extremists in South Africa had been filming with a BBC Gardeners' World presenter shortly before they vanished.
>
> Horticulturists Rodney Saunders, 73, and his wife, Rachel, 64, went missing two weeks ago.
>
> Police have arrested a man and a woman who have links to Isis fanatics on suspicion of kidnapping and possibly killing the couple in the remote foothills of the Drakensberg mountains on February 12.

No idea what ISIS is doing in Seth Effreeka, but I guess they're just scurrying to anywhere now.

They're definitely not smart enough to be Hydra though.

Horticulturists Rodney Saunders, Rachel Saunders.

DS

Jew York Crimes Bitches About Chinese Communist Political Corruption

Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer
February 26, 2018

Xi has weird but unoffensive physiognomy. Looks like a frog.

The New York Times is unbelievable, the way these people whine and meddle in the entire world's affairs.

You have to understand what this is: this newspaper sets the global agenda.

Or rather, the global Jewish agenda is announced through this newspaper—that would be a more accurate way of saying that. It isn't the writers of the paper itself that are planning it.

New York Times:

> There was a time, not so long ago, when a Chinese leader setting himself up as ruler for life would have stirred international condemnation for bucking the global trend toward greater democracy. Now, such an action seems fully in keeping with moves by many countries in the other direction.
>
> The surprise disclosure on Sunday that the Communist Party was abolishing constitutional limits on presidential terms—effectively allowing President Xi Jinping to lead China indefinitely—was the latest and arguably most significant sign of the world's decisive tilt toward authoritarian governance, often built on the highly personalized exercise of power.
>
> The list includes Vladimir V. Putin of Russia, Abdel Fattah el-Sisi of Egypt and Recep Tayyip Erdogan of Turkey, all of whom have abandoned most pretenses that they rule according to the people's will. Authoritarianism is also reappearing in places like Hungary and Poland that barely a quarter century ago shook loose the shackles of Soviet oppression.
>
> There are many reasons for such moves by Mr. Xi and others—including protecting their power and perks in an age of unrest, terrorism and war amplified by new technologies—but a significant one is that few countries have the standing or authority, morally or otherwise, to speak out—least of all, critics say, the United States.
>
> "I mean, who is going to punish him internationally now?" asked Susan L. Shirk, the chair of the 21st Century China Program at the University of California, San Diego.
>
> She and other experts described this "authoritarian reversion" as a global contagion that has undermined the abiding faith that forging liberal democracies and market economies was the surest path to prosperity and equality.

As far as all that goes—China has been an authoritarian country for like, 4,000 years. Communism was a weird thing they did, but it all shook out and basically now it is just a modern version of what it always was.

I have no idea if the Jews actually thought they were going to slowly convert China to the type of country where boys cut their dicks off and Pakistani rape gangs roam the streets looking for 11-year-old girls to gang-rape, drug and pimp out, or Xi deciding to extend his reign is just an excuse to whine about Putin and Trump and other leaders Jews hate.

But the whining.

The whole thing with all of this whining about "authoritarianism" is that Jews hate it because it builds strong countries and they are powerful in weak countries. They will always attack strong leaders.

As far as reality goes, China has always been corrupt af, and Xi has actually done a lot to change that. I mean, I have my issues with China and whatever, but as far as the Chinese go, he's a great leader. The Chinese people love him, not in small part to the way he's dealt with corrupt elements in the government.

What is the point of outing a leader by default just because they've been in for a few years?

What possible point could there be to removing a good leader based on an arbitrary rule?

Also, um.

Germany has no term limit.

I have never seen the NYT calling for Mama Merkel to step down, even though she's been in office since 2005. Xi has been in since 2013.

They don't care about term limits, that is retarded.

China doesn't even have direct presidential elections—how are term limits a move toward democracy in a one-party state without direct elections?

Also, show me NYT calling for more democracy in Saudi Arabia. They don't even call for women's right to drive in Saudi Arabia.

It's just bullshit.

China is on the naughty list now because they are now a developed country and they are not taking on the values that developed countries are supposed to have in the global European-style socialist system.

DS

Deranged Old Man Tells Sobbing 5 Year Old Girl She's Going to Die in a War

Roy Batty
Daily Stormer
February 26, 2018

From the lying media's coverage of Donald Trump in the West, you would think that the man was a blundering buffoon that only ever opens his mouth to insert his foot.

But actually, Donald Trump is pretty good at getting his points across, his occasional misspeak is just magnified and blown completely out of proportion.

Sometimes it helps to look at other politicians to compare and contrast.

For example, Erdogan just did something so ham-handed that it would end his entire career here in the US if the Daily Show types were to pick it up.

Russia Today:

> In a bizarre act of propaganda, while urging the nation to be ready for mobilization, the Turkish leader invited a small girl in military uniform onstage and assured the sobbing child she would receive state honors if killed.
>
> The controversial episode happened as President Recep Tayyip Erdogan was addressing a provincial congress of the ruling Justice and Development Party (AKP) in the southern province of Gaziantep on Saturday. The Turkish leader used the occasion to whip up public support for the ongoing military operation targeting Kurdish militias in Syria—and to remind those who have completed their service but still had "active mobilization orders" to be ready to be recruited again if the situation requires.
>
> At one point, a young girl in the hall, who was dressed in military uniform complete with a maroon beret worn by the Turkish Special Operations Forces, caught Erdogan's attention, according to TV footage of the speech. He invited the child, who looked about four or five years-old, to come to the stage next to him. She did, although the attention apparently made her uncomfortable, judging by her sobbing.

Video Link

What a total fuck-up. This is going to be a historical moment gone viral.

And it's a shame because the new and improved Erdogan is bretty gud. He has been ramping up his anti-Kurd campaign. Considering that the Jews support the Kurds, I'm all for it. Also, Erdogan will run up against the ZOG-bot army that is currently protecting what is left of the anti-Assad Jihadis that the SAA and the Russians already chewed up and spat out.

But why the 180 on Turkish foreign policy?

Idk about this guy. I'm leaning towards him being a snake.

And there's no point in supporting someone who makes little girls cry and likes talking about shit like "martyrdom" while being a head of state.

DS

North Korea Says They're Ready to Talk to the US

Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer
February 26, 2018

The North Korea thing was always blown way out of proportion, and the issue confused. It has always been nothing more or less than a proxy state of China, used as a barrier against the US, mainly by threatening the US proxy state of South Korea.

However, it was a real issue, and solving it is a real accomplishment. It's been going on forever.

New York Times:

> President Moon Jae-in of South Korea said on Sunday that high-ranking officials from North Korea told him their country was willing to start a dialogue with the United States, a potential diplomatic victory for Mr. Moon, who has been urging the two countries to talk.

Kim Yong-chol, a vice chairman of the North's ruling Workers' Party, expressed that willingness when he met with Mr. Moon shortly before the closing ceremony of the Winter Olympics in Pyeongchang, South Korea, Mr. Moon's office said. Mr. Kim led an eight-member North Korean delegation to the ceremony, in the latest sign that the two Koreas were working toward a political détente after years of rising tensions over the North's nuclear weapons program.

"President Moon noted that North Korea-United States dialogue must take place soon in order to improve South-North Korean relations and to find a fundamental solution to the Korean Peninsula issue," said Mr. Moon's spokesman, Kim Eui-kyeom. "To this, the North Korean delegates responded that the North was quite willing to start talks with the United States and agreed that relations between North and South Korea and those between the North and the United States should develop simultaneously."

But it was too early to take the North's comments as a major breakthrough.

Mr. Moon's office did not reveal, for example, whether North Korea had attached any preconditions for starting talks with the United States like the suspension of joint South Korea-United States military exercises, which it calls a rehearsal for invasion. The North threatened the United States with nuclear attacks just a few weeks ago.

On Friday, Washington announced harsh new sanctions against North Korea, and President Trump alluded to the threat of military action, saying, "If the sanctions don't work, we'll have to go Phase 2."

Just in general, foreign policy is the place that I've been very critical of Donald Trump. But basically, despite rhetoric and comments that I did not approve of, the overall movement of foreign policy has been positive—just not as positive as we'd hoped.

Trump has ended the war in Syria and defeated ISIS by refusing to allow the CIA to fund them, and now he's improved relations with China to the point where this North Korea situation can now come to a peaceful resolution.

We should give him a little credit, even as we continue to be critical when we need to be.

DS

Japan: Japanese Woman's Severed Head in a Bag After Date with "American Man"

Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer
February 26, 2018

STOCK PHOTO

Gonna go ahead and predict this is a US soldier. That is just the most likely.

It could also be a black guy, though it would be weird for a Japanese girl to be meeting a black guy.

Fox News:

The severed head of a missing woman was reportedly found in a suitcase in Osaka, Japan, police said on Saturday.

Police, who have been investigating the disappearance of a woman from Hyogo, allegedly found the head at a lodging facility in the Nishinari Ward of Osaka, the Japan Times reported.

A few days before finding the head, police arrested a 26-year-old American man for allegedly "confining" the unnamed missing woman in an apartment in Osaka, according to the Japan Times.

The man, who is also currently unnamed, was seen walking into the apartment building with the woman on Feb. 16, security footage shows. But the woman was never seen leaving the building, the Japan Times reported.

Shortly before her disappearance, the woman said on Instagram that she was going to meet a man named "Jay."

The Japanese absolutely do not look kindly on this short of thing, and could well go ahead and create some kind of a diplomatic incident over it, depending on what the details turn out to be.

The Japs had huge protests when the American negroid military contractor a couple years ago was arrested for raping and murdering a Jap girl, and called for the US military bases to be shut down.

Imagine that mindset—the idea that a foreigner in your country represents a group. Meanwhile in the West, we have people from foreign countries openly identifying as representing a group killing us on a mass scale a we are told that if we even consider looking at them as members of a group, we are pure evil.

The thing about this is: looking at people as members of groups is basic pattern recognition. If you eat a fruit and it makes you sick, you don't just keep eating the same fruit over and over again and getting sick—you recognize that that fruit is making you sick. Pattern recognition is the most fundamental element of learned behavior. This is a basic survival function of all mammals (even rats can learn to play basketball, which is a pattern-recognition based learned behavior) —and on the evolutionary scale, a function of all living beings.

Speaking of rat basketball—I think the Jews are trying to keep people from knowing about rat basketball, because when you learn that rats can play basketball, you ask yourself "but wait then what is the point of niggers?"

Video Link

No rat ever chopped up muh gook waifu.

NRBA NOW!

DS

UK: Major Explosion in Leicester, Cops Say It's Not Terrorism

Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer
February 26, 2018

The thing is always to immediately say "not terrorism" before there is any way they could possibly know.

I think this probably isn't terrorism, because terrorists don't generally blow-up random residential homes.

But neither do random residential homes generally blow-up in first world countries. Or they did not used to. Nowadays, they do. Because the infrastructure is being maintained by third world immigrants with affirmative action state jobs.

RT:

Two people are in critical condition and four others are injured after a large blast destroyed a building in the UK city of Leicester. Police are advising people to avoid the scene of the "major incident."

"All emergency services are currently dealing with this," the police force said in a statement, "Please avoid the area."

Emergency response teams rushed to the scene after the explosion at about 7pm local time. The fire department sent six fire engines to the scene of the large blast which destroyed a convenience store and a home. A local hospital said two patients were in a critical condition and four people had less severe injuries.

A spokeswoman for Leicestershire Fire and Rescue Service has confirmed a search and rescue operation is underway.

"This is a search and rescue at the moment," she said to the Leicester Mercury. "It is unknown if people are injured or trapped."

Sixty homes have been evacuated as part of the emergency response and roads in the surrounding area have been closed.

"At about 7pm, we heard an absolutely massive explosion," a witness told the local newspaper. "It was quite frightening. We went to look out of the upstairs windows and saw loads of smoke, and then a few seconds later massive orange flames."

There are no indications the explosion is linked to terrorism, the police said on Twitter. A spokesperson for gas network operator Cadent said the cause of the blast is yet unknown.

It doesn't look like a high-casualty disaster.

Video Link

But understand: this stuff wouldn't be happening at all if it were not for the replacement of our people with the scum of the shithole third world. We are witnessing, in real time, everything in our society stop functioning properly.

DS

"We Don't Want a White MP": Diversity Fail in French Guiana

Diversity Macht Frei
February 25, 2018

French Guiana borders Brazil yet is considered part of France (and therefore the European Union) and elects MPs to the French parliament. According to Wikipedia, its population is about 14% white. But it seems the message that "There's only one race, the human race" hasn't yet reached some of its darker-skinned inhabitants.

The message below was found sprayed on a wall.

"Riché, nou pa lé oune député blanc"

Translated from pidgin to French, this is: "Riché, on ne veut pas de député blanc"

Translated from French to English, this is:"Riché, we don't want a white MP".

Police are now investigating this "hate crime".

Riché is David Riché, a candidate in the upcoming elections.

Some soul brothas have stepped up to defend him.

"He was born in Cayenne [capital of French Guiana]. He's a Guianan in every sense of the term, he's a child of the country," according to Roland Léandre, secretary general of the Guianese Socialist Party (PSG) which is supporting the candidacy of David Riché.

In a statement published on 24 February, the PSG "forcefully condemns this type of ignoble behaviour that consists of cataloguing a man, a Guianan, a brother, just because of the colour of his skin...Let us not imitate these followers of a new black Ku Klux Klan,"

Source

DS

United States

Man Kills Self on White House Lawn

Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer
March 4, 2018

This is a really inappropriate and anti-social act, imo.

Daily Mail:

> The White House was put in lockdown on Saturday afternoon after a man shot himself dead at the North Lawn.
>
> The shooting happened at around noon and sparked panic inside as staff were told to shelter in place.
>
> The man was pronounced dead at the scene.
>
> Political journalists sheltered in the briefing room and tweeted first about the incident.
>
> Not long afterwards, the Secret Service said it was a person who had shot themselves.
>
> The president is at Mar-a-Lago with the First Lady and Barron. He is due to return to Washington DC on Saturday.

There is so little social cohesiveness. Everyone is alienated, everyone is weird, everyone is alone.

That is what diversity, combined with atheism, combined with consumerism, combined with sexual licence has wrought.

We've got mass murderers running around, we've got guys cutting their dicks off left and right, we've got naked women parading around—as we are flooded with primitive, unevolved brown people coming to tear the remaining flesh from our bones.

There is a push and pull between those who want to simply go ahead and destroy everything and those who do not.

America is a wasteland.

Nothing is really surprising at this point, because nothing is impossible anymore and in fact no thing is any more likely than any other thing.

DS

Trump Mocks Jew Son-in-Law at Gridiron Dinner

Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer
March 4, 2018

It's time to remove the Jew, Trump.

Before he cooks all of our geese.

BBC:

> US President Donald Trump joked about White House "chaos" and poked fun at his aides and wife in a light-hearted speech at an annual dinner on Saturday.
>
> "Nobody does self-deprecating humour better than I do," he told politicians and journalists in Washington DC.
>
> Mr Trump joked about his son-in-law, Jared Kushner, who has reportedly had his security clearance downgraded.
>
> "We were late tonight because Jared could not get through security," the president said.
>
> In wide-ranging remarks at the Gridiron Dinner, he took aim at a number of targets, including Attorney General Jeff Sessions.
>
> Mr Trump has said that he would never have appointed Mr Sessions if he had known he was going to recuse himself from leading the investigation into possible Trump ties to Russia.
>
> The president joked that he had offered Mr Sessions a ride to the event, "and he recused himself. What are you going to do?"
>
> Mr Trump also poked fun at:
>
> Vice-President Mike Pence: "I really am proud to call him the apprentice. But lately he's showing a particularly keen interest in the news these days. He is asking 'has he been impeached yet?' I don't like that."
>
> White House departures: "Now the question everyone keeps asking is, who is going to be the next to leave? Steve Miller or Melania?"
>
> Former chief strategist Steve Bannon: "That guy leaked more than the Titanic."
>
> The New York Times: "I'm a New York icon. You're a New York icon. And the only difference is I still own my buildings."
>
> North Korean leader Kim Jong-un: "As far as the risk of dealing with a madman is concerned, that's his problem, not mine."
>
> He added that North Korea had "called up a couple of days ago" to say they would be open for talks. "I said so would we, but you have to denuke," Mr Trump said. It was not clear if this was part of the joke.

You don't understand.

It's all part of the joke.

And the thing about the joke is: it's deadly serious.

Anyway, Kushner—he is basically already out at this point.

DS

Texas: A Browner Bush Stands with Trump

Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer
March 3, 2018

George P. Bush is the son of a woman whose race Trump is trying to remove from the country and a man who Trump personally destroyed in the most humiliating way imaginable.

Nonetheless, the "Brown Bush" AKA "El Siesta Bush" AKA "Burrito Bush" AKA "Karma Police Arrest This Bush" is standing with Trump.

Houston Chronicle:

> Texas Land Commissioner George P. Bush is the scion of a political dynasty but he's standing firmly with President Donald Trump as Tuesday's Republican primary approaches.
>
> Facing three opponents including former Land Commissioner Jerry Patterson, Bush is using his support for Trump in hopes of fending off a runoff election, aligning himself as an ultra-conservative who has reduced the size of the Texas General Land Office. He's spending millions on ads to promote his conservatism and attacking Patterson for not supporting Trump.
>
> Some political experts say Bush is trying to differentiate himself from his family members, who repudiated Trump, by embracing a president who remains widely popular among Texas Republicans.
>
> "If you're a candidate running for statewide office as a Republican in Texas, the path of least resistance is to align yourself with Trump," said James Henson, director of the Texas Politics Project at UT Austin.

Yes.

It's just a really callous move to try and win something with a totally destroyed name.

This is the Age of Trump, and everyone hates the Bushes now. This guy can't even win Land Commissioner as the heir to the most powerful political dynasty in American history. So he has to sell-out his family name because it's such a liability.

> Bush, 41, easily won the Republican primary nomination in 2014. This year may be different.
>
> Bush is facing Patterson, who headed the Land Office for 12 years; former schoolteacher Rick Range; and land surveyor Davey Edwards.
>
> Bush and Patterson have intensified their attacks against one another on social media, in the press and in political ads, including websites dedicated to criticizing the other's record.
>
> Patterson, who owns BushFail.com, has criticized Bush's handling of housing recovery efforts in the aftermath of Hurricane Harvey and the redevelopment of the land around the Alamo. He has also denounced Bush for not attending candidate forums or publicizing campaign events.
>
> Bush, on the other hand, has said he is focused on doing his job as land commissioner and has noted he drastically cut the size of the General Land Office when he took over. His campaign, which owns JerryPatterson.com, has paid for web ads lambasting Patterson for not voting for Trump.

His own family not only did not vote for Trump but actively tried to destroy him both before and after the election. His uncle George is still out there whining and calling him a white supremacist hater.

And this is how the Bush story ends. The Brown Bush—who was being groomed as a political leader and Presidential candidate for a browner Republican Party—failing to win some office no one gives a shit about in Texas.

George P Bush's struggle in Texas may signal end of 70-year political dynasty

The half-Hispanic grandson and nephew of presidents faces a tough fight in a state where his surname is no longer an asset

Destroying and burying the Bush family dynasty is another accomplishment of Donald Trump that on its own is enough to make him an American hero.

It is fitting that it ends this way. Because Burrito Bush was meant to represent this new age of brownness, which Republicans were being told they were forced to accept. Trump told them they don't have to accept it, and now they are running from it as fast as they can.

The only Bush who is worth a shit is Billy Bush. He grabs em by the pussy and doesn't afraid of anything.

I think Trump should actually give him a position of some kind, or help him run for some office, just to further humiliate the rest of the family.

DS

They're Enriching Our Culture

Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer
March 3, 2018

This is the sort of thing they are referring to when they talk about "cultural enrichment."

It just never ends with these "people."

Fox News:

> Jurors heard testimony Friday in the murder trial of the first of three defendants linked to a 2014 case in which authorities say the victim's limbs were burned on a barbecue pit.
>
> Gabriel Moreno, 34, is the first defendant being tried in the case, the San Antonio Express-News reported. Co-defendants Daniel Moreno Lopez, 31, who is Moreno's cousin, and Lopez's girlfriend Candie Dominguez, 38, are also charged with murder and awaiting trial, the report said.
>
> They are accused of killing Jose Luis Menchaca, 35, who authorities say was beaten with aluminum baseball bats, suffocated with a plastic bag over his head, then dismembered and barbecued.
>
> At one point, witness Dennis Austin testified, he saw Menchaca's torso, with arms and legs missing, inside a blue plastic tub, with a plastic bag around the head that "held it in place."
>
> "We saw the torso, head still attached, but detached, like a bobblehead," he said. "I will never forget that smell. It smelled worse than decayed animal."
>
> Austin said he saw blood on the walls and couch of a San Antonio home that Lopez and Dominguez shared, while the victim was bound at his hands and feet, with his mouth taped, the report said.
>
> "He (Menchaca) was bleeding from the cheeks, there was blood everywhere on him," Austin said. "It was like a horror movie."

