Use of psychiatry not for the boon, but in harm to the man - a crime, before which sink all others....

Page 129-136. Development in the field of the psychotropic instrument during decades was ordered not only in West, but also in the Soviet Union. After fall of the Third Reich in its archives were found the documents confirming that fact that the German scientists did attempts of Intervention In mentality of the people. Some time after under orders of the directors of CIA in confidential laboratories the researches on manipulation with human consciousness were carried out. The congress of USA has assigned on these purposes of 100 millions dollars. But already then both CIA, and KGB, and also the special services of other states used the secret technique of coding for preparation of the agents and diplomats.

The centre of the Soviet psychotropic was in Novosibirsk. In the beginning of 70s in organisational parts were carried out experiences studying opportunities of remote influence on a human brain with the help of installation „Radio dream“. At the end of 80s (under the direct control and protection of the central committee of a Communist party of the Soviet Union) the equipment was created which at moving into a circumterrestrial orbit could correct behaviour of the population in territory by the area exceeding Byelorussia. To this time the development in the field of a psychotropic engaged already more than 20 institutes and Centre of nonconventional technologies at the State Committee USSR on a science and engineering. Was issued the whole family of bio generators capable on distance to be adjusted on the bio power characteristics of the concrete man, and the physiologists were engaged in experiences on parapsychology, influence of electromagnetic beams on a brain of the man, coding and electrosensoric. To development practical application was found at once. Having studied principles of coding, director of scientifically research institute of psychology in city Nikolaev I. Dashkov could „encode“ the members, of a White brotherhood, (sect), and director of the Moscow Institute of computer psi-technologies I. Smirnov was able to help to be rehabilitated to victims of a sect “Aum senrike”. In 1991 allied parliament (parliament of the USSR) has stated the protest against financing pseudoscientific researches and has opened secret of 500 millions roubles, which were allocated on experiences on remote influence on mentality of the people with the help of the electronic equipment. After two months clause-forbidding realisation of any experiences in public without reception of their consent was brought in to the Constitution of USSR.

Today Russian special services officially declare, that they do not have any psi-weapon.

The movement of organisation on protection of the human rights on struggle with the psychotropic weapon has arisen in our country (USSR) at the end of 1989. October 1991 was marked by entering of new constitutional clause forbidding use of such weapon in public, on those who did not sign on this consent. Nevertheless amount of the people approving, that on them the experiments were carried out, steadily grows. If the man long time is under psychotropic influence, in his organism there are changes; the irreversible processes in muscular fabrics, head and bone marrow put under doubt an opportunity encoding and rehabilitation. The disintegration of the person and organism becomes inevitable.

Lines from a diary of Olga K.: « I could not believe in it earlier, and now I understand, how It is possible to finish the man up to an extreme. Earlier they made on me experiments, and now these sadists have decided to destroy me in mine own apartment: I can no longer bear a constant pain in bones, joints and head. But I cannot on them declare at all - I am afraid of something. And they only scoff and threaten: <<Will begin to blab — will die>>. August 3, 1995 Olga K. was killed by the psychotropic weapon - so the chairman of an information centre on protection of the citizens from „psychotropic terrorism“ approves Nikolaj Anisimov. Her diary contains the monstrous descriptions. The girl from all forces struggled for life, tried to find protection. But whether It is provable? Probably Olga herself was mentally unhealthy? Yet it was not possible to find convincing acknowledgement (confirmations) to that the people become victims of deliberate influence. There are only tens letters, diaries, stories...

<<I began gradually to lose memory. Could not concentrate on any event, distinctly to formulate idea - head was empty. Looking in a mirror, I did not find out myself: a scab the burnt skin has crumbled and reminded river sand has covered the body. I have understood, that has got under action there is nobody of a devil external source, to resist to which it is impossible>>. It is lines from the letter of the prisoner of the camp – ЯВ 48/8 of W. Derunov.

The radical difference of the psychotropic weapon from other kinds of the weapon consists that during creation and processing its samples cannot be tested on stands and targets. For research "donors" - the experimental people constantly are required which can even be lost during experiments. And ranges frequently become usual inhabited apartments. Psychotropic influence is understood, in particular as the directed influence on the man by electromagnetic fields causing changes of behaviour and cognitive activity, reaction to events and situations resulting infringements in work of functional systems of an organism and changes in states of fabrics. After telecasts of „the Black box“, devoted to the psychotropic weapon - is told by the journalist of Jury Vorob'evsky, - one expert rather emphatically has offered me to familiarize with the list of researches spent by the Moscow Institute of a psychotropic. At a perusal literally hair rises, is especial if to pay attention to the column "a Level of readiness".

« 8.5. Mental modulators. Laboratory and outside door tests have passed successfully, were applied in real conditions.

8.10. „Radio vote“ (internal vote). The compiler of ideas and image of actions. Is applied in real conditions.

