Petitioner's Name: Jennifer Lyn Fowler

Case Number: 2014CV000669

Today's Date: 05-07-14

Please state what happened, when, where, and who did what to whom:

Please see attached details

1. I have been made aware of a public Internet website which contains my personal information including my name, home address and the name of my employer. The website is titled; "Illegal Activity by the Green Bay Police" is an anti-law enforcement website which contains allegations of police corruption and threats to harm police officers and their families. The website address is:
<http://servv89pn0aj.sn.sourcedns.com/~gbpprorg/nfl/cops.html>
2. I have obtained official police reports from the Green Bay Police Department through an open records request. I have reviewed these reports and I am prepared to offer them as exhibits in support of this restraining order in the event of a hearing.
3. I am not a police officer however my Father, William (Bill) Bongle is a Police Captain employed by the City of Green Bay Police Department, 307 S. Adams Street, Green Bay, WI.
4. The respondent, Joseph David Lortiz, date of birth 04-17-1976, home address 424 Wilson Ave, Green Bay, WI 54303 is the self-admitted author of an anti-law enforcement website which threatens acts of violence against members of the Green Bay Police Department and their families.
5. The respondent lives in a private residence with his family where firearms are kept.
6. A copy of the respondent's website was archived by Green Bay Police on January 17, 2014. The website contains a photograph of my Father, Captain Bill Bongle in his Police uniform with a red "X" through his head. The caption reads, "Bill Bongle WILL be killed unless he reigns in his out of control, psychopath westside units. Keep shooting until the threat is neutralized-even if it means killing every GBPD officer!" Underneath the photograph and caption, my name, home address and phone number are listed as "a family member". The website also includes a link to my personal Facebook account.
7. On January 31, 2014 Green Bay Police met with the respondent, Joseph Lortiz, and his mother. The respondent agreed to remove threatening content from his website relating to police officers and their families.
8. On April 21, 2014 Green Bay Police noticed that the respondent's website was active again. An archive of the website dated April 28, 2014 publishes my name and lists me as a relative of Captain William Bongle. The website also contains a link to my personal Facebook account. The website was published after police intervention and the respondent's agreement to remove content relating to the family members of police officers.

9. The act of publishing my personal information on the respondent's website next to death threats of my father, a Green Bay Police Officer, constitutes harassment because it is meant to threaten and intimidate me. This situation has caused me significant duress and concern for my safety and the safety of my family. The respondent's actions have exposed me and my family to unnecessary risk and danger not only from the respondent, but others who may decide to act on the respondent's call for violence to be committed against police officers and their families. The situation has caused me to take steps to protect my family that were not otherwise necessary absent this threat.
10. The respondent's act of publishing my personal information on his website serves no legitimate free speech purpose. I am not a public figure, government employee or a police officer. I do not know the respondent and have never met him. The only reason I have been subjected to this harassment is because I am related to a Green Bay Police Officer, Captain William Bongle.
11. The respondent activates, deactivates and modifies the website frequently. The mere act of "turning off the website" is insufficient. For the harassment to stop, the respondent must be restrained from publishing my personal information in the future.

I am seeking a restraining order to prevent the respondent, Joseph David Loritz, from publishing any personal information including my name, address, photographs or likeness from his website or any other publication.