The argument is always "oh well, you know, whites also commit crimes."

And whites do commit crimes.

But not really this type of crime.

And they commit crimes at a very different rate.

Furthermore, whites are our own people. They are not in invasive, invading population. We have an obligation to whites because they are our own people, whereas we have no obligation whatsoever to brown people.

The fact that immigration is continually framed by the media and the Jews as a punishment for the crimes of our ancestors is extremely telling.

We don't deserve to live like this, with these animals. We have a right to exist.

DS

Massive Fraud Revealed in DC Public Schools – One in Three Niggers Allowed to Graduate Despite Failing

Roy Batty
Daily Stormer
March 2, 2018

The District of Columbia is a garbage city. In fact, I contend that it is, in fact, the worst city in America. See, there is an entire swath of the city that is no man's land for White people. It's shaped like a diamond and all the lobbyists, lawyers, politicians and Jews—but I repeat myself—live in the Northwest part of the diamond. And they are the enemy. You will never find such a wretched hive of moral preeners and hypocrites with Guatemalan maids advocating for open borders in all of North America.

Well, you'd have to try anyway.

But 94% of DC voted for Hillary and before that, Little Marco Rubio because that's what the Swamp settled on. I mean Rubio for god's sakes. These people are so out of touch it's insane.

Also, there are no chicks there.

And there is no Southwest, which leaves just the Northeast and the Southeast.

Both of these places are nigger containment zones. And they have some of the worst crime and delinquency rates in the country.

Zero Hedge:

> Far fewer seniors attending D.C. Public Schools are on track to earn their diplomas this June after a graduation fraud investigation revealed that one in three students passed high school in violation of city policy.
>
> Data released Thursday by D.C. Public Schools show that just 42 percent of seniors are on track to graduate, vs. 73 percent in 2017. Meanwhile, 19 percent of students are considered "moderately off track," meaning they are failing one or two courses but could potentially earn a diploma through summer school or credit recovery programs.
>
> Even if all 19% of "moderately off track" students receive diplomas, the graduate is still tracking 12 percentage points lower than last year.
>
> The investigation into the fraud showed that students who were unqualified due to missing too many classes or improperly taking makeup classes were allowed to graduate.
>
> ...
>
> The school system promised to strictly enforce long-ignored attendance policies—failing students if they are absent a class more than 30 times in a school year. At D.C.'s worst school, Anacostia High, only 19 percent of seniors "have passed or are passing the classes required to receive their diplomas,"

All that money, all that time, all those White kids sent on those Teach for America programs and this is the result.

Lol, they just cheated to make it seem that these niggers weren't failing and I bet the administrators helped them cheat to boost the numbers.

Video Link

Time to close the book on these ridiculous programs designed to get blacks and browns to succeed in school.

It ain't ever gonna happen and we're just wasting White people's time and money.

LISTEN UP, LIBERALS.

I know it hurts to acknowledge this. I know it goes against everything you've ever thought about the world. I know it makes you feel like you've wasted your time and energy.

But the first rule of holes is to stop digging.

It's over now. Sixty years of this bullshit is coming to an end. The experiment has concluded and the results are in everywhere you look.

Blacks and browns have FAILED—despite all your help and all your lying on their behalf, the truth is coming out now. White people are waking up to their incompetence.

You won't be able to contain this.

DS

Georgia Shuts Down Delta's Shekels Over NRA Boycott!

Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer
March 2, 2018

COME AND TAKE IT, KIKES! BRING YOUR WHOLE CREW! THIS IS AMERICA! NOT EUROPE! WE STOPPED GIVING A FUCK WHEN GEORGE WASHINGTON WAS LIKE "YO LET'S DO THIS."

The NRA RACE WAR is heating up, lads!

Out of the GAS CHAMBER and into the OVEN!

New York Times:

> Georgia lawmakers approved a bill on Thursday that stripped out a tax break proposal highly coveted by Delta Air Lines—the most stinging punishment that America's pro-gun forces have leveled so far on one of the many corporations recalibrating their positions on firearms after the Florida high school massacre.
>
> The $50 million sales tax exemption on jet fuel that was sought by Delta, one of Georgia's biggest employers, had been included in a broader tax-relief bill. But this week, a number of Georgia Republicans, including Lt. Gov. Casey Cagle, sought to remove the perk as retribution for Delta's decision to end a promotional discount for members of the National Rifle Association.
>
> Delta, in announcing the policy change, said it was trying to remain "neutral" in a national gun debate that has been rekindled by a gunman's attack at a school in Parkland, Fla., that left 17 people dead. A number of other major American companies, including the car rental company Hertz and MetLife insurance, have also ended relationships with the N.R.A. since the shooting on Feb. 14.
>
> On Thursday, the Georgia Senate overwhelmingly approved a version of the bill without the jet-fuel tax break. The House, which had already approved a version of the bill, also approved the change. Both houses are controlled by Republicans.

The legislation now goes to the desk of the Republican governor, Nathan Deal, who has pledged to sign it into law.

SHUTTING DOWN THE ANTI-GUN KIKES?

YOU'VE GOT YOURSELF A DEAL, PARTNER!

A NATHAN DEAL!

The Jews had this whole thing planned out.

I don't know that they had it planned out that a JEW terrorist would shoot up a school of JEWS in a town with a JEW sheriff that would magically have two teenagers who had been GROOMST to be political talking figures, but they had the attacks and deplatforming of the NRA planned, and they had the idea of using kids like this planned.

But guess what?

It didn't go as planned.

People hate the kids—a lot of them think this is a gigantic kike hoax—and they hate the kikes telling them to give up their guns because people got shot. Furthermore, they hate the idea of holding the NRA responsible for a shooting. They probably hate that last thing the most.

It really is like holding AAA responsible for a car crash.

So it's collapsing in on itself. They had already made all of these quick moves to deplatform the NRA by the time they realized that this shit wasn't going to work. I think they will walk it all back. Basically, Georgia bringing in the government gives them an excuse to walk it back.

Again, the guns are the only thing we ever win on, and we need to really make it clear in our messaging that guns are a white nationalist issue.

We need to associate ourselves with winning, and with issues our people care about.

REMEMBER TO JOIN THE NRA TO SUPPORT THE COMPLETE RACIAL EXTERMINATION OF THE JEWS!

DS

Ben "Bling Bling Ben" Carson Loses His Fine Ass Dinner Set

Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer
March 1, 2018

During the primaries, Carson regularly brought his guns onto stage with him and repeatedly told audiences that he would "keel any muffugguh who fuggs wiff my money."

Ben Carson's campaign slogan was "yall muffuggahs best not be fuggen wif mah money becuz eye wheel keel yo ass."

If he would have had the sense to make that the official slogan of HUD, this wouldn't be happening to him.

Fox News:

The Department of Housing and Urban Development announced Thursday that it is canceling an order for a $31,561 dining set purchased for a costly makeover of Secretary Ben Carson's office after a whistleblower's complaint.

"At the request of the Secretary, the agency is working to rescind the order for the dining room set," HUD spokesman Raffi Williams said in a statement.

The move comes after Helen Foster, HUD's former chief administrative officer, complained that she was retaliated against for objecting to the cost of the set, saying that $5,000 was the statutory max. The New York Times reported on the decision, made in late 2017, on Tuesday.

The agency had previously called the dining room set a decoration rather than a building expense, and said it was not ordered by Carson.

HUD told the Associated Press that only blinds were purchased for Carson's office and were within the $5,000 limit. The dining set is in a room adjoining Carson's office.

Foster said she was demoted for refusing to bankroll the remodeling, and claims it was requested by Carson's wife amid an environment where top officials told her to skirt or break the rules. Foster says she was told the department "has always found money for this in the past" and that "$5,000 will not even buy a decent chair."

The department said in response to that report that Carson decorated his office mainly with furniture from the agency's basement and did not ask for a new dining set. Instead, HUD blamed it on "career staffers."

(((Career staffers))).

But isn't it racist to take decadent, shiny objects from black people tho?

That is their culture, after all.

I thought black lives mattered, but I guess not if you're Dr. Ben the cultured thug.

To be fair though Dr. Ben was the only GOP candidate who said that faggots should be "chucked at with a spear." And no, I don't think that we a double entendre, you weirdo.

DS

White Teacher Fires a Single Shot in Georgia High School After Barricading Himself in a Room

Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer
March 1, 2018

So in the wake of the Parkland massacre, Trump has talked about arming the teachers at schools with CCW, and I've said "yeah but you also have to arm the students."

This just goes to prove that point.

Fox News:

A teacher has been taken into custody after allegedly firing at least one shot inside a Georgia high school classroom Wednesday, police said.

The Dalton Police Department identifed the teacher as Jesse Randall Davidson, 53, a social studies teacher who also does play-by-play announcements during the school's football games. He has been employed with the school since 2004.

Social studies...that figures.

Davidson was charged with aggravated assault, carrying a weapon on school grounds, terroristic threats, reckless conduct, possession of a gun during commission of a crime and disrupting public school, police said in a tweet.

The department earlier tweeted a person, believed to be a teacher, was barricaded inside a classroom. The person allegedly would not allow students into the room, police said.

Dalton High School was placed on lockdown and police confirmed no children were in any danger and there weren't any students inside the classroom at the time of the incident, they said. The school and the area surrounding it were evacuated.

During an afternoon news conference, Dalton High School Principal Steve Bartoo said he was notified of the situation around 11:40 a.m. After arriving to the area of the building, he said students were being shuffled into another classroom and he was told that Davidson wasn't letting anyone in.

Bartoo said he tried to go inside the classroom but Davidson slammed the door in his face and told him to "go away."

The school resource officer, who was off-campus at a nearby middle school, was called, the principal said, and other students were moved from a nearby classroom.

After that, Bartoo said he tried again to enter the classroom, this time putting his key in the door and announcing himself, only to have it slammed on him again. He said Davidson told him not to come in and said "I have a gun."

The school was immediately placed under threat lockdown mode and shortly after, Bartoo said he heard a gunshot. He added that it seemed like only minutes before officers arrived to the school. Students were moved and part of the hallway was evacuated before police ultimately told them to clear out the entire school, the principal said.

We are being escorted out !!! #Daltonhighschool i will keep y'all updated !! Stay tuned ! pic.twitter.com/Q9FIVM5qJw

— wesley (@wesleycaceres5) February 28, 2018

Police did not say what type of firearm was used but confirmed it was a handgun. The gun has been recovered.

One student was injured after sustaining an ankle injury while running inside the school during the building evacuation, the Dalton Police Department tweeted. No faculty or staff were reported injured in the incident.

Bartloo said he has known Davidson since he was employed by the district and described him as an "excellent teacher" who was "well thought of." When asked if this event was a surprise, the principal said, "absolutely."

Another video from Dalton High student @wesleycaceres5 who is on the bus headed to the parent meet-up spot. pic.twitter.com/dtUaho6JPA

— 11Alive News (@11AliveNews) February 28, 2018

Okay so...

This is obviously just some personal thing, he didn't hurt anyone, didn't have any desire to hurt anyone. I'll bet he's recently been through a divorce.

But here's the thing: it took place inside of a school, so this is going to blow up as part of this school violence narrative the kikes are pushing.

Although to be honest, I'm happy as long as they keep pushing these two kids everyone is so disgusted by.

So when I saw this story I was like "yeah, great—this'll be another chance for these too roll out the hated brats!"

You've gotta keep a positive state of mind, folks.

DS

Trump Calls Out Dr. Donothing AKA Captain Aw Shucks AKA Jeff Sessions

Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer
March 1, 2018

Why is A.G. Jeff Sessions asking the Inspector General to investigate potentially massive FISA abuse. Will take forever, has no prosecutorial power and already late with reports on Comey etc. Isn't the I.G. an Obama guy? Why not use Justice Department lawyers? DISGRACEFUL!

— Donald J. Trump (@realDonaldTrump) February 28, 2018

Some Trump 36D interdimensional underwater time-traveling chess narratives are good and some are bad and who knows.

But just so you understand with this situation: the chess narrative is that Trump doesn't want anything to be investigated yet, he wants the evidence to keep piling up, and he wants the Democrats to think it's all on Jeff Sessions who is not acting because he is either weak or because he is on their side.

I don't know what the deal here is, but I tend to be skeptical of chess narratives involving Sessions because Sessions recusing himself was definitely not chess. That was the single biggest fuckup of the entire Trump administration, and is basically the reason all of this is happening.

New York Times:

The long-simmering friction between President Trump and Attorney General Jeff Sessions erupted into an extraordinary public face-off on Wednesday as the investigation into Russia's election interference roiled the administration and raised new questions about the independence of law enforcement agencies.

Mr. Trump excoriated Mr. Sessions for not ordering his own investigation into the handling of the Russia inquiry during its early months, calling his attorney general "DISGRACEFUL" in a lacerating Twitter post. Mr. Sessions, who has absorbed blows from the White House since last year mostly in silence, responded with a rare statement defending his "integrity and honor."

The back-and-forth, unthinkable in previous administrations, came during a week of unrest at the White House. As the president railed about the special counsel Robert S. Mueller III's Russia investigation, his son-in-law and senior adviser, Jared Kushner, was stripped of his top-secret security clearance. One of Mr. Trump's closest aides, Hope Hicks, announced that she will step down as communications director. And Mr. Trump's former campaign chairman was back in court pleading not guilty to new charges.

The schism between Mr. Trump and his attorney general has become a persistent subplot of his administration, an almost Shakespearean rift between a president and one of his earliest and strongest supporters. Mr. Sessions was the first senator to back Mr. Trump's candidacy but has fallen out of favor because the president wanted an attorney general who would protect him and investigate his political enemies.

lel.

"Jeff Sessions, hero of the NYT!"

Whatever is going on with Captain Aw Shucks, it is actually good that all of this stuff is piling up.

And remember, Mueller himself is a key conspirator—he lined his counsel with all of these criminals from the initial FBI conspiracy, as well as other criminals from everywhere, forming a sort of Legion of Doom.

He also knew at least when he was appointed about all the criminal actions that took place to get the FISA warrant—the Hillary funding of Steele and the FBI lying about it, the fact that the initial premise of his appointment was a hoax—and all this other stuff.

So letting him keep going for now is a good thing. He will eventually have to admit there is no Trump conspiracy—at which point Trump says "okay, it's time for a second special counsel to investigate all of you people."

DS

Bad news, Pedro: you have to stay in jail.

Yes, the Jews have been arguing for decades that the Constitution applies to everyone in the world. Of course at the same time, they are trying to abolish the Constitution.

That is the thing to understand about these Jews: they will make any argument that benefits their agenda to destroy the white race. They do not have some specific principle or ideology they are arguing for, they just simply want to promote the interests of their own race and to hurt our race.

That mode of thinking is alien to whites, to the point where we can't even recognize it when it is right in front of us. Instead, we try to place Jews in categories based 0n the specific positions that we see them arguing for. But everything about Jews becomes clear very quickly when you find the courage to say: "they appear to be arguing for themselves and against us."

Fox News:

Supreme Court Confirms Immigrants Do Not Have Constitutional Rights

Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer
February 28, 2018

A sharply divided Supreme Court has concluded that certain immigrants or asylum seekers do not have an automatic right to periodic custody or bail hearings.

The 5-3 decision comes as the Trump administration looks to shore up rules governing those seeking permanent entry into the country.

At issue is whether aliens requesting admission to the U.S. who are subject to mandatory federal detention must be afforded court status hearings, with the possibility of release into the country, if the detention lasts more than six months. That could include lawful permanent residents charged with a crime; those detained at the border seeking entry who might lack valid documentation; or those claiming fear of persecution if they return to their home country.

The key plaintiff was Alejandro Rodriguez, held for more than three years without any bond hearing. The Mexican national was convicted of misdemeanor drug possession and joyriding, but fought deportation. He eventually was allowed to stay in the U.S. after his release from custody.

With the help of the American Civil Liberties Union, he sued, claiming his constitutional rights were violated.

In the majority ruling, Justice Samuel Alito said the government's authority was clear: "Detention during those proceedings gives immigration officials time to determine an alien's status without running the risk of the alien's either absconding or engaging in criminal activity before a final decision can be made."

Alito also accused the three dissenting justices of ignoring the relevant law. "How does the dissent attempt to evade the clear meaning of 'detain'? It resorts to the legal equivalent of a sleight-of-hand trick."

Chief Justice John Roberts, and Justices Anthony Kennedy, Clarence Thomas and Neil Gorsuch, supported the judgment.

But Justice Stephen Breyer said the fact these are immigrants in custody does not diminish their right to a hearing.

"The bail questions before us are technical but at heart they are simple," Breyer said, in an unusual oral dissent read from the bench. "We need only recall the words of the Declaration of Independence, in particular its insistence that all men and women have 'certain unalienable rights,' and that among them is the right to liberty."

Breyer was backed by Justices Ruth Bader Ginsburg and Sonia Sotomayor.

They are all three Jews. And again, that is the literal Jewish argument: "the Constitution applies to everyone in the world, because of a sentence in the Declaration of Independence regarding the philosophical grounding of the revolutionary war."

The actual reality is that none of what is happening right now would be approved of by our Founding Fathers. No one wanted to say it when the kikes were arguing for gay marriage, but Thomas Jefferson supported the death penalty for faggots. Now we light up the White House with a faggot flag.

And I mean, obviously the Founding Fathers all owned slaves.

The Jews will explain all of this away with arguments about how they were "men of their time" and they only believed and did the things they believed and did because it was normal at the time. Well if someone time changes the nature of reality, obviously that would then mean that nothing they did or said mattered at all, and it should just all be thrown out. All of history itself should just be considered irrelevant.

But: why is it that the passing of time changes the fundamental nature of human society? What is the basis of this theory?

The rightist arguments can all be reduced to: no, the nature of human beings has not changed, and thus the same principles apply now as applied then.

Our morality and our ways of interacting with each other have not really changed at all throughout recorded human history, before the last century (the century of the Jew).

The few moral differences between pagan Europe and Christian Europe stick out, but they are not very numerous and they have simple explanations. For example, polygamy was accepted in some pagan societies, but this was because of men having a higher chance of dying in war, so there being more women than men, and not being able to waste womb-space by letting a woman go without a husband.

You could point to a few other things, but overall, European moral and social standards have remained static.

What has changed is while under the impression that Jews were white people, we allowed them to influence our society.

DS

Official Alt-Right Pizza Papa John's Cuts NFL Sponsorship, Says "All Niggers Should Die"

Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer
February 28, 2018

That headline is clickbait.

Sorry.

But they basically said they want "the blacks" to get the hell out of America. I mean, that is basically the message here— "go to Wakanda, you apes—do not ever eat our delicious pizza with the garlic butter sauce, it is only for the Aryan race."

Fortune:

> Papa John's stock tanked after the company and the NFL mutually decided to end the pizza firm's sponsorship of the professional football league, and after Papa John's missed analyst expectations for the fourth quarter of last year.
>
> The company made $28.5 million on revenues of $467.6 million. Adjusted earnings were down year-on-year from 69 cents per share to 65 cents per share—Wall Street had been expecting 70 cents.
>
> Papa John's (PZZA, -5.83%) shares were down 1.59% during Tuesday trading, before falling another 7% after trading closed.
>
> Papa John's founder John Schnatter, who stepped down as CEO at the end of last year, had blamed falling sales on the NFL's failure to resolve the raging controversy over players taking a knee during the national anthem, in order to protest against police brutality.

That narrative was so retarded.

Even if you believe this "police brutality" horseshit, they weren't being asked to honor the police flag by standing for the police anthem.

As far as the stock falling—that is all just speculative. Stock people are expecting some kind of a backlash based on a lack of knowledge of the way society and chain food works. The only people who actually eat Papa John's are poor people, because it is disgusting prolefeed, and poor people do not give a shit about some load of social justice gibberish. If anything, all of this media coverage helps Papa John's, because poor people will just buy products because they heard the name over and over again.

DS

Hazmat Situation at Florida Military Base, 11 Feel Ill After Opening a Letter

Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer
February 28, 2018

> Base officials are coordinating with local HAZMAT teams and @FBI. Several > Marines are receiving medical care as a result of this incident. No additional details are available at this time as the investigation is ongoing.
>
> — U.S. Marines (@USMC) February 27, 2018

If you clicked this to find out why it takes 11 people to open a letter, then you are out of luck because I do not know the answer to that question.

I also don't know what would infect 11 people in a room or whatever that could be contained in an envelope.

Was an envelope filled with powder opened up and passed around? Like, "yo dawg, check this out, buncha white powder be up in dis envelope I open, come smell this shit here"?

The way Anthrax infections work, I am having a hard time understanding this.