8.11. Genodestructor. Is applied in real conditions.

8.15. Ability generators based on principles of sympathetic magic. Now are tested in real conditions.

9.6. Information duplication of the person. Has passed laboratory and outside door tests... »

Many researchers converge in opinion that the mass psychotropic processing of the population is carried out by various ways and methods. One of such methods consists in influence on the sub cortical centres by electromagnetic pulses submitted on radio frequency in a range of average waves, which length changes from 5 up to 25 meters per one second. The waves repeat with frequency up to 100 hertz, are modulated.

For the quite clear reasons of special service of some states seriously have become interested in techniques of uncontrollable, no-contact influence on sub consciousness. The essence of the given techniques consists in the following. The capacity of the bio power generator through system of filters is entered directly in household networks of an inhabited premise such as illumination, general television antenna, telephone, radio network, security signal system and so forth.

The bio generator works day and night on the frequency, fixed for the given inhabited building, in an audio diapason 1,4 hertz - 2,2 megahertz. To each type of the modulated pulse signals there meets the certain mood: a despondence not realized fear, indifference, or on the contrary - feeling of satisfaction and boon. They are capable to cause a heat in various parts of a body, headaches and lot of other sensations.

In territory of former Soviet Union the mass coding of the population began actively to be distributed since 1980. Agrees by the data of the Moscow initiative group of Committee of ecology of the man and dwelling, not less than from 95 cities of Russia the messages from the citizens, who have tested on themselves the consequence of psychotropic processing. On the most modest calculations with bio power installations is equipped not less than 40 % of inhabited fund of Moscow. The long and regular psychotropic irradiation can become the reason of irreversible changes in nervous system, headaches, impotence, increases of fatigue of an organism, infringement of dream, deterioration of intellectual activity. Some persons appreciably appear are subject to deviations in sincere and mental sphere, that is shown in the suppressed condition, sharp changes of mood, occurrence of persuasive ideas and inspired hallucinations. There can be a sensation of an itch, rigor, heats and be sick in the most various parts and bodies of a body.

Last years abroad alongside with perfection and manufacture of usual kinds of arms have received wide development of research in the field of means of a defeat based on use of a different sort of radiations - super high-frequency (MICROWAVE) and laser, infrasonic and ultrasonic - through which is possibly actively to influence on mentality of the man. In opinion of the experts most developed program such researches is developed in USA.

The magazine „New Scientist“ has notified the readers that in December, 1993 the Pentagon has allocated millions dollars on creation of the instrument, using which it is fashionable to disorganize to deafen to lull to make alive force of the Opponent not to move, not destroying thus physically.

In 1988 with a congress of USA was allocated of 145 millions dollars on research works on creation of psychotropic systems doing an opportunity to establish a site of shafts of underground nuclear installations, submarines with the nuclear instrument onboard and stationary objects... The tests illustrated with snapshots from space, have confirmed efficiency of the developed System of arms.

The application of CIA about that, that in Russia the large-scale researches connected to creation of psychotropic systems of arms — in total more than 30 laboratories will be carried out — have disturbed the American congress and thus has ensured inflow of new means in research works — in total about 450 millions dollars per one year. In January, 1991 the American community of the physicists (ACP) — one of the most authoritative and numerous American organisations uniting conducting scientific - physicists of USA, among whom there are a lot of winners of the Nobel Prize, — has begun research called to define, in what condition there is a development of psychotropic systems of arms in USA. Results published in February 1993, represent an all-round estimation of opportunities of use of psychotropic systems for performance of tasks connected to questions of a defence of the country.

The purpose of a commission consisting of 21 men was preparation of the report, which could serve as the technical basis for creation of the developed network of the psychophysical weapon allowing to solve applied questions of a defence. Structure of a commission included the representatives of various areas of a science and engineering playing the important role in development of the psychotropic weapon. During research the access to the confidential information was submitted to the experts. The publication of the report was detained for seven months, during which it was subjected to careful study by the employees of the ministry of a defence of USA and after that the volume of the material, allowed to the publication, was reduced more than to third. The conclusions, which have made a commission in comparison with general volume of the manuscript in 369 pages, are rather laconic.

« For last five years the huge steps are made in the field of development of psychotropic systems of arms. In this connection the new tempting opportunities of reception of the inaccessible information with use of psychotropic devices and also ways of telekinetic influence on technical systems with the purpose of their remote destruction are open ».

It is known, that the man quite often subjects itself to risk and even goes on torments in a name to keep own individuality. It is possible to scoff at a body, to influence an idea and desires, using a payoff of emotion, public opinion, various external circumstances, but the man will go on everything to have an opportunity itself to dispose of the destiny. He agrees even to be lost, but to remain to the correct purposes and ideas. The fidelity gives the emotional and intellectual past to each of us sensation own "I", his individuality and originality, which has much more value, than life.

The incessant perfection of methods of influence on a brain makes the man defenceless. He is unable anything to oppose to direct influence on his nervous System, as thus loses the deepest mechanisms of biological sensitivity. The electrical irritation of sufficient force always depressingly works on will.

The destruction of human individuality as result of medical Intervention or, what is even worse, an opportunity of purposeful management of the person many fairly consider as more dangerous threat than world nuclear war.