Fox News:

> Investigators are looking into an apparent hazmat situation at Joint Base Myer-Henderson Hall in Ft. Myer, Virginia, after a number of people began feeling sick after opening a letter, officials said.
>
> Arlington Fire, one of the units responding to the scene, said "11 people started feeling ill after the letter was opened" in an administration building. Three patients were hospitalized and were said to be in stable condition.
>
> According to the U.S. Marines, personnel took "preventative measures" and evacuated people from the building.
>
> "Several Marines are receiving medical care as a result of this incident," they added.
>
> ...
>
> The letter was taken to a lab at Quantico for further examination, ABC News reported.

Trump Jr. and Assange have both recently received powder-filled envelopes, though I don't think either of those were confirmed to be real toxic agents.

This I guess is real. And I guess it would probably be anthrax. And either they really did pass it around and a bunch of them touched it, or maybe it was opened in front of a fan and it blew it across the room.

We joke, but the military really is mostly brown people now, and you know, these people are just not very smart.

This is probably the beginning of a campaign of these letters, which is going to cause all types of problems.

DS

Alex Jones Faces Total Shoah Thanks to Fake News and Jew-Tube

Roy Batty
Daily Stormer
February 28, 2018

Please, fam. Say it ain't so. What will I do without my Alex Jones Vaporwave mixes?

Video Link

It has been said before, but the man is a living meme factory. I'm deeply saddened by this attack on him.

But seriously, if YouTube keeps attacking these gatekeeper types that aren't even explicitly pro-White or anti-Semitic, then it might provoke backlash.

Information Liberation:

> Last week, CNN published a front page story entitled InfoWars is two strikes away from being banned from YouTube in which the news organization deliberately misrepresented our content in relation to the Parkland school shooting as part of an effort to pressure YouTube to delete our channel.
>
> This morning, we were informed that the channel had received a second strike on a video relating to the Parkland shooting, meaning it is now on the verge of being terminated permanently.

Video Link

It's really up in the air what happens next. Maybe SJWs and Jews will mass flag the video and then it will be three strikes for Jones.

But can we step back and just ask why this David Hogg thing is blowing up? Who is this kid? Why are we not allowed to criticize him? Why is pointing out the fact that he's an actor who has been fed lines among other things suddenly a casus belli to ban people?

This is the kind of treatment only usually reserved for big-wig Jews, so why is Hogg getting this kind of princess treatment?

It's all so manufactured. God forbid the public should ask some questions before their guns are taken away. You do that and you get Anderson Cooper's pinched gay little face staring at you through his problem glasses, judging you.

Cooper's soft judgmentalism is worse than Big Brother's staring mug for most SWPLs and soy boys.

But the attack on guns is an attack on the last major issue that White people are dug in on. The conservatives lost the fight on desegregation, the whole "nation of immigrants" thing, the anti-abortion thing, the gay rights thing and now the only thing left is gun rights.

And the Jew media is using this kid to ram it through.

That means he is fair game and Alex Jones was in the right to attack him for being a bugman useful idiot for the globalist transdimensional reptilian child molesters.

Hands off Alex, you globalist scum. We're cummin' for ya.

DS

Google Removes All "Gun" Results in Their Shopping Search Engine – Then Quickly Reverses Changes

Adrian Sol
Daily Stormer
February 28, 2017

Why would a good goy ever need such an assault squirt gun?

The gun control fiesta is being kicked into MAXIMUM OVERDRIVE, with water guns, nerf guns, gun-themed band names and even colors now getting the bat.

We will never prevent Jew terrorists like Cruz from shooting up Jew schools unless we purge the very idea of a gun from the entire country. In fact, the violence probably won't stop unless we somehow destroy the Platonic ideal of the gun itself.

I'm guessing the next step of gun control is to have European-style socialists astrally project into the ethereal plane an abolish the concept of weapons from existence.

Breitbart:

> Google has removed search results for any product that contains the word "gun" in it, including water guns, toy guns, the band "Guns and Roses," and even "burgundy" from its shopping section.

Sorry Axl, your rock anthems are standing in the way of progress.

> Google has removed results in its shopping tool for a wide range of terms related to firearms, unwittingly censoring completely unrelated items such as music groups and movies whose titles matched filtered terms.

Google Shopping allows users to search for products from a wide range of online shopping sites to compare prices and offerings. The Internet giant has removed search results for a wide variety of terms, which was discovered by social media users this week.

> Searches for "gun," "guns," "pistol," "pistols," "AR-15," "rifle," and "revolver," in the shopping section of Google's search engine will now fail to return any results, while other searches which have nothing to do with firearms but include the keywords similarly provide no results, including "toy guns," "water guns," "glue gun," "Guns and Roses," "Gundam," "Top Gun," "Naked Gun," the Man With the Golden Gun," "Shogun," "Sex Pistols," and even "burgundy."

The European-style socialist fears the burgundy.

They're not kidding about this.

> Google shopping now blocks all search queries with the English word "gun" in it, which can be something of an issue as you can imagine. pic.twitter.com/NL4V00y079
>
> — Best Mom Eva (@mombot) February 27, 2018

Example 3:
If you're a music lover and wanted to buy merchandise related to the musical band "Guns and Roses," too bad. Google's shopping tab will tell you nothing is available. pic.twitter.com/pPelmGUbFQ

> — Nick Monroe (@nickmon1112) February 27, 2018

Example 4:
Burgundy is a shade of red. A color on the color wheel. But since BurGUNdy has "gun" in its name, you're out of luck if you wanted to buy ANY sort of item in that particular color. pic.twitter.com/IOJOCMgYex

> — Nick Monroe (@nickmon1112) February 27, 2018

The fact that words including "gun" as part of the title have led many to suspect Google is running a filter specifically to remove any search result including those letters, as opposed to filtering by product category or vendor.

The Breitbart article is now outdated, since Google has silently reversed their attempt at censorship.

> They just did it because earlier no gun related search returned results. Not even Top Gun! pic.twitter.com/RyapqoNZAE
>
> — tubytus28 (@tubytus28) February 27, 2018

This means that this wasn't some elaborate policy decision implemented by skilled engineers, but probably the act of some rogue employee letting their SJW politics sabotage Google's systems.

The implementation was so clumsy that it's quite hard to believe any competent software engineer could be behind this, let alone a team. A simple regex could have prevented ridiculous non-sense like banning colors or band names. Skilled engineers would have banned product categories. This is just retard nonsense.

So again, it's most likely this wasn't an official policy, but the action of a single employee—or maybe some kind of mistake.

However, it's still quite instructive in understanding the mindset of the left at the moment. The shitlib footsoldiers of the system have been whipped into an anti-gun frenzy by their European-style socialist masters, and are acting totally irrationally.

This could end up being a major victory for us.

DS

Pentagon to Dump Millions Into Paying Private "Civil Rights Groups" to Shill on the Internet

Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer
February 27, 2018

Just so you understand, when they talk about "fighting Russian trolls," they are talking about fighting anyone who disagrees with the Jewish narrative.

Everyone in the Alt-Right has been considered a Russian troll since Hillary's speech declaring that. And she included Breitbart and Alex Jones in that.

Even Bernie Sanders has been labeled a Russian troll.

RT:

> The Pentagon will pump millions into a State Department center created to fight propaganda and disinformation campaigns waged by foreign nations, as it wants to be "on the offensive" and respond "aggressively" to attacks.
>
> The State Department announced on Monday that it had signed a memorandum with the US Department of Defense to transfer $40 million to the State's Global Engagement Center (GEC), so it could up its game in countering malicious content online.
>
> Part of these funds will be distributed between various civil rights groups, creators of media content, non-governmental organizations, as well as state-funded and private research entities. The grants would be awarded to those presenting the best ways to combat propaganda and disinformation. An Information Access Fund, to be set up for this purpose, will "support public and private partners working to expose and counter propaganda and disinformation from foreign nations."

"Civil rights groups" —that is going to be the SPLC and all of the rest of the Jewish activist groups.

"Civil rights group" is just a euphemism for "Jewish ethnic activist group."

So this is literally US government-funded JIDF.

Literally.

> According to Under Secretary of State for Public Diplomacy and Public Affairs Steve Goldstein, the funds earmarked by the Pentagon for what is slated to become a large-scale campaign are "critical" to ensure that Washington will "continue an aggressive response to malign influence and disinformation."
>
> Goldstein hinted that protection from such attacks may become only one of many facets of the initiative, adding: "It is not merely a defensive posture that we should take, we also need to be on the offensive."

And of course, this includes attacking anyone on the internet who is pro-Trump as a Russian bot.

I understand Trump can't just shut everything down, but when it comes to federal programs designed to pay Jews to try to undermine his administration by pretending to be Americans and spreading fake news...it seems like he could reasonably come out and say "no deal."

I am certain it's going to be a lot more than $40 million going into this. There are already massive disinformation programs on the internet done by the FBI and other intelligence agencies.

This is unique because they are going to pay private contractors to shill for them.

Thankfully, we already have guys who have infiltrated all of these major "civil rights groups," usually as "Alt-Right experts."

All of you need to continue to try to get those types of jobs, by the way. I rarely mention this publicly. But I'll just drop it out there again: it is easy to get jobs at these organizations "fighting hate" by pretending to be antifa aligned (don't openly say you're antifa) and have studied the Alt-Right. Because obviously, all of you understand all of the positions of antifa, and you can of course demonstrate encyclopedic knowledge of the Alt-Right. They will just hire you.

And I promise you: doing that kind of secret agent shit would be fun af.

DS

This One Black Guy Has Ebola/Zika and Basically, We're All Fucked

Roy Batty
Daily Stormer
February 27, 2018

This is what happens when you hire Blacks to critical positions. You get killer Ebola/Zika epidemics.

Zero Hedge:

> A Harvard-trained CDC official has been missing since February 12 after leaving work midway through the day due to an illness, prompting his friends and family to sound the alarm and issue a $10,000 reward for information leading to an arrest and indictment in the event of malfeasance.
>
> ...
>
> Cunningham—who was promoted to commander in the US Public Health Service last July, had worked on the government's response to both Zika and Ebola outbreaks. With two degrees from Harvard's School of Public Health, he had been named one of The Atlanta Business Chronicle's "40 under 40" award winners.

Video Link

Well, that seems mildly concerning.

> Quoted by the NYT, his father said that Commander Cunningham had "a lot going on" personally and professionally, and his most recent conversation with his son had left him worried.
>
> "The tone, and the numerous exchanges gave us reason to be concerned about Tim," Terrell Cunningham said. "And I don't know if it's an instinct you have because it's your child, but it was not a normal conversation and I was not comfortable."
>
> Cunningham's car was parked in the garage, while his dog—Mr. Bojangles, aka Bo, was left all by himself.
>
> "Tim never leaves Bo unattended," Terrell Cunningham told NBC News. "He just doesn't do it."
>
> "None of this makes sense," Timothy's brother Anterio told Atlanta Fox affiliate WAGA-TV. "He wouldn't just evaporate like this and leave his dog alone and have our mother wondering and worrying like this. He wouldn't."
>
> "I feel like I'm in a horrible Black Mirror episode," Cunningham's sister Tiara told the New York Times. "I'm kind of lost without him, to be quite honest."

It's not a Black Mirror episode without interracial sex and robots, so idk why she would even make that reference.

In fact, idk what concerns me more—that there's a Zika/Ebola-infected affirmative action hire on the loose probably muh dicking around and spreading the disease or that people actually watch Black Mirror.

Seriously, that show is total convoluted trying to be super deep but failing trash. It would be banned in the ethnostate for just sucking so much.

Black Twitter knows whats up

This is it mang, it's all over now. The epitaph on America's grave will read thusly: "they trusted a Dindu."

And the Asian Mandarins ruling over the decontaminated North American continent will wisely stroke their white beards and shake their heads at the White piggu's folly.

DS

50-Year-Old Black Guy Trying to Clean Up His Community Shot Dead on Facebook Live

Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer
February 27, 2018

An old black guy who was trying to clean-up the community by outing drug-dealers on Facebook was killed on a livestream.

Video Link

Older black men do become totally and completely different people, post-40. Even after they get to be 30, they are like, some number of thousands of times less likely to commit a violent crime.

When I was younger, the impression that I was given about this situation was that younger black men were somehow being corrupted—a "kids these days" type phenomenon, due to drugs and rap music. But then when I got #woke, it was clear that no, extreme violence and hyper-impulsiveness are just natural biological traits of the teenage and twenties black male, and as they age, some hormonal thing happens where they cool off. Even Ben Carson was out there stabbing niggas on the street when he was a yoof.

So whereas I have seen that among whites, do-gooder morality decreases between 20 and 40, as you come to a "way the world is" type realization on a lot of things as your hormones change, black people actually become more inclined toward morality as they age.

So you do get this phenomenon of older black men being morally concerned about younger black men and their community in general. And the younger black men resent that.

This story takes place in Charlotte, North Carolina.

Fox 46:

> Police are actively searching for a man who they say is armed and dangerous following a deadly shooting near Wingate University Monday morning that was caught on Facebook Live.
>
> Wingate police say they received a call about 10:15 a.m. about a man who had been shot on Jerome Street. When officers arrived they say they found a man in his 50s, now identified as Prentis Robinson, laying face down with several gun shot wounds. He was pronounced dead on scene.
>
> According to Wingate Police Chief Donnie Gay, Robinson had visited the police station about five minutes before the shooting occurred to report a stolen cell phone.
>
> The shooting happened roughly a block away from the police station and near Wingate University. The university and a few other schools in the vicinity were placed on lockdown as a precaution. That lockdown was lifted at about 1 p.m.
>
> Robinson had been outing people on Facebook who were suspected drug dealers in the neighborhood, sources told FOX 46. Family members said that Robinson would sometimes help police find drug dealers, even though he had his own demons.
>
> "Walking and talking. Just walking and talking. If somebody messed with him he'd definitely go on Live," one family member told FOX 46.
>
> They added that they sometimes felt that officers were annoyed with him.
>
> According to Wingate police, Robinson was on Facebook Live when he was shot by an unknown suspect. It's unclear if Robinson and his shooter knew one another. Deputies say they're looking for a black man who was seen wearing a blue and black windbreaker and brown Timberland boots.

So this is a pretty standard story from the black community. You can kinda feel bad for the old black guy, but then be like—well, he probably was out there killing 50-year-old black guys when he was 20 also.

If you just automatically sent black males to prison from the age of 12 to 30, for crimes that they were obviously going to commit anyway pretty much no matter what, you wouldn't really have an issue of black violence in America.

Furthermore, you can see in the above video that Prentis was checking in with a white guy, and this is standard—as they age they also do start to generally view whites less as enemies, and more as people they should be looking up to and trying to emulate. Sometimes one of these 50-year-old blacks will move into a white apartment complex because he doesn't want to deal with the shit that goes on in the black community, and just act chill.

Note that I'm not saying that black men become useful contributing members of society as they age, because obviously they generally do not. They are definitely more likely to try to get a job and so on when they're older than when they're younger, but that isn't saying much.

Also note that I'm not saying that there aren't old black men who are a problem—we're all familiar with the old crackhead black on the corner or whatever.

I'm also not sure how much of this general phenomenon that I'm describing here is due to extreme violence-orient blacks dying young, with only Kanye-tier ones making it to 50. That definitely contributes in some part, though even the most violent blacks chill-out a whole lot after they age, if they make it.

DS

Russian Bot Bernie Sanders Under Vicious Assault by Capitalist Agents

Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer
February 27, 2018

A machine of penalty. The sweet insanity. Fade to black tranquility. You're looking through the eyes of a psycho.

It's funny how the left made up this narrative about "McCarthyism," even though McCarthy actually did nothing wrong. And now they are actually doing the exact thing that their narrative claimed McCarthy was doing.

RT:

> Bernie Sanders, who was attacked for the alleged support his campaign received from "Kremlin trolls," is now accused of supporting a false story about how his campaign worked with that of Hillary Clinton against those trolls.

The Mueller investigation's indictment of 13 Russians, who are accused of using false identities and failing to register as foreign agents while running a clickbait operation in the US, mentions that part of their efforts were aimed at drumming up support for Sanders. Consequently, the Vermont senator found himself on the defensive, as the US media questioned how much his campaign for the Democrat nomination benefited from the alleged "Russian trolls" and whether he was aware of that help.

Last week, Sanders released a lengthy statement condemning alleged Kremlin meddling in the US election and expressing support for his rival Hillary Clinton, who "had to run against not only Donald Trump, but also the Russian government."

Was he referring to himself there...?

> He and his former campaign manager, Jeff Weaver, also gave a number of interviews, denying any Russia connection and trying to shift the blame onto Clinton.
>
> "The real question to be asked is what was the Clinton campaign [doing about alleged Russian interference]? They had more information about this than we did," Sanders told Vermont Public Radio.
>
> In an interview with Politico, the senator said his team had shared information with the Clinton campaign about suspected troll activity on a Sanders campaign Facebook page.
>
> Weaver told the news outlet Sanders was referring to a story run by NBC News on February 16 about a warning form a Sanders supporter from San Diego, who spotted a big spike of Facebook subscriptions by apparent bot accounts.
>
> In a follow-up, Politico accused Sanders of promoting a false story. The reason for the accusation was that the supporter in question, John Mattes, was a volunteer, not a campaign staffer, and that the warning he sent was directed to a pro-Clinton PAC rather than her campaign management. "Bernie Sanders is taking credit for action to combat the Russian incursion into the 2016 election that he didn't have anything to do with—and didn't actually happen," the Politico story states.

This is the quote Politico printed:

"A guy who was on my staff ... checked it out and he went to the Clinton campaign, and he said, 'You know what? I think these guys are Russians,'" Sanders said. Weaver said Sanders had not verified the information in the article himself before stating it as fact.

So, that's really just a understandable misstatement, isn't it? I'd be more inclined to call the Politico story fake news than Bernie referring to a volunteer as a team member and a Clinton PAC as the Clinton campaign.

This is just a brutal attack on Bernie by establishment media—they defend their own people all the time for making outright false statements with a bunch of "what he meant to say was," and all Bernie did was use the wrong words.

Everyone gets the "everyone is a Russian agent" thing, eating Bernie Sanders right now is a really weird move.

It's kinda funny that Bernie is the only guy on earth who was presumably investigated by McCarthy's program and this new real life caricature of McCarthy's program.

But seriously—what is the point of attacking Bernie right now? I can't even think of a single angle from which you could blame Bernie for Hillary's loss. There isn't even any crazy lie you could come up with to explain that type of a narrative.

So then is he viewed as some kind of future threat? What is he going to do? How could attacking him be worth alienating all of the Democrats who loved him and hated Hillary?

I think that the party is moving in a direction of alienating the Bernie people, just because it is going full anti-white and Bernie rallies were more white than Trump rallies. But I don't understand why they would want to speed up that process on purpose.

I think a lot of this stuff can just be chalked up to Trump Derangement Syndrome. The left is losing their shit and just doing things that don't make any sense. Lashing out in every direction.

DS

Democrat Defends Conspiracy to Hoax a Conspiracy: "Pissgate Wasn't Our Only Thing, Tho"

Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer
February 26, 2018

Video Link

When I saw the Democrat memo over the weekend, what I did not catch is their own attempt to downplay pissgate ("The Steele Dossier").

One of the goals of this memo was apparently to say "yeah but pissgate wasn't the only thing we used tho."

The previous argument was first that pissgate was so damning that they had no choice, and then that they are just so dumb that they thought pissgate was so damning that they had no choice. But then it came out that the FBI and the DoJ both KNEW that pissgate was just a fake thing funded by the Clinton campaign—and that the FBI purposefully covered that up when seeking the FISA spy warrants. So now they are just like "ah well, you know—we had this other stuff too...it's just all classified."

So they are bluffing about stuff that cannot be released by law, claiming that it exists.

This is actually pretty clever.

Fox News:

> A top Democrat on the House Intelligence Committee said Sunday that the memo his party released this weekend regarding alleged abuses in the federal government's Russia investigation proves the so-called Steele dossier was only part of the evidence used to get a critical, court-approved surveillance warrant, disputing Republicans' argument about the importance of the document.
>
> The memo released Saturday is essentially a rebuttal to the one by Republicans on the GOP-controlled committee that argues the FBI and Justice Department relied on the loosely-vetted dossier to get the warrant on onetime Trump campaign adviser Carter Page from the Foreign Intelligence Surveillance Court.
>
> "The application to warrant Carter Page was not based on the Steele dossier," Connecticut Rep. Jim Himes, the second-ranking Democrat on the committee, told "Fox News Sunday." "The dossier was just a small part of the application."

But none of that alleged other stuff that made up the bigger part of the application is in the memo, because it is all classified, because it is directly related to foreign intelligence.

According to this guy.

That is not falsifiable, and won't ever be. Or at least not for decades.

> President Trump, who authorized the release of both parties' memos, blasted the one by Democrats within minutes of the intelligence committing releasing it.
>
> "The Democrat memo response on government surveillance abuses is a total political and legal BUST," Trump tweeted. "Just confirms all of the terrible things that were done. SO ILLEGAL!"
>
> And he argued that the Democrats' memo didn't challenge a key point in the Republican memo that the Obama administration's FBI didn't disclose to the FISA court who paid for the dossier.
>
> "Dem Memo: FBI did not disclose who the clients were—the Clinton Campaign and the DNC. Wow!," Trump also tweeted.

> Dem Memo: FBI did not disclose who the clients were—the Clinton Campaign and the DNC. Wow!
>
> — Donald J. Trump (@realDonaldTrump) February 24, 2018

Yeah, no specific fact in the Nunes Memo was ever disputed by Schiff or the Democrats.

They only disputed the arguments. And they only did that through obfuscation.

> The Democratic rebuttal said: "In fact, DOJ and the FBI would have been remiss in their duty to protect the country had they not sought a FISA warrant and repeated renewals to conduct temporary surveillance of Carter Page, someone the FBI assessed to be an agent of the Russian government."

Andrew McCabe himself admitted that the warrant was only issued because of the Steele Dossier. Although this guy is just saying that McCabe didn't say that—there is no video of him saying it because his testimony was private, but the committee that interviewed him said he said it and this is the first time I've heard anyone say he didn't say it. Nunes' memo says he said it and the Democrats have admitted nothing in the Nunes memo is untrue!

And it doesn't say in the Democrat Memo that he didn't say that, because it would have been illegal to lie—this guy just goes on TV and lies, which is not illegal.

Chris Wallace asked him why it wasn't in the memo, and he said it was because the transcript was classified. But they didn't need to print a direct quote from the transcript. Nunes didn't print a direct quote from the transcript when he said he said it.

So the whole policy at this point is: just go out on the media and lie and say whatever, just to keep this going.

They know that most Americans aren't following this, because the media isn't even attempting to make a coherent narrative, let alone tell the truth about anything—the media is in fact the key party behind all of this conspiracy, they worked with Steele to produce references for the FISA warrant, as the Nunes Memo said.

> The Democrat memo response on government surveillance abuses is a total political and legal BUST. Just confirms all of the terrible things that were done. SO ILLEGAL!
>
> — Donald J. Trump (@realDonaldTrump) February 24, 2018

But even if the media was trying to make sense of it, it is so complicated and convoluted, no one who isn't obsessive would be able to follow it. I have tried to simplify it as it has happened, and I think I've done a pretty great job (NOTICE ME READER), but I know that most DS readers if polled about it would just say "all I know is that it's just a bunch of bullshit."

So it's really hard to produce damning smoking guns, because the masses don't understand what they mean. You would have thought that "the FBI purposefully withheld the fact that they knew Clinton was funding the pissgate dossier from the FISA court and that Steele himself was an aggressive anti-Trump fanatic and that they had no reason whatsoever to believe the dossier was accurate when they brought it to the court" would have been the slam dunk where even the normie would be like "okay, I get it now—this is a gigantic conspiracy to hoax a conspiracy."

If he wasn't a Jew, Schiff would have resigned if not gone full Bud Dwyer when that fact came out, but instead he comes up with a plan to say "yeah, okay, we did that but the thing about that is, there was all this other stuff too, and that stuff was all like, really super-serious, but all of that is a secret that I can't tell you about."

Of course, if we were going to stoop to that level of bullshit, we would have to ask: "well if you had all of this super important super-secret stuff, then why did you deceive the court with something you knew was a hoax?"

But again—to even ask that question, you have to be as deep in this as I am, which probably only accounts for like 20 people on earth. And even I have to sit here and make sure I'm not getting the details confused when I write this stuff.

Every time I do write about it, I sit here literally think I literally need one of these literal conspiracy boards:

DS

European-Style Socialist Oakland Mayor Warns Bean People of Fed Raid

Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer
February 26, 2018

I don't understand how this isn't a federal crime. It is actively thwarting a federal operation.

It is illegal for me, if I know the cops are looking for a friend of mine who has been charged with a crime, to say "the cops are looking for you, you should go to Mexico." It's aiding and abetting.

What if she had warned drug dealers of an impending raid?

Fox News:

> The mayor of a sanctuary city in California issued a warning that U.S. Immigration and Customs Enforcement (ICE) could be conducting a raid in the area as soon as Sunday—ratcheting up tension with the feds while giving her constituents an early heads-up.
>
> Libby Schaaf, the Democratic mayor of Oakland, shared the warning—which she said she "learned from multiple credible sources" —in a press release on Saturday, "not to panic our residents but to protect them," Fox 2 reported.
>
> pic.twitter.com/OJ9oYbTN3s
>
> — Libby Schaaf (@LibbySchaaf) February 25, 2018
>
> The mayor said she didn't know further details of the ICE operation, but claimed she felt it was her "duty and moral obligation as Mayor to give those families fair warning when that threat appears imminent."
>
> The feds detained at least four people Sunday, a program manager for the San Francisco Immigrant Legal Education Network told the San Francisco Examiner, although the paper noted it was unclear if the detentions were related to any broader ICE operation.

Of course, she is Jewish.

Of course she is.

Trump might not be able to charge this bitch with a crime for whatever reason, but he sure as hell can cut federal funding to the state.

Due to brown people and communist policies, California is a disaster state. Cutting federal funds would create a Mad Max type situation. Then California could either be brought to heel or they could secede and write off debts to try and make the place financially viable.

I think the people in the white movement talking about how the US should be broken up are bizarre and deranged and don't really take our situation seriously—because that shit isn't good and even if it was it just isn't happening—but breaking off California is actually not especially far-fetched, and I am fine with. More than fine. It is absolutely necessary. Removing those electoral college votes is just mathematically beneficial in the extreme to balance out the brown children that will be able to vote in 2024.

Because look here, guy: I plan on electing Paul Nehlen as president in 2024. Or at least electing him as Donald Trump Jr.'s Vice-President.

He is going to be in the primaries and get into the debates in 2024—that is an absolute fact.

#Calexit NOW!

DS

Jew Broward County Sheriff Scott Israel Says He's Provided "Amazing Leadership"

Lee Rogers
Daily Stormer
February 25, 2018

Video Link

The Jew Sheriff of Broward County Scott Israel was on CNN being interviewed by the Jew Jake Tapper this morning. Hilariously, Israel claimed that he has provided "amazing leadership" to the office. Even Tapper couldn't believe he said this.

Washington Free Beacon:

> Embattled Broward County Sheriff Scott Israel said he had provided "amazing leadership" to his department on Sunday, drawing disbelief from CNN host Jake Tapper.
>
> Tapper pressed Israel during a nearly half-hour interview about the response of his department before and during the Stoneman Douglas high school shooting in Parkland, Florida, that left 17 dead.
>
> Israel announced Thursday that school resource officer Scot Peterson had been suspended and decided to retire rather than be terminated after learning Peterson failed to enter the school during the massacre and engage the shooter.
>
> Israel also defended the conduct of his department in response to the 18 calls its deputies got about the killer, Nikolas Cruz, including fears he could be a "school shooter in the making." No report was initiated upon that tip.

Here's the full interview.

Video Link

Obviously Israel has provided terrible leadership to the office.

As mentioned above, the Broward County Sheriff's office received numerous tips about the psychotic Jew Nikolas Cruz yet they did not act on them.

Israel himself has acknowledged that one of his deputies

Scot Peterson refused to engage Cruz and hid outside the building like a coward. It's also been reported that other deputies refused to engage Cruz upon arriving on scene.

The actions of the people in his department is a reflection of Israel's leadership. If he was providing good leadership, Cruz would have been detained before anything happened.

Despite these facts, Israel has been demanding gun control at various media appearances over the past few weeks. He doesn't want to own up to his failures which allowed this incident to happen.

There have been numerous calls for Israel to resign his position as a result of these revelations. A Florida state representative is demanding that Governor Rick Scott remove Israel from his job.

Fox News:

> A Florida state representative has called on Gov. Rick Scott to remove the Broward County sheriff from his position over the department's response to the high school shooting that left 17 people dead.
>
> Rep. Bill Hager, R-Boca Raton, sent a letter to Scott Saturday urging him to relieve Sheriff Scott Israel from his duties for "neglect of duty and incompetence," the Palm Beach Post reported.
>
> As a result of the media reports coming out showing the gross incompetence of the @browardsheriff, I am calling on @FLGovScott to remove sheriff Israel from his post. 1/2
>
> — Bill Hager (@RepBillHager) February 24, 2018

Israel has maintained that he won't step down even though it's obvious that he has provided extremely poor leadership to the office. Removing him from his job might be the only way to get rid of him.

What's clear is that law enforcement in America has become an enormous joke. This incompetent kike Israel is just another reflection of it.

DS

Jewish Problem

Gaza: Jews Randomly Shoot Farmer in a Field

Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer
March 4, 2018

lol sexy Dick Tracy character lmao

Jews have a policy of just randomly killing people. Just to remind them.

RT:

> A farmer has been shot dead by Israeli troops while working on his land in Gaza strip, Palestinian health officials said. According to Israelis, however, the "suspect" approached a "restricted zone" and fled after being shot at.
>
> The incident took place on Saturday near the border between the Gaza Strip and Israel. According to Palestinian health officials, a 59-year-old farmer was shot in the back by the Israeli Defiance Forces (IDF) while he was working on his land near the border fence. The man was gravely wounded and died hours after the shooting.

This policy of keeping the natives in a state of constant agitation and fear is actually a very good policy for their objective of demoralizing and humiliating them while also provoking them into attacks which they use to justify a disproportionate response.

It's still not clear why the UN allows Jews to do this though.

I guess because of the lampshades and such.

Side Note

The IDF marketing strategy of claiming that they are made up only of sexy kike female sluts is actually good.

You know Gavin McInnes promotes this. Everyone has this idea, because they've put it out there nonstop for two decades.

They've made it so it's everyone's immediate thought when they think of the Israeli military. Instead of the atrocities they're always committing. It was good branding.

DS

Tick-Tock: Third Corruption Case Opened Against Bibi

Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer
March 2, 2018

> Police questioning Sara Netanyahu this morning informed her that she is a suspect along with her husband of bribery in the Bezeq case. https://t.co/cvuZ3pxtJ4
>
> — Anshel Pfeffer (@AnshelPfeffer) March 2, 2018

Bibi is quickly approaching the end of the line.

The Guardian:

> Israeli police were questioning Benjamin Netanyahu and his wife on Friday as part of an investigation into a corruption case involving the country's telecom giant, casting a shadow on the prime minister's trip to Washington next week.
>
> Channel 10 TV showed footage of police entering Netanyahu's residence. Reports said Netanyahu's wife, Sara, was being questioned at another location.
>
> Two Netanyahu confidants were arrested last month on suspicion of promoting regulation worth hundreds of millions of dollars to the Bezeq telecom company. In return, Bezeq's news site, Walla, allegedly provided positive Netanyahu coverage.
>
> It is the first time that Netanyahu, who as prime minister also held the communications portfolio until last year, is being questioned over the affair, known as Case 4,000.

Polls show that though he is not under obligation to resign, half of Jews want him out.

Reuters:

> Netanyahu is under no strict legal obligation to quit following the police recommendations. Indeed, he has given every indication that he intends to remain in office while pursuing a legal battle.
>
> There has been little public pressure from coalition partners for him to step down, although that could change as fellow politicians and the Israeli public study details of the cases.
>
> There was speculation before the police recommendations were made public that Netanyahu might call early elections, seeking a public mandate that would make a prosecutor think twice before moving against him.
>
> However, Netanyahu said in a televised address that he was"certain" the next elections would be held on schedule. They are not due until November 2019. Recent polls show on the one hand that about half of Israelis believe the police over Netanyahu and think he should step down. On the other hand, surveys also show strong support among Netanyahu's core base, putting Likud ahead of all the other parties.

He's gonna have to go.

This new case shows that they're just going to keep coming—dude is super-corrupt.

Which is kinda funny, because he's arguably the single most powerful individual on the planet other than Vladimir Putin. I could understand corruption on the level of like, having journalists whacked or opposition party members killed or whatever else. But though there is one journalist scandal involving manipulation of the media, most of these scandals are related to money-based corruption. I can't even process that, as a (white) man. I am able to understand a drive for power and influence, but when you have that, why would you risk it over...money?

I guess the answer is simply "because he's Jewish."

DS

Honorary Aryan Anime Director BTFOs the Kikes, Insults Anne Frank and the Shoah Business

Roy Batty
Daily Stormer
March 1, 2018

Oh man, I try not to be too tolerant or open-minded, but I just can't bring myself to hate the Japs too much.

They give so much back to the world in the form of anime, worship and glorification of White culture and unrepentant racism towards darkies.

But now they're branching out into anti-Semitism, which is great news.

Sora News:

> Tweets made by Kazuyoshi Yaginuma, director of the anime Recovery of an MMO Junkie, claim that the Holocaust and Diary of Anne Frank, among other things, are fabrications.
>
> Recent tweets by @yaginuma_san, apparently the account used by anime director Kazuyoshi Yaginuma, have been the latest to stir the controversy pot. Though he has apparently been tweeting anti-Semitic content in Japanese for years, he has begun tweeting his thoughts in English in a series of posts over the last several weeks, as well. His tweets were posted in Japanese with English translations, or just in English, although some translations are somewhat inaccurate or unintelligible, likely the result of Google Translate.

So what did this based nip have to say?

> Some of the tweets question the legitimacy of the Holocaust and the real reasoning for World War II, all while seeming to sympathize with the Axis powers, specifically Nazi Germany. In the thread that started with the above tweet, Yaginuma wonders how the gas chambers could have worked. What kind of technology at the time could have possibly been capable of such a thing, he asks, as well as why, if so many people experienced it, there no pictures or drawings. He asks for someone to draw him a picture of the gas chamber, believing that no one can. Other netizens promptly direct him to documentaries and pictures in historical archives.

Wow.

But that doesn't surprise me. The Japanese have a way of occasionally dropping profound truth bombs on their fans.

Video Link

This is made doubly funny because lots of black people LOVE anime. Go on Youtube and you can find video after video of them watching Anime and commenting on it like they're at the movie theater, shouting at the screen and jumping up and down and making funny faces.

Video Link

Back in college, every black guy I knew who wasn't a thug was into three things: weed, white women and anime.

I mean, take a look at The Boondocks. The creator of the show decided to use anime as a medium to make fun of black people—and he himself was black.

Video Link

So yeah, as if we didn't know already—Jap are our uberfriends. And they never surrender.

> Apparently, Yaginuma blames the Jewish community for the start of World War II, though at the same time he seems to believe that their persecution did not happen. Netizens in both languages are quick to point out that denying the occurrence of the Holocaust is anti-Semitic, but Yaginuma is vehement, despite being somewhat hard to comprehend, even in Japanese.

Also, few people know that one of the biggest figures on the Alt-Right, Jared Taylor, spent his formative years in Japan.

Clearly, we have the Japanese to thank for making Jared racist. Because I strongly believe that if he hadn't lived in Japan, he would have ended up a typical soft-spoken race-blind huWASP like all his peers.

But now he's an anti-darky juggernaut, hell-bent on bringing the samurai spirit to the United States.

God bless the Japs in their weird little island fortress in the Pacific.

DS

Florida Shooting: Sheriff Israel's Men Were ORDERED to Stand Down!

Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer
March 1, 2018

This Florida situation just keeps getting crazier and crazier as the facts continue to drip out.

First the cops couldn't get there in time, then one cop was there and stood down, then 4 other cops were there and stood down, now we hear that they were literally ordered to stand down.

And no—it wasn't the NRA that ordered them to stand down.

Fox News:

> Fox News has learned that in the critical moments as first responding deputies were searching for an active shooter on the property of Marjory Stoneman Douglas high school, a commanding officer on scene apparently ordered some of the initial responders to "stage" and set up a "perimeter" outside—instead of immediately ordering or allowing officers to rush in to neutralize the suspect, Nikolas Cruz.
>
> "It's atrocious," a law enforcement source who was on the scene after the shooting told Fox News. "If deputies were staging it could have cost lives."
>
> The law enforcement source said responding deputies and officers were called to an active shooter scene in which they are trained to immediately "go, go, go" toward the direction of the shooter. "Every second is another life," the source said.
>
> The Broward County Sherrif's Office policy on active shooters indicates responding deputies may enter the building to preserve life without permission. That remains the priority until various objectives are met such as the shooter being detained. The policy does not appear to list staging—setting up an area to keep first responders safe before police secure a violent scene—or a perimeter as an immediate priority.
>
> ...
>
> Fox News has repeatedly reached out to the Broward County Sheriff's office—which was the commanding agency that day—for comment on the timeline of the shooting and also on the allegations of bad commands from any commanding officer. In an email, a BSO spokesperson wrote that the case remained active and ongoing and that no additional details were being released, per a Florida statute.
>
> The Florida Department of Law Enforcement is investigating all of the responding agencies and timeline of the day of the shooting. Fox News asked the FDLE about the specific allegations of bad commands or a pre-mature order to stage. In an email, an FDLE spokesperson wrote that its "review is active" and could not comment on the allegations.
>
> One ranking Florida official close to the investigation told Fox News he and some of his colleagues have heard claims that some of the first responders at Stoneman Douglas were stalled getting inside because of bad commands.
>
> Another source with close ties to a county and city official told Fox News a few of the responding officers on scene were very frustrated and one was brought to tears over the law enforcement response.

Fox News also obtained a dispatch log, showing that the officers were running around outside instead of going in.

We don't yet know who ordered the deputies to "stage" instead of rushing in to kill the shooter and save the childrens, but we do know that whoever he was he was an official under the Jew Sheriff Scott Israel.

He hasn't resigned, despite continued calls for him to do so.

Instead, he has blamed the NRA for his failure to stop his kinsman Nikolas Cruz from shooting up the school after being repeatedly warned he was going to and then his failure to stop him after he went in and started shooting.

This whole situation is insane, and yes, the fact that the police were ORDERED to stand down—instead of just cowering in fear, as was previously suggested—does further the narrative that the Jew Scott Israel actually wanted this shooting to happen.

I don't go with conspiracy theories, as a rule, but there is a legitimate argument to be made here that the same people who allegedly accidentally screwed-up absolutely every single element of this event are the ones who are capitalizing on it politically.

And to be honest, at some point the "they let this happen on purpose" argument starts to make more sense than the "this is all just a coincidental series of horrible screw-ups that coincidentally benefits the people who made the screw-ups."

NOTE: I am not arguing for the conspiracy theory. I am just saying that it makes sense and that I am also not going to argue that all of this was an accident and Sheriff Israel is telling the truth.

DS

Polish Priest Attacked for Stating Noncontroversial Facts About Jewish Biological Nature

Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer
February 28, 2018

This isn't controversial, historically. Historically, everyone was aware that Jews are the children of the lie. It states it clearly in the Bible that Jews are evil and satanic.

In countries that are still traditional, such as Poland, Greece or Russia, everyone still knows this and just openly acknowledges it. I assume the Catholic Church in Poland says stuff like this all of the time, and it is just being brought up right now in the English media because the Jews are going nuts on Poland over this Holocaust controversy.

Anyway, this priest has stated the issues with the Jew here in a useful way—they truly believe that reality only exists to serve their interests.

RT:

> Poland's Jewish association has accused a Catholic priest of spreading hate speech after he claimed on a TV show that Jews have their own perception of truth, which is often something that "serves Israel's interests."
>
> Jewish people have "a completely different system of values, a different concept of truth," Henryk Zielinski, a priest and editor-in-chief of Catholic magazine "Idziemy" ("We are going") told broadcaster TVP during a show aired last Saturday. He proceeded to claim that truth was a very flexible notion for Jews.
>
> Zielinski argued that "the truth corresponds to facts" for the Poles but, for Jews, "truth means something that confirms to [their] understanding of what's beneficial." If a Jew is religious, "then truth means something God wants," the priest claimed. In secular Jews, "the truth is subjective or whatever serves Israel's interests."
>
> In support of his claim, Zielinski claimed to have good knowledge of Jewish spiritual literature, citing the Haggadah, namely a text that describes the Biblical story of the Jewish exodus from ancient Egypt. "Often these stories have nothing to do with facts," noted the Catholic priest.
>
> The remarks have caused outrage among Poland's Jewish diaspora. The Union of Jewish Communities in Poland have filed a complaint under laws that stipulate "broadcasts or other messages may not propagate illegal activities...they may not contain content that incites to hatred or discriminate on the grounds of race, disability, sex, religion or nationality."

Jews have created those laws in every country to pull-up whenever someone criticizes their behavior.

Excluding Asia and Moslem countries, America is unique in not having these laws. Most South American countries even have them.

I do not know why the Jews think it is a good idea to double-down on the Poles, but they always double-down on everything.

If Poland decides they are fed-up with this shit though—the alleged death camps are in their country. They have the ability to go digging, and show that there are no mass graves at Auschwitz. They can examine the alleged gas chamber, and show that they are not actually gas chambers.

Video Link

Right now, there is a law in Poland against researching the Holocaust. The Jews have introduced this new narrative blaming them for the Holocaust (although Germany is also still being blamed), and the Poles are trying to pass a law to make it illegal for Jews to claim that. The easier thing to do would be to just repeal the law saying you can't research the Holocaust, and show that no one is responsible for it because it did not actually happen.

Video Link

DS

Wait, So the Jewish Sheriff is a Moslem? Wtf is This?

Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer
February 28, 2018

Video Link

This is a video of Sheriff Scott "OJ Simpson Record Book" Israel giving a sermon at an Islamic Mosque about how he wants to keep criminals out of prison.

He also talks about a pack of lions and how he doesn't think people should trust the cops.

I have never seen anything like this in my life.

You could say "oh well, he's just pandering for votes," but he's saying all of this "praise Allah" stuff.

Seriously, what even is this?

Yesterday we reported on his 2012 sex scandal allegations, but this basically even weirder.

This is more than just an example of Jewish behavior. This guy is seriously a weird sonovabitch, even by Jew standards.

We have to get these people out of our country.

DS

Jew Kushner's Top Secret Clearance Revoked!

Adrian Sol
Daily Stormer
February 28, 2017

His security clearance is a good start. Next, we need to revoke his American citizenship.

Jared Kushner has been a thorn in the Trump administration's side since the beginning. He's been relentless in pushing Jew neocon foreign policy as well as liberal social positions.

Video Link

I guess Bannon the Gray didn't make it against the Balrog in this timeline, huh...

I wouldn't even be surprised if he was the source of some of these leaks. Any reduction in his power and influence is definitively a good sign.

CNN:

> Jared Kushner, who has worn dueling hats for more than a year as President Donald Trump's senior adviser and son-in-law, has been stripped of his access to the nation's top secrets, officials said Tuesday after his security clearance was downgraded.
>
> Kushner, along with other White House officials who had been operating on interim clearances, had their access altered last week after chief of staff John Kelly stipulated new changes to the security clearance system.

No one with a foreign citizenship should be granted access to our national secrets.

And all European-style socialists like Kushner have a de-facto Israeli citizenship.

Don't worry goyim, your secrets are safe with me!

> Aides who previously operated on "top secret" interim clearances saw their access changed to "secret," a classification for less sensitive material.
>
> Dozens of White House officials have operated on interim clearances since President Donald Trump took office more than a year ago. Kelly had grown frustrated with the high number of aides without permanent access and has worked to shrink the number of temporary clearances. He issued a memo last week spelling out changes to the system, which gained new scrutiny after domestic abuse allegations against former aide Rob Porter surfaced this month.
>
> In the February 16 memo, Kelly stated that White House officials who have been operating on interim clearances since last June would have their temporary clearances discontinued.
>
> That included Kushner, the President's son-in-law and senior adviser. Asked on Friday whether he would grant Kushner an exemption from the new mandate, Trump said it would be Kelly's decision.

It would have looked really bad to just directly revoke Kushner's clearance, so taking it away along with a bunch of others makes sense. Delegating the responsibility to Kelly also clears Trump from directly owning the move. But if I had to guess, I'd say Trump probably has been aiming to isolate Kushner and distance himself from him and his terrible advice for a long time.

Hopefully, this is an indication that Kushner no longer has any meaningful influence over Trump, and is merely seen as a liability.

DS

Newsweek is Failing to Pay Their Rent

Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer
February 28, 2018

You had a good run, you sons of bitches. I'll see you in hell.

Newsweek is having another bad week.

Daily Beast:

> Looming investigations into Newsweek Media Group's finances have demoralized the legacy magazine's staff and left a cloud of doubt over the company's long-term future. But now the company faces another more immediate issue: Whether it can stay in its New York headquarters.
>
> Guardian Life Insurance, the sub-landlord for the company's downtown Manhattan office, informed International Business Times Inc. in late November that it owed several hundred thousand dollars representing "unpaid, delinquent rent and additional rent."
>
> According an affidavit filed in New York County court in mid February, Guardian claims IBT currently owes the landlord $303,466 in rent.
>
> The Daily Beast reached out to Newsweek prior to the publication of this story. After its publication, Newsweek provided comment: "Newsweek Media Group's landlord discontinued all proceedings and withdrew all notices against the company. Newsweek Media Group is up to date on all rental payments." When asked to provide documentation or clarification proving that, the spokesperson declined.

LOL

This is a real disaster. They are just lying about having paid their rent, out of embarrassment—but what if the landlord comes out and is like "yeah, no—they still owe it"?

I guess their theory there is: "we can't look like any bigger assholes than we already do."

> The saga began in November, when Guardian filed several notices demanding IBT pay its rent and utilities or else the tenancy would be "terminated in accordance with your lease." By December 4, a notice of petition filed by Guardian said the online newspaper's debt to its landlord ballooned to $452,000 plus interest.
>
> The documents showed that the company did not pay rent promptly for both November and December 2017 for its fifth-and partial sixth-floor spaces at 7 Hanover Square, resulting in $138,530 in unpaid rent alone.
>
> And that rent was the tip of the iceberg.

The article goes on and on about them not paying for things and then arguing with the building owners. Presumably, they've just stopped paying completely now because they know the company is going to collapse. The name of the magazine has been so shitted-up over the last few years that it isn't worth trying to sell the company.

It's owned by a Korean-led religious cult. The goals of that cult are unclear, but it is clear that whatever those goals are, they're not very good at accomplishing them.

And they're under federal investigation, apparently for tax fraud and various other things, which would probably make selling it impossible.

They got caught in the fake-traffic scandal recently, which is also a relatively serious form of fraud which they may be prosecuted and/or sued over. And the advertisers have all pulled out, which means there is no more money the owners can grab there.

So it's a countdown to collapse.

The Future of Media

All of the legacy media institutions are having troubles. Even the ones that are doing the best as far as traffic are putting-up paywalls.

The New York Times keeps telling me that if I give them ten bucks a month, they'll "hold power to account."

Basically, along with losing their credibility due to the rise of alternative media (that is offering a more critical view of reality) and the political situation which has caused them to lose their minds, the issue is that the business model is no longer sustainable.

Newspapers used to sell the printed version and the ads in the paper both. And they didn't have any competition. Physical papers had been disappearing for a while due to the internet, but it really became total in the last ten years, with smartphones, tablets and small laptops allowing people to carry around the paper, rather than having to sit at a desk to read it.

They have never altered their business model significantly. The very nature of the internet makes the idea of having an actual office—let alone one in downtown Manhattan—absurd. It also largely makes hiring staffers pointless. You can have regular writers, some on some kind of loose contract, who work online and cut your operation costs by two-thirds. But there is no easy way, when you're a newspaper that started on a completely different model, to make that switch.

The internet itself has also changed the kinds of news people want to read, and created all of these niche markets. At the same time that printed news disappeared, there became less distinction between alternative and mainstream media—they are both just websites. So there is all of this totally new competition, while the legacy media is unable to even figure out what is going on.

We have seen a bunch of heavily-funded operations pop-up as establishment "new media" outlets. Huffington Post, The Hill, Politico and Daily Beast are examples of outlets that are closing in on matching the readership of NYT or WaPo, yet are much more financially viable. You'll note that none of those four I've mentioned have done the paywall thing—the only companies doing that are the ones functioning on the old model of "gigantic east coast office with hundreds of employees working there."

Beyond their financial inviability, they are also having a difficult time working narratives. Basically the entire purpose of leftist media in current year is to whip people up into a frenzy in order to get the most aggressive possible support for their radical agenda. They understand that, they just don't understand the mechanics of doing that in the new environment.

The thing about the internet age is that they no longer have full control of information—in fact, the opposite is true. All information in the world is at our fingertips. So when the media simply lies, as has been their policy historically, the alternative media and people on social media are able to demonstrate that they are lying—or at least give a very detailed and fact-based explanation of why they are probably lying.

So the new realm of media hoaxing is in working spin on topics. You will actually find fewer lies on Huffington Post than you will find on Washington Post—the former is capable of using the new media mode of influence, which is spinning a moving bias-based narrative. There are so many facts these days that the facts don't even really matter to most people—especially people prone to leftism.

Right now, in the face of criticism from Donald Trump and the right as a whole, the legacy media is attempting to assert itself by claiming it is "the media" and is, as an institution, above reproach.

The NYT, WaPo and CNN have declared themselves the arbiters of reality itself, attempting to equate criticism of them with criticism of reality itself.

They have even implied, continually, that the President claiming that they are lying is a violation of the First Amendment.

This is some kind of bizarre last stand.

The issue is that people don't really even care what is true and what isn't, they just want their existing biases to be pandered to. So faking a bunch of insider sources and claiming Donald Trump is a Russian agent, as the old media has done, is actually less efficient than just reporting Donald Trump's actual statements and saying "he is a really mean person, look at this tranny who has his feelings hurt" like Huffington Post is doing. And not only is the former less efficient in terms of moving people toward action, it leads to a credibility collapse, where you just become a joke.

If you combine the financial and credibility crises, it makes sense that journalists are jumping ship from old established companies to new media platforms.

Basically, I think in the relatively near future the new media platforms will become the accepted standard. This is good for us, because there isn't much difference in terms of credibility between Daily Beast and Daily Stormer—they are both just politically biased news websites run by people openly pushing a specific agenda.

DS

Incompetent Gun-Grabbing Jew Sheriff Scott Israel's 2012 Sex Drama is Lulzy

Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer
February 27, 2018

The Jew sheriff of Broward County Florida, who miserably failed to protect people from a Jewish school-shooter and then blamed the NRA and said the solution was to strip everyone of their guns, is a miserable scumbag.

In 2012, when running for office, he had some serious drama that is documented on YouTube.

First, witness this bitch:

Video Link

She's claiming to have had an affair and an abortion with her when she was 17.

She does appear to be acting, but sometimes women just appear to be acting. Furthermore, she looks Jewish, and it makes sense that if he was cheating on his wife it would be with another Jew.

Here is his disgusting wife responding to the videos, claiming the girl is an actress.

Video Link

She almost looks too much like an actress to be an actress.

A professional actress would know not to act quite that much like an actress, but a non-actress would be trying to be convincing so she didn't get called a liar and end up acting like an actress.

Honestly, I have no idea, but the situation is funnier than shit.

It would be really great if it became some element of this ongoing drama with this guy as he tries to resist calls to resign.

I can't believe he didn't resign immediately after the OJ Simpson comment.

Fox News:

> The vocal sheriff who has criticized everyone from local politicians to the NRA to one of his own officers in the wake of the Florida high school shooting is facing the pressure himself Monday, as calls mount for him to resign amid reports about his department's alleged incompetence in stopping the gunman.
>
> The heat against Broward County Sheriff Scott Israel is coming from all angles, including from a survivor of the attack who told Fox News that he "failed to act on so many different levels" and from dozens of state lawmakers who are urging Florida Gov. Rick Scott to suspend him.
>
> "Listen, if ifs and buts were candy and nuts, O.J. Simpson would still be in the record books," was Israel's bizarre defense Sunday after being asked by CNN's Jake Tapper if the shooting might not have happened if his department handled things differently.

The interview is a half hour long, but it's nuts.

Video Link

If you haven't watched it, it's worth watching bits of it.

This sheriff isn't responsible for his own deputies—four of his own deputies—refusing to try and stop the shooter and instead hiding in the parking lot, but somehow the NRA is responsible for the actions of every person in America with access to guns (including Jews).

> Florida House Speaker Richard Corcoran, who sent a letter to [Florida Gov. Rick] Scott on Saturday signed by 73 Republican colleagues, wrote that in the "years leading up to this unspeakable tragedy, Sheriff Israel, his deputies, and staff ignored repeated warning signs about the violent, erratic, threatening and antisocial behavior of Nikolas Jacob Cruz."

Scott—who has already called for FBI Director Christopher Wray to resign amidst the bureau's own investigative blunders in the months leading up to the attack—said Sunday that the police response will be scrutinized. He has yet to say Israel should step aside.

Yeah it's weird that he hasn't called for that, but he's going to have to.

Let's just hope he's like "Sheriff Israel, you must resign, partly because you let all those kids die, partly because of this video with this 17-year-old skank you had an abortion with, but mainly because of the video response to the abortion video by your Jew wife, who is fucking disgusting. Her face should be banned, not guns."

Scott Israel has also of course made this about the NRA—and got slapped down for it.

No Sheriff Israel you were the one that didn't PROTECT these children and that is your job. You run the largest fully accredited sheriff's office in the United States, yet your office failed this community. https://t.co/lauyeNedob

— NRA (@NRA) February 23, 2018

So post those videos everywhere you can, see if we can get them circulating.

DS

Here's Why They're Trying to Kike Bernie: His Son Just Declared He's Running for Congress!

Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer
February 27, 2018

lol Jews.

Okay, so just this morning I mused as to why it is the Jews are now actively trying to kike over the Jew Bernie, given that he doesn't really have any relevant political future because he's so old, and by trying to kike him, they alienate his base of supporters.

Well, here we have our answer. Fox News:

The son of Sen. Bernie Sanders announced a run for Congress Tuesday morning, adding yet another family member to the ballot this year.

Levi Sanders declared his candidacy for New Hampshire's 1st Congressional District "because people matter."

"It is time to demand that we have a system which represents the 99% and not the 1% who have never had it so good," Sanders said in a statement Tuesday.

Sanders follows his step-sister, Carina Driscoll, in running for office. She is campaigning for mayor of Burlington, Vt. —an office Bernie Sanders once held.

Bernie has given some signals about running in 2020, but I mean, come on—he's going to be 79. He was senile af during the last campaign, just rattling off gibberish from the 1960s (because it's the short term memory that goes first).

The fact that the Jews hate Bernie socialism is maybe weird to some people. Because Bernie himself is a Jew, and the bigger part of his program is Jewish. Nonetheless, the system is not setup for that sort of shit he is talking about. Basically, there was almost no difference between George Bush and Barack Obama on issues that Jews care about—mass immigration, globalism, war for Israel, financial corruption, etc.

There was then even less difference between Jeb Bush and Hillary Clinton.

Theoretically, Jews do prefer the Democrat to the Republican because of social issues, but the increased ability of the Republican to drum people up into war has historically made up for that. Hillary Clinton was such an extreme neocon though that she had basically become the perfect candidate.

With Bernie, there is a whole list of shit they don't want—big finance, trade and war are all issues he is bad for Big Jew on, all also issues Trump campaigned on. Furthermore, if he actually tried to implement that free everything program he was hawking, the government would just collapse. I mean, that's the whole thing with communism—everything just totally collapses.

On another level, I think probably just the whiteness of Bernie's crowds makes Jews nervous. Anything that unites white people under a populist-type banner—even if it is communism—is looked at with hostility by Jews.

The lack of interest that the blacks had, and their outright hostility to him, certainly didn't bode well for a coalition that is mainly based on non-whites getting up the energy to go out and vote.

And that speaks to the most important reason they hate Bernie: the simple fact that there is no way in hell he—or his son—could ever win in a general election. HOWEVER, there is a very real chance he could have won the primary if he wouldn't have been fucked with so hard by the DNC. Simply based on the fact that Hillary was so corrupt, and people really don't like a "Goldman Sachs endless war candidate," which is what any candidate the Democrat establishment puts up is going to be.

I have no idea what is going on with Bernie's son, but Bernie was basically really popular. So if his son goes out there and campaigns on the same platform, he could potentially end up getting a lot of popular support.

And that, my friends, is why the kike media and the kiked-out Muller Sanhedrin are currently in the process of trying to frame Bernie as a Russian agent.

DS

Nikolas Cruz Trying to Get $800,000 Inheritance

Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer
February 27, 2018

Nikolas Cruz is a biological Jew. According to chat logs, his real mother was a Jew. But this is his adopted mother, who I guess was Cuban.

The fact he had $800,000 coming to him when he did the shooting definitely makes the event weirder.

Fox News:

> Nikolas Cruz, the teenager who police said opened fire inside a Florida high school earlier this month, killing 17, reportedly hired a lawyer about two months before the rampage in an attempt to acquire his $800,000 inheritance.
>
> The New York Post, citing an order handed down on Dec. 13 by Broward County Probate Division Judge Charles Greene, reported that Cruz tried to retrieve his portion of the estate left behind by his mother, Lynda Cruz, who died of pneumonia in November.
>
> Cruz reportedly signed a retainer agreement with lawyer Audra Simovitch to pursue his share of the estate, the report said. The judge has approved visitation between Simovitch and Cruz while he's in jail.
>
> The lawyer told the paper that she has yet to meet with him, but hopes to before March. She told the paper one of the reasons she needs to meet with him is to determine whether Cruz still wants his share of the inheritance.
>
> Greene's ruling was handed down after Simovitch issued a petition claiming she was denied access to Cruz by the Public Defender's office, and accused it of "obstructing justice," the paper reported.
>
> Simovitch filed court papers the day after the school shooting—Feb. 15—on behalf of Roxanne Deschamps. Deschamps cared for Cruz and his younger brother Zachary after their parents died. The paper reported that Deschamps wants to administer Lynda's estate.

So while I can hardly find a lawyer willing to represent me—and the same is true for every WN, very few lawyers will even take the case—this Jewish mass shooter has a Jewish lawyer out there proud to be serving him and complaining that she isn't given enough access.

Meanwhile, the NRA is being deplatformed for allegedly having caused this shooting.

DS

Jew Questions Democracy Now! Jews Endorsement of Neocon Regime Change in Syria

Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer
February 26, 2018

Peace, goyim. But stay the fuck out of Israel's way or we'll slaughter you like dogs.

Max Blumenthal is a vile kike—but not as vile as the Democracy Now! kikes.

Liberals did the whole anti-war bit during the Bush years, for marketing reasons. Bush's kike wars were extremely unpopular. But Obama just did the same shit as Bush, and because he was pushing dick-chopping and cop-killing, no one really paid that much attention.

The allegedly liberal Jews took on a neocon war policy.

Now you have a Republican in office who is at least intending to be anti the policies of Bush and Obama with regards to endless kike war, so the liberal kikes are now pushing kike wars in opposition to Trump.

So you have a complete reversal, in terms of partisan politics. The only way you could explain that is Jews.

The Jew Max Blumenthal isn't going to tell you that, but he is probably going to get fired by the Daily Beast for pushing an old narrative in the Trump age.

RT:

> Journalist Max Blumenthal called out Democracy Now for pushing for regime change in Syria. The move sparked a war of words between guest Wendy Pearlman and others on Twitter.
>
> Tweeting footage from a Democracy Now discussion about Syria, Blumenthal questioned the news outlet's apparent backing of "the neocon project of regime change in Syria." He also pointed to guest Pearlman's earlier calls for the US to provide air cover to extremist groups in Syria, highlighting just how poorly that strategy worked in Libya.
>
> If @democracynow is going to push the neocon project of regime change in Syria so relentlessly and without debate, it should drop the high minded literary NPR aesthetic and just host Nikki Haley for a friendly one-on-one #EstablishmentNow https://t.co/OOXmGRhTSc
>
> — Max Blumenthal (@MaxBlumenthal) February 25, 2018
>
> This "peace builder" & @democracynow guest has called on the US Air Force to provide air cover to US/UK/GCC-backed extremists dedicated to turning Syria into Libya. Of course, she would never even think about calling for the US military to protect Palestinians or give them arms. https://t.co/R3j3dmTorD
>
> — Max Blumenthal (@MaxBlumenthal) February 26, 2018

Ohhhhh shit boy.

That Palestinian comment is inches away from naming a Jew.

Blumenthal has done this "anti-Zionism" bit forever, but he's never done it against a fellow leftist Jew like Goodman.

> In his critique of Democracy Now's coverage, Blumenthal also invoked Pearlman's 2014 call for the US to further arm the Free Syrian Army. Her article dismissed 12 common arguments against US intervention, including fears arms would end up in the hands of other extremists or that Syria would end up like Iraq and Afghanistan.
>
> Indeed, it has since been revealed that those US weapons given to Syrian rebels did end up in Islamic State (IS, formerly ISIS) hands. The same thing happened when the US approved arming rebels in Libya in 2011—the arms fell into extremist hands, and Libya remains a failed state.
>
> The Twitter argument then switched to Palestine. A professor at Northwestern University and advocate of Palestinian non-violence, Pearlman has written two books on the Palestinian struggle for statehood. "Of course, she would never even think about calling for the US military to protect Palestinians or give them arms," Blumenthal added to his criticism.
>
> Would regime change activist @Wendy_Pearlman call for extending the same support she urged for Syrian Salafi insurgents (NATO air cover, MANPAD's) to Palestinian armed factions? Please. https://t.co/7oPLSdirUX pic.twitter.com/9oO0enWK4I
>
> — Max Blumenthal (@MaxBlumenthal) February 26, 2018

Perlman responded to Blumenthal by saying the Palestinians fighting against Israel were the same as ISIS fighting Assad.

> The Palestinian struggle is for freedom, dignity, and human rights. The Syrian revolution is a struggle for freedom, dignity, and human rights. Support for one should demand support for the other.
>
> — Wendy Pearlman (@Wendy_Pearlman) February 25, 2018

Blumenthal was then mobbed by Jews claiming he was a Russian agent.

All of this shit with Jews is such a fucking mess.

They are having problems. They are having serious problems figuring out what their own narrative even is, and they are having problems with Jews themselves drinking the "human rights" poison they brewed up to feed to the goyim.

Their whole "control every side of everything" thing is also getting confusing for them, because society is so divided that they need to control so many different sides, while still all trying to figure out how to use the side they are controlling to support the interests of the Jews.

Remember that it wasn't so long ago that the concept of an "atheist Jew" did not exist—they were all just living in ghettoes, wearing that gross shit, renting slums, loaning money, hawking hookers—and that was their entire existence since the diaspora began.

We don't deserve to have to deal with the Jews collapsing their own cultural zeitgeist. Without the Jews, we would have a very stable cultural zeitgeist, based on our own values, which have been the same throughout all of recorded history before Jews showed up and starting kiking everything up.

DS

YES: Monica Lewinsky Comes Out in Support of Metoo, Retroactively Metoos Bill Clinton!

Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer
February 26, 2018

Glorious metooism, like a Nazi holocaust rollercoaster, is an unstoppable machine of Jewish destruction.

We now have a new Jew female ally in our fight.

Jew women may yet become our greatest ally against Jew men (Bill isn't a Jew obviously, but is purely a representative of the Jew system, and metoo is largely an anti-Jew movement). I mean, why should we not be able to do the same thing to them that they did to us? Right?

Fox News:

> The White House intern-turned-tabloid celebrity Monica Lewinsky revealed in an essay published Sunday why she strongly supports the #MeToo movement and Time's Up initiative to combat sexual assault and harassment.
>
> In the Vanity Fair piece, she noted the '90s affair with President Bill Clinton when she was a twentysomething White House intern was a "gross abuse of power" on his part, saying, "the idea of consent might well be rendered moot."
>
> She wrote: "I now see how problematic it was that the two of us even got to a place where there was a question of consent. Instead, the road that led there was littered with inappropriate abuse of authority, station, and privilege."
>
> Lewinsky wrote about how the support for the women's movement has encouraged her to evolve beyond a victim consciousness.
>
> "The reason this is difficult is that I've lived for such a long time in the House of Gaslight, clinging to my experiences as they unfolded in my 20s and railing against the untruths that painted me as an unstable stalker and Servicer in Chief," she wrote in the essay.
>
> She also said she was diagnosed with post-traumatic stress disorder (PTSD) several years ago.
>
> "My hope, given the two decades that have passed, is that we are now at a stage where we can untangle the complexities and context (maybe even with a little compassion), which might help lead to an eventual healing—and a systemic transformation," her essay added.

God bless her fat, ugly, kike heart.

Throughout that whole thing in the 90s, when she had gotten caught sucking Bill's dick and whatever else—getting stimulated with a cigar—she played this role of "I was just having fun! SPRING BREAK!!!!!11"

Which is probably true. She's a wanton Jew whore, and Bill wasn't some nasty old kike, he was in his 40s and handsome. In fact, he was way out of her league just on a physical level.

Like, if you just saw those two as a random couple at a bar, you'd be like "wtf is this guy doing?"

So for her to now go back and say "oh well, this is abuse I guess because of these new morals we're working with" —that is simply great, great news.

Because there are no doubt all sorts of women who had illicit sex with powerful men and did not have a bad experience so have not started to metoo them.

This could well signal a new round, wherein girls who had good sexual experiences with powerful men come out and start saying it was abuse because of "dynamics of power."

We need more BLOOD.

As far as I'm concerned, basically all men who have been in powerful positions in the last 50 years deserve to have their reputations and lives destroyed. And let's be real: good men do not cheat on their wives. That is a very serious character flaw*.

I would put a lot of ifs ands and buts on that in the modern era, probably, because women are not only horrible, but you're not allowed to physically discipline them, which creates for many men an unworkable situation with their wives. So I do understand men who cheat on their wives these days. But only in the sense that I understand men who are addicted to* heroin. Infidelity is a very serious betrayal of one's own masculine honor.

DS

Race War

Dark-Skinned White Brutally Beats White Woman in Mall Restroom

Joe Jones
Daily Stormer
March 4, 2018

I'm sure it was just because of microaggressions.

ABC:

> The father of a woman who was found brutally beaten inside a restroom at Memorial City Mall said she suffered multiple broken bones to her jaw.
>
> Speaking exclusively to Eyewitness News, the father, who did not give his name, said his daughter's face is swollen and she is in pain.
>
> "It was a brutal, vicious attack. It could have happened to anybody. It was shocking," said the victim's father.
>
> Houston police say the 31-year-old victim was approached from behind by a man who had made a rope from a trash bag and wrapped it around her neck, choking her until she lost consciousness. They also say the victim was repeatedly kicked.
>
> The suspect is described only as a black male, 25 to 35 years old, 5 feet 10 inches to 6 feet tall and 160 to 180 pounds.

DS

Black Teens Assault 91-Year-Old Man Over Cellphone

Joe Jones
Daily Stormer
March 4, 2018

So there is no photo or description of the 18-year-old suspect, but looking his name up here says he is Black.

Why would the media hide this?

New York Post:

> Two callous teens sent a 91-year-old man to the hospital when they beat him up—as he bent down to pick up a cell phone on the Upper West Side, police said Friday.
>
> The elderly man was on West 66th Street and Broadway on Tuesday at about 2:30 p.m. when he went to retrieve the phone, which cops said did not belong to him, authorities said.
>
> That's when alleged thugs Destinee Moore, 18, and Geneiva Mitchell, 17, moved in on the nonagenarian, authorities said.
>
> "He has your phone!" one of the girls shouted to the other, according to sources.
>
> During the teens' arraignment on assault charges in Brooklyn Criminal Court Friday, Assistant District Attorney Andrea Kimmel said that surveillance footage captured the elderly man pick up the cell phone, while Moore and Mitchell approach the man with two other friends.
>
> "They had a 10 second conversation," according to Kimmel, before Mitchell grabbed the phone as Moore and her pals attacked the man.
>
> "This is a very serious case involving the assault of a 91-year-old male," said Kimmel.
>
> The victim, who suffered bruises to his face, was taken to Roosevelt Hospital for treatment.

DS

Three Negros Tie Up and Beat Seven People During Robbery – One White Man Shot Dead

Joe Jones
Daily Stormer
March 4, 2018

Curtis Shelton, Kentavius Cheeks, Joseph Graham.

When was the last time that three Whites tied up, beat, and robbed seven people and shot a Black man?

I fail to recall.

The Leaf Chronicle:

> The gunman accused of shooting a Clarksville man to death during a home invasion robbery in 2013 was convicted of first-degree murder and a slew of other charges Tuesday after a week-long trial.
>
> Curtis Shelton Jr., 27, of Clarksville, was on trial in Montgomery County, charged with fatally shooting Miles Hendrick on July 21, 2013, at a Ranch Hill Drive home.
>
> Assistant District Attorney Robert Nash said Shelton and two friends went out together that night and decided to "hit a lick" —or score an easy theft—after seeing a group of strangers partying outside the home.
>
> "Mr. Shelton and his buddies targeted that home," Nash said, adding they did not know any of the people there.
>
> Nash said they went back to the home later that night and broke in through a garage, tied up seven people with duct tape and began beating them with a crow bar while demanding money, wallets, game systems or anything else they could steal. He said Shelton also had a gun.
>
> Two other men, Kentavius Cheeks, 23, and Joseph Graham, 30, were also charged. Cheeks pleaded guilty to second-degree murder in the case and was sentenced to 25 years in exchange for testifying against Shelton and Graham.

Miles Hendrick.

DS

Monkey Killed Coalburner and Raped a Random Girl

Joe Jones
Daily Stormer
March 4, 2018

Matthew Darby, Alina Sheykhet.

Keep your daughters as far away from these colored gentlemen as possible.

NBC:

> A man awaiting trial on charges of having killed a University of Pittsburgh student in her off-campus apartment last year is now accused of having raped a teenager days before the slaying.
>
> Twenty-one-year-old Matthew Darby is accused of having used a claw hammer and two knives in October to kill 20-year-old Alina Sheykhet, his ex-girlfriend. He fled and was captured in Myrtle Beach, South Carolina.
>
> Allegheny County prosecutors, who have announced plans to seek capital punishment in that case, have now accused Darby of raping a 17-year-old girl in Elizabeth Township.

DS

Black Security Guard Kills White Woman

Joe Jones
Daily Stormer
March 3, 2018

Maybe if she didn't hire a Black in the first place she would still be alive.

CBS:

> A man suspected in a deadly shooting at an apartment complex at 2323 N. Field Tuesday morning, was later shot and killed in South Central Dallas.
>
> Sources say it's not clear if officers shot and killed him or if the suspect killed himself.
>
> The first incident happened just after 10:15 a.m. at the North End Apartments, in the 2300 block of North Field Street, just north of the Perot Museum of Nature and Science.
>
> Dallas Police said the suspect, identified as Marlon Smith, 29, was a former security guard who had been fired.

DS

Second Black Arrested for Murder of White Woman After 8 Years

Joe Jones
Daily Stormer
March 3, 2018

I'm sure she did something racist to the Blacks.

It's not like Blacks to just commit crimes for no reason.

WAVY:

> A Virginia Beach Grand Jury just indicted a second suspect for a 2010 murder. Tuesday, 25-year-old Tramonte Hines was indicted for charges of first degree murder and robbery.
>
> "It's a relief," said Matt Murphy. "This is finally coming to a point where justice is going to be held."
>
> It's been more than seven years since tragedy struck the Murphy family. It was December 19, 2010 when 41-year-old Jeannie Murphy walked in on an alleged robbery at the Jr. Market on South Lynnhaven Road. She tried to run away, but was shot and killed. She was simply there to buy some beer.

DS

White Prison Guard Brutally Beaten to Death by Caged Monkey

Joe Jones
Daily Stormer
March 3, 2018

Paul Kendrick.

Being a prison guard is one of the most dangerous jobs in the country.

That is because every single Black in there is a violent savage instead of just a huge majority of them.

PennLive:

> The Pennsylvania Department of Corrections said an officer at State Correctional Institute-Somerset died Monday from injuries sustained in an attack earlier this month at the hands of a 22-year-old inmate.
>
> Paul Jawon Kendrick is accused of fatally beating Sgt. Mark Baserman just before 7 p.m. Feb. 15, which led to Baserman's hospitalization for 11 days. Corrections Secretary John Wetzel reported Baserman's death in a news release Monday afternoon.
>
> "The minute we learned of this unprovoked, brutal attack on Sgt. Baserman and another officer who came to his aid our hearts sank," Wetzel said in the news release. "We are greatly saddened by Sgt. Baserman's death and our thoughts are with his family at this time."

Sgt. Mark Baserman.

DS

Black with a History of Trying to Have Sex with Grannies Tries to Sex a Granny

Joe Jones
Daily Stormer
March 3, 2018

Blacks will have sex with anything.

WLTX:

> Richland County deputies say the assault of an 85-year-old woman wasn't the first sexual offense for a 36-year-old suspect.
>
> Marquille Rondale Livingston was arrested after reportedly breaking into the home of an 85-year-old woman's home on Valentine's Day, then brutally beating and sexually assaulting her.
>
> He was initially charged with first degree burglary, criminal sexual conduct, kidnapping and petit larceny.
>
> In a press conference Thursday, Richland County Sheriff Leon Lott stated the suspect is facing additional charges for another sexual assault incident that occurred in December 2016 in northeast Columbia.

DS

Two More Blacks Arrested in Murder of Chelsea Beller

Joe Jones
Daily Stormer
March 2, 2018

If a gang of White guys barged into a bar and killed one of the Black women working there, this would be a media shitshow.

But it wasn't White guys.

WSBTV:

> Atlanta police announced Wednesday afternoon that they made the fourth and final arrest in the deadly robbery at Barcelona Wine Bar last year.
>
> Corinne Shapiro, who witnessed the shooting, told Channel 2 Action News that she will never forget watching police respond to the deadly robbery at the bar on Howell Mill Road in Northwest Atlanta last November.
>
> "When that happened, it was kind of like a smack in the face, like oh, whoa, this really can still happen and we should be aware," Shapiro said.
>
> Channel 2's Aaron Diamant learned that officers arrested Terry Andre Jones, 19, Wednesday morning at Hartsfield-Jackson airport in connection with the robbery and deadly shooting of Chelsea Beller, 29. Police charged Jones with felony murder and armed robbery.
>
> Wednesday afternoon, police announced they had made a fourth arrest. Ira Troy Williams, 19, was arrested in Stone Mountain and charged with felony murder.
>
> Police said Williams is the final suspect linked to the case.

DS

Black Totally Randomly Shoots Into a Car at a Traffic Light Killing a White Woman

Joe Jones
Daily Stormer
March 2, 2018

Nicholas Coats.

Completely random guys, nothing to see here.

Anyone could have done it.

MS News Now:

> A Mississippi Supreme Court justice has denied Hinds County District Attorney Robert Shuler Smith's appeal in the case of a murder suspect released from jail despite being deemed a danger to the community.
>
> In October, one of the suspects, Nicholas Coats, was denied bail and bound over to a grand jury. He was charged with shooting into an occupied vehicle and murder in the August shooting death of Chelsie Lynn Kirschten on Fortification Street in Jackson.

Chelsie Kirschten.

DS

Dark-Skinned White Kills Coal-burner Mother of Two of His Eight Kids with a Chainsaw

Joe Jones
Daily Stormer
March 2, 2018

William Payton.

So this dindu with 8 kids from several mothers killed a coal-burner with a chainsaw then hid her body in a dumpster.

I fail to recall a time a White did this too.

Daily Mail:

> A man has been sentenced to 40 years in prison for dismembering his girlfriend with a chain saw and dumping her body parts in bags and boxes behind a Target store in Alabama.
>
> William Lewis Payton, 44, of Huntsville, Alabama, was convicted of corpse abuse after charges for the murder of Tonya Lynn Amerson, 27, were dropped for lack of evidence.
>
> Amerson's dismembered body was found behind a Target store at Huntsville's Valley Bend Shopping Center in October 2015.
>
> Amerson was Payton's girlfriend and the mother of two of his eight children, AL.com reported.

Tonya Amerson.

DS

Wakandan Robs a Subway Store with a Laser Pistol

Joe Jones
Daily Stormer
March 2, 2018

Fresh Kang.

Wakandans just want to eat fresh.

Fox News:

> According to Indianapolis Metropolitan police, the robbery happened on Dec. 14, 2017, at the Subway located at 8940 E. 38th St.
>
> A man walked into the store and went into the bathroom. He came back out with a silver and black semiautomatic handgun, approached the counter and demanded money from the cash register.
>
> The man took the cash drawer and ran out. Surveillance cameras captured images of the suspect, who is described as a black male with a stocking cap, navy blue jacket with a black hoodie underneath, black pants, black gloves and white shoes with black trim.
>
> The holdup was reported just before 10:45 p.m. on the 7000 block of Old Clinton Highway, according to a Knox County Sheriff's Office news release.
>
> The suspect is described as a black male, approximately 30-35 years old, between 6 feet and 6 feet 3 inches tall, 210-230 pounds. He was wearing a black shirt at the time.

DS

Wakandan Falsely Accused of Robbing People – Actually Advanced Doctor Man

Joe Jones
Daily Stormer
March 2, 2018

Video Link

He wasn't robbing them. He was actually trying to use his new invention which can cure everything from a stuffy nose to super ass-cancer and just charging them for his services.

Knox News:

> Authorities are searching for a man who reportedly robbed three people at gunpoint in North Knox County on Monday night.

DS

Baboonman Killed an Entire White Family and Two More White People

Joe Jones
Daily Stormer
March 1, 2018

Kenneth Mar'keith Chisolm.

Of course, but without these Wakandans American would be a primitive shithole.

The State:

> A South Carolina man charged with killing a couple and their 13-year-old son last year now faces two more murder charges from a 2016 home invasion, according to media reports.
>
> Kenneth Mar'keith Chisolm is charged with two counts of murder in the deaths of Lewis Kevin Ramsey and Julie Michelle Poston, who were shot and killed at their Walterboro home in October 2016, according to a release from the Colleton County Sheriff's Office. He also faces charges of first-degree burglary and armed robbery.
>
> Chisolm was arrested last May on three counts of murder for the deaths of 46-year-old Phillip Miller, 52-year-old Lori Miller and their 13-year-old son, Vincent, WCIV reported. A 9-year-old girl also was shot but survived, the station reported.

Lewis Ramsey, Julie Poston, Phillip Miller, Vincent Miller, Lori Miller.

DS

Three Negro Nurses Charged with Murder for Neglect Resulting in Death of 89-Year-Old White Man

Joe Jones
Daily Stormer
March 1, 2018

Loyce Agyman, Mable Turman, Wanda Nuckles.

Putting your father or grandfather in a nursing home is damming them to abuse or death by Negroid.

CBS:

> Loyce Pickquet Agyeman, 63, who worked as a licensed nurse practitioner was arrested at her residence on Parkwood Road in Snellville. Grand jury warrants state charges of felony murder and neglect to a disabled adult.
>
> Certified nurse assistant Mable Turman, 62, was arrested and charged with neglect to an elder person or resident of long-term care facility, murder, abuse, exploitation of a disabled or elder person, and concealing the death of another.
>
> Formerly licensed nurse practitioner Wanda Nuckles, 61, surrendered to the DeKalb County Sheriff's Office. Nuckles is indicted on charges of depriving an elder of essential services. She is also facing charges of concealing the death of another.
>
> According to authorities, on February 27, 2014 each of the three women allegedly failed to provide appropriate medical attention to James Dempsey as he called out for help at the Northeast Atlanta Rehabilitation Center in Brookhaven.

James Dempsey.

DS

Wakandan School Bus Driver Molested White Girl with Special Needs

Joe Jones
Daily Stormer
March 1, 2018

Maybe we should stop giving these Wakandans jobs that require them to be near young people.

WPXI:

> A couple of months after a school van driver was accused of sexual assaulting a girl with special needs, that victim's mother is speaking out exclusively to Channel 11.
>
> Normally, WPXI does not show pictures or otherwise identify victims of sexual assault, but this victim's mother wanted her name and pictures used to help put a face on the fight to protect all children.

DS

UK: Cocaine Brutally Beats Coalburner Resulting in Punctured Lung and Seven Broken Ribs – Innocent Black Accused

Joe Jones
Daily Stormer
March 1, 2018

Duane Ballin.

While cocaine is a hell of a drug, I somehow doubt that it caused 37 injuries by brutally beating her.

It just doesn't seem likely, cocaine doesn't even have hands or feet to beat you with.

Daily Mail:

> A family has been left devastated after their daughter's boyfriend wasn't charged with murdering her, despite inflicting 37 horrific injuries on her before she died.
>
> Tara Newbold, 29, was found dead at her home in West Bridgford, Nottinghamshire on October 25 2016.
>
> She was discovered with injuries to her face, breasts, abdomen, buttocks, wrists, back and hips, as well as seven broken ribs, a punctured left lung and a bleeding mouth.
>
> But a post mortem examination concluded she died of cocaine toxicity—not her catalogue of injuries.
>
> Her boyfriend Duane Ballin, 35, who lived with her at the time, claims she attacked him with a vodka bottle and a rolling pin after finding out he had cheated on her.
>
> He says he struck her in self defence, accepting he caused "virtually all her injuries" before turning up at at Nottingham's Bridwell police station saying "I think I killed my girlfriend".

I guess that this is another reason not to do cocaine. You'll probably get seven broken ribs, a punctured lung, bleeding mouth, and god knows what other injuries.

Tara Newbold.

DS

Wakandan Goes on Stabbing and Robbing Spree

Daily Stormer
February 28, 2018

Perhaps he was trying to teach primitive whites a lesson.

Holland Sentinel:

> Two men were victims of armed robbery in Holland Township on Sunday, Feb. 25, according to the Ottawa County Sheriff's Office.
>
> The first incident took place at 5:35 p.m. at the Speedway gas station at 461 Butternut Drive. The victim of the first robbery told police he pulled into the gas station and a "young-looking black male displayed a knife and demanded money," said Sgt. Matt Wildfong. The victim was able to get away without injuries and drove to a separate location to report the crime.
>
> Five hours later, a pedestrian was approached by a male of the same description on Butternut Drive.
>
> At 10:38 p.m., a pedestrian was walking on the sidewalk at the intersection of Butternut Drive and James Street. A young black male approached the pedestrian from behind and demanded money. When the victim told the suspect he didn't have any money, the suspect "lunged toward him with a knife and stabbed him," Wildfong said.

DS

Wakandan Robs a MacDonalds at Gunpoint

Joe Jones
Daily Stormer
February 28, 2018

You see , in Wakanda it is standard practice to rob and threaten to execute anyone working for a company deemed to be selling unhealthy food. It's just his culture.

WMDT:

> A robbery is under investigation, after police say that a suspect took money from a McDonald's in Dover, on Monday afternoon.
>
> According to Dover Police, on Monday at 5:07 p.m., a black male suspect went into McDonalds on East Lebanon Road, and approached the cash register. While at the cash register, the suspect reportedly showed off a handgun and demanded money from an employee.
>
> The employee allegedly turned over cash, before the suspect fled. The employee was not injured. The suspect was described as a black man, 5'11"-6| tall, with brown eyes and black hair.

DS

Wakandan Murdered Old White Guy

Joe Jones
Daily Stormer
February 28, 2018

Why are these super-advanced Wakandans attacking our elderly?!?!

Why Wakanda?

WHY??!?!?!?!?!?!

ABC:

> A Los Angeles man was charged on suspicion of killing an elderly man in his Santa Monica home last month.
>
> Roy Antonio Davis, 26, was charged Friday on suspicion of murder and burglary, Santa Monica police said. He was already in police custody for an unrelated robbery when charges were filed against him.
>
> Authorities said around 1 p.m. New Year's Day, officers responded to a call about an elderly man who appeared unconscious in his home in the 2300 block of 34th Street. When officers entered the residence, they discovered the man was dead. He was identified as 88-year-old John Hautz.

DS

Wakandan Driver Causes One of the Worst Crashes in Suffolk History

Joe Jones
Daily Stormer
February 27, 2018

Jamel Turner.

You can't blame him too much.

He's not used to primitive land-based cars, he just moved here from Wakanda where they only have flying cars.

News Day:

> Suffolk District Attorney Timothy Sini said Friday he anticipated upgraded charges against the driver of a stolen car that caused "one of the worst motor vehicle crashes in Suffolk County's history."
>
> "We have five fatalities. Five people who can no longer go home to their families," Sini said at First District Court in Central Islip after the arraignment of Jamel Turner, 23, of Bellport. "We have one individual who is seriously physically injured, a neck fracture that could cause injury for the rest of his life."
>
> Sini said the accident scene "looked like an airplane crash."
>
> "This is a serious, serious crime," Sini said. "We are going to thoroughly investigate it in partnership with the Suffolk County Police Department and ensure that all appropriate charges are brought."
>
> A woman and her adult son and daughter were among the five people killed in Ridge when a speeding 2018 Chevrolet Camaro that had been reported stolen hit their Mazda, part of a four-vehicle crash on Wednesday, Suffolk police said.

DS

Wakandan Kills Wife and a Cop

Joe Jones
Daily Stormer
February 27, 2017

I'm sure it was in self-defense.

It's not like Wakandans to be randomly violent. They're a highly sophisticated group of jungle-based gentlemen.

WKRG:

> The domestic violence that ended with Mobile Police Officer Justin Billa's death is nothing new to the couple involved. Officer Billa was shot and killed Tuesday night after responding to a homicide call. Fonda Poellnitz was the victim of that homicide. Police say her ex-husband, Robert Hollie shot and killed her before killing Officer Billa, and eventually turning the gun on himself.
>
> Court documents from their divorce, and arrest records from Mobile County show a history of violence between the couple. But those accusations are not against the ex-husband, rather against Poellnitz. Records show that she had been arrested three times for domestic violence, in 2000, 2002 and 2015. It's unclear if the 2000 and 2002 charges involved Hollie since divorce records show the couple was married in Pensacola in August of 2013. News 5 has requested police records to learn more about her arrest record. Mobile Police have made it clear however that Peollnitz is the victim in this case, that her ex-husband is responsible for Tuesday night's deadly violence. The records however do shed light on the family situation and how it eventually ended with the death of a Mobile Police officer.

Robert Hollie, Fonda Poellnitz, Justin Billa.

DS

Wakandan Arrested for Triple Murder of Whites

Joe Jones
Daily Stormer
February 26, 2018

I wonder if the Wakandans have some kind of drive that makes them want to kill primitive whites, as a way to genetically enhance the globe so they can fully implement a technological utopia across the entire planet.

If so, that is pretty clever.

WTHR:

> Metro police have charged a suspect in a 2017 triple homicide on the east side of Indianapolis.
>
> Kenneth Lancaster, 24, has been formally charged for his involvement in the June 1 deaths of Mark and Keith Higgins and Jessica Carte in a home near 16th Street and Franklin Road.

Mark Higgins, Keith Higgins, Jessica Carte.

DS

White Mother and White Daughter Shoot Wakandan Trying to Rob Their Liquor Store

Joe Jones
Daily Stormer
February 26, 2018

This is proof that even us lowly primitive Whites can deal with the Wakandan menace.

ABC:

> A mother and daughter took matters into their own hands and shot a would-be robber at their liquor store in Tulsa, Oklahoma.
>
> Police said the man was armed with a shotgun and demanded money. When he walked away, one of the women reached for a handgun under the counter and shot the suspect.
>
> The man managed to grab the mother and that's when the daughter shot him again. He was taken to a hospital in critical condition.

DS

UK: Coalburner Actress Killed by Wakandan Boyfriend

Joe Jones
Daily Stormer
February 26, 2018

Ceon Broughton, Louella Michie.

Because Whites are too primitive to understand Wakandan technology and culture, Wakandans often get annoyed and simply snap on White friends and fuckmeat.

Telegraph:

> The former boyfriend of the daughter of Holby City actor John Michie has been charged with her manslaughter.
>
> Louella Eve Fletcher-Michie, 25, died at the Bestival music festival. She was found dead in a wooded area on the edge of the Bestival site at Lulworth Castle in Dorset just before 1am on September 11 last year.
>
> Ceon Broughton, 28, of Enfield, north London, is due to appear before Poole Magistrates' Court on Saturday, Dorset Police said.

DS

Wakandan Commits Armed Robbery at a Drive-Thru

Joe Jones
Daily Stormer
February 26, 2018

I'm sure that his reasons were too big brained and altruistic for any stupid, evil Whites to understand.

Register Guard:

> Eugene police are seeking tips to find a suspect in the Friday evening armed robbery at Dutch Bros. coffee drive-through on West 11th Avenue.
>
> The suspect—described as a black male, age 20-30, last seen wearing a black, hooded sweater, black pants, green baseball cap with red writing on it—walked up to the drive-through and robbed an employee at gunpoint around 7 p.m. Friday. Several Eugene police patrol officers responded to the incident at 1701 W. 11th Ave., including a K-9 unit, but they were unable to locate the suspect.

DS

Society

Lead Silverback Promotes Upcoming Supernigger Movie "Pacific Rim Uprising"

Michael Byron
Daily Stormer
February 28, 2018

Black Panther has been out for 2 weeks now, which means we're WAY overdue for another "magic negro saves the world" movie brought to us by the hand-rubbing Hebrews of Hollywood.

But don't fret, fellow goyim. It's only another 3 weeks before the release of the next one: Pacific Rim Uprising!

I know, I know; the wait will be difficult for many of us. Fortunately, the tanned Englishman playing the lead role is promoting the film in Australia, giving us a sneaky peak at what's in store!

Sydney Morning Herald:

> Five years ago, the Hollywood blockbuster Pacific Rim signalled a tectonic shift in the global movie business when it took more money in China than North America.
>
> Directed by Guillermo del Toro, who is favourite to win best director at the Oscars next week for The Shape of Water, it was an unashamed popcorn movie about human-controlled giant robots battling giant monsters to save the world.
>
> ...
>
> In Pacific Rim: Uprising, which opens next month, buildings are crushed and vehicles sent spiralling as a kaiju emerges from the harbour near the Opera House and moves from Circular Quay through the city, with a quick shot of the Nine Network's Peter Overton reading the news.
>
> "Sorry, we kind of destroyed some buildings and stuff," the star and producer John Boyega said in Sydney to launch the movie. "But no buildings were actually harmed in the making of this picture."
>
> Boyega, best known as Finn from Star Wars: The Force Awakens and The Last Jedi, plays the son of the hero from the original movie (Idris Elba) in a multiracial cast that also includes Scott Eastwood and Chinese stars Jing Tian and Max Zhang.
>
> So what brought a Hollywood-meets-China sequel to Australia?
>
> Boyega said the script by writer-director Steven S. DeKnight, who took over when del Toro went off to make The Shape of Water, required a visually spectacular city.
>
> "At the same we were looking for various cities that kind of embodied the unity of humanity," he said. "The human beings work together. The kaiju are the threat. The city just embodies a diversity."

"Can you believe the filmmakers gave the lead role to this baboon instead of me?" -Scott Eastwood.

Boy, the kike media machine is going into overdrive with this nonsense. At least with Black Panther you can say "well, February was Black History Month, and since blacks don't have any history, a black film director needed to create it for them."

What's Hollywood's excuse for another negro-centric movie within the same time frame? Basically nothing, other than continuing to promote blacks as something other than hominids that belong in the treetops of Equatorial Guinea.

Here's the latest trailer for the film:

Video Link

Monkey music? Check. A cast of raceless mongrels? Check. Irritating high-speed editing? Check. Uninspired robots rendered in CGI? Check.

The only good part was between 0.06-0.10, when the black lead was sitting in a jail cell. Not gonna lie, that shit was believable.

Sadly, I can see this film being a success. The director, Steven S. DeKnight (who appears to be white, despite the name), admits he is targeting the Chinese box office. Provided that the movie studio is smart enough to hide Boyega's face in the Chinese promotional items, like it did with Star Wars: The Force Awakens, the film will be popular with China's superhero-loving manchildren.

That best we can hope for is that it bombs when it hits the domestic box office on March 22.

DS

Russia is Building Orthodox Churches at a Breathtaking Pace

Roy Batty
Daily Stormer
February 27, 2018

This is a great heartwarming story. It turns out that most of these churches are being crowd-funded by local Russians, this isn't even a government top-down initiative.

It's just Russians raising money to do this themselves through a sort of NGO fund.

And amazingly, this NGO isn't just stealing the money like they usually do a la Clinton Foundation or Gates Foundation. And in Russia where corruption is rife, this is a big deal.

Russia Insider:

> The curator of the church building program in Moscow, the "Program for the Construction of Orthodox Churches of Moscow," also known as the "200 Program" State Duma Deputy Vladimir Resin, has announced that 62 church complexes were built in the capital over the past eight years, reports Interfax-Religion.
>
> "In all, over the past eight years, 62 church complexes have been erected in Moscow (45 as part of the program and 17 outside of it)," Resin said on Thursday at the XXVI International Nativity Readings, noting that 38 of the churches are already in use.

And the project calls for a total of two hundred Churches to be built in Moscow, within walking distance of every residential zone.

That's pretty impressive.

And I know, I know, Moscow certainly has a migrant Muslim problem. But at the same time, it seems that Russia has a rising nativist and Christian solution.

And arrests in Moscow are stepping up because of the election year.

Video Link

Here's an older and lulzier video.

Video Link

So it's not all blackpilled stuff.

But back to Orthodoxy and churches.

There was recently even a priest on the biggest late night political talk show hosted by a Steven Miller-type Jew who likes to wear Chinese-style Mandarin robes.

Video Link

He basically makes the case for returning Russia to a Theocratic-Monarchy.

And again, this was on Russian mainstream media.

I don't know what's going down in Russia, but it seems like people are getting into this whole Russia Stronk, Orthodoxy thing.

And while it's not explicitly racial, most Orthodox churches are pretty good about not cucking on the central tenants of Christianity—which include not being a degenerate and not sucking up to Jews and Muslims.

So overall, great news. Russia Stronk. Keep it up, slav-bros.

DS

#MeToo: Marilyn Manson Accused of Hurting Chink Women's Feelings!

Adrian Sol
Daily Stormer
February 27, 2017

I guess the makeup and lyrics weren't edgy enough—he now has to go full 1488 to be relevant again.

For those who didn't live through the 90s, Marilyn Manson was a shock rocker who made a whole career out of being as edgy as possible, in a "rebellious teenager who happens to be 35" sort of way.

He recently fired one of his band member for "raping his own girlfriend" (whatever that means). But now, he's in the spotlight himself after being accused of a despicable act of "psychic groping" (making sexual comments to women), not to mention being an evil racist.

Psychic groping in action.

The Guardian:

> Actor Charlyne Yi has accused Marilyn Manson of making inappropriate sexual and racial remarks on the set of House, the medical drama starring Hugh Laurie that ended in 2012. On her now deleted Twitter account, Yi wrote: "He came on set to visit because he was a huge fan of the show, and he harassed just about every woman, asking us if we were going to scissor, rhino & called me a China man."

Where is the lie tho?

She continued in a second tweet: "It's so triggering to see people come up on the internet who have harassed you. And then when you talk about the incidents you become known as the person tied to the harasser. And that's just your name from now on. It almost overrides who you are."

Manson has not responded to Yi's allegations. The musician's representatives told the Guardian that they would not be making a comment at this time.

Yi made the remarks following the latest reports of erratic behaviour by the 49-year-old shock-rocker. During a concert last week in Huntington, New York, Manson frequently turned his back on the audience and spent 10 minutes demanding that the crowd applaud him, according to multiple accounts by fans. By the end of the show, the audience was chanting: "Refund! Refund! Refund!" local paper Newsday reported.

Okay, lol, so he appears to be breaking down psychologically. Not surprising, considering the depth of degeneracy that he's immersed himself in all of his life.

But Manson's music was always implicitly White, as was his audience. Moreover, he basically said that the "racism" meme was bullshit in an interview a few years back, showing that he's getting fed up with the modern PC narrative.

It'll be interesting to see how he responds to these stupid allegations.

Also, note again that when European-style socialists are metooed, they're accused of doing all sorts of sick crap like jerking off in ficus plants and humiliating gentiles for their own satisfaction. Yet the goyim like Manson, Ben Affleck, et al. are merely accused of joking around or flirting in a normal, natural way.

These are completely different phenomenon at work here. They're only lumping them together to obscure the almost purely European-style socialist nature of the Metoo phenomenon.

DS

John Cena to Star in Upcoming Duke Nukem Film – Could It Potentially be Non-Kiked?

Adrian Sol
Daily Stormer
February 27, 2017

I mean, I can't think of anyone better...Though Clint from LGR needs to do the one-liners.

I've been PC master race since I was six. So that means while the other kids were playing they Marios and Sonics, I was playing Duke Nukem on our home's 486.

Unlike Mario, the Duke is packin' heat.

Later on, Duke Nukem 3d was a huge hit, becoming one of the most popular games on PC for years.

Mmmhh...Can you have 90s nostalgia without being a small-souled bugman?

The thing about Duke, though, is that he's about the least politically correct video game character out there. His whole thing is based on patrolling thots and slaughtering aliens in an awesome display of toxic masculinity.

This is like, the second level in the game, lol.

So it's something of a shock that they'd actually go ahead and turn it into a movie, going so far as to enlist a wildly popular (and very Huwhite) WWE wrestler to play the part.

CG Magazine:

It looks like we may just get to see John Cena star in the upcoming Duke Nukem film.

Hollywood Reporter revealed today that the famous WWE wrestler is currently in negotiations to star in Duke Nukem, a theatrical adaptation of the Duke Nukem action game franchise. Initially set up by Dimension Films, the project has been taken over by Paramount.

In recent years, John Cena has steadily made a name for himself as an actor. His most recent role was in the film Daddy's Home 2, which has already grossed over $100 million domestically. Paramount is also known for distributing a number of upcoming films featuring John Cena such as the announced Transformers spinoff, Bumblebee.

The new Duke Nukem movie adaptation will be the first we've seen of the rough-edged action hero since Duke Nukem Forever, released in 2011. After being stuck in development for years, the game was released by 2k Games only to be panned by both fans and critics for its dated graphics, mechanics and unpolished quality.

The game wasn't that terrible, and something tells me critics panned it for a...different reason.

Video Link

This is...extremely problematic.

Damn near every review I saw of the game whined about the "muhsoginy" in the game, which is honestly the main reason to play it.

The Duke Nukem film is still a long way off, having no director on board. Platinum Dunes, a production company led by Michael Bay, Andrew Form and Brad Fuller will be producing the film adaptation. The company will soon be looking for the film's scriptwriter.

It's always dangerous to underestimate the perfidy of European-style socialists, but I genuinely struggle to imagine how Duke Nukem could get pozzed, at least without totally changing the character.

This might actually be intended as a cash grab. Filling the vacuum of non-pozzed, normie-friendly action movies can be a very lucrative business. Major Hollywood studios are almost completely abandoning this genre, foregoing money in order to push their unpopular propaganda.

If they get some goy to direct the movie and keep the Duke character intact, this has the potential to be a pretty popular movie in a genre people are starving for.

DS

Millennials Are Set to Become the World's Fattest Generation – PUT THEM IN CAMPS

Roy Batty
Daily Stormer
February 26, 2018

This is some scary shit. A generation of fat hog-women and chubby-cheeked hamster men isn't going to be able to reproduce or fight.

RT:

> Millennials are on course to become the fattest generation on record. A staggering three-quarters of "Generation Y" will be obese or overweight by the age of 40.
>
> Despite fad diets and Instagram health stars shooting to fame among the health-trend generation, the majority are actually putting themselves at serious risk, new figures show.
>
> An over-indulgent culture has been blamed on the rising weight of people born between the early 1980s and the mid-1990s. So much for the avocado trend sweeping the "food conscious" age group which guzzles down quinoa. After tweeting about it.

LOL. The low-paid Millennial who wrote this obviously hates his own generation.

When I read the headline, I was sure that he was writing about the US, but it seems that he's writing about the UK. Which means the problem is spreading.

> The figures are horrifying. They are the result of successive governments paying only lip-service to tackling an obesity crisis which was already headlines 20 years ago," said Tam Fry, from the National Obesity Forum, the Telegraph reports.
>
> ..
>
> Health Survey for England figures, which have shocked health professionals, show 40 percent of those aged 16 to 24 are now overweight or obese. That's along with 52 percent of those aged 25 to 34.

This is how the Jews want us to be. Too fucking fat and distracted to resist them.

I'm not even sure if these kids are Americans or Mexicans, but either way, it works to drive the point home.

The Jews don't want boys to grow into wholesome men that look like this:

I don't know how people can look around at society, especially at the Millennial generation and not think that something is going horribly wrong.

But its good for us.

We will win as a movement if we just promise young men that fat chicks will be abolished in the future ethnostate.

And the funny thing is that I'm sure mandatory fat camps will come to be beloved by the people. Because let's be real, most people are too lazy to workout and keep a healthy diet on their own and desperately want to just be forced into becoming healthy by someone because they lack the willpower themselves.

Nowadays, they pay crazy amounts of money to hire black people to bark orders at them in the gym three times a week.

But with our plan, people will save a fortune, shed tons of pounds and dating will become possible again. It's really a win-win-win any way you look at it.

So yeah, we should get on this stat. I'm thinking of opening up applications for Alt-Right Fat Camp PT instructor positions. Interested candidates would have to submit a 5 hundred word essay about how they're committed to making White Chicks Thin Again and we can go from there.

DS

Gun Control Extravaganza: Gun YouTube Vids and Math Symbols to be Banned Next!

Adrian Sol
Daily Stormer
February 26, 2017

Video Link

If you thought bump stocks and video games were already too much you'll be disappointed. It's only the begining.

Because a Jew shot up a school, we now have to fundamentally reorganize our whole civilization down to its smallest elements.

It's not enough to just ban guns. That would just piss off White people. No, now we have to go ahead and crack down on gun culture as a whole.

Guns are now the same as racism—and will soon be subject to the same set of sanctions.

As usual, Youtube is at the forefront of the censorship efforts.

The Truth About Guns:

> Tim Harmsen from The Military Arms Channel writes:
>
> "Sorry for the late text. I have a story for you. YouTube started demonetizing all gun channels last night. The moment we upload and video to YouTube, the moment it processes it's immediately demonetized and we're told we have to request a review after 7 days or 1000 views. This is happening to me, IV8888, Mrgunsngear, Yankee Marshal and every other gun channel I've talked to today." On Facebook, MAC goes on . . .
>
> This is YouTube's new policy with firearms content. They flag it as not being advertiser friendly right out of the gate. You can request a manual review where a real person looks at it after their bots flag it. No big deal, right? Well, it is a big deal. You can only submit a video for manual review AFTER 7 days or 1000 views.

> A video gets most of its monetized views in the first 48 hours. After that a video pretty much gets no views. No ads for the first 7 days means no money and the content creator that talks about guns is effectively screwed.

This is obviously political. If YouTube was worried about advertisers, they'd just allow them to select which types of videos they want their content on, and adjust the prices accordingly. There's obviously a lot of companies who would be very interested in advertising on gun videos, if given the chance.

> This is another example of why your support through Patreon is so important to the continued growth of the channel. YouTube is doing everything it can to run gun channels off.

The point of demonetizing gun videos is obviously not to "prevent shootings" or whatever. It's a desperate attempt to change the culture. Kids are watching gun videos on YouTube and going "wow that's awesome." You can be sure there's no 15 year old boy today who's "afraid" of guns like millennial bugmen.

Video Link

Soyboy vs bad goy.

They're trying to attach some ridiculous stigma to firearms, to the point where even talking about them is reason enough to expect a police visit.

Miami Herald:

> Students in Louisiana thought this math symbol looked like a gun. Police were called.

Get this assault symbol out of classrooms NOW.

> A discussion among students at Oberlin High School in Oberlin, La., about a mathematical symbol led to a police investigation and a search of one of the student's homes, according to the Allen Parish Sheriff's Office.
>
> On the afternoon of Feb. 20, detectives investigated a report of terroristic threats at the school, where they learned that a student had been completing a math problem that required drawing the square-root sign.

Students in the group began commenting that the symbol, which represents a number that when multiplied by itself equals another number, looked like a gun.

This is completely nuts.

The European-style socialists are in panic mode, in fear of a reversal of all their schemes in the coming populist revolution. So they're throwing everything they've got in some ridiculous last-ditch effort.

As a result, they're pushing way too far. The idea that they can destroy not only the second amendment, but American gun culture itself by attacking the NRA and gun-related entertainment, is preposterous and sure to fail.

You ain't taking our guns—or our babes, for that matter.

The most basic rule of all conflict is to attack the enemy's weak point and avoid their strongest point. Guns are definitely the right's strongest side—this is the only issue on which White people have stood resolute in spite of relentless pressure.

A serious backlash is coming. The NRA won't rest until the European-style socialist menace is vanquished from America.

DS

God Emperor Contemplates Slaughtering Drug Dealers En Masse!

Azzmador
Daily Stormer

February 26, 2018

Slaughtering drug dealers is an excellent idea, Rody!

Drugs are a scourge on our society, and we have been playing around with these big drug traffickers for something like 40 years now, all the while calling it a "drug war."

The fact of the matter is, we've been pussyfooting around with these people forever. It's time to start slaughtering them like cattle at a feed lot.

Don't get me wrong, I'm not advocating for the butchering of all the low level drug users selling dime bags to support their habits—I am endorsing Glorious Leader's excellent idea to slaughter big dealers!

Axios:

> In Singapore, the death penalty is mandatory for drug trafficking offenses. And President Trump loves it. He's been telling friends for months that the country's policy to execute drug traffickers is the reason its drug consumption rates are so low.
>
> "He says that a lot," said a source who's spoken to Trump at length about the subject. "He says, 'When I ask the prime minister of Singapore do they have a drug problem [the prime minister replies,] 'No. Death penalty'."
>
> "He often jokes about killing drug dealers... He'll say, 'You know the Chinese and Filipinos don't have a drug problem. They just kill them.'
>
> — A senior administration official to Axios

America cannot be truly great while drug traffickers are still alive. And we gonna MAGA, one way or another!

> But the president doesn't just joke about it. According to five sources who've spoken with Trump about the subject, he often leaps into a passionate speech about how drug dealers are as bad as serial killers and should all get the death penalty.
>
> Trump tells confidants a softer approach to drug reform—the kind where you show sympathy to the offenders and give them more lenient sentences—will never work.
>
> He tells friends and associates the government has got to teach children that they'll die if they take drugs and they've got to make drug dealers fear for their lives.
>
> Trump has said he would love to have a law to execute all drug dealers here in America, though he's privately admitted it would probably be impossible to get a law this harsh passed under the American system.
>
> Kellyanne Conway, who leads the White House's anti-drug efforts, argues Trump's position is more nuanced, saying the president is talking about high-volume dealers who are killing thousands of people. The point he's making, she says, is that some states execute criminals for killing one person but a dealer who brings a tiny quantity of fentanyl into a community can cause mass death in just one weekend, often with impunity.

It is an excellent point. And death isn't even the worst problem with this scourge of drugs. The toll it takes on families, communities, and especially our young people is devastating beyond words.

I was brought into the drug subculture as a child. Jew media convinced me it was cool, and in a society that had enacted reasonable safeguards to keep kids from being able to buy beer, hard drugs were readily available on every schoolyard and street corner. It completely wrecked several decades of my life. I saw the inside of jails, prisons, and rehabs. Nothing helped. The only place left was the grave.

Fortunately, I was one of the very few who not only survived to middle age, but was able to reach deep within myself and quit everything. I have been sober for over ten years. Now, when I look back on this lost chunk of my life, the suffering, the danger, the theft of what I could have accomplished, it fills me with a bottomless rage to think of our young people being continuing to be subjected to this plague.

I saw the lives of countless other good people ruined as well. The toll that the drug trade takes on us and a people is impossible to fully calculate.

Drugs are a clear and present danger to the security of our society, and the fabric of our culture.

I salute President Donald J. Trump and anyone else willing to address this problem with the seriousness and solemnity it deserves.

DS

Insight

YouTube Meltdown: Baked Alaska Suspended for Three Months for Sargon vs Anglin Debate!

Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer
March 1, 2018

As the regular reader does know, I recently debated Sargon of Akkad on Baked Alaska's YouTube channel.

This was a popular internet event, as the crazed kook Sargon is a known lolcow and rolly-polly fatboy. The stream racked up nearly a quarter-million views before BOOM—the YouTube kikes shut that bitch down.

The video was deleted and the channel suspended for three months.

The reason given was "hate speech" —by which they must have been referring to Sargon talking about how he loved Hitler and people are going to have to die to create a white nation. All I said was that I am planning to use tasers, knockout gas and net-guns to round people up—hardly hateful.

This also came after Media Matters did a writeup on Baked and said he was a hater. As Baked recently noted on the Andy Warski Show, Media Matters is run by the people from Pizzagate conspiracy.

Video Link

It is unclear what caused YouTube to make such a move. I was very careful in my speech—I was making a point to not be outrageous—and Sargon went nuts, but he still wasn't "ban this shit NAO" bad. This was not any more extreme than the episode Baked did with Laura Loomer and Mister Metokur. In fact it was much less so.

There are several possibilities for why this was SHUT DOWN BY KIKES:

I am as a person just completely and totally banned from everything on the internet

- Sargon sent the Sargonites to mass-report the video so it got shut down because he didn't want all of that shit he said about loving Hitler and such to be at the top of his YouTube results
- Someone else mass-reported it for some reason
- Other

Today's YouTube "Accident"

In the last 24 hours, YouTube banned a whole shitton of major right-wing channels, including Warski and Sargon of Akkad.

They're saying it was an "accident."

RT:

> YouTube has said its removals of right-wing video channels were a mistake, something conservative users are finding hard to believe. YouTube blamed the blunder on the inexperience of its newly hired force of moderators.
>
> "As we work to hire rapidly and ramp up our policy enforcement teams throughout 2018, newer members may misapply some of our policies resulting in mistaken removals," a YouTube spokesperson told Bloomberg. "We're continuing to enforce our existing policies regarding harmful and dangerous content, they have not changed. We'll reinstate any videos that were removed in error."
>
> However, many did not see it this way. Several outspoken conservative personalities voiced their disdain for the snafu, accusing YouTube of bias in the wake of the Marjory Stoneman Douglas High school shooting.

The claim that YouTube hired new moderators and then gave them the ability to shut down channels with hundreds of thousands of subscribers—and then they decided to do it to a whole bunch of channels at the same time, without having been told to do that—is stupid. There is no way that happened.

There is simply no way that a new employee would not be told "check with us before you ban someone with more that 100,000 subs as you're getting used to things."

Most likely, they have a list of channels they are planning to slowly ban, and someone accidentally clicked something that banned all of those channels. Or they thought the way the list was marked was intended to mean "go ahead and ban these."

Whatever the case, it's coming. YouTube is going to clamp down on everything.

The kike-hating niggerbitch-fetishist Alex Jones has two strikes on his YouTube channel and he is getting all kinds of pressure for his pro-gun positions right now.

Some media figure is going to have to pay for the Parkland thing with being censored, just like I had to pay for Charlottesville.

That little faggot David Hogg challenged Jones to a debate and then backed out and Jones has been bullying him.

I don't believe that even shitlibs themselves like David Hogg, but they also don't believe that anyone should ever be able to question someone playing the role that he is playing right now.

You combine that with Jones' lawsuit, and he's in place where he could get hit with a censorship campaign rivaling that of the one we've been subjected to.

At this point, I'm pro-censorship of medium-tier right-wing figures.

Alex Jones didn't say shit when I was censored. Molyneux didn't say shit. Sargon actually did, so credit where it's due.

The only other major person who did was Tucker.

But if people like Jones are getting censored, it is something where people are going to be like "oh..." and we will be that much closer to government regulation of these companies.

#ShallNotCensor

DS

PSA: A Useful Frame for Communicating Ideas to Normies

Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer
February 28, 2018

This week, our lad Roy Batty wrote a very good piece about responding to leftists when they're explaining their ideology to you—you simply ask them: what are you getting out of this?

I honestly believe that this reframe needs to become the default approach when communicating with leftists IRL, and I'm going to ask Roy to expand upon it. I might write a long thing with my take on it.

But there is another frame I want to mention today, and this is a frame which will rapidly but all of your views within the realm of normalcy for anyone you are talking to.

When summarizing your beliefs, simply say: I believe the exact same things that any four of my great-grandfathers believed.

That is more or less 100% true for anyone who subscribes to the beliefs of the Daily Stormer. They certainly didn't have all of this information, but if our great-grandparents were teleported to right now, they would immediately recognize us as the only sane people in the country and associate themselves with our movement.

By introducing this frame on things, you put it within a context that they understand and one which is in no way alien. The problem with our views is that they are being painted as alien and weird as a way to discredit them.

Of course, the immediate response will be "times have changed," and you can get into some types of unhelpful spirals from that point, but as an introductory frame, putting it in those terms really takes the edge off and keeps a person from dismissing you outright.

DS

Top Neo-Nazi Journalist Joins the National Rifle Association

Lee Rogers
Daily Stormer
February 28, 2018

The other day, the Jewish terrorists at the Anti-Defamation League referred to me as a Neo-Nazi conspiracy theorist. I was mentioned in one of their articles because I questioned the legitimacy of these so-called teen shooting survivors who have been all over the Jew-run media.

I've been particularly critical of that bald dyke spic bitch Emma Gonzalez and that scrawny faggot David Hogg. Both of these clowns have been on national television demanding gun control and blaming the National Rifle Association for the Florida school shooting. They have conveniently ignored the numerous law enforcement failures while opting to focus their efforts against the NRA.

Even though I have no idea what the ADL means when they use the terms "Neo-Nazi" or "White supremacist," they obviously feel threatened enough by my work to mention me on their site. But my commentary on Gonzalez and Hogg is not a conspiracy theory. It's based on analysis of their national media appearances which many people agree have been scripted or staged in various capacities.

Simply put, the Jewish power structure is using these teens to wage an all out war against the NRA. There has never been such an organized effort put together to destroy them. Their campaign has prompted a number of airliners, rental car companies and hotel chains to end certain business arrangements they previously maintained with the NRA.

Hogg was even trying to get people to dump FedEx's stock because they give discounts to the NRA.

> Sell FedEx stock! If they wanna stick with NRA we'll stick with @usps or @UPS
>
> — David Hogg (@davidhogg111) February 26, 2018

The good news is that their overall effort is not succeeding. In fact, the agenda is backfiring. The search term "join NRA" has skyrocketed since the Jews started parading out these gun grabbing teens all over the national media.

In the face of this adversity, Wayne LaPierre one of the NRA's top leaders, delivered a very impressive speech at CPAC. During the speech, he implicitly exposed how Jews have been the primary force behind gun control. He listed off numerous gun grabbing Jews during his speech while referring to them as "European-style socialists."

Video Link

At this point, it has become clear that the NRA is one of the few big lobbying groups around that is actively advocating on behalf of White interests. This is why we see the Jews flailing around trying to destroy them as the aftermath of the Florida school shooting continues to dominate the national news cycle.

It is for this reason that I as a top Neo-Nazi journalist have decided to join the NRA. Gun rights and the Second Amendment is of paramount interest to Whites and it is one of the few cultural areas where Whites have stood their ground. We need to hold the line on this issue and I believe that supporting the NRA will help us do just that.

I signed up for a five year membership for $100. We can send the Jews a message by supporting the NRA and ensuring that they'll have an NRA problem for a long time to come.

DS

What is the Point of Being a Liberal Anymore?

Roy Batty
Daily Stormer
February 26, 2018

I stumbled on a good talking point recently when trying to red pill some regular beta boy shmucks and thought I'd share.

They started rattling off their shitlib beliefs, but instead of fighting them head-on, I just asked them, "what are you getting out of all this?"

By "this" I meant modern shitlibbery and on the face of it, it's a pretty simple question. Because what is politics in a democracy boiled down to its most basic level? It used to be that one interest group would organize and lobby the government to get what they wanted. If another interest group had different interests, these groups would then fight it out in the political arena.

Video Link

It's not ideal, I suppose. I don't really even know what the difference is between lobbying and corruption except that one seems to be allowed for big corporations.

But I can understand people recognizing their material interests and just voting for them instead of fighting in the streets. As a system, it's not the worst.

But most of the shit that we're supposed to care about nowadays has no real bearing on our material well-being. I mean back in the day, politicians would at least break open a keg in the town square and throw a party to get people to vote for them.

Andrew Jackson literally gave his supporters massive amounts of cheese.

Pretty cool of him if you ask me.

But now people do shit to virtue-signal and they get no benefits out of it anymore. Take a typical beta soyboy. What does he even get for White Knighting or being a male feminist or pro-refugee or an anti-racist or whatever the fuck.

Nothing really. They get no girls, no extra money, nothing that benefits them materially in any way.

Take me for an example. Ideally, if I were to vote for a party, I would want to hear them offer me exactly what I want. It just makes more sense to me than advocating for shit that will hurt me but give me a moral tingling high.

If a politician came up and listed the following points on his platform, he'd have my vote. From the top in order of importance:

- Make women hotter/thinner
- Bring back low-waist jeans
- Ban rap, hip-hop and hipster music from all bars, clubs, and public spaces
- Ban Black people entirely
- Ban old/fat/cat ladies from teaching at schools
- Put ugly chicks in burkas
- Gas the pit bulls
- State-subsidized gym memberships
- Free Thai massage on first Friday of every month
- Lemonade-filled water fountains

It's silly, but it should make sense.

If voting Liberal got me those things, maybe I would vote Liberal.

Speaking of my list of demands, I remember there was a time when girls tried to look like Britney Spears.

Now you can say whatever you want to say about Britney—she was never a very wholesome role model for young girls.

But she had a thin waistline that she showed off all the time. She single-handedly helped the low-waistline jeans trend take off.

And while it wasn't very modest, it was admittedly pretty sexy and had good effects on women in America. There was no hiding your fat, you had to endure the shame or diet until you were sexy again.

Those were good times.

But now, the average girl tries to look like this.

Don't be fooled. The return of high-waist mom pants coincides with the fatty epidemic. Hipster jeans became fashionable out of necessity as society had to collectively come to an agreement that it was better for the public good to just give up and mitigate the fat chick problem by hiding Millennials' ugly hanging guts. Even if you got a new Britney Spears out there now to act as a thin role model or something, the Hipsters would launch a Freak Mafia hit job at her for conforming to toxic masculine standards of beauty or something. So better to just cover those fat folds up.

It's sad to even think these things, but I believe that Britney was a symbol of a better time.

It was a time when the Liberals still offered something.

I guess the Jews still had to seduce the goyim and sweeten the deal to convince people to drop their standards. Things weren't so ugly back then. As a result, people thought that life could be like a Seinfeld or Friends sitcom. It would just be about chilling with your good-looking friends in the big city, having fun and casual sex and everything would remain modern and civilized, only a bit more fun for everyone.

The people shouting about the end times coming soon were looked at as freaks. Everything was fine. Everything was getting more chill and there were few drawbacks.

I could see myself being a liberal back in the 90s if I wasn't red-pilled.

I mean, if it meant having easy sex with thin girls wearing tight jeans that actively tried to look like Brittany Spears, that'd be one thing. You could probably sell me on that shit.

But now?

What does Liberalism offer anymore? Everything has become so ugly. People have no standards. Beauty is gone.

So I asked these blue-pilled "men" why they give so much of a shit about being proud Liberals. You don't get easy sex with hot women, fast cars and fun times anymore. What does advocating for fag rights get you as a straight White man? For refugees? For Feminists? For nogunz?

Nothing.

And all around you, things have gotten much worse:

Video Link

It's Mad Max-tier shit for the prole Whites and ball crushing soyification for the SWPL-class huWhytes.

Video Link

Just ask White men who are still Liberal, "what are you even getting out of this anymore?"

I think few of them could even answer you. Appealing to their selfishness cuts to the heart of the matter. It puts the thought in the normie's mind that he is being taken for a ride, played for a chump somehow. And no one likes that feeling.

You don't have to bring up the Jews, or all the red pill esoterica you've accumulated over the years.

Just imply that they're getting screwed. Where's their "Obama phone?" Where's the hot big city gf? Where's the cherry-red convertible? Where's the steak dinner?

Watch them stutter and rethink their life decisions right before your eyes.

DS

Kike News Outlets Pushing Paywalls Left and Right as Money Dries Up

Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer
February 26, 2018

The rise of the paywall is great for the Daily Stormer. Because we're not doing that, meaning pretty soon you will only be able to get normal news here. I will pay for the paywalls and then report on the stories for all yall.

It's also great to see that the news is struggling so much to make cash—this isn't just about adblockers, most of those have been neutralized anyway over the last year*. A lot of people are already just reading the Daily Stormer, or getting their stuff on YouTube.

AFP:

For those looking for free news online, the search is becoming harder.

Tougher restrictions on online content have boosted digital paid subscriptions at many news organizations, amid a growing trend keeping content behind a "paywall."

Free news has by no means disappeared, but recent moves by media groups and Facebook and Google supporting paid subscriptions is forcing free-riders to scramble.

For some analysts, the trend reflects a normalization of a situation that has existed since the early internet days that enabled consumers to get accustomed to the notion of free online content.

"I think there is a definite trend for people to start paying for at least one news source," said Rebecca Lieb, an analyst who follows digital media for Kaleido Insights.

Lieb said consumers have become more amenable to paying for digital services and that investigative reporting on politics in Washington and elsewhere has made consumers aware of the value of journalism.

Yeah, a European-style socialist like Lieb would say that. In the Jew news itself.

I'm sure enough people are paying to keep these companies going, but the purpose was never to be profitable—it was always about being a brainwashing outlet. So the goal is always to maximize the number of viewers of the content. At least that is true for the big outlets like NYT and WaPo, both of which now have soft paywalls.

A study last year by the Media Insight Project found 53 percent of Americans have paid for at least one news subscription. A separate report by Oxford University's Reuters Institute found two-thirds of European newspapers used a pay model.

I actually did not have any idea that many people paid.

That just makes me sicker with regards to how few people donate to the Daily Stormer. I know it is difficult to do bitcoin, you guys, but come on—I'm out here every single day for like, 10 hours minimum. If you include the time I spend on the phone with people related to the movement, emails and chats and so on, I basically work all but 3-4 of waking hours.

More importantly, I'm paying an entire staff. Plus there are all these fees associated with the shutting down. Not to even mention my legal fees. And I want to expand it. But there isn't any money coming in now, and hasn't been since Hatreon shut. Like, there is virtually nothing. People used to mail checks, but the box got shut.

I need to ask more, I know, but if you're seeing this now, know that I always need money. I don't ask because I don't really like to ask, and I also forget. But come on now guys.

I am sick of saying "oh I'll figure out some way to process credit cards some day" —there is no actual evidence that that will ever happen. Hatreon was supposed to start working again last month, but it did not. Cody is a solid guy, but I don't know if he's going to figure that out or what.

Bitcoin:

People are giving a shitton of money to the kikes for their news. What does it say that you guys don't support non-kike news—basically the only non-kike news.

And look, I understand some of you are broke and if that's the case okay whatever, don't worry about it. Though I think if you're reading the site every day, you can at least afford to send $20 a year or something. Look at it as a SUBSCRIPTION that I am just not charging for reasons of wanting to maximize viewership but which you are morally obligated to pay.

Everyone can surely afford something to keep this train rolling.

And if you're rich and you think this is important what we are doing here—then what the hell are you doing? Send us a large amount of cash!

Actually, Adguard has been working well for me in blocking the adblock* blockers.

A "soft paywall" is one where you get five free articles based on your browser cookies. You can get around that by opening an incognito window, which isn't storing cookies.*

DS